THIS, THE THIRTEENTH OF OUR ALBUM SERIES,--

"SUMMER AT THE SEASIDE,"

Represents an anxious Italian mother, seated with her convalescing child on the beach, inhaling the balmy, health-reviving air of the Sea. The scene, in its essential features, is not peculiar to the shores of the Mediterranean, but will be recognized as familiar, wherever old Ocean rolls upon the strand.

Why do we issue these cards? For what purpose is this pretty specimen now presented to you? Frankly, that your attention may be drawn, during this hot Summer season, to the real danger attending you personally, and every member of your family—if you have one—from sudden attacks of Cramps, Colics, Bowel Complaints, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa, and Dysentery. To suggest caution, also, in the choice of food—avoiding excesses in eating fruit and drinking cold water while overheated. These precautions being observed, let us further advise that you provide yourself, at so trifling a cost as thirty-five cents for a small, or fifty cents for a double-sized bottle of JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM, and make yourself, and, if a mother, your little ones, too, comparatively safe in case you should be suddenly attacked with any of these dangerous complaints. This CARMINATIVE has been in use for too many years, and its efficacy is too well known, in almost every community, to require here any words of commendation, and no prudent person will fail to always have a bottle of it at hand. To persons traveling—subject as they are to constant changes in food and water—a word should be sufficient.

YOU SHOULD NOT FORGET, When a medicine is wanted—as it often is in every family for the Dyspepsia of Adults, or as a Tonic for Feeble Children—that JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE is a sure and pleasant remedy; while for Worms in Children, it is a certain and speedy curative,—thoroughly ridding the system of these pests.
