negative while Misses Rose Edgerton and Corinne N. Bright stood for the affirmative (Miss Blanche Lancaster being called home very unexpectedly just before the debate). The affirmative won and those chosen to represent this Society in the final debate were: Misses Lois Grubbs, Rose Edgerton and Corinne N. Bright.

After the debate the meeting adjourned.

On the evening of March 8th the E. A. Poe Society met. The minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. Miss Blanche Lancaster was unanimously elected as substitute debater in case of the illness or absence of one of the debaters. Miss Lancaster gave her inter-Society report. The President appointed a committee to see when we would have the unveiling of our portraits of Gov. Jarvis and Mr. Ragsdale. It was suggested that we have some musicians to come down from Baltimore to replace the lecture of Dr. C. Alphonso Smith given to the Poes by the Sidney Lanier Society. It was also decided that we keep this a secret.

A Society Hall committee was appointed by the President, to find out about which of the mid-rooms on the third floor would be the better for our Society Hall. The following committee was appointed: Lois Dell Pittman, Blanche Lancaster and Emma Cobb. Miss
