Generations have trod, have trod, have trod; . . .

And all is seared with trade; bleared, smeared with toil;

And wears man's smudge and shares man's smell: the soil

Is bare now, nor can foot feel, being shod.

Preseason favorites to win the Southern Conference title, the 1968 Pirate football team managed to muster only a 4-6 overall record and were 2-2 in the conference. The Pirates were plagued with injuries to key players throughout the season as they faced one of their toughest schedules ever. After gaining an easy opening game victory, the Bucs lost their offensive drive and were swamped by a four game losing streak that included losses to both of their first two conference foes before they defeated Furman to record their second win of the season. The Pirates showed some of their old winning form by winning three of their last five games.

The season opener with Parsons gave the impression that the Bucs were off on another winning season. The Pirates were stunned when Parsons scored with less than a minute gone from the first period, but the rest of the game was all East Carolina. Billy Wightman and Felia Rhodes gained a total of 281 yards and scored two touchdowns, and Jimmy Adkins was named Southern Conference offensive player of the week with his four receptions for 71 yards and one touchdown. The Pirate defensive team set a school record by holding Parsons to a net minus six yards rushing.

East Carolina and Coach Clarence Stasavich were shocked the following week by a 14-0 shut out handed them by their conference opponents from William and Mary. Stas' teams had not been blanked in the past 11 years.

The Pirates made a total of ten line-up switches in preparation for the meeting with Louisiana Tech. The changes were not good enough, however; and the Bulldogs, led by their nationally ranked passer Terry Bradshaw, crushed the Pirates 35-7.

The Pirates were completely stifled by a Southern Mississippi team described as the best in the history of the school. The Southerners held the Bucs to minus yards rushing and allowed them no first downs while outclassing East Carolina 65-0.

The Spiders from the University of Richmond brought their record breaking passer Buster O'Brien to East Carolina with the hope of securing their fourth straight conference win.

Football

Unable to stop the momentum of the Spiders, the Bucs succumbed to their attack. George Gay threw a touchdown pass late in the game to Jimmy Adkins and prevented the Pirates from being shut out for the second straight time.

Buc coaches installed Billy Wightman at tailback in hope of sparking the offensive team against the Furman Paladins. With Colson and Gay both at full speed, for the first time the Bucs' offensive unit was secure. The Pirates were able to score 24 points and hold Furman, led by quarterback Clyde Hewell, to 13 points.

Following their success at Furman, the Pirates came back home to Ficklen Stadium for the Homecoming game with Tampa. The Bucs played their best football of the season in the first half and jumped to a 21-0 lead by intermission. The offense bogged down in the second half, and Tampa picked holes in the defense with accurate passing to disappoint the Pirate's Homecoming by defeating them 28-21.

Marshall's Thundering Herd stormed into Ficklen stadium to seek its first victory in two seasons. The biggest threat to the Bucs was Marshall's quarterback John Oertel, number one passer in the tough Mid-America Conference. The Pirates out-scored the Herd 48-20. Wightman and Colson led the Bucs' offense. Wightman churned out 120 yards on the ground for two touchdowns and threw for three more. Colson bulled his way to 148 yards rushing and passed for 47 yards.

Averaging 400 yards on offense in their last three games, the Bucs went to South Carolina to meet The Bulldogs of The Citadel and to seek revenge for the upset defeat the Bulldogs handed them in the previous year's Homecoming game. The Pirates won a hard-fought 23-14 decision.

Tailback Billy Wightman was voted the Outstanding Player and Most Valuable Player Awards. Jim Flowe was named the team's outstanding senior.

Baby Bucs Build for Future

East Carolina's Baby Bucs won their first two games and lost the last three for a 2-3 season record. Billy Wallace and Ronnie Peed led the freshman offensive attack. Garland Butler was named the outstanding player for his defensive work as linebacker.

Varsity Cheerleaders Boost Spirit

To inspire the students and wring from them the shouts and cheers which gave the Pirate teams moral support was the assignment of the cheerleaders. Moral support was needed most when it was hardest to get, during defeat. The cheerleaders led the student body in cheers which never let the football team forget that it was being supported whether it won or lost.

The cheerleaders acquired a new mascot in Brandy, a large white French poodle that supported the Pirates of East Carolina one hundred per cent.

Basketball season gave the squad the opportunity to exhibit the new cheers, acrobatics, and entertaining routines that head cheerleader Layton Getsinger brought back from college cheerleader summer camp at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Runners Don Jayroe, Ken Voss, Neill Ross, Joe Day, Randy Martin, Greg McNerney, Jim Kidd, and Lanny Davis led the ECU cross-country team over the 5.2 mile course to a record of eight wins and two losses in the 1968 season. The Pirates were very successful in championship competition, finishing second in the Daytona Beach Invitational, second in the North Carolina State Championships, and second in the Southern Conference Championships, Pirates Don Jayroe, Neill Ross, and Ken Voss were elected to the eight-man All Southern Conference team.

Lettermen Lead Grapplers

"This was the best wrestling team ECU ever had," said Coach John Welborn of the 1969 team. Five lettermen returned to lead the team to an outstanding season. Defending Southern Conference Champion Tim Ellenberger and Cliff Bernard were chosen as the team's co-captains. Outstanding achievements were the victories over Georgia, LSU, and Milligan College in a quadrangular meet.

Pirates Finish Second In Conference

Coach Tom Quinn's building program produced one of the finest basketball teams in ECU history. In their home opener, the Pirates outscored Atlantic Christian and rolled up a team record by bucketing 126 points. The Bucs left their mark on the Southern Conference by finishing the season in second place as compared to last year's eighth place finish. They led the conference in shooting percentage most of the season.

Against VMI the Bucs turned in one of the hottest performances in the history of the Southern Conference. They finished the game with a 72.2 shooting percentage from the floor. Another season high point was the victory over St. Francis, ranked number four nationally in rebounding and led by Larry Lewis, who was heading the nation in the rebound department.

All five starters in the Pirates' balanced attack averaged in double figures for the season. Guard Earl Thompson scored forty points against Atlantic Christian for his season high. The other guard, Tom Miller, was outstanding as the team's playmaker and ball handler for the year. Miller hit nine of eleven shots from the field in the VMI game. Richard Keir, Jim Modlin, and Jim Gregory rounded out the team and got the job done under the basket. Sophomore Gregory was consistently impressive with his rebounding and shot-blocking defensive play.

Baylor Wins Eastern Carolina Classic

ECU's first annual Eastern Carolina Classic basketball tournament took place at Minges Coliseum December 26-28, 1968. The Classic was conceived by ECU President Dr. Leo W. Jenkins and supported by businessmen in Greenville and Pitt County.

Teams entered in the tournament were ECU, Air Force, Baylor, Cornell, Delaware, Virginia, Virginia Tech, and William and Mary. Virginia Tech was top-seeded, but there was no clear-cut favorite. The Bears of Baylor, led by Tommy Bowman, defeated Virginia in the last game to capture the championship.

Deborah Joyce Huff of ECU was chosen Miss Eastern Carolina Classic from a field of fifteen entries.

Netmen Gain Depth

Lettermen Bill Ransom and Graham Felton returned to lead the Pirate tennis team, coached by Jim Grimsley. Bob Vick brought his talents to ECU as a transfer student and added much depth to the team. The Buc netmen faced three ACC schools in their rough schedule, as well as their Southern Conference foes in completing a 10-6 season.

Intramurals Offer Competition

Intramurals at East Carolina offered students the opportunity to participate in rigorous athletic competition. In intramural contests of basketball, touch football, and softball, the spectators of ECU's varsity sports became the sports heroes. Intramurals also offered competition in bowling, cross country, golf, volleyball, tennis, and wrestling.

Tankers Plunge Forward

Southern Conference Champions and Co-Captains Bob Moynihan and All-American John Sultan returned to lead the East Carolina swim team under Coach Ray Sharf to their fourth straight Southern Conference title. All-American breast-strokers Steve Weissman and Larry Allman battled it out all season for honors in the one hundred and two hundred yard events.

East Carolina Pirates had fine talent and depth in all events. Ken Hungate, Greg Hanes, Doug Hartman, and Mike Dolan filled the butterfly events. Jim Manchester, Steve Howard, Gary Fredrick, Tom Kruzel, and Keven Tracy swam as distance free stylers. Eric Orrell, Ed Mills, Jim Griffin sprinted. John Sultan, Dick Donahue, Bill King, and Andy Dawney swam the backstroke. Bob Baird, Neil Winslow, and Doug Emerson represented the Pirates in the diving department.

ECU Hosts AAU

East Carolina's new Minges Aquatorium served as the site for the National AAU Short Course Swimming Championships. The nation's leading swimmers, headed by eighteen-year old Mark Spitz of Santa Clara High School with his tutor George Haines, coach of the 1968 Olympic team, attended the meet. Spitz was rated as the number one male swimmer in the world, and a high point of the event was his challenge to Charlie Hickcox of the University of Indiana in the two hundred-yard individual medley. Hickcox surprisingly had no trouble winning the race when Spitz swallowed water and finished last. Along with the nation's leading teams was the Olympic team from Mexico.

AAU

Coach Ray Martinez of ECU, who organized the meet, was awarded the Robert Kiphuth Award, which is presented to a person who has made an outstanding contribution to competitive swimming. The meet was described by many great people of organized swimming as the best AAU ever.

Golfers Have Best Year

Mike Schlueter and Marshall Utterson led the Pirate golf Team to an outstanding 12-2 season with low averages of 74 and 75. Howard Permar had a 78 average and was the leading point winner for the team. Mike O'Briant and Jack Williams were other standouts.

The Bucs placed second in the Southern Conference Tournament at the Dunes Club in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. Davidson won the tournament with a team total stroke score of 633 to the Pirates 636.

Lacrosse Club Sports Victories

Although not an official varsity sport entitled to scholarships and achievement letters and awards, the East Carolina Lacrosse Club under the direction of Coach Bill Dickens proved its ability and desire by posting a 4-3 record. High points in the season were victories over William and Mary and Virginia Tech.

Gary McCullough led the team in scoring, and Pete Katzburg led in assists. Goalie Jim Frank had sixteen saves for the season. Other outstanding players were Rob Williams and player-assistant coach, Kirk Voorhees.

Rowers Place in Championships

In its second year of inter-collegiate competition and its first on a major scale, the ECU varsity crew team under Coach Vic Pezulla finished the season with a 4-5 dual meet record and a third place in the Southern Championship Meet. The J.V. rowers finished ninth in the nation. Varsity co-captains were Dave Reyneud and Gary Wooten.

Track Team Posts Six-Two Record

East Carolina's varsity track team had a successful season under the leadership of Coach Bill Carson. The Pirates completed the 1968 season with a 6-2 dual meet record, a fourth place in the State meet, and a tie for second place in the Southern Conference. The trackmen established twelve new ECU track records during this season. Nine of the new records replaced ones set only last year.

Outstanding was the performance of Ken Voss, who set new records of 4:13.9 in the one mile, 9:11.6 in the two mile, and 14:40.6 in the three mile. Other track records set in 1968 were as follows: shot-put, 53'3½" and discus, 142'7½" by D. Moody: 120 yd. hurdles, 14.2, 440 yd. hurdles, 54.6 by J. Cargill; high jump, 6'4½" triple jump, 45'10½" by P. Moe; long jump, 23' 5" by E. Whyte; 440 relay, 42.2 by B. Frisby, A. Peebles, E. Whyte, and P. Davis; mile relay, 3:16.1 by B. Frisby, L. Mauney, J. Cargill, and E. Whyte.

Pirate Nine

Tops Conference

"They made more errors, pitched fewer shutouts, and had the lowest hitting average of any team I've had since coming here," Coach Earl Smith said. "But when we had to have one, they went out and got it and that, after all, is the mark of the champion." The Pirates compiled a 20-9-1 overall record with 10 victories and 1 defeat in the conference. Two of the conference victories came in the playoffs against William and Mary and gave the Pirates the Southern Conference crown. From there ECU went on to knock off third ranked Florida State in the first round of the District III NCAA playoffs.

Baseball

Several outstanding players led the baseball team. Senior outfielder Jim Snyder led the team in hitting in his last year with the Pirates. Jim finished the year with a ,354 batting average and 7 home runs. Dennis Burke, a lefthander, and Vince Colbert, a righthander, were the top pitchers all year and especially in clutch situations. Burke and Colbert finished the season with 6-2 and 5-1 win-loss records. Snyder was voted the team's most valuable player. He was also elected to the All Southern Conference, All State, and All District III NCAA teams. Colbert and Burke shared the team's outstanding senior award. Burke also was All State.

Soccer Team Records Best Season

In his first year as coach, Jim Grimsley led the Pirate soccer team to its best season ever. The soccer team, in its third year at ECU, was 2-2 in the conference and 3-6-1 for the season. The Pirates were defeated in the match for the Southern Conference Northern Division Championship by a strong George Washington team with representatives from ten foreign countries.

Coach Grimsley cited Harris, Echenrode, Pressley, Jordan, Gillespie, Cuthburt, and Mockus for outstanding performances throughout the season.

New Ideas Spark SGA Executives

Five executive officers headed the Executive Branch of the Student Government Association. These included the President, the Vice-President, the Secretary, the Treasurer, and the Historian. The four class presidents also represented the student body.

Work on an experimental college and a gratitude monument for Dr. Jenkins were among the projects of the Student Government Association this year.

Committees Solve Problems

Areas of special interest to the students were handled by the committee chairmen. Chosen by the President of the SGA, the chairmen worked on their special assignments. The committees dealt with such things as special events, entertainment, internal affairs, external affairs, elections.

Legislature Supports Students

Representing all the different divisions of students on the campus, the Student Legislature sought to make the student's voice heard in policy-making decisions. The legislature was made up of representatives of dormitory students, day students, the SGA Vice-President, and the SGA Speaker.

The legislature had a voice in matters concerning the students including rules and regulations, budget approval, and recognition of new organizations on campus.

Councils Enforce Honor Code

Appointed by the Student Legislature, the Men's and Women's Honor Councils had jurisdiction over any honor council offenses including lying, cheating, stealing, or behaving with conduct unbecoming to an East Carolina student. The Honor Councils consisted of seven permanent members and two alternate members.

Judiciaries Hear Cases

Men's and Women's Judiciaries supported the standards of the University and had jurisdiction over offenses against school regulations not under the jurisdiction of the Honor Councils.

Women's Judiciary Council consisted of eleven members and two alternates selected by the women students in general election. Men's Judiciary Council consisted of seven permanent members and three alternates. These council members were selected by the Student Legislature from a slate submitted by the Executive Council.

Full-Time Employees Serve Students

Aiding the SGA and the student body was the job of Walter Quade and Carole Alexander. As secretary to the SGA, Carole could be called upon for help by the student body. Walt Quade was always on the go snapping pictures for the four publications on campus: The Buccaneer 1969, the East Carolinian, The Key, and The Rebel.

Board Oversees Publications

Serving as an advisory and supervisory board responsible for counseling in fiscal matters and directing the four Student Government publications, the Publications Board operated as an official branch of the Student Government. The Board approved all contracts, elected editors, set salaries, and advised publication plans.

Staff Presents 'The Buccaneer 1969'

Spurred by Editor Earle Beasley, The Buccaneer 1969 staff worked consistently all year. Despite the sadness caused by the death of Mr. Lee Blackwell, publisher's representative and staunch friend of former staffs, this year's staff labored to uphold the standards of his long years of direction. Sacrificing many leisure hours, they kept their goal in view. Each member took pride in presenting in May The Buccaneer 1969.

Consideration of a form of financial independence, the establishment of a study group for the feasibility of a changeover to offset printing, and the development of a closer relationship between the newspaper staff and journalism classes highlighted the work of the East Carolinian this year.

Following the tradition of past years, the newspaper placed its main focus on the coverage of campus events during the year. Student-supported and student-operated, the publication attempted to provide for each student an insight into the important events of the year and to serve as a force which could bring about responsible change both in the policy of the Student Government Association and of the administration.

Regulations Published in 'The Key'

Published annually, The Key is the reliable source for all the rules and regulations of the university, the codes of behavior, and a guide to the organizations on campus. New Keys were given to all incoming freshmen during summer orientation, and copies were handed to upperclassmen to inform them of any changes of regulations approved by the administration.

'The Rebel' Takes Top Honors

East Carolina University's pace-setting magazine, The Rebel, was published quarterly with the primary purpose of providing an outlet by which students could stimulate other students through the medium of their own imaginations.

The Rebel won many state and national honors: the All-Anterican Honor Rating, the highest award granted by the Associated Collegiate Press to college magazines; the North Carolina Arts Council Literary Award; and the rating of one of the Top Ten College Publications in the United States by the U.S. Student Press Association.

Religious Groups Seek Fellowship

Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship

Carwashes and do-nut sales sponsored by the Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship brought profits that were used to buy furniture for its new house. To further religious interest and to promote a fellowship among the members were the aims of the group. The East Carolina chapter traveled to Mount Olive this year to meet with the Free Will Baptist Fellowship there.

Right: Ellis Banks leads the group in formulating future plans and activities. Below: Officers of the Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship are Ellis Banks, President; Marica Pierce, Vice-President; Susan Beaman, Secretary; Bill Harrison, Ireasurer; and the Reverend Floyd Cherry, Adviser.

Baptist Student Union

Baptist Student Union offered an art gallery and served as a meeting place for many campus organizations. During the year several "coffee houses" were sponsored by the Union.

Juvenile delinquency served as a area of concentrated effort for the Baptist students. They also conducted a summer missions project. Through weekly forums and worship services, the Baptist Student Union was concerned with "Doing the Truth," the adopted theme for the year.

Newman Club

Seeking an informal atmosphere in which to explore Christianity, the Newman Club celebrated a guitar mass each Wednesday night. An integral part of the Newman Club program was the discussion of current world problems such as birth control, racial justice, and Christian ethics. "We speak heart to heart" is the motto of the Newman Club. Members endeavored to make this their purpose.

Opposite Above: Dr. Carl Adler conducts mass. Above: The group attends a guitar mass on Wednesday night. Left: The Sister and Father prepare for the next meeting.

Canterbury

Canterbury met three times weekly to eat, to think, and converse together. Meetings were informal since Canterbury felt that through informal gatherings students were at ease to talk with one another. Once a week the group celebrated Holy Communion. Speakers or films were occasionally presented. Canterbury sponsored a Christmas party this year for the children of St. Andrews Mission in Greenville. The group took a beach trip in the spring.

Upper Right: Father Houston leads members of Canterbury in discussion, Below: The group enjoys fellowship while eating.

East Carolina Christian Fellowship

East Carolina Christian Fellowship sent a child from the Greenville area to a Christian camp during the summer. At Christmas members caroled for shut-ins in the area. In the spring the group celebrated its fellowship at a special banquet.

East Carolina Christian Fellowship came to East Carolina University in September, 1965. Since that time, it provided Christian fellowship at the university for those who claim Christ as their Savior.

Lutheran Student Association

Regular supper meetings at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, worship, and attendance at area meetings constituted the program of the Local Lutheran Student Association.

Lutheran Student Association of America is composed of student groups on college campuses across the country. Nourished by God's word and sacrament, strengthened by a common life, the Association seeks to enlist and equip students for service to all men, to serve the church faithfully, and to work and pray for the renewal of the church.

King Youth Fellowship

King Youth Fellowship gave a Homecoming Dinner honoring the alumni. To plan the year's work, it sponsored a Spring Retreat in the mountains.

Dr. James W. Butler, the adviser, met weekly with the thirty members of the King Youth Fellowship. Membership was open to any university student.

The King Youth Fellowship's main purpose was to promote Christian fellowship among its members, to exemplify Christian ideals in personal conduct, and to bear Christian witness in word and deed to the university community.

First Christian Church College Fellowship

Members of the First Christian Church College Fellowship served the community by working weekly at three Day Care Centers in Greenville. There they led the children in songs, games, and stories. Through service they sought to demonstrate that Christianity is a living religion. The Fellowship provided a church home for students at the University.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Activities of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes included entertaining youth through sports events and sponsoring the annual Purple and Gold Football game in April.

Athletes who participated in a school sport were eligible for membership in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. The purpose of the group was to confront athletes and coaches, and, through them, the youth of the nation, with the challenge and adventure of following Christ, participating in His Church, and serving Him through their vocations.

Students' Interests Expand Through Clubs

AFROTC Trains for the Future

AFROTO

During the summer cadets in their last two years of Air Force ROTC program attended Field Training at an Air Force base. The cadets observed the operation of a typical air base, received specialized leadership training, flew in a variety of aircraft, and were screened for commission service.

The cadets received training on campus in military drill and ceremonies which supplemented their academic program. The cadets learned leadership, confidence, and poise in preparation for active duty in the Air Force.

AFROTC

Cadets supplemented their classroom study of the Air Force through frequent visits to nearby Air Force bases. The major trip this year was to Seymour Johnson AFB, where the cadets observed the aircraft and operation of the Tactical Air Command and the Strategic Air Command. The cadets also visited Pope Air Force Base for a briefing and demonstration on airborne operations.

Right: A group of cadets inspect the underside of a McDonnell FAD Phantom II jet fighter. Below: Capt. Charles E. Gries informs the cadets of the duties of a tactical fighter pilot.

Cadets sponsored the annual campuswide blood drive and collected over 400 pints of blood for the Red Cross Tidewater Region. The annual Marchathon, another activity, was a major effort by the Corps and the Angel Flight. Over $2,500 was collected for the March of Dimes campaign. As a reward for their efforts, the National Foundation presented the Corps a national award. The cadets marched so that "others could walk." Their successful campaign was used as a model by other Air Force ROTC units across the nation.

Arnold Air Society

Adoption of an Air Force unit or civil action program in Viet Nam was the special project of Arnold Air Society. Other projects included a Christmas party for underprivileged children and the blood drive.

The Chennault Squadron took its entire membership to the National Conclave in New Orleans. The squadron received the honor of being area officers for 1968-1969 and 1969-1970.

"The warrior who cultivates his mind, polishes his arms" was the motto for General Clair Lee Chenault Squadron of Arnold Air Society. The purposes which these young men tried to fulfill were advancing air and space citizenship; supporting air power in its role of national security; furthering the traditions, missions, and concepts of the United States Air Force; creating a closer and more efficient relationship with AFROTC; and aiding in the development of USAF officers.

Angel Flight

Angel Flight visited the Old Folks Home in Pitt County. A combined Christmas party for underprivileged children highlighted the season.

Angel Flight gave an honorary Angel Scholarship Award and a Leadership Award.

Angel Flight served as an organization of dedicated college women with the interests of the United States Air Force, the AFROTC, the Arnold Air Society, and the university at heart. To serve the community and to be hostesses for the Air Force cadets were the primary purposes.

Association for Childhood Education

This association had the special project of selling Homecoming mums. Members worked on a Christmas service project for a group of children. In Houston, Texas, the association had its International Conference. The Association had its annual state meeting in Greensboro.

The association worked for the education and wellbeing of children; promoted desirable conditions, programs and practices; raised the standards of preparation of teachers and other education leaders; brought into cooperation groups concerned with children; and informed the public of children's needs.

Biology Club

This year students interested in biology formed a Biology Club. At their meetings they presented films and lecturers. Often the group practiced applying procedure or ideas learned from the presentation. Throughout the year the forty members, sponsored by Dr. Joseph Boyette, took field trips to different parts of North Carolina to gather specimens and to observe nature.

Santa's Hippie Helper visited the Biology Club at its Christmas party. In the spring the club sponsored an outdoor picnic.

Home Economics Chapter

Highlighting the year for the E.C.U. Home Economics Chapter were the spring workshop and the North Carolina Home Economic Association Convention in Greensboro. A chapter yearbook was distributed at the first meeting of the year. In the spring the chapter presented the Outstanding Chapter Member Award.

Founded on this campus in 1934, the Chapter promoted objectives of the American Home Economics Association, helped students recognize those who had achieved high recognition in home economics, and promoted friendly association among students and faculty.

Circle K Club

Circle K awarded in the spring the John Barnhill Memorial Scholarship to a non-member who had demonstrated outstanding service to this community.

Circle K International, a service organization for college men, consisted of individuals whose philosophy was freedom, initiative, the American and Canadian heritage, and unselfish service to others. These men Circle K tried to develop as future leaders and citizens.

East Carolina Tutorial Society

To help underprivileged Negro children in the Kearney Park housing development of Greenville with their academic studies and social adjustment was the purpose of the East Carolina Tutorial Society. The group met every Tuesday night in the Student Union and traveled by bus to Kearney Park.

Members found themselves receiving a great deal of personal satisfaction from their work. They also found that they must develop a great deal of patience and tolerance for frustration.

Tutors and pupils celebrated the closing of school in the spring with a picnic sponsored by the Tutorial Society.

East Carolina

University Union

East Carolina University Union was a bustle of activity throughout the year. It provided recreational and social programs and services for the entire student body. Winter quarter the Union gave a Combo Dance. Preparation for Christmas found members of the Union at the Christmas Decorating Party. Special Coffee Houses sponsored by the Union offered students an opportunity to gather informally to hear folk groups sing. Local campus tournaments in bridge, chess, table tennis, bowling, and billiards provided those interested in competition a chance to demonstrate their ability. Winners represented East Carolina in Charlotte in the Intercollegiate Games Tournament, Region V.

The Union published a brochure describing Union facilities, programs, services, and student committees. Trophies were presented to all tournament winners. At the Annual Awards Banquet in the spring, the president of the Union received a trophy for his service during the year.

Industrial and Technical Education Club

Members of the Industrial and Technical Education Club made gavels for Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, President of East Carolina University; Dr. Robert Holt, Vice-President; and Mr. Robert Morgan, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. They built signs for the United Fund Drive. For Homecoming, they restored several surreys for use in the parade.

The club emphasized the need for industrial arts and industrial technology in eastern North Carolina. It promoted growth, fellowship, and professional interest among students of industrial and technical education at East Carolina University.

International Studies Abroad

Students interested in foreign travel and culture formed International Studies Abroad. Members chartered a plane to Europe this summer for the benefit of East Carolina students interested in travel and/or study abroad. At regular meetings slides or movies of various countries were shown. The members felt that an active interest in and travel to foreign countries were perhaps the best ways to understand their fellow man.

Left: Mr. Kuthiala reports to the group. Below: Members of International Study Abroad view films in anticipation of their travel abroad.

Judo Club

Judo club members competed on a state-wide scale. At the Judo Clinic this year, highly ranked Nidanto came to East Carolina University to demonstrate skillful techniques of judo.

As their skills increased, members were promoted in rank. They received certificates of membership and certificates of achievement at different levels.

To acquire physical fitness, to develop skills in the art of self-defense, and to acquire a knowledge of the history of judo were aims of the Judo Club.

Karate Club

Members of the Karate Club presented demonstrations in various karate skills and competed in tournaments with other karate teams throughout the state. Various colored belts were presented to the members as they reached different levels of achievement in the art of karate. Members of the club met twice a week to practice karate and to present demonstrations.

The purpose of the Karate Club was to teach the various aspects of karate to East Carolina students and to represent the university in competitive matches. The only qualification for membership was a genuine interest in karate. Formed in 1963, the club this year had thirty members.

Maria D. Graham Mathematics Club

Members of the Maria D. Graham Mathematics Club sought to create and encourage interest in mathematics. The members of the club were mainly mathematics majors although other majors were eligible for membership. The Mathematics Club developed a close sense of cooperation between its members and the faculty. Members found themselves expanding their knowledge of mathematics and enjoying it.

Relaxing from their mathematic activities, the club sponsored an annual spring outing.

Outing Club

Interest and love for the outdoors brought forty students together in the fall to establish an Outing Club. These students enjoyed outdoor activities such as camping, canoeing, and mountain climbing. Most weekends were spent in the Virginia, Tennessee, or North Carolina Mountains. No qualifications were necessary since the experienced taught the beginners.

Society for the Advancement of Management

Students in the Society for the Advancement of Management spent the year "developing tomorrow's managers today." The society brought together business students and executives for the exchange of information on management.

This spring the East Carolina chapter served as host for the State Society for the Advancement of Management. This all-day convention served to unite and strengthen the North Carolina Chapter through panel discussions and guest speakers.

Fieldcrest Mills Incorporated of Greenville offered through S.A.M. one hundred dollars to the senior in management with. the highest scholastic average.

Right: Members of the Society for Advancement of Management become informed of current management trends. Below: Ed Carlson, President, leads discussion at the regular meeting.

Political Science Club

On election night, the Political Science Club conducted a forum on candidates of both national political parties. Discussion also concerned national issues. This type of professional interest encouraged intellectual thought and intelligent action.

Student Nurses' Association

Student nurses tried to carry out their motto, "The fame is nothing, the deed is everything." The Tidewater Area Red Cross Bloodmobile received the services of the Student Nurses' Association. Frequent visits were made to the Greenville Nursing Home, where the student nurses socialized with the residents and entertained them at Christmas with Christmas carols. Of main concern to the organization was the recruitment of young people into nursing.

Aims of the organization were to broaden the interests of student nurses, to promote professionalism and social unity, and to serve as an instrument of communication between the local and state Student Nurses' Associations. Marion J. Howard received the honor of Student Nurse of the Year (1968-1969), an annual award presented by the association.

Student National Education Association

As an affiliated group of the National Education Association, the Student National Education Association was open to all students planning to teach. The Student National Education Association planned forums, invited guest speakers, and presented films aimed at increasing teacher skills.

The group invited area high school Future Teachers of America groups to attend a spring tour of the East Carolina campus.

Sociology Club

Members of the Sociology Club participated in social service on the campus and in the regional area. They discussed and exchanged ideas in sociology and anthropology. The club sought to convey to the student body the importance of contemporary social problems.

Debate Society

Concentrating on new approaches to problems, the Debate Society won acclaim wherever it went. The group traveled to several colleges and universities to participate in debates. The Debate Society challenged students to think deeply and completely about current social issues.

Student Party

Members of the Student Party planned the rebuilding of the party through increased membership and activity. A dynamic convention made up of eighty delegates elected candidates to run in the spring elections. Dignified action for and by the students was stressed.

University Party

"Look UP for a better Student Government Association" served as the theme of the University Party. Throughout the year the party worked to create student interest in student government. The University Party sponsored several candidates for campus elections. These candidates were nominated at the University Party Convention. The convention consisted of a proportional number of representatives elected from three wards: the men's dormitories, women's dormitories, and day students.

Left: Chairman George Francis addresses the University party. Below: Convention plans are made by the University Party.

Young Democratic Club

Hubert Horatio Humphrey, III, visited East Carolina University this fall. His rally was organized by the Young Democratic Club. "Perpetuating good government" was the goal of the Young Democrats. The club attended and supported the Scott Rally at Minges Coliseum. The president of the East Carolina Young Democratic Club, David Godfrey, traveled across the nation with the Humphrey campaign. All of the activities and projects of the Young Democratic Club endeavored to foster and perpetuate the Democratic Party.

Below: Hubert Horatio Humphrey, III, expresses views of the Democratic Party.

Young Republicans Club

Young Republicans canvassed the Greenville area during the fall elections. Offering to drive voters to the polls and babysitting helped the Young Republicans to get voters to the polls.

Republican rallies in Greenville and surrounding areas were attended and supported by the Young Republican Club. Members chartered buses to enable the student body to attend out-of-town rallies.

As Republican prestige grew in North Carolina this year, the Young Republicans took advantage of the growth by expanding their membership and activities. East Carolina Young Republicans sponsored in the spring the annual state convention of the Young Republican Club.

Women's Residence Council

Changes initiated by the Women's Residence Council included a revised dress code, late minutes added to closing doors, and the proposed elimination of curfew for upperclass women's dormitories.

Composed of the presidents of the women's dormitories, three members-allarge, and three officers, the council regulated functions and matters concerning women students not under direct control of the administration. The council strived to bring about a more unified and cooperative working relationship among women students, to insure a uniform interpretation and enforcement of women's rules, and to promote a high standard of conduct among East Carolina University coeds.

Men's Residence Council

Men's Residence Council this year sponsored six dances. Other activities included a "meet the fellow" series, annual installation banquet, and entertainment conjunctive with Women's Residence Council.

Men's Residence Council worked to promote and maintain an efficient system of student government in the college residence halls on the men's campus and to foster a wholesome program of social activities.

Above Men's Residence Council formulates plans for governing the dormitories. Right: Thoughtful consideration goes into plans of the Men's Residence Council.

Women's Recreation Association

Women's Recreation Association provided recreational activities for all women students enrolled at East Carolina University. The only qualifications for membership was active participation in any activity offered by the association.

Activities included intramurals in volleyball, field hockey, baskerball, softball, and swimming. The association sponsored a competitive swim team for women and participated in field days at other colleges.

The winner of each intramural activity was presented a trophy by the Women's Recreation Association at a banquet in the spring.

WECU-TV

Students operated the cameras and the audio and video equipment of the closed circuit television facility at East Carolina. Professors this year taught five courses via television: Music Appreciation, Health 1, Geography 15, Economics 111 and 112. During orientation, freshmen and their parents took a videotape tour of the campus. Speech classes viewed a video replay of their speeches. WECU-TV produced an election night special to cover the SGA elections.

The closed circuit television facility originated at East Carolina over ten years ago. One professor lecturing in the studio taught students in thirteen classrooms located in various buildings on the campus. Student technicians gained experience in this modern communication medium.

WECU Radio

To accommodate students, WECU radio stayed on the air twenty-four hours a day during examinations. The organization trained people interested in radio and gave them an insight into broadcasting. As a service to the student body, WECU published a "Top 40 Music Survey." About forty students kept the radio station broadcasting to the campus.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Sororities provided a subtle backdrop to the lives of women as they experienced the growth and adjustment of the college years. Sincere friendships and a pervasive sense of the ideal guided Greek women in the search for personal and intellectual maturity. Community and campus service brought an awareness of the responsibilities of citizenship. Influenced by the quietly motivating force of Greek ideals, sorority women thought and worked for themselves and for others.

Fraternities Strive for Unity

With his calm assurance, eager response to campus affairs, and spirited competitiveness, the Greek man exemplified growth and progress. The desire not only for "more," but for "better" unified the individual with his brothers and, in turn, with their counterparts in other fraternities. Pride in himself, his fraternity, and his university enabled the Greek man to care a little more and give a little more. The Greek man added an extra dimension to university life.

Panhellenic Stimulates Interest in Greek Life

Panhellenic stimulated interest in campus sororities through the tea for freshman and through Convocation. This year Convocation had a new look with the film "The Good Life," a pictorial essay on rush. The Wheel of Sisterhood, the Panhellenic publication, acquainted non-Greeks with the sorority system.

One of the major duties of Panhellenic was to regulate Rush. An open-minded forum to improve and update the procedures gave all sorority women the opportunity to exchange ideas and opinions.

In addition to these responsibilities, Panhellenic provided the Old Folks' Home with gifts and sponsored a Korean orphan. On campus, Panhellenic participated in Freshman Orientation and Greek Week activities.

A self-regulating body composed of two delegates from each of the eight sororities on campus, the Panhellenic Council provided harmonious functioning of the groups as a unit as well as separate sororities.

o: IFC cleans Green Springs Park. Below: 8. rks, G. Phipps, and C. Strickland are leaders IFC service projects.

IFC Shows Civic Pride

IFC served as the unifying and governing body of the ECU social fraternities. The council held judicial power in violations by fraternities of the Inter-Fraternity Charter and of their respective charters.

With student rebellion causing so much unrest across the nation and throughout the world, the IFC issued a statement to the press supporting the right of student dissent but deploring irresponsible actions which disrupt educational processes.

"Operation Santa Claus," such a success last year, was repeated this year with feting three hundred and sixty children of the Sally Branch Community School. Caroling at the girls' dormitories and President Jenkins' house brought the IFC holiday spirit to campus. During winter quarter, IFC sponsored a campaign to clean up Green Springs Park. It presented a trophy in recognition of the fraternity with the highest percentage support in the campus blood drive.

In the spring, IFC's high priority project was Greek Week, when fraternities competed in Skit Night, Greek Games, and the IFC Track Meet. Topped off by the IFC Banquet and entertainment, Greek Week became a traditional campus event.

Once again "sounding off" brought laurels to the ADPi house in the form of another first place in the Greek All-Sing. The ADPis also copped Derby Day Queen; second place awards in both Homecoming house decorations and Lambda Chi Field Day; and for the second year in a row, Homecoming Queen. Other ADPi distinctions were outstanding Publications Board Member, Outstanding Women's Honor Council Member, Outstanding Senior Greek Woman and Who's Who Winners. ADPis served as dormitory presidents, legislators, Judiciary members, and Honor Council Chairman and Secretary, S.G.A. secretary, and Buccaneer editors.

Around the "little white house on the corner" a leaning smokestack and a month without a house mother made news. Consternation broke loose when the Best Sorority Trophy disappeared before the visit of the national secretary. An even balance of fun, work, and sisterhood made 1968-69 a memorable year for the ADPis.

Campus again felt the AOPi influence in numerous events. Cheered on by fraternity men, professors were pitted against each other on the basketball court for the benefit of the National Arthritis Foundation, the AOPi national philanthropy. Another enterprise was a carnival complete with games and a fortune teller. To encourage more school spirit, the sorority made ribbons for all fraternities to wear during football season.

Community endeavors were enhanced by AOPi contributions to underprivileged children and to the mentally ill. Miss Patti Stimmel reigned as Miss Greenville of 1969. The AOPis supported campus organizations by serving as chairmen of SGA committees and editors on the Buccaneer staff. The sorority looked forward to the annual convention in Los Angeles. "Take some time out" seemed to have been the motto of the big white house on Tenth Street as the Alpha Phis returned from the "long hot summer" and began another year. Lambda Chi Field Day put the Phis in the spirit for Homecoming. Along with placing second in the float division, one of the sisters was a finalist for Homecoming Queen.

The Alpha Phi merry-go-around continued with the Greek All-Sing, sorority intramurals, socials, and other activities of Greek life.

The Phis actively participated in campus affairs and boasted sisters selected for Who's Who, Student Party Chairman, Chief Marshall, Legislature, and class offices. They also worked for the Heart Fund and sponsored a foster child in Greenville.

Alpha Xis boasted many cutstanding members this year, including the 1969 Buccaneer Queen, Who's Who winners, and the Lambda Chi Crescent Girl. On campus, the Alpha Xis served as members of Women's Honor Council and the Judiciary. Marshalls, class officers, cheerleaders, and legislators were among their members.

Alpha Xi Delta's sorority activities included the annual Greek All-Sing, the Pink Rose Ball, and Christmas parties for underprivileged children. The "Olympic size" swimming pool installed in "the vast acreage behind the house" might soon replace the yearly beach weekend. Topics of greatest conversational interest this year were weddings and diets.

In addition to various campus and sorority activities, the Chi Omegas claimed the Sorority Scholarship Trophy. Legislature, SSL, class officers, an Easter Egg Hunt, and a Christmas party took up some of the time between books. "Egging it up" with the Phi Taus, swapping pledges with the Pikas, and "vying for Olympic titles" in intramural games assured a hectic scene at "trough time."

The Chi O's celebrated Homecoming in outstanding fashion by contributing six Homecoming Queen contestants and winning second place in the house decoration competition. Chi O's were also proud of Miss Football, Susan Walton; Who's Who winners Sue Yow and Beverly Giles; and the numerous sisters on the Buccaneer staff and SGA committees. #### Delta Zeta

Delta Zetas got off to a flying start by winning the Lambda Chi Alpha Field Day. Other new additions to the DZ trophy case were earned in the sorority volleyball competition and Phi Tau Woman Hater's Week. The sorority pointed proudly to Linda West, first runner-up in the Buccaneer Queen contest, and Vicki Lee, first runner-up for Homecoming Queen. Fraternity sweethearts, marshalls, class officers, and Miss Greenville Pageant contestants were also found in the Delta Zeta ranks.

Sorority activities included establishing an alumnae chapter, election night openhouse, Parents' Weekend and Founders' Day. The Delta Zetas eagerly looked forward to building a new chapter house.

Kappa Deltas poured in from all over the world to jump into the whirlpool of a new year at ECU. A first priority job was polishing the brand new trophies earned in the first annual Sigma Chi Derby Day. These included first place and Miss Venus. Trophies for the highest scholarship and most improved scholarship were also proud additions to the KD collection. In other Greek activites, the KDs participated in All-Sing, Lambda Chi Field Day, intramurals and socials. In recognition of the highest Greek Ideals, Kappa Delta presented a trophy to the Outstanding Senior Greek Woman.

After the public burning of the Homecoming float last year, the KDs came back to place first in this year's competition. Campus positions included cheerleaders, honoraries, marshalls, Buccaneer Greek Editor, and SSL delegates. KD was also the home of the SGA historian and the NAAU Swim Meet Queen. As a community project, the KDs visited blind and elderly people on a continuous basis. Kappa Delta eagerly anticipated its biennial National Convention in the Grand Bahamas.

Sorority activities were stressed by the Tri-Sigmas. Socials with fraternities and the ECU football team sparked social interest, and projects to benefit the Robbie Page Memorial in Chapel Hill added community service. The Sigmas joined with the PiKAs in entertaining needy children at Christmas. The annual dance honoring the Formal Pledge Class was the highlight of the year.

In the Greek World, the Sigmas contributed the PiKA Dream Girl and the IFC Queen. Editing the Wheel of Sisterhood, the Panhellenic publication, was also a Sigma product.

Campus activities offered many top positions for the Tri-Sigs. Honor Council and Panhellenic posts, SGA committee chairmen, and Who's Who winners characterized Sigma's involvement in campus affairs. Sigma also pointed with pride to the second runner-up for Buccaneer Queen, Sherry Robertson.

Variety best characterized 1968-69 for the Alpha Epsilon Pis. The annual Wild West Weekend featured a cookout and costume party. The brothers also triumphed in a "Kill-In," a contest where the Alpha Epsilon Pis and a sorority tried to kill each other. The price? A party, of course! Homecoming was a bash with the "Inspirations" headlining the weekend. Winning first prize in house decorations gave the brothers a good reason to celebrate.

Alpha Epsilon Pi's more conventional activities included the second annual Rock Around the Clock, the Adoption of an Indian child, and Christmas "Seals With a Kiss." The brothers also collected for UNICEF and placed second in the campus blood drive. Recognition for service by the Alpha Epsilon Pi National Convention was a prized reward.

The Alpha Epsilon Pis supported campus activities in a big way with members involved in Judiciary, Honor Council, Model U.N., and Men's Residence Council. Athletics, freshman orientation, and IFC also bore the stamp of Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Phi • Alpha Sigma affiliated with National Delta Sigma Phi and officially became Delta Sigma Phi East Carolina Colony. During the year it maintained close relations with other chapters in the state. Through socials and participation in a clothing drive for Korean children, the ECU Delta Sigs were welcomed by chapters at State and A.C.C. The new brotherhood acquired a new party room and completed the furnishing of their house which became a Mississippi levee during Homecoming.

The Delta Sigs branched out in community affairs. Their efforts in the Cancer Drive brought recognition from the American Society. The IFC Christmas activities and campus blood drive also won Delta Sig support.

Top social events of the year were the Delta Sig Sailors' Ball; Carnation Ball; and not one, but two Founders' Day Banquets. On campus the brothers participated in SGA, GAP, Men's Judiciary, and several honoraries. They proudly boasted two out of seven Richardson Foundation Scholars.

"In 1865 at Washington and Lee, There were a band of soldier boys As brave as they could be, They followed Lee and Jackson From the mountains to the bay, And there they formed an Order And called it Ole KA."

Over a hundred years later, the KAs still cherished Southern heritage. In the spring, Gamma Rho Chapter recalled the tradition of "sitting under the magnolia tree sipping mint julips" in its annual Old

South Weekend.

KA boasted the highest scholastic average on campus. The KA basketball team captured first place again this year. KA held a city-wide track meet for elementary school competitors. For needy children, the fraternity hosted a Christmas party complete with 007 Santa Claus. The newly acquired KA party house soon rivaled the Coach for "happy smiles." Socials helped to break it in and ease the weeknight strain. "Hard-core road-trippers" and "hashers" found sustenance in life-giving sausage, cheese, and egg sandwiches from DW's.

Lambda Chi Alpha maintained an active coordination with university activities. In intramural events, including softball and football, first place awards were received. The fraternity actively participated in the year's Greek Week and Homecoming activities. The success of Lambda Chi Field Day was attributed to a great amount of time and organization. The annual competitive sports event for sororities became a tradition in the Greek World of ECU.

In off-campus activities, the brotherhood devoted its time and effort to such community projects as the Heart Fund Drive. "Lambda Tub," pushed from Greenville to Raleigh, provided money for homeless and needy children.

Combo parties, socials, the New Year's party, and the Crescent Girl dance provided gay social life.

Through the application of their motto, "Every man a man," the Lambda Chis again succeeded in making variety work as one.

With a flurry of chicken feathers, splattered paint, and raw eggs, the Phi Tau Annual Woman Haters' Week opened with full force. The brothers and pledges fought valiantly to trap the despised females in the "Pig Pond;" but they were overpowered by the Delta Zetas, the Most Hated Sorority.

The Phi Tau party image was upheld by the Sweetheart Pall, socials, beach weekend, and combo parties.

On campus the Phi Taus were active in the legislature, Honor Council, Judiciary, Model U.N., SSL, and SGA committees. They also boasted 100 per cent support of Project Gratification for President Jenkins. The fraternity presented a trophy in recognition of the Greek man with the highest scholastic average.

Pikas went political this year by sponsoring the "Jim Gardner and Nixon Pika Centennial" and by offering their house as the headquarters for the new university party, the Mafia. Civic-minded Pikas donated self-help study guides and psychic no-Doze during exams, held weekly brush waterings, and worked "hand-to-cuff" with the Greenville City Police. The Pikas also entertained underprivileged children at Easter and Christmas and supported the annual "Bleed-in." They also sponsored a clean-up of Green Springs Park.

Homecoming, which brought second place recognition to the Pika house decorations, was the scene of the annual brunch and cocktail party for alumni. The Dream Girl Dance, Founders' Day Banquet, Hell's Angels Party, and Weiner Roast with the Sigmas were the traditional social events.

Pi Kaps captured the President's Cup for two consecutive years in intramurals; and they were especially proud of their top competitors Bill Marks, Danny Luper, and Archie Simmons. The brothers contributed to campus activities by playing host to the delegates of the Model United Nations.

In supporting the community, the pledges staged a neighborhood clean-up campaign; and the entire fraternity aided the Heart and Arthritis funds. A lively party made Christmas a reality for several underprivileged children.

With the traditional Founders' Day, alumni weekend, and the annual Rose Ball, the Phi Kaps enjoyed another full year.

Sigma Chi Delta played host to The Platters in a memorable after-concert party and became entertainers themselves by winning second in the annual Greek All-Sing. On campus the Sigma Chis served as members of the Legislature and Judiciary.

The first annual Derby Day drew a great crowd as ECU students turned out to see the sorority women slug it out in the most grueling event of the year. After the fun and games, the Sigma Chi combo party soothed wounds and won friends again—until _next year. With all the trophies given out at Derby Day, the Sigma Chi had to get one for themselves. What better way than to win the Schlitz Beer Drinking Contest? The Talented brew boys also brought home a new TV.

This year the Sig Eps were proud of their president Gary Phipps, who took over the gavel of IFC.

If the Sig Eps were looking a little pale for a few days, it was because they contributed the most blood in the annual campus blood drive. Other service projects included Halloween and Christmas parties for underprivileged children, Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, and the adoption of a child overseas.

The House with the Red Door saw its share of other happenings too. The "Greek Beer Drinker of the Year" was a coveted title which brought spirited competition. The Queen of Hearts Ball, Founders' Day, combo parties, and beach weekend set the scene for other Sig Ep socializing.

November 16, 1968, marked the birthday of Tau Kappa Epsilon at East Carolina. The newly installed Lambda Psi Chapter was the Two Hundred Fifty-Seventh Teke stronghold and received the traditional Horseshoe for good luck. The celebration was highlighted by a banquet, combo party, and a new stereo from the pledges.

The new Tekes proudly displayed their pins at a Christmas party for underprivileged children and at the fraternity's annual spring Parents' Day.

In intramurals the Tekes came on strong and took first place in volleyball. Homecoming with Sweetheart Mary Lou Pharr on the court, theme parties, beach weekend, and Founders' Day combined to make 1968-69 a landmark year.

Theta Chis jumped off to a great start with a successful Rush featuring Clifford Curry. Social events such as the Howard Bodkin party, the Dream Girl Dance, Christmas party, various theme parties, and the annual reception for alumni heightened the social aspects of the

In aiding the town community, the fraternity refereed a local football league. Pledges staged a clean-up of Green Springs Park. The annual campus blood drive was actively supported by the Theta Chis.

Both off campus and on, the brothers of APO rendered many valuable services. On campus, the APOs helped with pre-registration and acted as ushers at movies, international films, and theater productions. The Annual White Ball sent its proceeds to the Pitt County Crippled Children's Association. The APOs also assisted the Boy Scouts in Scout-o-Rama and other activities and supported the T. B. Association.

Social life of the fraternity consisted of intramural sports, Pledge-Brother football games (the brothers emerged victorious 38-12), Beach Weekend, and Homecoming festivities.

"Thieves' Carnival" Provides Spirited Comedy

"Thieves' Carnival," one of Jean Anouilh's most successful plays in the United States, was presented by the Drama Department of East Carolina University. The play was an excellent lark, loaded with humorous whims, romance, and masquerades. The play was called "a merry and mocking conceit possessing ironic gaiety, irrepressible humor, and rueful wisdom." The settings of John Sneden and the lighting of Georg Schreiber were enhanced by the costumes of Mary Stephenson. The cast, under the direction of Victor R. Cook, was diffuse, incoherent, inconsequential, but highly spirited, funny, and occasionally spectacular. "Thieves' Carnival" provided an unusual, uninhibited evening in the theatre.

"The Knack" Brings Zany Comedy to East Carolina

Written by Ann Jellicoe and directed by Amanda Muir, "The Knack" was a riotous comedy of zany dramatic drive involving three young men in relation to one girl. It showed their various attitudes toward sex.

The cast, hanging chairs and painting flowers on walls, nervously eager to learn about sex, presented one ingenious improvision after another. The poor girl was severely tested by the three lads and was so distracted that she began to imagine all sorts of involvements with each of them.

John Sneden's settings and Mary Stephenson's costumes combined with Georg Schreiber's lighting added to the total effect of the play.

"Oliver" Brings Standing Ovation

"Oliver," one of the biggest musical comedy successes of the 1960's, bounced, bubbled, and sang its way into McGinnis Auditorium as the season-opener of the East Carolina University Playhouse. The light and lyrical adaptation of the novel by Charles Dickens, written in 1828, traced the adventures of an orphan boy through poverty, crime, and the starving deprivation of a workhouse. Not the least important part of the cast was the barrelfull of scampering kids who portrayed the denizens of the workhouse. These denizens were transformed before the audience's eyes from carefree children to apt pupils of thievery.

Dos Passos Novel Comes to ECU Stage

Based on the novel by John Dos Passos, "U.S.A." was a superbly woven and exciting cavalcade of America in the first third of the twentieth century. The play, transformed by Paul Shyre, retained all the color, sentiment, and throbbing reality of the era. By masterful use of biography, news, and fiction, "U.S.A." not only chronicled a by-gone era but also projected a bitter-sweet parallel between those troubled times and these.

Following the performance in Greenville, the cast traveled to Wilmington to present the play in historic Thalian Hall. The setting presented a rare opportunity for the cast and crew to match material and atmosphere.

Left: Jim Haskins, Sally Watts, Roy Dicks, and Marcia Edmundson entertain with a song from "USA." Below: The cast reflect the spirit of the early twentieth century.

"Frederick" Employs New Techniques

Acclaimed as a major historical drama on a grand scale, "The Sorrows of Frederick" was the most ambitious project ever undertaken by the Department of Drama.

An integral part of this paradox of a man was his love of music. He was an impersonal militarist on one hand with a deep contempt for mankind and, at the same time, truly a royal patron of music and a composer himself of over one hundred and twenty works. His music was actively involved in the production of the play.

The East Carolina Playhouse was honored by being the only university in the nation to present "The Sorrows of Frederick" prior to its New York production next season.

Roger Wagner Chorale Enchants Audience

Listening to musical selections of the Roger Wagner Chorale made an enchanting evening for an East Carolina audience. Described by Leopold Stokowski as "second to none in the world," the Roger Wagner Chorale presented a variety of works that included both sacred and secular music. The audience was captivated as the 'Chorale moved from fast-moving sea chanties to lazy-paced Negro spirituals. Appealing to each member of the diversified audience, the Roger Wagner Chorale became one of the season's favorites.

Merrill Features Opera Selections

Robert Merrill, baritone singing star of the Metropolitan Opera, presented the second program of the 1968-1969 season of the Artists Series. The golden-voiced Merrill sang selections from his operatic career as well as songs of the common people. The Merrill concert was one of the most memorable concerts and left a glow in the hearts and minds of the audience.

Segovia Casts Spell

Andres Segovia, the world's greatest classical guitarist, left an East Carolina audience spellbound after a concert of top-notch quality. A rare privilege and a first for this part of the country, the concert revealed the credibility of the reputation which precedes Segovia wherever he goes. Segovia explained the reason for the wide appeal of his concerts, "It is perhaps a search for something gentle and subtle in a difficult and noisy world." Many people came not knowing what to expect and left raving at the delightful and sensitive performance by the master of classical guitar.

Detroit Symphony Appears on Campus

Walls of Wright Auditorium echoed the musical talents of one of the nation's finest symphonic ensembles. Under the direction of the musical genius, Sixten Ehrling, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra presented a long remembered concert. An organization of one hundred and three virtuosos, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and its director were truly delightful. Included in their repertoire were selections from modern orchestra compositions as well as compositions from the classical era.

Right: Sixten Ehrling, Director of The Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Below: The Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Van Cliburn Dazzles Listeners

East Carolina was fortunate to have as part of the 1968-1969 Artists Series a young man who has become a legend in his own time. Since winning the Tchai-kovsky Competition in Moscow in 1958, Van Cliburn has become a hero to all America. Mr. Cliburn's recital dazzled enraptured listeners as he played classical selections of the world's foremost composers. The gracious and modest charm of Van Cliburn's personality as well as his musical genius won him a host of friends at East Carolina University.

Poetry Forum Features Tar River Poets

Serving both the community and university, the Poetry Forum was open to poets and critics, as well as interested listeners. The Forum published a pamphlet series entitled "Tar River Poets," containing verse written by students, faculty, and townspeople. Members of the Forum had poetry published in various magazines, such as Poet Lore, Jean's Journal, and American Notes and Queries. One of the members, Woody Thurman, was invited by Harper's Magazine to submit manuscripts of his verse. Mr. Thurman's poems, characterized as avant-garde. possess great depth and give the reader a good hard look at life. Aside from publication of their poems, Forum members gave public readings at East Carolina University, Methodist College, North Carolina State University, and the University of North Carolina.

Fine Arts Committee Spurs Interest

Members of the Fine Arts Committee planned the Artists' Ball, bus trips to museums, and photo-forays. The group also supervised artistic films.

Organized in January, 1969, the purpose of the Fine Arts Committee was to promote interest and participation in the fine arts at East Carolina University. The committee was formed by members in the fine arts field who saw a need for a means of artistic expression and appreciation on the campus.

Soloists Highlight Orchestral Concerts

Playing the standard symphonic repertoire of all musical periods, the University Orchestra presented one formal concert each quarter. The winter-quarter concert featured a monumental symphony by "Mahler entitled "The Titan." Soloists from the School of Music highlighted each concert.

The Orchestra in the fall hosted a recording clinic for orchestra directors from across the state, New music published for school orchestra was recorded.

Symphonic Band Receives Honor

Composed of selected personnel, East Carolina's Symphonic Band appeared in winter and spring concerts, at commencement, at the Contemporary Music Festival, and at the annual Christmas program. In February, the band had the honor of playing for the national conference of the College Band Directors' National Association at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

Variety Sparks Varsity Band

Acting as an outlet for the musical talent of any interested person on the East Carolina campus, the Varsity Band served as a concert band composed of seventy-five members. Its activities consisted of two spring concerts, a formal concert, and a lawn concert. The band played traditional compositions as well as the new music of this era.

Women's Chorus Polishes Techniques

Women's Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Paul Aliapoulios, was designed to give non-music majors an opportunity to gain valuable techniques in choral singing and voice control. Although this group did not perform in concert, the seventy-five members sang in large and small ensembles. These programs were taped for evaluation purposes.

Men's Glee Club Sings Folk Music

Dressed in blue blazers and gray trousers, the Men's Glee Club performed for local civic organizations, alone and jointly with the Women's Glee Club. The club sang folk songs of foreign lands as well as music of the Renaissance and Romantic eras. The singers completed their year with a tour of high schools in the area. The Men's Glee Club provided a means by which all men, both music majors and non-music majors, could express their musical talents.

Women's Glee Club Presents Spring Concert

Under the direction of Miss Beatrice Chauncey, the Women's Glee Club offered experience in all types of music for the woman's voice. The sixty-member organization sang at high schools in the area and on campus at the Christmas assembly. In the spring, a major work for mixed voices was sung with orchestral accompaniment and the Men's Glee Club.

University Chorale Offers Musical Enjoyment

Providing an opportunity for both music and non-music majors to enjoy, perform, and explore a variety of choral literature, the University Chorale presented a myriad of musical programs. Highlighting its activities this year was its participation in the annual Christmas concert and a combined concert with the Varsity Band.

Concert Choir Sings for Christmas

Under the direction of Dr. Charles Moore, the Concert Choir represented the University at various functions during the academic year. The fifty-two voices presented a Christmas concert; toured North Carolina and the Richmond, Virginia area; and performed with the ECU Orchestra at the Contemporary Music Festival.

Marching Pirates Participate in Inaugural Parade

One hundred and forty members of the Marching Pirates performed during halftime at all East Carolina home football games. They accompanied the team to the Furman University game in Greenville, South Carolina. The band journeyed to Raleigh to participate January 3, 1969, in the Inaugural Parade for North Carolina's Governor Robert Scott. Apart from the parades and football games, the Marching Pirates gave prospective band directors additional practice in their field.

Leo W. Jenkins, President

"This great nation is founded on the Jeffersonian ideal of an educated citizenry. The future of the nation, therefore, depends on the extent to which we are dedicated to making higher education possible for as many people as are qualified for and desirous of receiving it," declared Dr. Jenkins.

President Jenkins said many times during the year that he was proud of East Carolina University and the accomplishments of its students. This sense of pride for the institution was coupled with a warm friendliness and concern for each individual student, secretary, professor, and custodian of the University. Whether it was a medical school, a three-million-dollar art building, a science complex, a new coliseum, a modern foreign language building, a concert, or a winning ball team, if it concerned East Carolina, it had the enthusiastic support of Dr. Jenkins.

Having succeeded in gaining regional university status for East Carolina, President Jenkins turned his energies toward the betterment of the University as an educational institution. President Jenkins' efforts were scaled to the future with an abiding concern for the University that transcended personal ambition and interest.

Board of Trustees Oversees University

Citizens of North Carolina charged the Board of Trustees with the direction and guidance of East Carolina University. Under the aegis of Mr. Robert Morgan, chairman, the Board discussed fiscal and academic affairs of the University.

School of Arts and Sciences

Providing the curriculum for the students majoring in liberal arts education was the duty of the School of Arts and Sciences. Headed by Dean John Howell, the School of Arts and Sciences was composed of nineteen departments with the Aerospace Studies Department attached to the School, which had generally autonomous powers.

Department of Aerospace Studies

Over 180 cadets enrolled in the Air Force ROTC program this year. Freshmen and sophomores studied World Military Systems; juniors and seniors studied the Development of Air Power, Astronautics, and Space Operations and prepared for commissioned service in the Air Force. As a major addition to the curriculum, a cognate minor for the Professional Officer Course was established.

Financial assistance grants were awarded to ten cadets selected from nationwide competition. The Department trained and educated cadets for the variety of leadership positions in the Air Force.

Department of Biology

Featuring a completely revised curriculum, the Biology Department entered a year of extensive growth and change. With the addition of a biochemistry major, the department became one of only seven institutions in the United States to offer an undergraduate degree in that field. Many of the staff members were involved in research projects which offered undergraduates the opportunity to work within the research program of a faculty member.

Over 90,000 square feet of classroom, laboratory, and research space comprised the new Biology-Physics Building used for the first time spring quarter. A new publication of "Opportunity in Biology" was sent to all prospective students. A Biology Club, featuring many guest speakers, was organized with Donna Daugherty as its first president.

Department of Chemistry

Three new faculty members joined the Chemistry 34 sequence courses. Other Renovation of Flanagan Building tripled the departmental floor space. Several research quality instruments were acquired: The Infrared Spectrophotometer, the Atomic Absorption Spectometer, and a Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectrometer.

Drs. Le Conte and Klein made an extra contribution to the curriculum of the Chemistry Department this year by writing a textbook entitled Contemporary Chemistry, which was used in the Chemistry 34 sequence courses. Other contributions included a laboratory manual entitled Fundamental Laboratory Operations, written by Drs. Clemens and McAllister. It was used in Chemistry 64 and 66.

Department of Foreign Language

Headed by Mr. James L. Fleming, the Foreign Language Department was divided this year into two departments. Dr. Joseph A. Fernandez served as director of the Romance Language division, and Dr. Henry Wanderman directed the German division.

Plans for a new language building to be located between the Science Complex and the old power plant were drawn. These included eight modern electronic language laboratories and fifteen dial-access classrooms. Two Masters Degree proposals were approved by the Graduate Committee, one in French and the other in Spanish to begin in 1969-1970.

Department of Geography

Highlighting the year for the Geography Department was the hosting of the Southeastern Division of the Association of American Geographers.

Research projects were carried out by professors in the department, research on Remote Sensing of Environment by Dr. D. H. Stillwell and research on the Soviet Union, Mrs. Janet Peterson attended an eight week N.D.E.A. institute on African studies. This African study was completed by Mrs. Peterson with a trip to Africa.

Undergraduates

Moving from Old Austin to the basement of Ragsdale Hall this year, the Geology Department acquired much new equipment to increase its program. A four by sixteen foot wave tank for sedimentation, oceanography, marine geology and a thirty-six foot boat for shallow water marine study aided members of a team of department geologists who began a research project on Roanoke Island.

Dr. C. G. Brown, chairman of the Geology Department, attended Inter-Geological Congress in Prague, Czechoslavakia. He was scheduled to present a paper and to head a committee at the Congress when the aggressive, imperialistic, warmongering Soviet troops invaded the peaceful country of Czechoslovakia.

Graduates

Now offering majors in both fields, the Health and Physical Education Department increased its athletic facilities with the addition of the new North side to Ficklen Stadium. The facilities provided a seating capacity of twenty thousand.

Hosting the National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships and co-sponsoring a workshop in physical education for teachers of the mentally retarded were projects of the rapidly expanding department. Approximately 175 teachers, supervisors, and principals attended this workshop, which was sponsored in conjunction with the Education Department.

Department of History

After a two-year study, the Department of History revised its curriculum and made important changes at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. New courses in American, European, and Asian history were added to give the student a wider choice of material and a better opportunity for specialization, especially at the undergraduate level.

An additional volume was added to the department's publications, East Carolina University Publications in History. This volume, written by Dr. Loren Campion, was entitled As Bismarck Fell.

The fourth annual Symposium on History and the Social Studies was sponsored by the department October 11, 1968. The subject of this year's discussion was "The Presidency in Times of Crisis."

Department of Library Science

Approximately two hundred undergraduates this year trained to become school librarians. The entire program was revised to meet new state guidelines, and it was possible for students to student teach in library science rather than their other field of concentration. For the past three summers the department conducted institutes for librarians out in the field. The graduate degree in library science had more candidates than ever before. Last year's graduates were placed in school libraries throughout the Southeast, in public and college libraries, and in technical institutes. Each graduate in the program was offered at least ten openings from which to choose. The Department of Library Science was located on the second floor of the Joyner Library with a suite of classrooms, offices, seminar rooms, and a media center.

Headed by Dr. Tullio J. Pignani, the mathematics staff consisted of thirty-two fulltime professors. An IBM 360 System Model 30 served as a useful teaching aid to the professors. Among these thirty-two faculty members were four who were away pursuing their doctorates.

Established during the year was the North Carolina Delta Chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, an Honorary Mathematics Fraternity. Seminars in Modern Algebra were sponsored by the professors of the Mathematics Department.

Department of Philosophy

Now located in its own building, the Philosophy Department gave the students of the University a chance to think merely about thinking. Teaching courses from basic instruction in the ideas of the great philosophers to more advanced level courses, the Philosophy Department attempted to expose the students to the minds of great men.

Dr. William Byrd and Dr. Richard McCorkle headed a special research program in Plasma Physics. Low Energy Nuclear Physics research was directed by Dr. E. J. Seykora. Electronics technician Arthur Fletcher built and maintained electronics equipment for the Physics, Biology, and Chemistry Departments. The ECU Physics Department initiated a series of seminars in Eastern North Carolina Colleges and Universities.

Four graduate programs in physics were approved to begin in the fall of 1970. The Physics Department moved into its new quarters in the Science Complex.

With both the behavioral and traditional approaches to Political Science, the Political Science Department tried not only to instruct the students but to make them aware of the world about them, The Honors Program challenged outstanding students in Political Science. The curriculum was organized around four basic fields: American Government and Politics, Political Theory and Methodology, Foreign and Comparative Government, and International Relations.

Dr. John Howell and Dr. J. G. Kim published articles. Dr. John East was written up in an article in American Men of Science and was included in Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

Department of Psychology

Proposals concerning the construction of a spacious new building to house the Department of Psychology were submitted to the State Legislature. The new building would add much more space and equipment to the present facilities and enable the department to accept more applicants for the Masters Degree program.

Several new professors were added to the staff of the Psychology Department this year to replace the ones who left to work on their doctorates. The department consisted of nineteen staff members, sixteen graduate fellows, two professional secretaries, and one full-time animal caretaker.

Department of Science Education

Science Education Department revised the science curriculum for pre-service and in-service elementary school teachers. Major changes were made in the graduate degree program for secondary school science teachers. Plans were made to implement the new teaching certificate in physical science that was approved by the State Board of Education. The department approved plans for renovation of the third floor of Flanagan Building. These renovations tripled the present facilities of the department. The department served as regional consultant for two national curriculum studies in elementary education.

In the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Dr. Yoon Hough Kim directed two research projects. Six workshops were conducted in the areas of Juvenile Delinquency, Race Relations, Social Problems, and the Aged in American Society. Through a grant from the National Science Foundation, the department gained three new adding machines for its research program.

After concentrating on the development of a graduate program, the Sociology and Anthropology Department, under Dr. Melvin T. Williams, offered this year the M.A. degree in Sociology. The department also added a minor in Anthropology.

School of Business

With 1185 undergraduate majors, the School of Business this year expanded into three departments: Accounting, Business Administration, and Economics, each with its own chairman. Headed by Dean James H. Bearden, the School of Business sponsored the third Executive Development Seminar. The School of Business was the first professional school to use the General College facilities. As a result, business majors were admitted to the School of Business as upperclassmen.

School of Education

In the area of Special Education, the School of Education this year offered two new degrees, one in Mental Retardation and the other in Speech Pathology. It also offered a new graduate degree in Vocal Rehabilitation.

The department obtained the services of Dr. Garrett Hume, audiologist. His services were available to students as well as to special cases referred to him by medical doctors in the surrounding area.

School of Home Economics Designated a School of Home Economics by the East Carolina University Board of Trustees, the department began the year in a new Home Economics Building. Much new equipment was installed. New B.S. majors and minors in Child Development and Family Relationships and a Master of Science program were initiated.

Phi Upsilon Omicron, national Home Economics Fraternity, granted a charter to the Home Economics Club, now the Beta Eta Chapter. The department, directed by Dr. Miriam B. Moore, cosponsored a family life conference during the year.

Department of Industrial and Technical Education

Close professor-student relationship existed in the School of Industrial and Technical Education. Small classes of the laboratory type contributed to good relationships between the faculty and the students.

The School gained additional space in Flanagan and updated its electronics laboratory. The Industrial and Technical Club built the surreys in which the 1969 Homecoming Court rode during the Homecoming Parade.

School of Music

East Carolina University School of Music opened a new music major program, the Bachelor of Music with a major in Piano Pedagogy. Mr. Charles Stevens headed this new program designed to prepare students for a career as piano teachers and to help them reach a high level of advancement in their own performance. In addition to a B.M. degree in Piano Pedagogy, a B.M. degree in Music Therapy was added. New courses were offered in ethnomusicology and electronic music. To aid the teachers of music, the department installed a new electronic-piano set-up with a monitor system. This began an electronic music laboratory.

School of Nursing

New video-tape instant replay equipment allowed the nursing student to observe her actions in given situations. Additional classrooms for Public Health nursing students were located near Pitt Memorial and Beaufort County Hospitals.

The second year in the new Nursing Building was enhanced by the addition of sidewalks, carpets, and draperies.

General College

General College program provided a point of entry into an academic career for freshman students who planned to major in one of the departments of the College of Arts and Sciences or the School of Business or for freshmen who would eventually major in one of the professional schools or independent departments. The student remains in General College for one or two years, depending upon his chosen major. During the time the student is in General College, he may register for courses in any area he wishes to explore as a possible future major. Fiftythree advisers from most of the academic departments were available to the students.

To Those Who Made It All Possible

Publication of this book made a living testimony of the fine work and bold innovations of the staff of The Buccaneer 1969.

Nothing has been said, however, about the sacrifices made by two wonderful people, the wife and son of the Editor. Gayle Beasley and Bill, her son, permitted their man of the house to devote many long hours shaping his life around the task of making his dream a reality. They shared his enthusiasm and endured his disappointments. They suffered through his problems and encouraged his work. And they never complained!
