Reagan Available In Ford Campaign

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he is willing to do anything he can to help President Ford's campaign, but his efforts will have to be fitted around his radio and public speaking commitments.

"I'll do what I can," Reagan said as he prepared to meet today with the producer of "American Opinion," the daily radio show he discontinued when he started campaigning against Ford last year for the Republican presidential nomination.

The 65-year-old former California governor, whose broadcasting career began as a baseball announcer for the Chicago Cubs before he broke into movies in 1937, hopes to be on the air in about three weeks with a daily five-minute political commentary. He returned to radio once before — in 1975 after leaving California's governorship.

In an interview on the flight back to California after last week's Republican National Convention, Reagan said that looking back over his campaign, the only thing he would do differently is spend more time in Ohio and less in California.

Reagan won California's winner-take-all primary for 167 delegates in a 2-1 landslide. He polled 45 per cent of the Ohio vote the same day, but lost 91 of the state's 97 delegates.

Reagan said he believes he had enough delegates to win when he arrived at the GOP convention in Kansas City, Mo. He said the same thing at the outset of the convention, although all independent surveys showed Ford ahead.

"Yes, we could (have won). We weren't snowing anybody with the optimism beforehand," he said.

Reagan's run for the presidency began 10 months after his January 1975 return to radio. In that time, his "American Viewpoint" show expanded to 350 stations nationwide and was reaching an estimated 30 million listeners daily.

Reagan's meeting today was arranged to set up a private syndication network.

Reagan expects the radio show to provide two things: a platform to perform as a sort of conservative conscience for the Ford campaign and administration, and a handsome income.

In a 10-month period in 1975, the radio show, a newspaper column and speaking tours provided Reagan a gross income estimated at more than $500,000. After paying expenses for an office and staff of seven persons, Reagan reported a net personal income of $282,253.

North Korea Growls U.S. Task Force 'Invites' War

by K.C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force headed by the aircraft carrier Midway approached Korea today. North Korea said the warships were bound for its waters and warned that the move would "force a conflict."

The five-ship naval force was ordered from its base in Japan as part of the U.S. military response to the ax-slaying of two U.S. Army officers by North Koreans in the Korean neutral zone last week. The Navy would not give their exact location or destination but a Japanese pilot spotted them, shadowed by a Soviet freighter, and said they could be close to the south coast of Korea today.

North Korean broadcasts said the naval operation brought the situation "closer to the brink of war." Rodong Shinmoon, the Communist party daily warned that North Korean armed forces are prepared for a "sacred war ... to annihilate the aggressors at one stroke if they dare pounce upon us."

Pyongyang radio quoted the newspaper as "denouncing the criminal act of U.S. imperialism in sending the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Midway into the waters of the northern half of the republic ...

"By infiltrating their warships into the waters of another country, the U.E. imperialist aggressors force a conflict on the other side..." it added.

A Navy spokesman denied that the Midway — built in the 1940's — was nuclear-powered, as described by North Korea.

The 151-mile-long demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea was reported quiet, as it has been since the dispute over the pruning of a tree in the zone last Wednesday led to a free-for-all in which North Koreans hacked to death two Americans.

Thousands of South Korean workers assembled for rallies today denouncing North Korea for the attack on a United Nations Command working party that was pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom.

The workers shouted "Down with murder-gangster Kim Il-eung," the North Korean president; "Clubs for mad dog" and similar slogans.

President Chung Hee Park's Democratic-Republican party and opposition parties issued statements calling on the government to take "strongest possible measures" against Communist provocations.

Honor Former Colo. Governor

DENVER (AP) — The late Ralph L. Carr, who as governor of Colorado offered refuge to Japanese-Americans fleeing prejudice elsewhere in the nation in World War II, has been honored for his actions.

Japanese Ambassador Fumihiko Togo, said Carr's actions "were enduring testimony to the great sense of justice that animates this great democracy."

Togo's remarks came Saturday as a bronze bust of the late governor was unveiled during ceremonies in Sakura Square in downtown Denver.

Carr, who died in 1950, welcomed Japanese-Americans to Colorado and assured them of their rights, while other governors urged they be put in relocation camps.

Chlorine Leak

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A 10 block area of Charlotte was sealed off and evacuated Sunday morning after a one-ton cylinder began leaking poisonous chlorine gas.

There were no injuries and only a handful of people were in the area, Assistant Fire Chief Howard Miller said.

Chlorine, a chemical used in bleaching and water purification, can be fatal if inhaled.

Miller said the leak was reported about 8:30 a.m. at the Jones Chemical Co., about one block from Charlotte's busy West Morehead St. The area was sealed off as a precautionary measure, he said.

"When we got there, we removed the cylinder from the loading dock and took it to the parking lot and put about 800 gallons of water per minute on it for about an hour until all the vapors had been dissipated," Miller said. "Then, the company pumped it out with steam."

Miller said ten men wearing protective clothing and breathing apparatuses answered the call.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is coming back to work after its recess for the Republican National Convention with Senate-House differences over taxes, abortion and the B1 bomber still to be resolved.

Aside from reaching compromises on those issues, the legislators have a number of other measures to deal with before the Oct. 2 adjournment date set by party leaders.

The Senate starts off today with a bill that would authorize pumping $1 billion in additional subsidies into the deficit-ridden

Postal Service over the next two years.

The measure also would create a 12-member commission to study and report by Feb. 15, 1977, on Postal Service problems and how to deal with them. In the interim, postal rate increases and service cuts would be prohibited.

On the agenda for the House on its first day back were bills to control toxic substances and to extend the student loan guarantee program for three years, as well as a variety of lesser measures.

In mid-week the House is to take up a $3.45-billion appro-Panaunjon for a long period. However, it is regretful that an incident occurred in the joint security area, Panmunjom, this time.

"An effort must be made so that such incidents may not recur in the future. For this purpose both sides should make efforts. We urge your side to prevent the provocation. Our side will never provoke first, but take self-defense measures only when provocation occurs. This is our consistent stand."

The message was delivered five hours after a U.N. Command force, acting on orders from President Ford, cut down the 40-foot Normandy poplar which the working party was pruning when the North Koreans attacked it. The tree cutters Saturday were guarded by 300 American and South Korean combat troops and an umbrella of American helicopter gunships, jet fighters and B52 bombers.

The U.N. Command said the tree blocks its forces' view of North Korean guard posts on the other side of the truce village.

Returning Congress Takes Up Wide Variety Of Bills

priation bill to fund the modified public service jobs legislation passed over President Ford's veto.

And the Senate is to come to grips with the House's insistence on banning the use of federal funds for abortions.

The ban, previously rejected by the Senate, is included in a $56.6-billion appropriation bill for the Labor and the Health, Education and Welfare departments.

The bill, on which other differences between the Senate and the House have been resolved, is about $4 billion over Ford's budget requests.

The two houses are far apart on the major tax overhaul bill passed by the Senate shortly before the recess for the GOP convention. The House passed its version eight months ago.

The House has not yet appointed conferees to seek a compromise with the Senate, but it is expected to do so shortly.

Along with a wide variety of tax law changes, the bill provides for extending tax cuts for individuals and businesses voted last year in an anti-recession move.

The individual tax cuts now in effect are worth about $180 a year to a typical family of four with an income of $15,000.

Also awaiting a Senate-House compromise agreement is a defense appropriation bill that totaled $104 billion when passed by the Senate just before the recess.

A major issue to be resolved is a Senate amendment banning expenditure of $1 billion to start production of the controversial B1 bomber until after next Feb. 1.

This would give the president taking office Jan. 20 a chance to decide whether to go ahead with production. The House, however, voted against delaying orders for the first three B1 bombers until after the presidential inauguration.

Egyptian Plane Is Seized By Seven Gunmen

By HARRY DUNPHY
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — Seven gunmen held more than 90 passengers and crew hostage aboard an Egyptian airliner in southern Egypt today and threatened to blow up the plane unless they were given fuel to fly outside Egypt, an airline spokesman said.

Interior Ministry sources at Luxor Airport said the hijackers, five Libyans and two Algerians, were also demanding the release of five persons jailed in Egypt in connection with two assassination attempts.

The hijackers claim to be members of a new organization called the Abdel Nasser Movement, named after the late Egyptian president.

The gunmen commandeered the Egyptian plane after it took off from from Cairo for Luxor, 448 miles to the south. The semiofficial Middle East News Agency reported the hijackers ordered the pilot to fly to Benghazi, in neighboring Libya. The report said the pilot told the gunmen he didn't have enough fuel and the plane landed at Luxor.

Security forces immediately surrounded the craft and Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem flew to Luxor to take charge of the negotiations.

An Interior Ministry communique said there were 96 passengers listed on the plane's manifest, including the hijackers, and the Boeing 737 had a crew of five. Fourteen of the passengers were Arabs, the airline said, and most of the others were believed to be French and Japanese.

Egyptian officials reportedly believed the hijackers had been trained and hired by the Libyan government. Libyan President Moammar Khadafi is Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's main Arab enemy and relations between the two countries are poor. Egypt has accused Khadafi of directing a wave of terrorist attacks in Egypt in recent months. The Libyan leader has denied the charges.

The hijackers demanded the release of three Libyans jailed last month after reportedly confessing that Khadafi had ordered them to kill or kidnap a former Libyan leader, Omer el Meheisy, now living in exile in Egypt, Interior Ministry sources said.

They also called for the release of the manager of South Yemen Airlines in Egypt and a Palestinian, both of whom are being held on charges of trying to assassinate a former prime minister of South Yemen on Aug. 6, the sources said.

'Emmy' Power Grows

MIAMI (AP) — A hurricane watch was put in effect today for the northeast Leeward Islands as Tropical Storm Emmy moved toward the Gulf Stream on a track that would skirt the islands.

Forecasters said Emmy was likely to increase to hurricane strength.

The storm's west-northwesterly path was close enough to the islands to cause gales and some flooding, forecasters said.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said aircraft reconnaissance and satellite photographs showed Emmy was slowly becoming better organized, with central pressure falling to 996 MB or 29.41 inches.

Highest winds were estimated at 55 miles per hour.

At 6 a.m. EDT, Emmy's center was near 18.5 degrees north latitude and 60.2 degrees west longitude, about 150 miles northeast of Antigua. The storm was moving west-northwest at 15 m.p.h., the track it was expected to follow through early Tuesday.

The Leeward Islands are to the west and south of Puerto Rico and include the U.S. Virgin Islands.

PAYMENT NOT CREDITED

I joined a Family Book Service of Better Homes and Gardens some time ago. I decided to cancel, so I sent in a check for $8.37 to complete my membership agreement and get four more books (supposedly four for the price of three). Now I keep getting letters from Will Anderson, book clubs manager, saying because I have not fulfilled my original agreement they are billing me $14.48 for the enrollment books sent me in the first place. I wrote to them, telling them I'd sent the $8.47, but they keep right on sending the letters. Mrs. W. S.

Hotline called the Better Homes and Gardens office in Des Moines, Iowa and talked to someone who took your name and address and account number. He said he would request a printout of your account from the computer department and would call us back Thursday when he had it. This he did. His printout did not show your $8.47 payment, but based on our word that we had a photostatic copy of your canceled check in front of us, he said he would send you two remaining books owed you via UPS and would credit your account with the payment and mark it closed. He said you may get one more letter already slated for mailing. He asked that you ignore this one and promised that you will receive no more.

How's The Weather?

FORECAST

WEATHER FORECAST—Warm weather is due today for most of the Plains and the East. Cooler weather is expected in northern New England and the Northwest. Rain is forecast for the northern half of the Pacific coast and scattered areas of showers are expected from the Southwest to the Southeast coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
High pressure will control the weather across North Carolina tonight. A cool front passed through the state today, but had little effect on the state's weather.

Skies were mostly sunny today and will be again Tuesday. Afternoon temperatures were in the 80s, except for upper 70s in the mountains. Under fair skies tonight, temperatures will range from the upper 50s and low 60s in the mountains to the low 70s in the southeast.

The extended outlook continues the fair weather into the latter part of the week. The next best chance of showers will be about Friday. After considerable early morning cloudiness, partly cloudy skies returned to North Carolina Sunday. This allowed quite a bit of sunshine and afternoon temperatures warmed into the 80s. The warmest reporting location was Wilmington with 89 degrees. Raleigh-Durham, Hickory, Fayetteville and Jacksonville had 88 degrees.

A few showers developed across eastern North Carolina and the southern mountains Sunday afternoon. Showers and most of the cloudiness dissipated after dark. There was some lingering cloudiness through the night across the mountains and along the south coast. Lows ranged from the 60s west to the low and mid 70s in the southeast.

Convention Cost Not Deductible

CHICAGO (UPI)—Congressmen and state and municipal legislators who attended the recent Democratic party convention had better not figure on chalking off the personal costs involved as business expenses. Commerce Clearing House says a recent Internal Revenue Service ruling held that such expenses were not deductible under the "ordinary and necessary" rule in carrying on a trade and business.

GENEROSITY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A study by The Conference Board, a nonpartisan fact-finding group, shows that U.S. corporations contribute about $2.25 billion annually to philanthropic causes. In the last decade, according to the study, contributions have averaged about 1.1 per cent of the firms' net pretax income.

Fast Food Sale Trend Growing

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of every three food dollars now is spent away from home and the National Restaurant Association figures the ratio will be one to two by 1980. The association notes that during this decade the 18-to-34-year-old group—the biggest fast food addicts—will increase another 9 million to 68 million. It also points out that there are working wives in almost 60 per cent of U.S. families, a factor conducive to persuading couples to eat away from home.

Police Fire On Soweto Gangs

By BRIAN JEFFRIES
Associated Press Writer
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police opened fire on blacks trying to enforce a work boycott in the huge Soweto township today and killed one of them.

Thousands of Soweto blacks stayed home in response to a call for a three-day protest strike, and employers in Johannesburg said up to 80 per cent of their black workers were absent at the start of the work day. But later they reported a steady trickle of latecomers arriving for work.

The latecomers reported attempts to force them to stay away but said police action foiled these.

Deputy Police Commissioner D.J. Kriel said police opened fire three times on "gangs of intimidators" in the vicinity of Soweto's Orlando railway station. There were unconfirmed reports that at least six other persons were wounded by the gunfire, the South African Press Association reported.

The dead man was the 253rd person reported killed in more than two months of black unrest and protests against the government's racial policy. All but three were black.

Soweto, eight miles south of Johannesburg, was reported "tense and unpredictable." Pamphlets distributed among the million blacks living in the township called for a three-day strike and said homes of those who did not join would be set afire.

Officials said the pamphlets were the work of the African National Congress, a militant black organization that is banned by the white minority government.

The immediate aim of the strike was not clear.

Moderate black leaders from seven of the nine tribal areas the government has set up met Saturday and denounced the government's apartheid policy of racial separation. They called on Prime Minister John Vorster to meet with them and work out plans to end the policy.

Police used tear gas to disperse blacks around one railway station in Soweto after a group apparently tried to prevent workers from boarding a commuters' train for work, the South African Press Association reported.

Brig. S. LeRoux, the Soweto police commissioner, warned that his men would take a "hard line" with anyone threatening "law-abiding residents" of the township.

About 14 commuter trains were canceled during the 5-to-7 a.m. rush hour. The bus company operating in and out of Soweto withdrew its buses to the outskirts of the township.

Black taxi drivers also stayed off the road.

Some arson and stone throwing also was reported in Soweto.

However, there were no reports of unrest in other townships in the Johannesburg region.

School Bus Driver Is Honored By Town

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP)—Bus driver Ed Ray, and 24 of the 26 children he helped escape after a bizarre kidnapping, rode down the street on a red, white and blue float as they were honored by a grateful town.

The crowd on hand Sunday exceeded the town's population by about 500.

The shy hero and the youngsters rode down main street while a high school band played Spanish marching music.

Ray waved from his seat at the front of the float. His arms were draped around two of the youngsters he helped free.

Two of the kidnap victims have moved from Chowchilla and were not present, but the other youngsters, perched in uneven rows on the float, waved, pointed to friends and laughed.

People sitting on curbs and lawn chairs whooped and holed, and parents held tiny children aloft under a sunny sky.

"All America should be indebted to his example," President Ford said in a letter read to the crowd by Chowchilla Mayor Jim Dumas.

Ray, 55, received 10 plaques and scrolls. Among them was one handed to him by 8-year-old Jennifer Brown, one of the children on last month's fateful bus ride.

"Me and the kids have something for you too, Ed," she said. "And we all signed it."

A gray stone monument was unveiled. It bore a plaque which reads, "With heartfelt thanks the people of Chowchilla commemorate the safe return of 26 school children and their bus driver who were abducted July 15, 1976, and who escaped unharmed 30 hours later."

Then there was a barbecue at the fairgrounds. About 5,500 people showed up, more than the town's population.

There were few words from the hero. Asked how he felt, he answered, "Gee, I dunno."

When a reporter asked whether this was the biggest event of his life, Ray thought a moment, finished a plate of barbecued beef and replied, "Yep."

Couple Speaks Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

WINTERVILLE — Lena Kay Branch became the bride of Randal Lee McLawhorn in a candlelight ceremony Sunday afternoon, at four o'clock. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Overman of Ayden and the Rev. N. Dan Beaman in the Rose Hill Free Will Baptist Church, Rt. 1, Winterville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harvey Branch of Rt. 1, Winterville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell McLawhorn of Rt. 1, Ayden.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Alma Buck, organist, and Jimmy Page, soloist. Page sang "Annie's Song," "One Hand, One Heart," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of silkened organza peau de soie styled with a portrait neckline accented by tiered layers of sheer ruffles and an empire waistline. The bodice was applique with Venise lace which continued around the waist and tied into a bow in the back of the gown. A ruffle with a Venise lace border was attached to the bottom of the full train floor length skirt.

She wore a fingertip length mantilla of white illusion edged in a border of Venise lace to complement her gown. The veil was held in place by a Camelot headpiece trimmed in floral Venise lace. Her bridal bouquet was filled with white marguerite daisies, white roses, and a white orchid accented by sprigs of greenery.

Mrs. Faye Adams of Greenville was matron of honor and Miss Sara Branch of Winterville was maid of honor, both sisters of the bride. They wore identical formal gowns of pink floral chiffon over pink crepe taffeta linings. The gowns featured empire waistlines, sheer butterfly sleeves and scoop necklines adorned with sheer ruffles. Each wore a white picture hat trimmed with a pink satin ribbon and carried a bouquet of white marguerite daisies and greenery.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Frances Daugherty of Ayden, and Ms. Kathy McLawhorn of

MRS. RANDAL LEE MCLAWHORN

Wilmington, both sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Charlotte Tripp of Greenville, and Miss Beverly Smith of Winterville. They wore gowns and hats identical to the honor attendants' in green floral chiffon over lime green crepe taffeta linings. Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Stocks of Ayden, cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Gigi Branch of Winterville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Becky Best of Leland, cousin of the bridegroom.

Miss JoEllen Best of Leland, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a formal gown of pink floral chiffon over pink crepe taffeta lining featuring an empire waistline with a sash that tied in back, a portrait neckline, and sheer butterfly sleeves. She carried a basket of flower petals and wore pink ribbon in her hair.

Mitchell McLawhorn of Ayden was his son's best man. Ushers were J. A. Branch III of Winterville, cousin of the bride, Clayton and Jamie McLawhorn of Ayden, brothers of the bridegroom, Wallace Brinson of Grifton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mike Brady of Asheville.

The bride's mother chose a formal pink knit polyester long sleeved gown accented with pink Venise lace at the bodice, border of the sleeves, and on the high neckline. The bridegroom's mother chose a formal aqua polyester knit gown with Venise lace trimmed bodice and long chiffon sleeves.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Whiteville.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of D. H. Conley High School and a 1976 graduate of East Carolina University with a B.S. degree in early childhood education. She is presently a coordinator for the Programmed Instruction Center at Southeastern Community College, Whiteville. The bridegroom is a 1970 graduate of Ayden High School and attended East Carolina University. He is presently employed by the Cape Fear Division of Dupont, Wilmington.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Faye Adams. Mrs. Jimmy Page of Greenville, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

After the rehearsal Saturday night, the bridegroom's parents honored the couple with a cake cutting at the Ayden Community Building.

Mrs. Verna McLawhorn of Ayden, aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Frances Daugherty and Ms. Kathy McLawhorn assisted in the serving.

brought greetings from Worthy Grand Matron Emma Lou Holt Johnson. She outlined the work for the year. District Deputy Joe Ray brought greetings from the Worthy Grand Patron G. Thomas Bullard Jr. and told of his goals for the year. Gifts and Honorary membership cards were presented to the District Deputies by Oleta and Bill Butler.

Following the meeting refreshments were served in the dining hall. The table was covered with a red cloth and centered with an arrangement holding an old-fashioned lamp with miniature dolls representing Betsy Ross and Benjamin Franklin carrying out the Bicentennial theme. Other tables were centered with red, white and blue banners. Mrs. Bruce Cannon poured punch bowl.

Approximately 75 were in attendance from Grifton, Ayden, Kinston, Pleasant Hill, Mt. Olive, Greenville and Goldsboro.

OES District Deputies Visit Grifton Chapter

GRIFTON — On Tuesday evening Grifton Chapter No. 134 Order of the Eastern Star was host to District Deputy Grand Matron Nita Hooker and District Deputy Grand Patron Joe Ray of the Seventh District for their official inspection visit.

The meeting was opened with Worthy Patron John Glenn of Grifton presiding. Worthy Matron Jean Dodd Creech presided over the ritualistic opening ceremony. Distinguished guests recognized and introduced in addition to the visiting deputies were Mrs. Glen Whitfield Garner of Kinston Chapter No. 53, Associate Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina, Order Of The Eastern Star, and Mrs. Mamie Dodd Jackson, North Carolina Representative of Oregon. Worthy Matrons and Worthy Patrons of other chapters were recognized and introduced as well as Past Worthy Matrons and Patrons.

Don't Insist To Help Hostess

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Should a dinner guest (whether it be a friend or relative) offer to help the hostess clear the table between courses and when dinner is finished?

I am referring to homes where there are no paid domestic employees.

BLUE ISLAND, ILLINOIS

DEAR BLUE: If it's obvious that your hostess could use a little help, offer. But if she declines, take her at her word and don't insist.

DEAR ABBY: I see in the news that American taxpayers are paying up to $26,000 annually to provide its elected officials with "female companionship" around the clock.

I am a disabled veteran. I draw only $8,340 a year and can't afford a mistress, so I have to sleep with my own wife.

Sign me...

LACKING BENEFITS

DEAR LACKING: Let's hear it from a homemaker who has another view of the news:

DEAR ABBY: That buxom blonde Washington secretary who can't type or answer the phone but drew $14,000 a year for entertaining her boss has made my day!

I am a housewife whose job doesn't pay a salary, but it's comforting to know that I'm worth $14,000 a year just for entertaining my husband twice a week.

When I add that to what I must be worth for cleaning, cooking, doing the laundry and raising the kids, it makes me feel terrific.

WORTH MILLIONS

DEAR WORTH: And now a word from a secretary who works "on the hill."

DEAR ABBY: I'm a hard-working, well-paid, Washington secretary, hired to do office work, and that's all I'm expected to do. I resent all those "ladies-in-waiting" who have given us government gals a bad name. In self-defense I paid a dollar for a badge that says, "I CAN TYPE!"

FOR THE RECORD

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is 60 years old. She was married 10 years ago by the justice of the peace and now she wants a church wedding with all the trimmings. She's having her four young nieces as bridesmaids, and her "maid" of honor is an old maid of 70 who was her childhood friend. The "bride" is wearing a long white (!) gown and there's to be a large reception in a rented hall.

I say, getting married in church is fine, but at her age and after 10 years of marriage, she should have a quiet religious ceremony and a dinner afterward in someone's home or in a nice restaurant. I also think a white gown is in poor taste.

Everyone is laughing at her. What is your opinion?

N.J. FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I think it's a beautiful idea, and I, for one, see nothing to laugh about. It's her first religious ceremony, so why shouldn't she have the kind of wedding she wants?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 40 years, and all the years of my married life my husband has had other women. He never had the same one for very long, but it has been one after the other.

He has always been a loving and generous husband and a wonderful father to our children, and I know he loves me. He has never embarrassed me by going out in public with another woman, but as discreet as he was, somehow I always found out. I have asked him several times why he needs other women, because I am by nature a very affectionate person. He gets defensive and has no answer.

I love him dearly and would never consider leaving him, but the older I get, the more it hurts. I am 60 and he is 63. Can you advise me?

TROUBLED AT 60

DEAR TROUBLED: You say you love him, and I believe you do. To "love" a person is to accept him with all his faults, weaknesses and imperfections.

Don't dwell on his infidelity. (Who can know the most intimate needs of another?) No one has everything.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Saturday afternoon winners at First Federal Savings and Loan included:

North-South: Mrs. Wade Dudley and Neil Bellinger, first; Mrs. Cora Powell and Mrs. Harold Forbes, second; Mildred Harker and Dorothy Ritchy, third; Mozelle Felton and Hazel Pittman, fourth.

East-West: Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hill, first; Mrs. Barbara Brock and Dr. Charles Duffy, second; tied for third were Marie Swindell and George Martin with Helen Harris and Flora Toler.

SOLAR DRYING

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Solar drying of food should be attempted only in a very dry climate such as that of California or Arizona, say experts at Cornell University's Division of Nutritional Sciences.

In areas of heavy dew, oven or electrical dehydrator drying should be used. The initial drying period should be a long, uninterrupted one, so the food will not sweat. Moisture that remains on food being dried may cause mold.

Miss Jacqueline Cannon Is Bride Of Robert A. Pollock

AYDEN—Miss Jacqueline Ward Cannon and Robert Alan Pollock were united in holy matrimony Sunday at 3:00 p.m. The double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Gilbert Myster in the First Baptist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cannon Jr. of Ayden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pollock of Wood Dale, Ill.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. G.L. Swanson, organist, and Mrs. Simmons Hill, soloist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest", "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Prayer". The ceremony was directed by Mrs. Jack Dail of Winterville.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silken organza over peau de soie. The bodice was designed with a natural waistline, V-neckline and full sheer bishop sleeves with cuff flutes of Venise lace trim. Sprays of lace motifs and braid accented the neckline and bodice. The A-line skirt featured Venise lace and braid that finished the bottom of the gown that flowed into a chapel train.

The bride chose a chapel length mantilla of imported illusion with Venise lace motifs and it was attached to a Venise lace covered Juliet cap. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis and white orchids with sprays of English ivy tied with a narrow white satin bow.

Cousin of the bride, Miss Jan Lee of Aberdeen, served as maid of honor. She wore an apricot formal length gown fashioned with a lace trimmed empire waist. The gown also featured lace cap sleeves identical to the lace on the bride's gown. She carried a classic bouquet of white miniature carnations, white sweetheart roses and baby's breath tied with a white bow and narrow streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Robin Braxton of Chapel Hill, Miss Teri Lee of Goldsboro, Mrs. Debbie Coston of Greenville, and Mrs. Maryangela Morgan of Charlotte. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor and they carried nosegays of white miniature carnations and baby's breath tied with a white bow and long streamers.

Serving as honorary bridesmaids were Ginger Covington of Laurinburg, Priscilla Cranford of Thomasville, Karen Faison of Hampton, Va., Dayle Howard of Denver, Karen Johnson of Newton, and Barbara Thomas of Charleston, S. C. They were all dressed in mint green formal length gowns and carried a hand bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Julie Overton of Pennington, N. J., cousin of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. She wore a formal length white gown trimmed in apricot and carried a white basket filled with miniature carnations and tied with an apricot satin ribbon.

The father of the bridegroom presided as best man. Ushers were Jeffrey Pollock of Rochester, N.Y., brother of the bridegroom, Richard and Thomas Cannon of Ayden, brothers of the bride, and Gordon Barber of Charleston, S. C.

David Pollock, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow with a spray of apricot miniature carnations tied with a matching bow.

A reception, given by the parents of the bride, was held immediately following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

Welcoming the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee, aunt and uncle of the bride. Presiding at the register was Mrs. James Churchill, cousin of the bride, and assisting with the serving were Mrs. Charles Dean and Mrs. Young Willis, aunts of the bridegroom, joined by Mrs. Charles Ward and Mrs. James Ward, aunts of the bride. Good-byes were said by aunts and uncles of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis.

The bride is a graduate of Appalachian State University and has accepted a position with the Wilkes County School System. The bridegroom is a graduate of The Citadel and received his Master's degree from the University of Georgia. He is a member of the Appalachian State University faculty and holds the position of Head Track and Cross-County Coach.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will reside in Boone.

Mrs. Charles Lee, Jan and Teri Lee, entertained the bride and her attendants at a bridesmaids luncheon Saturday at the Walnut Creek Country Club, Goldsboro.

The parents of the bridegroom honored the wedding party and guests with an after-rehearsal dinner at the Candlewick Inn Saturday evening.

On August 22, friends and relatives of the bride hosted the wedding party and out-of-town guests at a bridal luncheon at the First Federal Savings Building, Greenville.

Canning Tip

Beautiful old Mason jars bought at garage sales, flea markets and antique stores should be reserved for refrigerator or pantry storage use because they may have invisible scratches from years of handling that make them unsafe for additional home canning.

Too Soon To Predict Outcome

The stage is set for the presidential campaign now.

Jimmy Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee, will be facing Gerald Ford, who the Republicans chose only last week in the November general election.

Carter is a new face. He carried out a remarkable campaign in the state primaries which gradually forced his opponents for the Democratic nomination from the field. When the Democratic convention rolled around Carter had the delegates; there was little fight left among the dissidents and Carter was nominated. On the surface, at last, the Democrats go into the campaign as a united party, and with the most registered voters.

Ford, on the other hand, had to fight all the way to the convention to obtain the Republican nomination. Even though he was the president, he faced a tremendous challenge from Ronald Reagan which caused the president to fight hard for the nomination.

Now Ford leads a party which is badly demoralized by Watergate and possibly terribly divided by the struggle which led to his nomination.

The president, recognizing this, was quick to be conciliatory toward the Reagan camp. After meeting with Reagan, Ford said, "I complimented him on a real good campaign. I indicated that we certainly wanted him to be standing shoulder to shoulder with us in the months ahead."

And he indicated that Reagan will be willing to fight for the ticket.

Since the Democratic convention the tendency has been to feel that Jimmy Carter was unbeatable and that is understandable in view of the Republican troubles and the amazing campaign Carter put on to win the nomination.

But the Truman victory in 1948 proved that no political campaign is won until the votes are actually cast. President Ford has a lot going for him. He is in office. The economy is pretty good. He is personally untouched by scandal. He professes to want to hold down big government.

It is too soon to predict how the November election will turn out. The campaign must be run first.

Let's Don't Overreact To Korea Matter

Two United States officers were killed in an attack by North Koreans at Panmunjom last week and the matter should be regarded as a most serious one by our nation.

At the same time the matter should be investigated carefully while tempers are allowed to cool. Early reports indicated some sort of misunderstanding in the truce village area which led to a free-for-all in which the men were killed.

There is, of course, no excuse for the killings. We should protest, but we should not risk new war in Korea.

More Turn To Job Skills

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—A close look at what North Carolina high school graduates do after they finish shows a consistent pattern: tremendous growth in students entering community colleges and technical schools; little change in numbers who enroll in college, take a job, or enlist in the military.

This trend, and the equally consistent pattern of North Carolinians ranking near the bottom in how much education her residents achieve, lead state planners to continue the push for more vocational training at high school and junior high school levels, and place more emphasis on the community college program in coming years.

education and the salaries which people receive.

Pay And Skill

Proof that education is part of the reason North Carolina ranks at the bottom among the 50 states in industrial wages; 47th in per capita income is seen in some other statistics: nationally, more than half (53.3 per cent) of the people have a high school diploma. Here, ranking 48th nationally, only 38.5 per cent have a high school diploma.

North Carolina has been for some time the fifth ranking state nationally in numbers of young men who fail mental requirements for military service, with 18 per cent failing compared to 7.8 per cent nationally.

This state is 49th in the nation in median years of school completed (10.6), and seventh in those with less than five years of school (10 per cent).

Does that gloomy educational portrait, further fleshed out by an overly high dropout rate and declining achievement scores, help account for the present low-skill, low-pay domination of the state's industrial scene?

Some think so. There is, say experts, a direct link between level of schooling and income which is shown in census figures.

Below the poverty level in North Carolina, over half of the people went to school less than eight years. Another one-third had more than eight years; less than a diploma, however.

The state's low level of education is both a result of—and a reason for—the low per capita income in the state.

at the State Department of Natural and Economic Resources and at the Research Triangle Institute have concluded that not only are education and future wages directly related, but other school problems bleed over into employment—school dropouts are likely to be job dropouts; discipline problems are likely to resist and resent supervision; tardiness develops bad habits.

The world of work is definitely the destination for most high school graduates. A survey of 1975 high school graduates showed 19,068 going straight to work; 2,612 entering a trade, business, or nursing school; and 3,556 entering the armed forces.

Another 15,067 were entering the community college-technical institute system which indicates an intention to gain specific skills for a job for most of those. Senior college was the destination for 22,261 students; and 2,250 enrolled in junior colleges.

CONSUMER WATCH

New Credit Rules Studied

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

The Federal Reserve System is considering new rules to implement laws prohibiting bankers, merchants and others from denying credit solely because of age, race, color, religion, national origin or receipt of welfare benefits.

A key section of the rules is designed to prevent discrimination against the elderly. Such discrimination was banned by Congress earlier this year when it amended the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. Supporters of the legislation said that elderly people—who grew up before the advent of the "charge-it" society and are used to paying cash—often are rejected when they do apply for credit late in life.

(The Equal Credit Opportunity Act itself banned discrimination based on sex or marital status and Federal Reserve regulations implementing those provisions took effect last October.)

The amendments to the law permit creditors to take age into account—if they can show statistics to prove that it "represents a pertinent element of creditworthiness." Creditors are not allowed to set a mandatory cut-off age, however.

Here's what that means, according to a spokesman for the Fed's Office of Saver and Consumer Affairs:

A creditor who can show statistically that people aged 40 to 50 are better credit risks than those aged 50 to 60 is allowed to use that information to give a 45-year-old applicant a better rating than a 55-year-old applicant.

If statistics showed that the older age group paid more promptly and defaulted less often, the 55-year-old would have the advantage.

What the creditor cannot do, is set an arbitrary limit—say 65—and refuse to give credit to anyone over that age.

Among the problems involved in implementing the law are deciding exactly what is meant by elderly and figuring out whether the age provision protects the young as well as the old.

The Fed is seeking comments from the public on the subject. The deadline is Sept. 1 and anyone who has an opinion should write to Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C., 20551. The finalized regulations will take effect next March.

In another area, the Federal Reserve System is trying to define what's meant by the phrase "adverse action" as it is used in the law. This is important because the legislation requires creditors who take adverse action against an applicant to let him or her know within a reasonable period of time and to give the reason, if asked.

The Fed has proposed defining "adverse action" as the refusal to grant credit or increase an applicant's credit limit when requested. The refusal to authorize a point-of-sale transaction that exceeds a previously established credit limit would be an "adverse action."

What does all this mean?

Suppose you apply for a bank credit card. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and ask to have the limit raised to $700. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and go to a store and try to make a purchase for $550. You are turned down. That's not adverse action.

Strength For Today

DISREGARDED WORDS

A missionary in a Moslem country once came upon an old Moslem who was reading the New Testament and was carefully crossing out certain selected passages. When asked why he was doing this the Moslem replied, "I am crossing out the passages which I find are not observed by the followers of Jesus today."

He might have done the same thing with the Koran, but at any rate his action showed that many non-Christians feel that Christians are lax in their observance of their master's teachings.

If we were to take a copy of the New Testament and cross out all the injunctions we do not keep, the book would be badly disfigured before we were through. "Judge not that ye be not judged... Love your enemies... bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you... Seek first the kingdom of God..."

— We could go on much longer.

Too often the Bible merely gathers dust on a bookshelf. God means it to be a call to action.

Uncommitted, Unwanted

KANSAS CITY—On a hill just above the Crown Center in Kansas City, where President Ford is staying, are about 250 yuppies with signs protesting the various socio-economic problems of the country. Many of the signs are printed, but not printable, at least not in this paper. Compared to previous conventions the protestors of '76 are only a drop in the bucket, and in some ways look as outdated as the Republicans they are protesting against.

When President Ford

arrived at his hotel they all started screaming at him from their hillside perch. I noticed one lad, though, who just sat there and wasn't screaming or yelling or waving a sign. He attracted my attention.

"Why aren't you yelling obscenities like everyone else?" I asked him.

"I'm an uncommitted protestor," he replied. "I haven't decided yet whether I'm going to curse Ford or Reagan."

"You're the first uncommitted protestor I've met," I said. "Both sides must be wooing you like mad."

"You would think so," he said bitterly. "But I haven't heard from either the Ford camp or the Reagan camp as yet. Of course I don't have a telephone so I'm sorta hard to reach. But if they were really on the ball they'd find me."

"Did you come to Kansas City as an uncommitted protestor or did you decide to become one after you got here?"

"My original idea was to protest the nomination of Gerald Ford for pardoning Nixon. Then Reagan started picking up steam so I switched and decided to protest against him for wanting to get us in a war with Panama."

"Then Reagan picked Schweiker as his candidate for Vice President, and I said 'I'm not going to protest a guy who picks a liberal with his voting record in the Senate.' So I decided I would go back to protesting against Ford. Then suddenly Schweiker says he agrees with Reagan on most issues, and now I don't know who the hell to be against."

"Everybody else on this hill seems to be protesting Ford. That should help him get the nomination from the Republicans."

"The Ford people claim they have 1,190 Yuppies protesting the President, the Reagan people claim they have enough Yuppies cursing them to win the nomination on the first ballot. But the truth is, if you eliminate the FBI and CIA undercover agents, who are screaming at both candidates, neither one of them has it locked up. The convention is still going to be decided by the uncommitted protestors who are waiting to see which way the wind is blowing."

Other Editors Say Air Bags & Safety

(Rocky Mount Evening Telegram)

Ten years ago if a person had been told his life might depend upon an air bag device in his automobile, his reaction would no doubt have been that his informant had flipped.

Yet, it might well be that tens of thousands of American lives could depend on the outcome of a Washington hearing recently conducted by the U.S. Secretary of Transportation, Albert Benjamin Kelley of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, said the hearing could be the critical factor in determining whether automatic protection in car crashes—such as air bags—is to be made available to U.S. motorists.

Will air bags really do the job claimed for them? Dr. William Haddon Jr., M.D., who has done research for the Institute for Highway Safety, told congressmen at the hearings of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce panel on consumer protection that when a car is hit by another vehicle or crashes into another object, like a wall, it comes to an abrupt halt. The faster the crash speed, the more abrupt and violent the halt.

The car stops—but the people inside continue to move forward at the crash speed. If unrestrained, they smash against the car structures ahead of them—steering column, dash, corner posts—and commonly suffer severe or fatal injury.

In an air bag equipped car, what happens is different. If the crash is severe enough—not a fender-bender, for instance—a simple sensor device sends an electrical signal to the air bag unit. The unit instantly inflates the bag which becomes a soft, protective buffer between the people and the hostile interior structures in front of them. It is called a simple system and a simple process.

It is reported that in 1975 more than 45,000 people died in traffic accidents. Researchers estimate that almost one of every four could have been saved if their vehicles had been equipped with air bags.

So the decision to be made by U.S. Transportation Secretary William Coleman Jr. will be a vital one.

Report To Fit 'Needs'

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Daniel O. Graham, retired military intelligence chief, says analysts rewrote an estimate of Soviet progress in missile war-head development after Henry Kissinger disagreed with their original conclusions.

"I was employed at CIA when one fully coordinated National Intelligence Estimate on Soviet strategic attack systems was returned for rewrite by Dr. Kissinger because he disagreed with certain conclusions," Graham said. "It was rewritten."

Graham said Kissinger, then head of the National Security Council, wanted the estimate to indicate faster Russian progress toward achieving multiple independently targetable war-heads (MIRVs).

"The estimate was changed in his direction," Graham said.

He recalled that the incident occurred in late 1969 or early 1970 when the Nixon administration was working toward an agreement with the Soviet Union on limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

The general, who retired last January as director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, suggested that Kissinger wanted a more ominous intelligence estimate to support arguments that such an agreement was imperative to curb Soviet missile gains.

An associate of Kissinger said Graham's version of the incident was overdrawn and "not quite a fair representation" of what happened.

"I don't believe that Kissinger sent the National Intelligence Estimate back to get a different conclusion," the Kissinger associate said.

"He probably told them to look at the NIE again and consider all possible interpretations of the evidence. There was a fair amount of debate in Washington at the time about the Russian S9 missile and whether they were MIRVing it."

"I would seriously doubt that Kissinger would tell the technicians what to conclude. To my knowledge, he has never done that."

The CIA was given an opportunity to comment but did not do so.

Graham mentioned the incident briefly and without detail in an article in "Strategic Review," journal of the privately financed United States Strategic Institute. He elaborated in an interview.

The United States and Russia completed their first SALT agreement in 1972, but it placed no limits on MIRV warheads. In 1973, the Pentagon announced officially that the Russians had successfully tested MIRV-armed missiles.

Price Index As A Measurement

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The national consumer price index is to your wallet what the Dow Jones industrial average is to your stock portfolio. It may have much meaning, as it might have none at all.

Investors know that it is very unlikely that anyone would buy all 30 stocks in the industrial average and no others, and so the daily fortunes of investors usually vary widely. Some will win, others lose, regardless of the average.

And economists know that the national consumer price index, while valuable as an indicator of the economy's direction, might apply precisely to none of the geographic areas of the country.

Neither the industrial average nor the consumer price index can be used as a measure of one's own finances.

In July, for example, the price index for the nation as a whole rose 0.5 per cent, but in New York the rise was only 0.4 per cent, in Detroit 0.7 and in Los Angeles, a very inflationary 1.1 per cent.

If you examine the past 12 months you find a similarly diverse story.

Whereas the price index for the entire nation rose 5.4 per cent from July of 1975 to July of 1976, the increase was 6.7 per cent in both Chicago and Philadelphia.

The breakdown of the components also reveals vast differences.

New Yorkers during July experienced an increase in housing costs of only 0.1 per cent, or 1.2 per cent on an annual basis. But in Los Angeles, housing cost rose 1.1 per cent, or 13.2 per cent annually.

Is the consumer price index therefore meaningless? Not at all.

The CPI does have an application that is more limited than many people realize, but it is nonetheless an essential measurement of over-all direction, one that policy makers could scarcely do without.

It does, however, have rather limited application to individual decision-making because of the wide geographical range of habitation and the diverse living habits of individuals.

If the statistics are used as individual guides, then the geographical breakdowns for particular areas are much more valuable than the national averages, although still not nearly so valuable as one's own personal records.

It isn't only the CPI that is often misconstrued as a guide to personal affairs rather than as a general indicator of the economy. The popularly used jobless rate is often so misused, to the chagrin of the Labor Department.

Invariably, some individuals apply the rises and falls of jobless rate as a measure of their own job security, if they have one, or a measure of their chances of finding a job, if they are unemployed.

Used properly, the numbers are invaluable. Used for the wrong purpose, however, the numbers can often distort and deceive.

Six Deaths In N.C. Traffic

BY The Associated Press
Six persons died on North Carolina's highways in weekend traffic accidents, according to the Highway Patrol.

The deaths pushed the state's total for the year to 901, compared to 935 for the same period in 1975.

A Virginia teenager died Saturday night on N.C. 39 near the North Carolina-Virginia border in Vance County in a motorcycle-automobile collision. She was identified as Mary Wimbush, 15, of Clarksville, Va. The patrol said she was a passenger on the motorcycle.

A Washington man, 32-year-old Joseph Michael Lapiccola, was killed in a wreck Sunday morning on U.S. 74, two miles east of Whitesville. The patrol said Lapiccola was driving a tractor-trailer truck, which overturned after a tire blew out on a curve.

A single car accident early

Sunday morning in Alamance County killed Wayne Jackson Boggs, 42, of Graham. The patrol said Boggs was a passenger in a car that went out of control on a curve and struck a utility pole and tree. Three other persons were injured. The accident occurred on N.C. 87, three miles south of Graham.

An elderly Baltimore, Md., woman was killed Saturday afternoon when she walked into the path of an oncoming vehicle, the patrol said. The victim was identified as Lydia B. Jordan, 75. The patrol said the accident occurred on U.S. 158 near Coinjock in Currituck County.

Two Lincolnton residents were killed in a single car accident Saturday at High Shoals in Gaston County. The patrol said Ricky William Lail, 16, and Ronnie Keith Smith, 23, died when their car ran off U.S. 321 and struck a building.

Flames Seared Dry Countryside

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Six counties in southern England and Wales smoldered today after fire fighters battled through the night and put out two big forest fires and more than 200 smaller blazes that swept through the drought-stricken countryside.

Fire brigade officers warned that the fires could break out again at any time, since Britain's worst drought in 250 years has made southern England and Wales "a giant tinderbox."

Authorities estimated that some 3,000 persons were evacuated Sunday, including 1,000 from a country club, 360 aged patients from St. Leonard's Geriatric Hospital, a nudist colony and holidayers in mobile home parks.

Twenty fire fighters were overcome by heat and smoke, and about 50 homes were destroyed, but no towns were threatened, police reported.

A dozen highways and three major rail lines in southern England were closed as hundreds of troops, firemen and volunteers fought the fires, which were fanned by strong winds.

The biggest blaze was in the Hurn Forest, 15 miles west of Southampton, on England's south coast. Fire chiefs said an estimated six square miles were burned over.

"We stopped the flames only a few hundred yards from St. Leonard's Hospital," a fire officer reported.

"It was terrifying. The flames leapt from the crowns of the trees 60 feet up and we couldn't always get at them. We nearly didn't make it."

The fire fighters used up thousands of gallons of water. The government has already warned that water will soon be rationed in many areas if rain does not fall and replenish dried-up reservoirs, rivers and underground springs.

The fires raged through tinder-dry forests and moorland in five southern counties — Hampshire, Dorset, Kent, Sussex and Norfolk — and Merioneth county in northwest Wales.

Another big fire raged on the holiday island of Guernsey, in the English Channel off the French coast. Firemen in Scotland's West Lothian county said they put out a fire Sunday night after it had burned for 40 hours.

Rockefeller At Christening

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has attended a christening ceremony here for his grand nephew, 2-month-old Winthrop Paul Rockefeller Jr. Rockefeller arrived in a private jet from Wyoming, where he was vacationing, and was greeted by his nephew, Winthrop Paul Rockefeller, son of the late Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

The christening ceremony on Sunday was at the Camp Mitchell Episcopal Church on Petit Jean Mountain. Rockefeller presented his nephew with one of the brown cowboy hats worn by Wyoming delegates to the Republican National Convention at Kansas City, Mo.

words to that effect.

"You've left a blank in the space next to your unprintable epithet," I said.

"Yeh, I have a magic marker in my pocket and when I decide which guy I really hate the most I'll put his name in."

"What does it hinge on now?"

"Probably who Ford chooses as his running mate. I'll be honest with you. There isn't a tinker's damn difference between them ideologically. My only concern is who can give Carter the best contest. Protesting is a lot of work and if the Republicans come up with a weak ticket I may sit the election out."

"So this could be your last hurrah."

"I would say so. The party is finished. Look at all these idiots standing on the hill screaming every obscenity in the book at the delegates, and the President, and no one even looks around. Even the cops don't give a damn about us any more. When you have a party that doesn't get shocked at Yuppies, man, it's all over."

"What would it take for you to commit yourself as a protestor to one or the other of the candidates?"

"An offer of secretary of state or 10 ounces of grass— whichever is worth more."

Synchronized Swimming Show On Wednesday

The Greenville Recreation and Parks Department will have its Synchronized Swimming Show on Wednesday; August 25th at 7:00 p.m. at the City Pool.

The girls performing have been in class for approximately two months and are finishing up their season with a water show performance. They will swim to several different numbers including "The Windmills of Your Mind," "Alfie," "In My Room" and others.

The public is invited to attend and see this new concept in swimming. Admission is free.

Students Strain Chapel Hill Water Emergency

By The Associated Press
Students returning to the University of North Carolina are finding Chapel Hill a dry town in more respects than liquor by the drink.

The first of more than 20,000 students began arriving over the weekend, further worsening what already was a severe water shortage.

Officials at Elizabeth City State University are faced with a different kind of shortage. They expect enrollment to top 1,800 students for the second straight year, creating a housing problem. The university plans to triple dormitory room occupancy and hopes to place some 200 students in private homes.

An increase of nearly 500 students is expected in enrollment this week at UNC-Charlotte, bringing the student population to about 8,000. UNC-Greensboro officials expect nearly 10,000 students to enroll.

Thousands more students start classes next week, including 17,700 at N.C. State University and 5,000 at North Carolina Central University. Duke University officials estimate an enrollment of 9,000 for classes beginning Sept. 7.

Emergency water conservation measures have been taken by the board of aldermen in Chapel Hill. New ordinances forbid unnecessary uses of water, such as watering lawns and washing automobiles. Violations are punishable by 30-day jail sentences and $50 fines.

$5 Million Donations

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Donations to Wake Forest University's Reynolda campus during the 1975-76 fiscal year totaled $5,404,345, or 20 per cent more than in the previous year, university officials announced.

Included in the donations were $435,127 for the College fund, the university's annual campaign for unrestricted operating funds for the undergraduate college.

Reynolda campus donations included $2,296,966 from foundations, $1,123,709 from corporations, $803,594 from alumni, $675,571 from the Baptist State Convention, $490,294 from individuals not alumni, and $14,506 from other sources. The Reynolda campus includes all schools except the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

Personal Goal For Dr. Renee

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Renee Richards says her pursuit of tennis honors is in part a personal campaign for public acceptance of the thousands of transsexuals who are held in disrepute.

"I just want to prove I am human — not a two-headed monster," Dr. Richards said Saturday after a winning debut in the $60,000 Tennis Week Open Tournament.

Dr. Richards, now an eye surgeon in Newport Beach, Calif., was at one time a ranking player in the men's 35-and-over class. She underwent a sex change operation last year.

Ford Follows Vacation Agenda

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford is continuing a relaxed vacation schedule that was criticized by his vice presidential running mate before he was chosen for the second spot on the Republican ticket.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford would continue to mix White House chores with athletics at least for today, but is expected to begin taking part in campaign-strategy sessions with his advisers on Tuesday.

Nessen reported that conferences on the campaign already are underway among advisers, although Ford has not been involved in any major way.

Last week, before Ford selected him as his running mate, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas met with editors of Time magazine, which quoted him in this week's edition as criticizing plans for the Vail stay.

"With eight weeks to go, he (Ford) has to be very aggressive," Dole was quoted as saying. ".... With him going to Vail for a week, that's 15 per cent of it down the drain."

Dole's press secretary, Janet Anderson, who attended the session with the magazine editors, said Sunday night that the quotes "appeared accurate."

Nessen responded by saying, "The President is not wasting his time. This will be a very productive week in the campaign."

Dole is expected to arrive Wednesday for campaign conferences.

Meanwhile, in another week-end development, former Texas Gov. John Connally reportedly turned down a Ford request to become chairman of the Republican National Committee because he believes it is too late for Ford to overcome Jimmy Carter's lead in the presidential polls.

That report in the Sunday Dallas Times Herald said that Connally did not want to be blamed for a Republican loss in November.

Connally could not be reached for comment.

Carter, Archie Bunker Discuss Detente Issue

By LAWRENCE KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — With Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman sprawled on the carpet at his feet, the Democratic nominee for president discussed detente with Archie Bunker.

Jimmy Carter, who began his Sunday at the men's bible class in the Plains, Ga., Baptist Church, ended it in a hotel suite in Beverly Hills, Calif., explaining his campaign positions to some of the most politically active celebrities of the entertainment world.

Carter seemed at ease, but he told the assembled actors, producers, directors and other entertainers, "I hope I don't get to know too much about you. I want to keep that feeling of admiration and respect."

Man Killed In Balcony Fall

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — An autopsy was ordered Sunday on the body of a Columbia, S.C. man who fell to his death from the 14th floor balcony of a Charlotte hotel.

Police were unable to determine Sunday whether Miller Jr., 24, committed suicide, fell accidentally or was pushed over the side of the four-foot concrete railing.

Miller's body was found imbedded in the tar-and-gravel roof of the concrete canopy over the entrance to the Sheraton hotel. Police say a guest looking from his window saw Miller's body about 10 a.m. Sunday.

Medical examiner Hobart Wood said Miller apparently died from the impact and had no other wounds.

Charlotte detective David Kilpatrick said it would have been impossible for Miller to jump from the balcony and land on the roof directly below. Kilpatrick said jumping would have caused Miller to fall away from the side of the building and land in the parking lot. He said Miller may have rolled over the edge of the railing or hung by his hands and dropped straight down.

Police say Miller, a dancing instructor at Fred Astaire Studios, was last seen at a private party in the hotel's presidential suite around 4:15 a.m. Sunday. The time of death could not be immediately determined.

Dr. Claiborne Jones, vice chancellor for business and finance, said administrators have not ruled out the possibility of suspending classes if the shortage worsens.

Chapel Hill has been buying and piping several million gallons of water a week from nearby Durham. Culbreth said he hopes the amount can be increased to two million gallons a day. But even with that, he said, heavy rainfall is needed to offset the further strain on the water system that arriving students are expected to create.

Sunday Saw 2 Collisions

Two Sunday collisions, investigated by Greenville Police, resulted in an estimated $850 property damage.

Two Arrested On Drug Counts

Greenville Police have arrested Robert Jones, 38, and Pattie Mae Jones 34, both of 1407 Spruce St. on charges of possession of heroin and possession of needles and syringes.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 12:27 a.m. mishap on Cotanche Street, 25 feet North of the Fifth Street intersection involving cars driven by Judy Gail Lynch of 1702 Knollwood Dr. and George Truitt Walston of 104 Contentnea St.

Detective Capt. L. J. Russell said the Joneses were arrested Friday in connection with a search of their Spruce Street trailer home August 4, during which local police and agents of the State Bureau of Investigation found heroin, needles and syringes.

No charges were placed by officers who estimated damage at $500 to the Lynch car and $100 to the Walston vehicle.

Bond for the pair was set at $900 each on the charges.

Furor Over Cattle Mutilation Mystery Is Fading

By JUDY HERB
Associated Press Writer
DENVER (AP) — Ranchers armed themselves against an unknown enemy. Rural residents who never had locked their doors bought padlocks. Strange helicopters with beacons trained on the ground were reported flying over pastureland.

That's the way it was last summer: fear and anger in the cattle country of eastern Colorado and other Western states because of unsubstantiated reports that cattle and other animals were being mutilated by somebody.

A year later, the mystery remains unresolved, but the furor is gone, despite a few reports of new "mutilations."

The president of the Colorado

Cattlemen's Association says he feels there is "enough scientific data to put the idea of mutilations to rest." But local sheriffs remain concerned about the suspected mutilations.

The Colorado Bureau of Investigation continues an investigation of the situation, but has turned up no human suspects. Carl Whiteside, acting director of the CBI, says investigators so far have come with no motive for the mutilations if, in fact, there were any. There is considerable evidence that predators picked over the remains of dead animals, not humans, he says.

"If somebody were interested in animal parts, they could go to a rendering plant and get them for nothing," Whiteside said.

The mutilation saga started in Colorado on a spring night last year when a rancher in Elbert County found the shell of a dead cow, its tongue, sex organs, rectum and other body parts apparently carved out.

Then reports of other "mutilations" began to pour in from counties and stories of suspected mutilations dominated the front pages of many newspapers.

It was suggested to Whiteside's office that the reason for the mutilations might be: satanic rites, or college fraternities or even creatures from outer space. But Whiteside says he has to deal with facts—facts that point to predators not humans or Martians.

More than 200 cases of suspected cattle mutilations were reported in Colorado alone last year. This year, with the mutilations investigation no longer in the limelight, Howard Gillespie, currently in charge of the CBI investigation, says he's had only three official reports of mutilations from local sheriffs.

"We've conducted 37 examinations of hide samples in our laboratory," Gillespie said. "Of those, we've determined that two had been cut with a sharp instrument and that 35 had been chewed by some type of predator."

Officials in the diagnostic laboratory at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo., agree. A spokesman said only 11 "definite mutilations" were found last year, while the number has dropped to two or three this year. Close to 50 animals have been tested, he said.

Authorities in Wyoming, where more than 100 cases of mutilations have been reported in a year, say 99 of the cases definitely were the work of other animals.

Dr. H.A. Hancock of the Wyoming State Veterinary Laboratory points out that cuts in animal hides caused by predators can look "surgically straight."

Robert Burghart Jr. of Colorado Springs, Colo., who heads the state cattlemen's association, blames the "confirmed" mutilations on pranksters who read or heard news stories about mutilations.

"If you take the scientific data now available, they all, in every instance, were predator caused," Burghart said. "Also in every instance in carcasses in Colorado which were available ... it was apparent that animals already were dead (when the mutilations occurred)."

"What that says to me is that if there have been mutilations, they were done by pranksters working on dead animals."

Why, then, did last summer's mutilation reports create such havoc among ranchers? Burghart thinks there are two reasons: news coverage and the indefinable feeling a rancher has for his animals.

"The reaction of the general public was pretty volatile," Burghart said. "Anyone who has a love of life hates to think of any animal being killed. The ranchers' feeling was even more intense."

Last summer, Gov. Richard Lamm called the mutilations "one of the greatest outrages in the history of the Western cattle industry." He pledged the full resources of the state to arrest the persons responsible. Lamm later backed down after results of various studies were released.

But there are enough local officials still convinced there are human culprits involved to keep the controversy flickering.

One such official is Logan County Undersheriff Jerry Wolever. "We attempted to cooperate with the CBI, but we didn't get satisfactory answers," Wolever said. "We're open to any and all suggestions. Anyone could be right." But Wolever discounts the predator theory.

Sheriff George Yarnell of Elbert County, hardest hit last year with 63 reported mutilations, is another. He says he has had six mutilations reported to him since March. He says he doesn't believe they were predator-caused, though he says ranchers are not as upset as they were last summer.

And then there's Sheriff Harry L. "Tex" Graves of Logan County.

He said it's likely the CBI and lab officials at CSU would conclude the country's latest mutilation, discovered in late July, was the work of predators, even though all the cow's teeth had been cut out with surgical precision.

"There's a coyote in north-eastern Colorado wearing a necklace made from cow's teeth," he said. "On the other hand, maybe he collected the teeth to take back to his dentistry class."

Safe Stolen

Greenville police today are continuing their investigation into a break-in and the theft of a safe from the Tree House at 123 East Fifth Street sometime early Sunday.

Detective Capt. L. J. Russell said the theft was reported about 11 a.m. Sunday.

He said entrance to the restaurant was gained through a rear door, and the safe, containing an estimated $1,700, was removed from the building.

Offer Course On Income Taxes

Pitt Technical Institute will offer a course entitled Learning To Prepare Income Tax, during the fall quarter. The course is designed to prepare students to complete income tax returns for small businesses, farming and personal income tax returns.

The 81 hour course is planned to last for 14 weeks. The registration fee is $5 and the cost of the books is approximately $20. Enrollment is open to all persons 18 and older not enrolled in high school. For further information contact Pitt Technical Institute at 756-3130.

Arrest Man On Break-In Count

Carlton Devon Council, 18, of Route 8, Greenville was arrested by Greenville Police at 12:30 a.m. Sunday on charges of breaking, entering and larceny.

Capt. L. J. Russell said Council was charged in connection with the theft of a battery from a car owned by Williams Lee Harris of 1002 West Third St. about 12:24 a.m. in the Pitt Memorial Hospital parking lot.

Jamesville Squad Small But It Has Experience

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

JAMESVILLE — Despite a lack of numbers, Jamesville High School's 1976 football team will have a good deal of experience. Whether it is enough might be the big question.

About 10 lettermen return from last year's team, and eight of those are starters. "We're still a very young team," Coach Link Page said. "Our team was mostly a sophomore one last year, and most of those people are back, so we'll be a junior team this year."

But Page will have to depend on a number of players going both ways, at least until some of the lower classmen develop. With the schedule as it is, that may not be quick enough.

Jamesville opens the year with a conference game, playing seven in a row until they break for a non-league game with the Roanoke junior varsity. Then, they have another conference game before finishing up with another contest with Roanoke.

Running from the power-I offense, Page will have an experienced backfield, but there are some question marks to be answered.

All-Conference fullback Eric Davis returns for another year, while Cornell Williams is back at tailback. Williams has been getting pushed by Randy Gardner, who figures to play a lot if he doesn't start. The wingback position is one of those question marks.

"I really don't know who's going to be playing that position," Page said. "It'll probably be a rookie, but I don't know for sure yet."

The quarterback position will be handled by two-year veteran Glenn Ellis, also a junior.

"We're small, but pretty quick," Page said of his offensive unit. "We have fair speed."

Page feels that his ground game will be able to move the ball fairly well. "We'll pass when we have to," the coach said.

The tight end will be Billy Barber, who made honorable mention All-Conference last year, while the split end position is another uncertainty. "Barber is a good blocker and he catches the ball fairly well."

The tackles likely will be Hugh Bennett and sophomore Keith Long. Kenny Tetterton, another honorable mention, and Randy Simmons, both juniors, are set to handle the guard slots. Jeff Beacham or Bill Hardison will battle for the center.

Defensively, Jamesville will run either a 5-2 or a 5-3. Bobby McIntyre and Jeff Davis are battling for the nose guard, while Bennett will handle one of the tackle spots. "The other is up between a lot of people," Page said.

The defensive ends will be handled by Barber and someone yet to be picked, while Davis will be the inside linebacker. Tetterton and Ellis will handle the corner linebacker positions.

Williams and a couple of freshmen, Trent Ange and Alan Frazier are the mostly likely to be in the secondary.

"We have a couple of freshmen who could also play a lot in the line," Page said. "They are Joe White and Frank Hardison."

With good experience, Page feels that the defense will be strong, and may be what carries the team. "The only bad thing is that so many people have to go both ways."

Simmons or Ange will probably handle the punting. "We don't have a placekicker, so we'll just have to run our extra points."

While Page has just 25 people out, he's not discouraged. "If we

Minnesota Finds A Relief Ace

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Baseball Manager Gene Mauch, how do you spell relief? C-A-M-P-B-E-L-L.

"Mike Marshall is the best relief pitcher I ever managed ... up to now. This guy is THE relief pitcher," Minnesota Manager Mauch said after relief ace Bill Campbell, pitching for the fifth day in a row, raised his record to a scintillating 13-3 — he also has 16 saves — as the Twins defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-4 in 12 innings Sunday.

Campbell, who came in and ended a Tiger threat in the 10th by nailing Bill Freehan and Pedro Garcia on called third strikes, almost lost it in the 11th when third baseman Mike Cubbage and first baseman Rod Carew collided on Ben Ogilvie's pop-up with a runner racing home from third. Cubbage caught the ball, it bounced out of his glove and he caught it again to end the inning.

"Both (Campbell and Marshall) had the equipment to get left and right-handed batters out," Mauch said. "Both can get balls to move away from the hitter. Both are super athletes."

Then Mauch fingered Campbell's weakness.

"Marshall might out-hit him a little, but pitchers don't hit in this league," he said.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blew an eight-run lead in the ninth inning but scored three times in the 11th to defeat the New York Yankees 11-8, the Baltimore Orioles won their opener from the Chicago White Sox 6-2 but dropped the nightcap 7-3, the Kansas City Royals turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4, the Oakland A's nipped the Boston Red Sox 7-6 in 11 innings and the Cleveland Indians shaded the Texas Rangers 3-1.

After Campbell's pop fly scare in the 11th, the Twins snapped a tie against Detroit relief ace John Hiller in the 12th on consecutive doubles by Butch Wynegar and Lyman Bostock and Cubbage singled home an insurance run which Campbell didn't need.

Angels 11, Yankees 8

The Angels pounded Catfish Hunter for six runs and nine hits in 6 1-3 innings, including solo homers by Dave Collins leading off the game and Tony Solaita, in piling up an 8-0 lead. Meanwhile, Frank Tanana limited the Yankees to two hits until they exploded with one out in the ninth.

The Angels tagged Sparky Lyle for three runs in the 11th after Jerry Remy singled and Lyle threw late to second on Mario Guerrero's bunt. The runs crossed on Tommy Davis' pinch single, Lyle's throwing error and Lee Stanton's sacrifice fly.

bunt single drove in the winning run after a single by Phil Garner, a sacrifice and Bert Campaneris' fifth hit of the game. A two-run single by Campaneris helped the A's to a 6-1 lead but the Red Sox tied it with five runs in the sixth off relievers Paul Lindblad and Rolie Fingers.

Indians 3, Rangers 1

Pat Dobson scattered seven hits for his first victory since July 16. It was his eighth start in search of his 12th triumph.

Singles by Rick Manning, George Hendrick and Buddy Bell accounted for the Indians' first run in the fourth inning against winless rookie Tommy Boggs and Tommy Smith drove in what proved to be the decisive run with a grounder in the fifth after Frank Duffy doubled and was sacrificed to third.

Lost Despite 15 Strikeouts

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Pitcher Scott Gardner of Lubbock, Tex., set a Babe Ruth world series record Sunday with 15 strikeouts, but his team was unable to get on the scoreboard as it lost 3-0 to Kinston, N.C., in the second round of the Babe Ruth World Series for 16-18-year-olds.

The Texas team dropped into the losers bracket of the double elimination tournament.

Losses by Stamford, Conn., Brooklyn Center, Minn., and Delaware Sunday eliminated those teams from the tournament.

Still in the tournament and scheduled for action tonight are North San Gabriel Valley, Calif., which faces Seattle, Wash.; and Kinston, which takes on Mobile, Ala.

Orioles 6-3, White Sox 2-7

Lamar Johnson rapped out three singles, drove in two runs and scored twice as Chicago gained a split after Reggie Jackson's tie-breaking pinch grand slam homer off Terry Forster in the ninth inning of the opener gave Baltimore's Jim Palmer his 17th victory, most in the American League. He hurled a three-hitter. It was the fourth grad slam of Jackson's career, third this season and second in eight days against the White Sox.

But the split enabled the Orioles to pick up only one-half game on the Yankees in the AL East and they trail by 9½ games.

Royals 7, Brewers 4

Amos Otis singled home two runs in Kansas City's four-run ninth-inning rally after Danny Frisella issued three consecutive walks and Ruppert Jones drove in the tying run with a grounder.

"That's the first time I've ever done that since I've been in the big leagues," Frisella said. "I guess you can't do it every time. That's why people on bomb squads don't live long."

Other Golfers Had To Shoot At Her Score

By ELLEN HADDOW
Associated Press Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth recorded her 76th Ladies Professional Golf Association victory Sunday by letting the other golfers shoot at her score while she sat in the clubhouse at the $55,000 Patty Berg Golf Classic.

"It's my Bicentennial victory," said the lanky Texan, who birdied the 18th hole for an even-par 73 to win the Berg Classic by two strokes over Sandra Post.

"I would rather be ahead and let them shoot at me," she said, relaxing after her round to watch Miss Post and Bonnie Bryant come in on 18. Miss Whitworth finished seven under par.

Miss Whitworth set a course record Friday with an opening 66 and coasted to par 73s the rest of the way to pick up the $8,000 winner's check. The cardboard facsimile of the check measured 4 feet by 10, but Miss Whitworth commented, "everything should be big for Texas."

Her last tour victory had come in February.

Miss Post started the day at seven under, tied with Miss Whitworth. She gained the lead at eight under with an even 37 on the front side while the Texan came in with 3. But Miss Post, a Canadian playing out of Boynton Beach, Fla., three-putted the 11th green and missed two short birdie efforts and a four-foot par putt to finish at five under par for the tournament.

Miss Bryant, the only left-hander on the tour, hits a long ball but missed short, birdie putts on the last four holes that could have won her the title. She finished third at four under par.

"My putter deserted me today," said the 32-year-old golfer from Palm Springs, Calif. "They count just as much around the green when they're two feet as they do with a 240-yard drive."

Jane Blalock, who put herself into the running Saturday with a 68, birdied the final hole to finish with a 72 and fourth place.

Defending champion Joann Washam finished the tournament in a four-way tie for 21st

Rookie Pulled In Tarkenton's Big Pass

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer
Fran Tarkenton has been through it before but it was all new to Sammie White.

"We've been working very hard with these young receivers during training camp," said Tarkenton. "At some point kids have got to make a play. Sammie made a very big play."

White, a rookie from Grambling, hauled in a Tarkenton pass in the corner of the end zone with just 24 seconds left Sunday to give Minnesota a 23-17 victory over Cincinnati in a National Football League preseason game.

"Man, oh, man," said White when asked what his thoughts were as he watched the ball float towards him, "I'd better get this one."

How did he feel hauling in the game-winning catch?

"I just didn't know what to say or do," said the fleet rookie. "My mind was blank. But I've always had the confidence I could make the big play."

The winning toss, which covered 32 yards, came with the teams tied 17-17 and facing an overtime period in humid, 91-degree weather in Bloomington.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes in the game and set up a third with a 52-yard pass to Tom Gerredine.

The Bengals, who lost for the first time in four outings, had rallied to tie it at 17-all with just 1:16 left when John Reaves hit Billy Brooks with an 11-yard TD pass. Boobie Clark rammed over from the one-yard line for the other Cincinnati touchdown.

The victory evened the Vikings' exhibition record at 2-2.

In Saturday night games, Los Angeles downed Oakland 23-14; San Francisco edged San Diego 17-16; Miami topped Tampa Bay 28-21; New England defeated Atlanta 28-17; Kansas City got by Washington 23-20; Dallas dumped Detroit 36-16; St. Louis beat Chicago 20-14; the New York Jets defeated Houston 27-24, and Denver rocked Seattle 52-7.

On Friday night Buffalo buried Green Bay 37-0, New Orleans defeated Baltimore 26-20 in overtime and the New York Giants upset Pittsburgh 17-0.

Cleveland plays at Philadelphia Monday night.

John Cappelletti ran for one touchdown and caught a pass from James Harris for another as undefeated Los Angeles overcame Carl Garrett's 96-yard TD run on the opening kickoff to beat Oakland.

Jim Plunkett fired two touchdown passes but San Francisco needed Steve Mick-Mayer's 38-yard field goal with two seconds left to keep its unbeaten record intact against San Diego.

Bob Griese threw for three first-half touchdowns and Miami held off cross-state rival Tampa Bay in the second half to up its record to 4-0 in front of 71,718 fans — the largest crowd of the preseason — at Tampa.

Don Calhoun raced 71 yards for one touchdown and quarterback Tom Owen passed for two more to lead New England past winless Atlanta.

A pair of second-half touchdowns passed by reserve quarterback Tony Adams and Jan Stenerud's 36-yard field goal with 14 seconds left carried Kansas City past Washington.

Butch Johnson scored on an 89-yard kickoff return and Danny White hooked up with Duke Ferguson on two touchdown passes to help Dallas post its first victory of the exhibition season.

Veteran Jim Bakken booted a pair of field goals and Steve Jones and Jim Otis scored on short runs as St. Louis handed Chicago its first loss of the preseason.

Three field goals by Pat

Leahy and Joe Namath's 10-yard TD pass to Jerome Barkum helped the Jets beat Houston. The Oilers missed a chance to tie when Skip Butler's 35-yard field goal attempt with 20 seconds left went wide.

Defensive back Louis Wright scored on a 27-yard fumble return and quarterbacks Steve Ramsey, John Hufnagel and Norris Weese each threw a touchdown pass as Denver routed winless Seattle.

Massengale Formula Is Proven Tourney Winner

By VIN D'ALESSANDRO
AP Sports Writer
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Take a tip from your brother, mix it with trust in God and then concentrate on your golf game.

That formula brought Rik Massengale, a soft-spoken Texan, the $42,000 top prize in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open golf tournament Sunday in steam-bath-like conditions.

Massengale, who leads a Bible study group that meets regularly on the pro golf tour, fashioned a strong five-under-par 31 on the back nine for a final-round 66 as he held off a host of challengers on the Wethersfield Country Club's 6,598-yard course, one of the shortest on the tour.

The handsome, mustachioed 29-year-old, younger brother of former touring pro Don Massengale, said that just a few weeks ago at the Pleasant Valley Classic in Massachusetts he told a friend, "I really didn't feel like I could win." He said he was putting well but didn't think his game was good enough for a victory.

Then his brother, Rik's boyhood idol who is now a club pro, worked with him at the PGA tournament last week to change his grip.

"That's all I changed. That's just golf. That's how quick it can change," Massengale said after his second victory in six years as a pro.

As he accepted his check he thanked God for the victory and later explained, "I'm a Christian first. I'm a golfer second."

Massengale either led or shared the lead from the start of the four-day event, finishing with an 18-under-par 266 in 95-degree, humid weather.

Fiery Crash Injured Driver

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Racing driver Philip Smith of Kernersville was in serious condition Sunday with burns suffered in a fiery crash Saturday night.

Smith's car crashed through a guard rail in a turn during the NASCAR Winston 350 Modified stock car race at Bowman Gray Stadium.

He was taken to the intensive care unit at Forsyth Memorial Hospital with extensive burns, a hospital spokesman said.

The crash occurred after Smith's car hit a car driven by Billy Middleton of Germantown. Middleton pulled Smith from the flaming wreckage as firefighting crews rushed onto the track.

Problem Year Lies Ahead For U.S. School Boards

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

Strikes, tight money and questions about the quality of education will keep the nation's school boards on edge during the new academic year.

Dr. Harold V. Webb, executive director of the National School Board Association, says there's a bright spot.

"One of the things that's encouraging to me is this—in spite of all the problems the public is increasing its alertness and concern of what's going on in the schools," he said in an interview.

"Citizens are becoming involved as never before."

The association of state school boards, through its service and research programs, reaches most of the nation's school boards.

There are 87,000 members on 17,000 boards nationwide.

"The school board represents the management and is right at the heart of it all," Dr. Webb said.

The "buck" stops at the board and that, in fact, makes serving on the board a really big responsibility.

Webb also spoke about new problems for school board members.

Financial disclosure laws will make service on a school board "very unattractive" to many members.

Under proposals, the school board member would disclose assets and those of the spouse.

"Another thing causing concern," Webb said, "is the matter of liability."

"Some decisions may expose board members to personal liability."

"This has caused an increase in insurance. This is a very volatile and relatively new field and school insurance companies are in and out."

"It's not just errors but omissions that might make a board and its members liable."

Districts may be sued for alleged job discrimination, treatment of students, removing a teacher or other employee from the payroll. Webb said the list is "almost endless."

One of the biggest "education" problems concerns effectiveness.

"When people in the community and businessmen and the like say a graduate cannot read and write clearly then there is something wrong with the schools," he said.

"That is a problem I do not want to sweep under the rug."

School boards increasingly are concerned with government regulation. Webb said the regulation does not always take into consideration realities schools must face.

He cited the regulation on education of the handicapped. Without providing more funds, the federal government just burdens school districts short of money for its normal program.

As a result, putting these special programs into operation in some cases is done at the expense of the regular education program.

Finances will continue in a condition of crunch. Serious staff reductions are underway in some districts in an attempt to balance budgets.

But rising costs for everything from supplies to heating and salaries make it difficult to keep things balanced.

Add to this the reality of strikes—which took place in more than 200 school districts last year. When a strike goes beyond a certain point the state reimbursement to the school district is reduced. The state pays only for number of days children are in school.

Paper work and the cost of record keeping is up. All of this is an expense, but it isn't seen. There isn't much recognition that this is a growing and necessary budget item.

The most painful decision school board members will make in the new school year: closing a school due to reduced enrollment, or eliminating enrichment courses and programs due to lack of money.

Who are the school board members? A profile on the new school board member gives some idea:

- 16 per cent of men and 33 per cent of women board members have been public school teachers or administrators prior to board service.
- Nine per cent of men and four per cent of women were employed as educators when they began board service.
- Half of school board members have lived 15 years or more within the school district prior to service and 20 per cent have lived their whole lives there.
- One new board member in 10 is appointed to an elected position to fill a vacancy.
- 39 per cent of board members have served two years or less.

More Than 60 Million Await New School Year

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

More than 60 million will hit the academic trail in September and the bill will come to a record $130 billion.

The youngest students may suffer separation trauma when they leave the sandbox for kindergarten. But the oldest—retirees—will renew a love affair with learning when they head for community colleges, big universities or adult education classes at the high school.

The bill this year will be eight per cent higher at the kindergarten to 12th grade levels and some 12 per cent higher at the college level, according to Dr. Vance Grant, director of the National Center for Education Statistics in Washington, D.C.

Pushing up the bill: inflation, salary increases, bigger heating, food and electric costs.

The educational offerings in any state or locality will be limited by the money available. Across the nation there is no uniform spending for public schooling. Opportunities, therefore, are uneven.

On the average, $1,388 is spent per pupil. Ten years ago it was $537. In New York state, $2,179 was spent per pupil last school year. That was the highest.

The lowest was $881, in Arkansas.

Of the estimated 50 million in kindergarten, elementary and high school, some 5.4 million will attend private schools. The Roman Catholic schools, biggest among the private, are expected to show a dip in elementary enrollment, continuing a trend. But a slight increase at the secondary level, also reflecting a trend.

In the public schools, the decline in elementary enrollment will continue, but a slight increase at the high school level is expected, according to Dr. Grant.

The drop in pupil population in the early grades is due to declining births. While this has had an effect on the number of new jobs for teachers and contributes to a teacher surplus, Dr. Grant expects teacher positions to be up from 10,000 to 15,000 this new academic year.

About 2.5 million teach in public and private schools, kindergarten to grade 12.

Nearly half a million more are expected in colleges this fall. Projections from the National Center for Education Statistics call for 10.1 million in the private and public colleges. Last year, this time, the projection was for 9.7 million.

Much of the increase in college population is traced to a new kind of student—housewives and retirees. They have the money and the desire to complete degrees half started, or to go to college for the first time.

Many colleges woo these students in an attempt to bolster income and make more efficient use of faculty and facilities.

The public colleges will show the biggest enrollment increase, up to 7.7 million from 7.4 million last September. The private schools, where tuition is higher, will show an increase of about 43,000, to a total of 2,349,000.

Education for the 60 million will be in the hands of 3.5 million teachers and administrators—from kindergarten to college.

The schools everywhere this new school year will be under pressure to prove competency of their educational fare. Declines in college entrance examination scores have led some critics of education to say the schools are failing. The drops in scores are under investigation.

Other pressures on the educational establishment in the new school year will come from:

- Court-ordered busing for desegregation.
- Teacher strikes, predicted in greater number by both the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers, two big teachers' organizations. Last year schooling was interrupted as never before by a record 203 teacher strikes.
- At the college level, increased costs of red tape to comply with various federal regulations. One example of this is Title IX regulations—the bundle having to do with easing sex discrimination.
- At the local level, resistance to higher taxes for bigger school bills is evident across the country. Public schools in need of more money increasingly may cut programs rather than ask town leaders to raise taxes. The programs cut first generally are the enrichment ones—such as those for the gifted. Activist teacher and parent groups say such cuts lower the quality of education.
- School violence and vandalism. In many schools the pupils are a law unto themselves, especially the big city schools. A Supreme Court ruling okaying corporal punishment hasn't really helped. School officials say the steps to be followed in administering corporal punishment make it difficult.
- Finding new sources of school money. The states pay 42 per cent of the school bill; local money, 52 per cent. The federal government pays eight per cent.

FLAG SALES

NEW YORK (UPI)—This is a big year for sales of the American flag, according to reports from various manufacturing and sales sources. Flag sales in this Bicentennial year are expected to reach the neighborhood of $80 million, which would be about three times the 1975 sales figure.

Rock Festivals Returning?

By BRUCE MEYER
United Press International
It's about time. Someone — you might have known it would be a Texan — was bound to take the rock festival idea and turn it into a money-making proposition on a regular basis.

It could only be done in a place with lots of room and by someone with the kind of Cadillac Cowboy chutzpah that all Texans like to pretend they've got but few of whom really deliver the goods.

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠954 ♥A8 ♦10872 ♣Q1052
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♥ Dble. Pass
2 ♠ 2 ♥ 3 ♦ Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Partner has shown a very strong hand indeed—he has bid to the three-level opposite what could be a yarrowborough. There are several actions you could take. A raise to four diamonds is the least you could do, and both five diamonds and three no trump have their appeal. However, both actions are blind stabs, so the action we like best is a cue-bid of three hearts, showing our stopper. This also tells partner we are maximum for our original action, and places him in the ideal position to judge what the final contract should be.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K95 ♥K987 ♦J8 ♣K106
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1NT Pass Pass ?
What action do you take?

A.—Double. In the balancing seat, you do not need the same strength to double one no trump as you would in the immediate seat. Here the points rate to be evenly split between the two sides, and you are trying to compete for the part score. If partner is too weak to convert your double for penalties and happens to run to diamonds, you will, of course, show your heart suit and hope for the best.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A ♥Q62 ♦A98542 ♣963
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♦ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. We admit that this doesn't do full justice to our hand because partner is Win Anderson is that kind of Texan. But first, a historical aside.

Carl Perkins recorded "Blue Suede Shoes" in 1956 and if you pick that as the arbitrary start of rock 'n' roll, you could say this is its 20th birthday year.

But for a lot of (misguided) people, rock peaked early in the summer of 1969 at Woodstock — and died a violent death a couple of months later, at Altamont.

What's important about this is that whatever the impact of any individual performer or group — whether you think of Carl Perkins and Elvis Presley or the Beatles and the Rolling Stones or Elton John and the Eagles — the big events centered around the music take on special significance. And it is the people, the fans, if you will, who make the events what they are, much more than the performers on stage.

So the events — in this case, the festivals — remain dear to the hearts of those who love and those who used to love and those who love to hate rock 'n' roll.

And catering to all this crying need is — see, we got back to him — Win Anderson, a lean and hungry young promoter from the hog heaven of cowboy rock, Austin, Tex.

Last May Win put together his first one-day festival in Austin, which he called "Sunday Break" and which featured the kind of music not usually associated with Austin — America, Peter Frampton, Santana, Gary Wright and others.

The show took place inside the Austin city limits and drew an audience of about 50,000 who arrived, spread out their blankets, drank their wine and beer and smoked their grass and generally stayed so mellow and happy the inevitable Woodstock allusions were fairly dripping from local newspaper stories the next day.

Now, the Labor Day weekend, Win Anderson is going to do it again — "Sunday Break II." Only this time, in the Texas tradition, it'll be bigger and better, but mostly bigger.

Anderson has lined up a 5,000-acre ranch 18 miles west of Austin in the rolling Texas hill country. There's a sprawling natural amphitheater big enough for 150,000 or more and it's shaping up into what could be one of the best outdoor shows of what has turned out to be one of the best summers of live rock ever seen.

The Band, Chicago and Fleetwood Mac top the bill, along with Steve Miller, the hot new Firefall and others.

Anderson promises that — like Sunday Break I — there will be plenty of room, plenty of water and other facilities, and plenty of food and drink at fair prices. And if he can pull it off, he'll have proved what few old festival hands ever thought was possible: you can be a good promoter (make money for yourself and your backers) and be a good guy (that is, give the fans their money's worth and be nice about it) at the same time.

Which would be a good way to celebrate the start of rock 'n' roll's third decade.

Aviation Boom Tops $1 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sales of general aviation aircraft topped the $1 billion mark for the first time in 1975 as manufacturers delivered 14,057 planes to civilian buyers, reports the Aerospace Industries Association of America. Some 864 helicopters for civilian use also were delivered during the year, with a value of $274 million, the association said, but sales of commercial jetliners declined. Commercial transport deliveries were worth $3.8 billion, down from $4 billion the previous year as the number of commercial planes declined to 315 from 332.

NOTICE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain deed of trust dated August 17, 1966, executed by Edward Lee Eakes and wife, Claudia E. Eakes, to Thomas J. Lydon, Trustee, which deed of trust is duly recorded in Book J-36, page 253 in the Pitt County Registry, and pursuant to notice to the interested parties and hearing held thereon as provided by Part 2 of Article 2 (a) of Chapter 45 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, and hearing held thereunder, default having been made in the payment of the debt secured by said deed of trust and the owner and holder of the debt having requested the undersigned Substitute Trustee to foreclose thereunder, the said Substitute Trustee, under and by virtue of the authority vested in him as substituted trustee by an instrument of writing dated December 15, 1975, of record in Book J-44, on page 199, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, will on Thursday, August 26, 1976, at 12:00 o'clock Noon at the court house door in Greenville, North Carolina, expose to public sale to the highest bidder for cash the following described real property, to-wit:

That tract of land in Pactolus Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, described as follows: Lying north of the new paved road from Fleming Crossroads to Pactolus and beginning at a point 315 feet north of the center line of said new paved highway at the common corner between the R. E. Harris and C. P. Harris in the Charlie Buck line, running thence north with the Charlie Buck line 105 feet to a cherry tree, thence south and parallel to the center line of the aforesaid highway 105 feet to a stake, a corner with G. H. Harris, running thence south and parallel with the first line 105 feet to a stake, the common corner between Lelton E. Harris and C. P. Harris, running thence east and parallel with the aforesaid center line of the aforesaid highway a distance of 105 feet to the point of beginning.

Said property will be offered for sale subject to the lien of any outstanding taxes and any assessments of record; and the successful bidder at said sale will be required to make a deposit with the Trustee equal to ten (10%) per cent of his bid pending confirmation of said sale.
This 30th day of July, 1976.
W. I. Wooten, Jr.,
Substitute Trustee

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market suffered another sharp setback today on the heels of large losses in the two previous sessions.

Trading remained fairly quiet, however.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 7.73 at 906.34. The average fell nearly 20 points Thursday and Friday.

Declines outpaced advances by about a 7-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers made note of a couple of negative influences in the news—tension over last week's incident in Korea in which two American military officers were killed, and disappointment over the over-all gain that showed up in second quarter corporate profits.

They also observed that last week's market decline appeared to have prompted concern that stocks had exhausted their upward energy for the moment in repeated unsuccessful efforts to break through the Dow-1,000 level.

Most of today's declines came in the first half hour. After that, prices began to level off.

Hewlett-Packard fell 2 1/4 to 87 1/4. The volatile issue tumbled 9 1/2 points on Friday, when the company reported lower quarterly earnings.

Among other glamors, Texas Instruments dropped 3 1/4 to 108 1/4; Digital Equipment lost 1 1/4 to 167 1/4, and IBM was down 1 1/4 to 271 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index slumped .40 to 54.31 in the first hour. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .43 at 101.36.

A New Party For Seawell

RALEIGH (AP) — H. F. "Chub" Seawell, a conservative country philosopher, has been selected to run as the American party's candidate for governor.

The party executive committee selected Seawell, a 71-year-old attorney from Carthage at a weekend meeting.

He replaces Richard Vanderpool, who agreed to step aside in Seawell's favor. Vanderpool, from Wilson, said he felt Seawell was better known and would attract more votes.

Seawell was the Republican candidate for governor in 1952; he was buried by Democrat William B. Unstead. The fortunes of the American party do not bode any better; its gubernatorial candidate in 1972, Arlis Pettyjohn, got only 8,000 votes.

But, Seawell said Saturday that "Anything can happen in these days." His first task will be to change his registration from Republican to American, which he planned to do today.

Seawell said he agreed to join the American party after Ronald Reagan "wandered down into the woods with the liberals," at the Republican convention.

Seawell was a guest commentator for Jesse Helms on WRAL-TV in Raleigh for eight years.

Revival Series Begins Tonight

Revival services will begin at Wells Chapel Church of God in Christ tonight and will continue through Friday night.

Elder C. D. McNeil, second assistant of the Church of God in Christ of Greater North Carolina and pastor of both the Revival Center of Kinston and the Revival Center of Fayetteville, will conduct the services.

Services begin at 8 o'clock each evening. The public is invited. The church is located on West Fifth Street.

Pay Big Part Of Highway Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Trucks have paid more than $75 billion in federal and state highway user taxes since 1957 and contributed a large share of the cost for constructing the interstate highway system, says the American Trucking Associations. The average car owner paid about $30 in 1974 to the Highway Trust Fund while the owner of a five-axle tractor semitrailer paid $1,248, according to the truckers. In all, truckers claim to have paid about 40 per cent of all taxes collected for the highway fund while accounting for 17 per cent of all vehicles.
