In April a study of Holland was taken up. Mr. Austin showed us pictures of Holland in the Lantern slide machine.

On the first day of May, both Societies gave a May day fête and the public was invited. It was a complete success.

Emma Cobb was elected as the new President of this Society for the terms 1913 and 1914, in the May Meeting. At this meeting we took up a study of Lanier.

On May 13, 1913 a recital by professional musicians from Washington and Baltimore was given the Lanier Society under the auspices of the Poe Society. The tickets for the public were fifty cents (50¢). We were compelled to charge the public on account of our heavy expenses. We did not make expenses but everyone enjoyed it thoroughly. We drew the balance of expenses from the Treasury. The money left in the Treasury now is for the opening up of the Society next year.
