WELFARE BRIEFING — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Joseph Califano, watches as

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is drawing praise from two key congressional Democrats for his first move toward welfare reform, an issue that one Cabinet member equates with the complex search for peace in the Middle East.

Carter listed his objectives for welfare change on Monday, saying the nation's present system should be thrown out. But he said he needs more time to consult with leaders of all 50 states before submitting formal legislative proposals.

His goals drew the support of Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

It was Carter's decision to go slow that appealed to Sen. Russell Long, head of the Senate Finance Committee.

Ullman said the welfare principles outlined by Carter would separate those who can work from those who can't and give the employable poor an opportunity for job training and meaningful work.

"I know of nothing more central to successful welfare reform than expansion of productive training and jobs for the nation's young and poor," Ullman said.

The Oregon Democrat, whose committee will handle the administration proposal in the House, is the author of his own welfare reform plan. It is similar in many respects to Carter's outline.

Long, whose panel also will consider the issue, praised Carter for permitting more time for the states and public interest groups to make suggestions before sending Congress specific legislation.

"This will make it easier to get the bugs out of such a package beforehand, rather than after the President has committed himself to it," the Louisiana Democrat said.

Major welfare reform has been attempted before, most recently in 1972. That effort was stymied when a divided Senate failed to reach agreement on a new system.

Launching his own attempt at overhaul of the welfare system, Carter said, "The present welfare programs should be scrapped entirely and a totally new system implemented" to provide jobs for those who can work, cash for those who can't and income tax credits for the working poor.

The present system, Carter said, "is worse than we thought."

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano, calling welfare reform "the Middle East of domestic politics," said many of the details and the cost of the new plan remain to be worked out.

The President said the initial cost of the new system would not top the $23.6 billion budgeted for welfare programs for the 1978 fiscal year, although administration officials said the costs are likely to rise in following years.

The burden of welfare on state and local governments "should be reduced as rapidly as federal resources permit," Carter said.

But he didn't promise, as many state officials hoped he would, to pay all welfare costs from the federal treasury.

County Board Told Tax Bills Paid By Fieldcrest

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

County Commissioners were told yesterday that Fieldcrest Mills has paid Pitt County some $34,100 in back taxes and penalties and interest for inventory they underlisted in 1972, 1973 and 1974.

Tax Supervisor Phillip Michaels said Fieldcrest paid last week after commissioners approved the bill, and agreed to release $1,900 in penalty on the 1972 tax.

Michaels said Fieldcrest also paid the City of Greenville just over $26,100 in back taxes, penalty and interest in connection with underlisted inventory located within the city limits for the same three years.

In other business yesterday, the board accepted bids on a closed circuit television security system for the county jail, but postponed awarding contracts for the system until the bid price can be negotiated downward.

The only bid for the system was received from Motorola, for a total of $34,160. Funds on hand for the project from a federal grant amount to only $30,145.

The board approved a Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant which provides $34,000 — with a 5 per cent match from the Pitt County Board of Education — for two officers to be hired by the Sheriff's Department to work under the supervision of the Board of Education as school liaison officers.

The two would work with youngsters in 11 elementary schools — grades four through 8 — who have exhibited juvenile delinquency tendencies or who have run afoul of the law.

Commissioners established a policy yesterday for handling donations to the Department of Social Services and trust fund monies handled by that department.

The board voted to require all donations to be channeled through the county's treasury, with county vouchers issued to the individuals or programs for which the donations were made.

They also approved naming Director of Social Services Dorothy Bolton as a deputy finance officer for the county to handle trust fund accounts and issue checks for trust fund receipts.

The board approved the final plat on the Pleasant Ridge Subdivision between Ayden and Grifton, and approved a petition from residents on East Corbett Ave. in the Floral Park subdivision to have that road added to the state system.

Pitt Memorial Hospital director Jack Richardson told commissioners yesterday that the move into the new hospital went well, with the last patient leaving the old building at 9:50 a.m. and the first baby being born in the new hospital at 3:44 p.m. Saturday.

Richardson said 103 patients were transferred in two hours and 52 minutes, "safe and sound and in good condition."

Ralph Hall, director of the physical plant at the new medical center reminded the board that although the new hospital building is occupied and in operation, there is still some $5.5 million in construction going on at the site — additions to the new building being made to accommodate the East Carolina University School of Medicine clinical program.

Congress Told Don't Tamper

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House energy adviser James R. Schlesinger today urged Congress not to tamper with major provisions of President Carter's energy program, which he called carefully balanced to "distribute benefits and burdens equitably" among Americans.

"Many groups will find in this bill provisions which will impose burdens or sacrifice upon them," said Schlesinger. "The temptation to seek exemptions from burdens and sacrifices will be very strong, but the United States will solve its energy problem only if it adopts a plan that is fair and any fair plan will impose burdens on everyone."

Schlesinger also told the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee that the President's proposal for a standby gasoline tax of up to 50 cents a gallon, perhaps the single most controversial element of the program, "would provide a challenge to the American people to meet a common goal."

Noting that the tax would be levied in five-cent-a-gallon increments if gasoline consumption exceeds specified goals, Schlesinger said, "This represents the type of challenge Americans have been so successful in meeting in the past and will likely meet in the future."

The White House adviser also held out the possibility that the administration would consider mandatory conservation measures "such as requiring that houses be insulated before they are sold," if the nation does not respond to financial incentives to save energy.

Carter's bill would give tax breaks to home owners and businesses for insulation and solar energy. However, the program would be voluntary.

Schlesinger's testimony was the first discussion of the sweeping energy program before Congress by an administration official since the President presented it to a joint session of Congress on April 20.

Housing Board Approves Requesting HUD Funds

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The Housing Authority adopted a resolution authorizing the submission of an application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for financing for 50 new units of traditional housing here.

The Authority's executive director, Joe Laney, told commissioners Monday night that Greenville, as well as other Pitt County communities, was notified by HUD last week of the availability of housing assistance for 50 total units for the county.

Laney explained that the new program, unlike the controversial Section Eight plan, would be backed up with adequate financing with a guarantee from the Federal Government.

The new program was supposed to be developed along the guidelines of the conventional housing concept that provided the city with its present units but due to some changes in the format the tag of "traditional housing" was adopted by HUD, Laney said.

Greenville, which currently has 531 units of public housing, has lost some 23 units over a period of years during planning because of rising building costs and in some cases administrative problems with potential sites.

The director pointed out that the 50 units of new housing, developed solely for family use, would be broken down into 26 one and two-bedroom and larger units. A four to five acre site would probably be needed for the development.

In applying for the new units, Greenville as well as neighboring towns will also be seeking a preliminary loan of $10,000 from HUD to handle initial development costs such as architectural contracts for unit sketches, staff expenses in seeking a site, funds for property appraisals, and other normal expenses involved in the first phase of a new project.

HUD indicated that it would like to have the Pitt County applications within 35 days of the notification, Laney said. The Authority is recommending that the City Council take action on the local resolution at Thursday night's meeting.

In other business last night,

Laney reported that financial prospects for the city's Section Eight program for the elderly are not bright at this time. He recommended that the possibility of a municipal tax-exempt bond sale be studied as a means of financing the 50-unit mid-rise housing structure for the elderly.

He said that the Authority is looking for final clearance (continued on page 6)

Sutton Elected By Housing Bd.

James E. Sutton, veteran Housing Authority commissioner and longtime chairman, was reelected to still another one-year term as head of the board Monday night.

Sutton's election as chairman took place during the Authority's annual elections meeting held prior to the regular May business session.

Commissioners elected Dr. Charles Price as vice chairman for the coming year and named Executive Director Joe Laney as secretary-treasurer.

One of five charter members of the Housing Authority, Sutton was first appointed on May 4, 1961 by Mayor S. E. West. He served two five-year terms on the board before leaving in May of 1972. After a year's absence, he was reappointed to a new five-year term in May of 1973.

During his tenure on the Housing Authority, Sutton has served numerous terms as chairman and also held the position of vice chairman during his first tenure on the board.

Price, who has been a member of the Authority since May of 1969, served as vice chairman for 1975-76. He succeeds Commissioner Dallas McPherson as vice chairman for the new year. McPherson, as well as Woody Crumpler and Dr. Andrew Best, remain on the board.

High School, and Miss Ann Clark of North Pitt High School.

Miss Phelps is the daughter of Herman D. Phelps and the late Doris Hall Phelps and is a rising senior at Rose High School. She has been an active member of the Keywanettes and Anchor clubs for the past two years. This year she has served as vice president of the Anchor Club and was elected as president for the coming year. For the past three summers she has worked as a counselor at a camp for mentally retarded persons located at White Lake. Miss Phelps is also a member of Memorial Baptist Church.

New Formula

Legislation has been entered in the State Senate and House of Representatives setting up a new formula for the allocation of secondary road construction in North Carolina.

Under the new formula, Pitt County would receive $415,050 from the secondary roads funds compared with $390,900 designated under the old plan.

The old allocation formula was based on the number of miles of unpaved secondary roads in a county. Under the new bills, the allocation will be changed to reflect all the secondary roads in a particular county whether paved or not, and the population of that county.

The legislation was entered by Senator Craig Lawing and Representative Reid Poovey.

If there is anyone more sanctimonious than a person who jogs I don't know who he is. They all act like they've just run from Garden City, L.I., to Innsbruck with a torch in their hand.

My husband has been jogging for five years now and I'm sick of it. Every morning, he comes into the kitchen after his run, a towel around the neck of his warm-up suit and grins, "Look at these muscles. And I'm not even breathing heavily."

"Don't give me that," I said. "You almost sucked up the morning paper in your nostrils."

"You should try it, you know," he said. "It firms up your muscles, gets you going in the mornings, and besides, it gives you discipline."

"So does a war, but I don't want to run to one."

"I ran two miles this morning. How long did it take me?"

"An hour and a half."

"You're kidding."

"Let me put it this way. If you were running after a beautiful girl from a centerfold, by the time you caught her you wouldn't remember why you were chasing her."

"That's pretty much what I'd expect from a woman who organized a car pool to the garbage cans."

That did it.

The next morning, I decided to join him. Let me tell you I have never had more respect for my husband than I did from the moment I stepped into the streets.

A '71 Mustang with a bumper sticker reading "I FOUND GOD" brushed by my body, making an instant convert out of me.

From out of nowhere, a pack of dogs nipped at my heels, forcing me to set a record for broad jump I didn't know existed.

There were crowds of people everywhere — milkmen, paper-boys, joggers, muggers, insomniacs — all milling around the streets. I expected any moment to see Ben Grauer with a microphone standing under a big, silver ball.

Finally, I yelled to my husband, "I have to stop a minute."

"Are you tired?" he asked.

I forced a laugh. "Tired! I just have to tie my shoestring. I keep tripping over it."

"That's your tongue," he said.

"Of my shoe?"

"Of your mouth," he said.

There's nothing wrong with jogging, I guess, that a car pool couldn't fix.

DEAR ABBY: I noticed that you wrote a whole column on parents who abuse their children.

That was very nice of you, Abby, but can't you do something for parents who are abused by their children?

I am a 42-year-old mother of two. My son is 21 and my daughter is 19. Their father died two years ago and left everything to me, and believe me, it was a lot.

I loved my children so much I gave them everything they asked for—cars, clothes, trips, boats and motorcycles. And now I have nothing. Absolutely nothing.

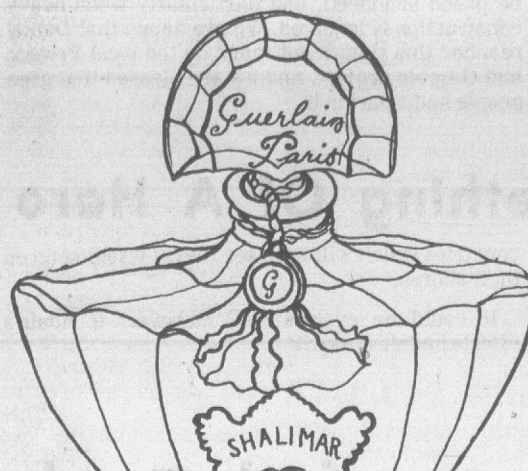

I lost my house, my car, my health, my looks, and now I think I am losing my mind.

Child-Abused Has Her Say

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I noticed that you wrote a whole column on parents who abuse their children.

That was very nice of you, Abby, but can't you do something for parents who are abused by their children?

I am a 42-year-old mother of two. My son is 21 and my daughter is 19. Their father died two years ago and left everything to me, and believe me, it was a lot.

I loved my children so much I gave them everything they asked for—cars, clothes, trips, boats and motorcycles. And now I have nothing. Absolutely nothing.

I lost my house, my car, my health, my looks, and now I think I am losing my mind.

ABUSED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband obviously did not consult the experts in estate planning at the trust department of his bank. Pity. They would have suggested any number of plans to provide you with financial security for the rest of your life.

DEAR ABBY: How could you have been so unfeeling to that woman whose son told her she talked too much? (You said, "He did you a kindness.")

Some kindness! The poor woman is probably now downhearted, self-conscious and inhibited, when before she was merry, cheerful and uninhibited. Which kind of woman would you rather be around?

We all know people who tend to be boring because they talk too much.

My own mother was a nonstop talker. Once she talked without stopping for 42 minutes. (I timed her.) Of course she was boring, but it didn't kill me to listen.

Yours for a little more tolerance.

MRS. ANONYMOUS

DEAR MRS.: I think it's a kindness to let people know when they talk too much.

They can—and should—do something about it. The price paid by bores is much too high. Their friends avoid them, and so do their relatives when they can conveniently do so.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a compulsive letters-to-the-editor writer. Milton was an English major and the editor of his high school newspaper, so he knows something about writing. But he has been going at that typewriter something fierce lately. He has something to say on every subject currently in the news. If President Carter wants to know what to do about the economy or the energy shortage, he should ask Milton.

I realize that this is a good safety valve for Milton's steam, but every once in a while one of his letters gets published, and he is the laughing stock of the community for months. His psychiatrist says it's good for him, but, Abby, I have to live in this town, too.

Please print this because Milton reads your column and gets a big kick out of it, but he says you make up all the letters yourself.

MILTON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Tell Milton I don't make up any letters. With people like him around, I don't have to. And to answer your question, I agree with the psychiatrist. Let Milton shoot his typewriter off.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL THOSE WROTE IN HOPES THAT THE SALVATION ARMY COULD LOCATE MISSING KIN: Please be patient. The response was so overwhelming, they may not get to your letter for months. And only those who sent stamped, self-addressed envelopes can be answered.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

School Pupils Test Their Lunch Foods

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture is taking kids seriously now when it comes to complaints about school lunch food.

And the children in High Point mince no words in describing some of the fare put on their plates.

"I'd throw up if I had to eat the rest of it," said one High Point fifth-grader of the egg custard he tasted.

The taste test is part of a survey taken by the agriculture department in six communities, the results of which will be used to develop a cookbook for school lunch programs.

Spanish cabbage and sweet and sour green bean salad are among the dishes failing to win approval of the kids here.

A large assortment of vegetables were offered in an attempt to make them more acceptable to children, said Olive M. Batchner, food technologist for the USDA Consumer and Food Economics Institute in Beltsville, Md.

The USDA has tested main dishes before, she said, but this was the first trial for vegetables.

Recent studies have shown grade children waste about $600 million worth of food distributed under $4 billion National School Lunch Program.

Arrest Two For Local Break-In

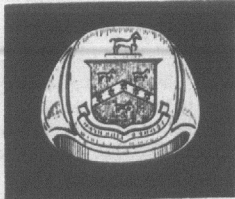

Two men were taken into custody by Greenville Police early today inside Hillcrest Lanes at 2817 Memorial Dr. and charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

Chief Glenn Cannon said officers were called to the building by a silent alarm about 3:20 a.m. and discovered Roy James Sheppard, 17 of 212 Olde London Inn and Glen Tracy Minton, 19 of 214 Olde London Inn, inside the building.

The chief noted the pair allegedly gained entrance to the building through an exhaust fan outlet, causing an estimated $50 damage.

Both were placed under $5,000 bond each for appearance in court.

Selecting Jury In Abuse Case

SANFORD, N.C. (AP) — An alternate juror was to have been selected today in the trial of a Sanford couple on child abuse charges.

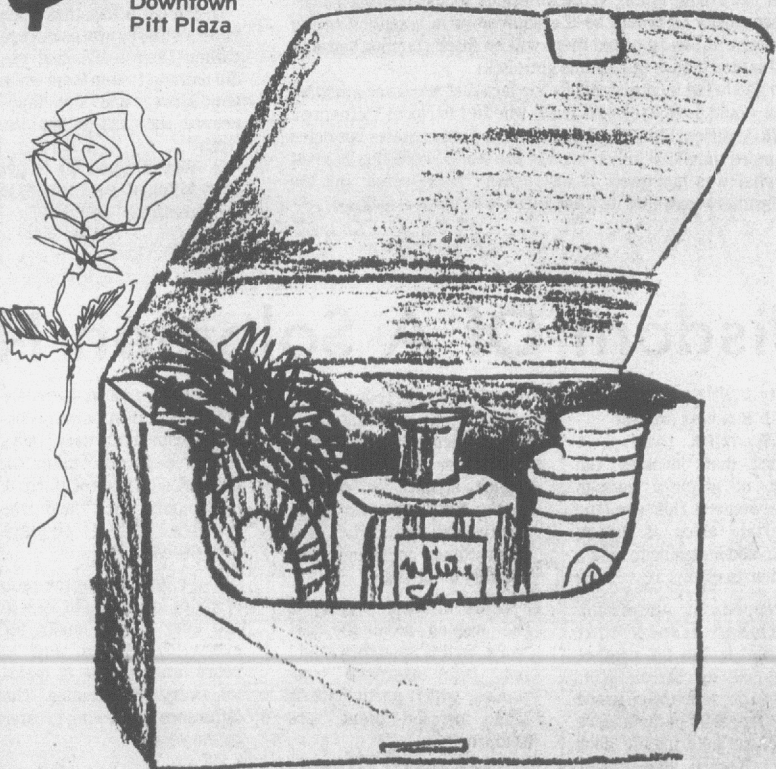

Robert McLeod and Violet Jean McLeod were each convicted on six accounts of inflicting physical injury and allowing physical injury to be inflicted last January in Lee County District Court.

They are appealing their convictions in Lee County Superior Court before Judge Sam Ervin III and are free on bond.

Ten men and two women were selected as jurors Monday, but were not empaneled pending selection of the alternate juror.

Safety Milestone On Local Job

Daniel Construction Co. was honored here last week for reaching the two million safe manhour mark.

Commissioner of Labor John Brooks presented the award to Harry Sloan, local site manager as C. B. Spivey, president of Daniel, looked on.

The significant safety milestone came on the Procter and Gamble construction project in Greenville.

Daniel has been here for over three and a half years working on the P and G project and the work force mounted to 1,100 at the height of the construction. The firm currently has around 100 people at the P and G plant handling continuing construction.

According to Sloan, Daniel employs construction people within a 50-mile radius of a project, so in a sense the safety contribution on the local P and G plant is an achievement by local people.

A two million hour safety record is something to be proud of indeed, and particularly when heavy construction is involved. We are happy that Daniel reached this significant mark on the local Procter and Gamble project, and we are pleased that area people had a part in it.

Troubleshooter Something Of A Hero

Red Adair, the oil well troubleshooter from Texas, is something of a hero after capping a gushing oil well in the North Sea.

And it is likely he deserves the praise he got. The big oil spill is a disaster for Northern European countries which will soon see the oil washing up on their shores.

It could be even worse, however, if Adair's efforts hadn't worked.

Right To A Peaceful End

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Sponsors of a so-called right-to-die law in the North Carolina General Assembly are equating that measure with other Constitutional rights which we enjoy.

The purpose of the proposal, according to State Rep. Robert L. Farmer, D-Wake County, is "to recognize that an individual's rights in our free society include the right to a peaceful and natural death . . . and to set up a procedure to exercise that right."

The proposed law now under study by legislators breaks down into three categories: the right to die; the procedure for accomplishing that; and the definition of death.

Strict Definition

Running throughout the measure is the constant theme which defines when a procedure for ending "heroic, extraordinary" means of keeping a person alive can be stopped, or not used at all — when the condition is terminal, incurable, when there is no brain activity, and when there is no possibility of returning to a "cognitive state."

Safeguards are built in to make sure the law could never be twisted to actually put a person to death — only to either stop, or not provide, artificial circulatory and respiratory equipment.

Medical people would still be called upon to feed and care for an individual who does not die naturally as a result of the absence of heroic measures. As in the Karen Quinlan case in New Jersey where the court ruled measures could be halted, the girl continues to live and be cared for.

She is, however, "skin over bones, lying in a fetal position, and weighing less than 70 pounds," says Dr. John R. Gamble, D-Lincoln County, a physician and one of the sponsors of the North Carolina law.

Dr. Gamble said one aspect of the proposal here bothers members of the N. C. Medical Society — that is the definition of death as being the absence of discernible brain activity. Previously, there has been no standard definition, and past determination has centered more around respiratory and circulatory activities in the body.

But Dr. Gamble concedes that the Medical Society is expressing some concern "at the prospect of putting brain death into the law even though they have used this determinant extensively all along." The law would still allow physicians to list any number of other death causes, not just cessation of brain activity, however.

inevitable; not putting any person to death."

Here are the essentials of the proposed law:

A person could sign in front of two disinterested witnesses a statement that they did not want heroic medical care if faced with a terminal, incurable condition. The signature must be proved by the clerk of court, and the paper kept among personal possessions. The attending physician is then given the option of exercising that wish upon confirmation of the condition by another physician. The law does not require the doctor to comply; only allows that.

In cases where the individual has not signed a declaration, the physician and a committee of three other doctors can determine "irreversible cessation of brain function" and work with the nearest relatives to determine what action to take. If there are no relatives available, the physician can decide whether to end support measures.

Rep. Farmer noted that the proposal resulted from two years of study by the General Statutes Commission at the request of the N. C. State Bar.

BILL NOBLITT

Much Support

Hospitals across the state strongly support the measure, and a spokesman for the Hospital Association believes the proposed law would relieve anxiety for many medical people.

"Right now, decisions of this nature are being made in hospitals all along, but they are not being made in a legal framework. It is important to note that we are talking about only allowing a peaceful and natural death when such is

THE INSIDE REPORT

Moscow's Helsinki Ploy

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
SOFIA — The Soviet counteroffensive against President Carter's human rights campaign, to climax at the Helsinki II all-European conference in Belgrade this summer, is emerging in lurid detail here with Bulgaria as Soviet point-man.

The plan is to sweep into Belgrad with Communist ideological cadres in an outpouring of allegations against not the whole West but the U.S. alone. The intent should not be underestimated in Washington: to turn the tables on Jimmy Carter in the crucial propaganda battle.

Moscow's stark preparations for the Belgrade conference, which will check the performance of signatory states in carrying out the 1975 Helsinki agreement, foreshadows Soviet concern about its own vulnerability. Nowhere is that concern for Moscow's interest so manifested as here in Bulgaria, the most faithful Soviet client state and the only one that seems reasonably placid as a satellite.

For the first time, since the iron curtain dropped across Europe, Todor Zhivkov, first secretary of the party (and senior party leader in the Soviet empire) has admitted Western newspapers to the better hotels here in this trim capitalcity. Copies of the Paris Herald Tribune, Le Monde and other European dailies were on sale last week for the first time, astonishing old diplomatic hands.

In other deck-clearing operations, Zhivkov has given emigration visas to all but two Bulgarians who sought, years ago, to join their families in the U.S. The total is small — less than 90 — but Zhivkov's decision was tied to "Basket Three" of the Helsinki agreement calling for reunion of families (and followed a personal appeal by former Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to Zhivkov on a visit here last year).

In total contrast to the Soviet Union, Bulgaria never has blocked emigration for Bulgarian Jews. Diplomats say exit visas are available for the small (5,000) Jewish community here.

The exit visa problem has been ideological, not ethnic, with the conspicuous exception of the Turkish minority.

But even here Zhivkov has made surprising concessions, partly to clean up the record before the Belgrade conference but more importantly because the Kremlin is wooing Turkey and simply decreed concessions to Ankara.

These steps, pursued also in other Communist capitals, will be talking points at Belgrade for Moscow. Other elements of the counterattack are coming into view, some with ridiculous overtones. American diplomats here are harangued for not "permitting" Bulgarian newspapers to go on sale in the U.S., where the desire for Bulgarian-style Communist propaganda is not overwhelming. More to the point, U.S. refusal to give entry visas to Bulgarian "labor leaders" — barred by AFL-CIO president George Meany — will be grounds for loud accusations in Belgrade. By contrast, Bulgaria claims that no American is denied a Bulgarian visa these days.

The intent is clear: to draw a balance sheet — a Potemkin Village of human rights — covering relatively unimportant elements of the Helsinki agreement for

WHAT WOULD YOU ASK? The $600,000 Questions

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If you had paid $600,000 to Richard M. Nixon for answers, what Watergate questions would you ask?

Pretend you are David Frost. Richard M. Nixon, perceptor of the Stone wall, is yours for 29 hours. Since his resignation in disgrace, nobody else has been able to question him about America's biggest scandal and his role in it.

Of course, Frost has already taped the Nixon interview that airs Wednesday night and he got suggestions for questions from experts.

But you, too, can play the game. If you were Frost, what would you have asked?

If all you can think of is Sen. Howard Baker's "What did the President know and when did he know it," the following suggestions might get you started:

Q. Did you know in advance about the plan by people in your re-election committee to burglarize Democratic party headquarters in the Watergate?

Q. Did John Mitchell, your former law partner, friend, attorney general and two-time campaign director tell you he was spending $250,000 in campaign funds to gather such intelligence?

Q. What was your initial reaction and your first order when you learned of the break-in?

Q. When you and chief of staff H.R. Haldeman agreed on June 23 to stop the FBI from investigating the break-in, weren't you really trying to kill the investigation because criminal — not just political — liability was involved?

Q. If you weren't involved at all in the burglary, why go to such lengths to contain the investigation? Why not let the legal process take its course?

Q. FBI director L. Patrick Gray warned you on July 6 that you were being aounded by men around you. Why didn't you at least look into his warning?

Q. A lot of people stuck their political reputations on the line for you, people who believed in you. Why did you lie to them?

Q. What was the real reason for the break-in?

Q. Did you seriously have doubts, in 1972, that you would be re-elected by a comfortable margin?

Q. Why was there need for an enemies list, for retribution?

Q. Why did you tape conversations in the White House? Did you plan, eventually, to sell these recordings?

Q. A week went by between July 16, 1973, when Alexander Butterfield revealed existence of the taping system, and when the first subpoenas were issued for them. Why didn't you destroy the tapes then, before such destruction could be termed tampering with evidence?

Q. Did you erase 18½ minutes of the taped conversation you had about Watergate on June 20, 1972, with Haldeman? If not, do you know who did? Was it Rose Mary Woods, your secretary?

Q. The tapes show that John Dean repeatedly warned you about White House involvement in hush money and the cover-up. Do you think at that point you acted honorably by not stopping it?

Q. Isn't it a fact that when your subordinates were calling Dean a liar that you did nothing to stop them when you knew, and the tapes proved, he was telling the truth?

Q. Why did you try to get John Mitchell, your friend, to (continued on page 5)

Yankee Asking Justice

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Because a Yankee from Oregon read a biography of Jefferson Davis, a bill to restore citizenship to the former president of the Confederacy is now moving through Congress.

While recuperating from minor surgery, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., read a three-volume biography of Davis. Hatfield said he was impressed by the achievements of Davis before the Civil War and by the injustice he suffered after the conflict.

"The purpose of the resolution I offer today is to correct a grave injustice inflicted upon Davis by a vindictive conqueror," Hatfield told the Senate when he introduced his measure to restore citizenship to Davis. The Senate approved the resolution and sent it to the House.

Hatfield noted that Davis was imprisoned in Ft. Monroe after the Civil War and "locked in an inner cell with only one stoutly barred window, with a lamp ordered to be kept burning day and night at his head . . . He could receive or send no mail and had only his Bible to read. And for the final insult, Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton had Davis placed in irons."

Davis was specifically excluded from the general amnesty bill of 1876, which restored the rights of most Confederates. He was released from prison in 1867 and died 22 years later.

40 Years Ago Today

May 3, 1937

The precise machinery of the British divorce court clicked for Wally Winfield Simpson's final divorce decree today and Edward of Windsor, who deserted the throne for "the woman I love," lost not a minute in closing the gap.

Each is now free to marry whoever they choose, but they will probably wait until after the pageantry of state that will put Edward's crown on the head of his brother, King George VI, nine days hence.

These swift developments this morning and afternoon brought ever closer the union of the lonely duke and the Baltimore-born woman whose love changed the empire's crown and thrilled the whole world.

Talk of a possible compromise on court reorganization sprang up today among opponents of the plan proposed by President Roosevelt.

Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said there might be "a real chance to get together" if the President's bill were scrapped for a compromise by Senator Hatch (D-N.M.).

Under the President's plan the executive could appoint a total of six new justices to the Supreme Court as soon as the bill became effective. Under the Hatch plan appointment would be limited to one justice a year, except for normal vacancies.

Other Editors Say Help Everybody?

(The Henderson Dispatch)

Emergency and crisis constitute one condition justifying aid, while a policy of continued doles is another. Since World War II the the United States has been consistently scattering its gratuities around the world. Both friend and foe have shared the generosity.

But the habit has been acquired and there seems to be unwillingness on the part of high officials to put an end to it. The attitude is the same in both parties when in control.

There are two theories. One is compassion for others, and which is the lesser. The other is the theory of making friends. But you don't buy friends. They are with you only so long as the giving lasts. Then the common attitude of jealousy and hate returns.

President Carter is softening toward South America, which of itself is commendable; we ought to be friendly toward them, when reciprocated. But behind it is the plan of foreign aid. That's what they want and are waiting for, though in the process they tend toward communism just the same.

North Vietnam wants American money. Of all the areas in the category, this one should be the last, and actually not at all. Their reward for killing 50,000 American servicemen should not be generosity. It would be the equivalent to assenting to the holocaust. It can be hoped there will be more common sense in Washington than to fall for this gimmick.

To add to the inconsistency is the fact that whatever might be given would have to be borrowed, whether to North Vietnam or South America. Since World War II, the United States has doled out more than $200 billion around the world, including interest on what was borrowed. It just doesn't make sense. But the government continues its willingness to be made a sucker of.

MELANCHOLY

Why are some people melancholy? Usually not because they are lacking in blessings. Usually there is little relation between a melancholy state of mind and the conditions under which people affected by it live.

Many great historical figures have been troubled by melancholia. Abraham Lincoln was one of these. So was Napoleon Bonaparte. Puccini, composer of Madame Butterfly and of Tosca said of himself that he was melancholy because he was made that way. It is paradoxical that some of the lightest and brightest pieces of his music came out of moods of deep depression.

Psychologically the causes of melancholia are numerous and diverse. But perhaps the greatest cause is rebellion against what one knows to be the right course of action for his life. Seldom are people melancholy over their troubles. More often it is because of the ineffective way they have handled life — a feeling of inability arising out of a lack of will.

Wisdom Of A Solomon Needed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A conflict that involves the future of employee pension plans, women's rights and the actuarial tables is taking shape, and it's going to take a Solomon to resolve it.

Stripped of numerous emotional issues that surround it, the the conflict arises out of these facts: Pension plans are often based on the longevity of men. More women are entering the labor force. Women live longer than men.

That presents the question: Since women are likely to receive more pension benefits, should their contribution, or their company's contribution, be raised? Or should a unisex rate be instituted?

Use of the latter plan, in which contributions to pension plans would be equal for men and women, might seem to be the answer, but it creates a problem: Costs would go up and benefits might have to be reduced.

Actuarially speaking, there is no difficulty: Since women live longer they should pay higher annuity or pension rates. But actuaries don't always call the shots; very often women do. Remember, equality of the sexes.

While in some arguments the women have the last word, on this issue they might not. Life insurance companies, which participate in some pension plans, ask reciprocity:

"Shouldn't women therefore lose their existing lower rates for life insurance, a rate that is based on those very same actuarial tables, a rate that is lower than that for men because of their greater life span?"

The differing longevity of men and women is likely to create many changes in life and work styles over coming centuries, but the issue is here and now in regard to pensions. Financing problems could be brewing.

"The number of females, relative to males, increases noticeably from one decennial census to the next," says Barnet Berlin of William M. Mercer, a division of March & McLennan Inc., and the nation's largest employee benefits concern.

In the 1960 census, the ratio of males to females at ages 65 and over was 83 males for every 100 females. Just 10 years later, it was 72 males for every 100 females. The difference is growing greater by the year.

While this would have sociological significance in any event, it is especially important when associated with the other phenomenon, the increase in the number of women in the regular work force.

"Managers should be putting more money away right now," says Berlin. Otherwise, he contends, they might find their pension plans in trouble sometime off in the future.

In his view a unisex rate doesn't supply the answer to the pension payment issue, partly because it will serve to raise the rates for all. More correct, he believes, would be to recognize the differences.

"If demonstrable and significant differences in statistics exist, one should recognize it," he says.

Would this constitute discrimination against women? Berlin avoids the tentacles of that issue. But he does observe that nobody seems to think it discriminatory that women now enjoy life insurance rates lower than for men.

Most company pension plans today are non-contributory, meaning the employer assumes the bill. Therefore, the issue for employees might seem to be one of principle only. But that isn't so.

A switch to a unisex rate, or a rate that would treat men and women equally, most likely would mean a decline in anticipated benefits for all. Better benefits for men might be considered discriminatory toward women.

Martin School Board Requires Teacher Test

WILLIAMSTON — Members of the Martin County Board of Education, at the regular May meeting on Monday, endorsed a resolution requiring teachers to successfully pass the National Teachers Association test score of 950 before being qualified to teach in the county schools.

The qualifying score has become a statewide controversial subject, after a recent revelation that 400 certified teachers in the state had not taken the association test.

After hearing a presentation by Jerry Bailey, director of the school system's vocational occupation program, the board approved plans for the coming school year which will result in losses in two programs. These are the loss of a teaching position in the "G" cooperative, a Distributive Education position, and loss of certain funds for one phase of a program for special needs students.

Authorization was granted for the public sale of the four acre site of the old Everetts School. The building on that site has already been demolished.

A 1977-1978 budget proposal, subject to last minute revisions, was given tentative approval. The proposed budget calls for $1,824,423 in current expense — an increase of about 8.5 per cent over last year's budget; and a capital outlay proposal for $703,683.

Mrs. Betty Sue Davis was appointed to the Williamston Local Advisory Board, succeeding Frankie Chesson.

Quota, Support Rules Changed

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced two changes in marketing quota and price support regulations of the flue-cured tobacco program. The amount that can be transferred from a farm after June 14 cannot exceed the expected production less the actual tobacco produced on the farm. Previously, a producer could lease out quota equal to the difference between expected production on the total allotment and production on planted acres.

The maximum amount that can be transferred to a farm after June 14 is the pounds produced in excess of the farm effective quota. Previously, there was no limit on the amount of quota a producing farm could receive through lease. June 14 is used as a cut-off date because of limiting factors in current legislation.

Under the second change, a farm will be eligible for price support if its reported acreage planted to flue-cured tobacco does not exceed 110 per cent of the farm allotment. A farm on which the planted acreage exceeds 110 per cent of the allotment will receive a marketing card indicating no price support. Marketing cards, issued by USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service stipulate what quantity of tobacco a producer may sell without penalty and indicate a producer's eligibility for price support. Under previous regulations, price support was made available without regard to planted acreage.

that further reading of the bill be suspended," is one of the most common requests heard in congressional committee sessions and during floor debates.

"There being no objection, so ordered," usually is the response of the presiding officer.

Without such unanimous consent agreements, untold hours would be spent reading every bill and amendment before it was voted upon. There wouldn't be enough hours in the year for all that reading.

During a recent House committee session on the Clean Air Act, Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., asked for unanimous consent to waive reading of the amendment he had offered.

"I object," shouted Rep. Charles J. Carney, D-Ohio.

As the clerk began reading the Dingell amendment, another committee member leaned over to Carney and asked, "Why did you do it?"

"Because I don't like Dingell, that's why," responded Carney.

Policy Changes By Martin Bd.

WILLIAMSTON — Three resolutions dealing with far-reaching policy matters were approved at the May meeting of the Martin County Commissioners on Monday.

On the matter of Senate Bill 234, a state bill that would take child support payments from the jurisdiction of the Clerk of Court and place it with the Social Services Department, commissioners went on record opposing the bill. In their resolution, commissioners pointed out the change would make it necessary to hire more additional employees for the Social Services staff, and would also throw an additional burden on the court system.

A second resolution supports the concept of having the Mid-East Commission sponsor funds earmarked for the CEDA program. Currently the state sponsors the funds directly. Commissioners feel Mid-East sponsorship would result in savings of funds and a more direct arrangement for requests of funds.

In a third resolution, commissioners endorsed a request to contact Weyerhaeuser Corporation relative to a substantial grant to underwrite a computer system that would be used by agencies of the six-county area incorporated into the Alliance for Progress area.

In other actions, commissioners:

— Heard a delegation from Bear Grass express concern over the action of one member of the county's recreation commission. The delegation complained that this member singlehandedly ruled on use of recreation funds. Commissioners agreed to look into the complaint and to see what could be done if it was a matter of over-delegation of authority.

— A request from citizens of the Darden community that action be taken to install toilet facilities in the community club house is being taken under advisement. The facility is used twice monthly by a task force of the Social Services Department. Commissioners agreed that if county funds can legally be used for this purpose, they will provide funds for the toilet facilities.

— A resolution of termination of the services of Talbert and Associates of Wilmington was passed. The firm has completed everything contracted for at the county airport.

— Marshall C. Wilson was appointed for a three year term to the Social Services Board; and four members were reappointed to the Airport Commission — E. N. Harrell, Jr., J. W. Willis, Bobby Clark, and Dr. W. H. Gray, Jr.

— A resolution to be sent to the state legislature seeks permission to sell without public auction a 25 foot strip of land at the old Williamston Elementary School site to the Methodist Church adjoining the property.

All-Electric Doll Houses

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — For $5,000 Jerry LaBaron will sell you an all-electric dollhouse. For another $2,500 he'll sell you the furniture to go with it.

Don't scoff. The dollhouse business is booming and LeBaron's says its the third fastest growing hobby in the world, trailing only stamp and coin collecting.

LeBaron, owner of a Portland, Ore., shop which specializes in dollhouses and miniature furnishings, said at a recent workshop that his dollhouses range in price from $19.95 to $5,000.

"The $5,000 house is unfurnished but completely electric," he said. "I expect to be able to sell another $2,500 in furniture for this model."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued Monday's late upturn today, advancing broadly in brisk trading.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.65 at 934.87, after a 4.32-point rise Monday.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Big Board volume totaled 5.62 billion shares in the first hour.

Analysts said buying had been encouraged by the market's steady showing last week in the face of signs that the Federal Reserve had begun a slight tightening of its credit policy.

Remarks by Arthur F. Burns, the Fed's chairman, to a Senate committee this morning appeared to go pretty much according to Wall Street's expectations.

Burns said the central bank had reduced its target growth rates for two broad measures of the money supply a bit in its continuing campaign to check inflation.

Taxco was the most active NYSE issue, up 1/4 at 27. A 100,000-share block traded at 26 1/4.

Boeing rose 1/2 to 50. On Monday the company reported an 86 per cent increase in its first quarter earnings.

The 11 a.m. NYSE composite index was up .18 at 54.11.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .19 to 112.99.

Viets And U.S. Begin Parleys

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The U.S. and Vietnamese governments were reported expecting speedy agreement as they opened talks today on establishment of diplomatic relations.

"The talks won't drag on," said one diplomatic source. Richard Holbrooke, the assistant secretary of state for Southeast Asian affairs, and Vice Foreign Minister Phan Hien led the two delegations at the first meeting in the gleaming white pagoda-shaped Vietnamese embassy which Premier Pham Van Dong opened recently.

Vietnamese spokesmen said the talks would continue at their embassy on Wednesday, move to the American embassy for two days, then shift every two days as long as they continued.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — While 1,414 anti-nuclear protesters are in custody at four state armories, New Hampshire is paying 'about 500 National Guardsmen $35 per man per day — or close to $20,000 daily to watch over them.

Then there's the yet-to-come food bill for the demonstrators, including catering service from Burger King for a fast-food dinner Monday night, from McDonald's for breakfast today, and for assorted other costs.

And not to mention the inconvenience to Guardsmen called from their higher-paying civilian jobs to active duty. In most cases, they do not draw their civilian pay, although some provisions are made by individual employers, according to Guard officials.

The protesters, most of them clued James Rosenthal, head of the State Department's Indochina desk; Frank Sieberts, the department's director for humanitarian affairs who is responsible for information on the nearly 2,000 Americans missing in action in Vietnam; Kenneth Quinn, special assistant to Holbrooke, and Mark Pratt, first secretary at the U.S. embassy.

Hien's Vietnamese delegation included Tran Quang Co, head of the Foreign Ministry's North American department, and Vu Quang Hoang, director of the ministry's department of consular affairs.

Hoang is also a member of the North Vietnamese Office for the Search for Information on Americans Missing in Action. That office was set up as a result of the visit to Hanoi two months ago of a special mission from President Carter seeking information on U.S. servicemen missing in the Vietnam War.

this week from HUD to begin advertising for the 111-unit housing project off Evans Street in Southside.

The Authority's director of tenant affairs, Mrs. Sallye Streeter, reported that due to two deaths and one family purchasing a new home, there were three vacancies in the housing developments during the month.

She said that average rents included: N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $56.23; N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park), $61.45; N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood), $63.66; N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood), $62.41; and N.C. 22-6 (Newtown), $58.29.

Mrs. Streeter said that the housing staff had finished inspections in 399 of the 531 units and most of the units were in good condition and requiring only general wear and tear repairs. The staff is still processing verifications for continued occupancy in the Newtown development, she added.

Commissioners agreed that the Police Department should be advised that motorists are not observing the "No Throughfare" signs on Third Street at the entrance to Moyewood. The dangers to children were cited as the main concern.

Report Test Near Perfect

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Doctors here say they have evaluated a new pregnancy test and found it to be nearly perfect.

The test was 99.5 per cent accurate in 544 cases evaluated over an 11-month period at Deaconess Hospital here.

Dr. Jack Lipps, chairman of obstetrics at the hospital, said the new blood test can confirm pregnancy in a woman as early as one day after menstruation was to have begun. The test also can indicate at that early date if the pregnancy is abnormal, he said.

The most accurate test now used is 98 per cent accurate, said Lipps, who is best-known for his invention of the Lipps Loop birth control device.

Like other pregnancy tests, the new one is based on the presence of a hormone called human Chorionic Gonadotropin. The hormone is produced by the placenta beginning early in pregnancy.

The test uses chemically modified antibodies to produce a quantitative analysis of hCG in the patient's blood, Lipps said. It is based on the work of Dr. Om P. Bahl, chairman of department of cell molecular biology at the State University at Buffalo. Bahl first isolated and purified the hCG molecule in 1972.

Bahl said the test should be widely available in the United States in less than a year. He and his colleagues are negotiating with pharmaceutical companies to put the test into commercial production.

in their 20s, were arrested and arraigned on charges of criminal trespassing, a misdemeanor, after refusing to end a peaceful weekend camp-in at the construction site of the Seabrook Nuclear power plant, about 50 miles east of this state capital.

They declined to post bail, which ranged from $100 to $500. The explanation for the colossal housekeeping headache is that this small state, with a population of less than one million, does not have jail facilities for confinement of such a large group at one time.

Court authorities say hearings will be held as soon as they can be arranged. Robin Read, a spokesman for the Clamshell Alliance, which sponsored the demonstration, said the protesters plan to remain in custody until court hearings have been completed.

The demonstrators were being confined Monday night in the drill sheds of the armories, which are assembly halls used also for athletics and recreation. Some of the protesters were observed exercising.

There are no cots available, so the young men and women used sleeping bags.

"Most of these people, when they moved into Seabrook, came well prepared with sleeping bags, blankets and tents," said Maj. Chris C. Agrafiotis, 42, the Guard's director of military support. "At the time of their arrest, they were allowed to bring all of their gear with them so they are well prepared to stay the night and any number of nights."

An Associated Press newsmen who went to the Concord Armory Monday night was not permitted to enter the 100-foot-long by 60-foot-wide assembly hall where nearly 300 of the demonstrators were being kept. The newsmen was permitted to observe the group from a large window on the second floor, but no photographs were allowed.

Some of the protesters were clustered in a large circle, while others milled about in small groups.

"There are no armed guards, there are no weapons and there won't be," said Agrafiotis. "It was the governor's wish that this be a peaceful operation."

The group assured us from the beginning that this would be a peaceful operation. The governor took them at their word. We're playing by their rules. We're being just as peaceful as they are."

Jaguars Seek ECC Track Title

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
Farmville Central has a chance to really make itself heard in the Eastern Carolina Conference this week. The baseball Jaguars have two important games that could move them into a tie for second place in the league and the track team will be one of the favorites in the ECC track championships being held at Farmville Central Thursday.

In baseball, the Jaguars are currently in third place with a 6-3 conference record behind C. B. Aycock (8-1) and Greene Central (8-2). The Jaguars could tie the Rams this week, however, as they lead off with North Lenoir on Tuesday and then take on Greene Central Friday.

A win on both days will set them up for next Tuesday's date with Aycock at Farmville.

The Jaguars got off to a slow start this year" according to coach Lynwood Woodard, but have been pulling things together lately.

"I'm a little disappointed in the fact that we lost several big games in the beginning of the season, but we are playing more together now. We weren't playing together at the start of the year," Woodard said.

Farmville's defense has improved greatly since those first games, the pitchers are doing an "adequate" job and the team is starting to hit the ball better, lately, Woodard said.

The play of the defense especially pleases the Jaguar coach because that is what was causing many of the problems earlier. The Jaguars outdid C. B. Aycock in an earlier loss, but committed nine errors in the contest.

"Defensively, we are playing about as good as we can play. If we can hit the ball and get some pitching, I feel like we will be O.K.," Farmville has defeated North Lenoir once this season, but Woodard said the Hawks are "the type of team that can surprise you."

North Lenoir is a "real capable team" and usually plays loosely, Woodard said, adding he hopes the Jaguars can "put some pressure on them and force them to make mistakes."

Greene Central, although boasting a superior record, is "kind of sporadic, — like us," Woodard said. "I imagine they'll throw (Donald) Holloman. He's their best pitcher and he can be tough."

The Rams have won most of their games on a big inning and are not real consistent, according to Woodard. Their defense can be real good and it can be bad. They committed nine errors in one game, Woodard said.

"It's going to be a good, tough game," according to Woodard.

On Friday, North Pitt is at Conley, Greene Central is at Farmville Central, C. B. Aycock is at Ayden-Grifton, Pantego is at Jameville, Washington is at Williamston, North Johnston is at Roanoke and Bear Grass is at Bath.

North Pitt travels to C. B. Aycock Saturday and Roanoke is at Jameville.

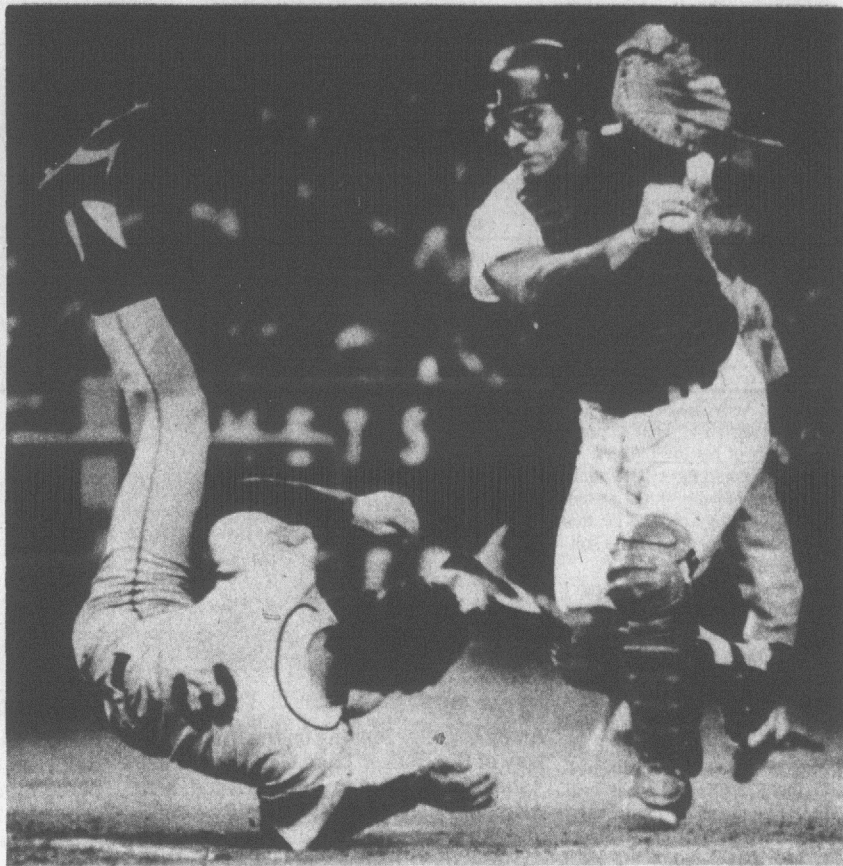

Today's softball sees Ayden-Grifton at Greene Central, Southern Nash at D. H. Conley, Ridgecroft at Martin, at Williamston at North Pitt. Wednesday, Jameville is at Belhaven and Roanoke is at Elm City.

Greene Central is at C. B. Aycock Thursday, Williamston travels to Washington, Ayden-Grifton to North Lenoir and North Pitt to Southern Nash.

Jameville is at Matamoras and North Edgecombe at Roanoke on Monday.

Tennis action sees Ahoskie at Williamston and Plymouth at Roanoke today. Friday is the date for the Northeastern Conference and ECC tournaments.

The girls' sectionals track meet is also on Friday.

Blistering Blazers Dump Nuggets, 108-92

By BOB BAUM
Associated Press Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A year ago, Johnny Davis was a little-known college junior and the Portland Trail Blazers had failed to make the National Basketball Association playoffs for the sixth straight season.

Monday night, Davis was the hero as the Blazers eliminated the Denver Nuggets from post-season play.

The 108-92 blitz was Portland's first lopsided victory in nine playoff games, and moves the Blazers into the Western Conference finals against the winner of the Golden State-Los Angeles series.

The conference finals begin Friday night, in Los Angeles if the Lakers advance and in Portland if the Warriors beat the Lakers.

The Warriors-Lakers set will be decided Wednesday night, when the teams meet at the Forum in Los Angeles in the seventh game of their series.

The home team has won each of the games so far, but the Warriors feel they can stop that trend. "When they've beaten us at the Forum, it's been like a velvet hammer," said Warriors forward Jamaal Wilkes.

"They've beaten us, but not by much."

Meanwhile, Philadelphia and Houston enjoy a breather as they await the start of their series for the Eastern Conference championship. That series opens Thursday night in Philadelphia.

"We were waiting to really play our game in this series, and this was it," said Portland Coach Jack Ramsay. "We were the aggressors tonight. We weren't yesterday."

Davis hit 10 of 14 from the field, including a pair of back-to-back howitzers from at least 20 feet out in the third period. The 6-foot-2, 22-year-old guard led all scorers with 25 points.

Guard Lionel Hollins had six assists and added 21 points, including a 40-footer at the first-quarter buzzer that gave Portland a 33-16 lead. Larry Steele came off the bench to score 14 points, 12 in the first half.

Walton's eight-foot hook shot gave Portland a 60-38 lead with 2:08 left in the first half. The Blazers led 62-45 at halftime.

Twice the Blazers led by as many as 25 points, the last time at 92-67 on Walton's 10-foot bank shot with 8:31 remaining in the game.

Denver, behind the play of 7-foot-1 Marvin Webster, closed within 99-88 with 1:46 left in the game.

But Davis hit his second straight basket the short-lived threat disappeared.

David Thompson, who sank just six of 14 field goal tries, led the Nuggets with 17 points. Dan Issel added 14 and Webster 13, nine in the final quarter.

Pirates Ask Host Baseball

East Carolina University will formally present a bid to host the NCAA Regional Baseball Tournament, officials of the university said today.

The tournament is scheduled to begin on May 20. It will involve East Carolina, the Southern Conference champion, along with Wake Forest, the Atlantic Coast Conference winner. Two other at-large teams, yet to be named, will also be in the field. The winner of the double-elimination tournament will advance to the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska.

Athletic Director Bill Cain said that East Carolina would make a presentation to the NCAA district committee, which picks the site of the tournament, sometime this week. It is expected that the committee will then pick the site, announcing its choice early next week.

Wake Forest is also believed to be making a bid to host the event.

If East Carolina were to be successful in its bid, it would mark the first time that the school has hosted an NCAA competition. It once hosted the AAU Short Course Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships.

ACC Tells Tech 'No' Admission

By The Associated Press
Virginia Polytechnic Institute President Dr. William E. Lavery said he was "very disappointed" Monday when the Atlantic Coast Conference voted not to admit his school to the league.

But Lavery said he was glad the suspense was over.

"We're very disappointed that the ACC didn't choose to expand at this time because we would have liked to have been part of a good league in our geographical area," Lavery said from Blacksburg, Va.

"We're very glad that the air has been cleared on these deliberations and we trust that we'll continue to enjoy the same good relations we've had with the ACC collectively and with its individual members over many years," he said.

VPI, a major independent, competes with ACC schools in several sports.

Streaking Braves Going Wrong Way

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves are on a streak — only it's going the wrong way.

"We are not going to panic," Manager Dave Bristol said Monday night after the Braves lost their ninth straight game, an 11-1 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

One can sympathize with Bristol. His team has not only been beaten or late, but embarrassed by lopsided scores.

"He isn't going with a full deck out there," said Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner, alluding to the absence of outfielder Gary Matthews, infielder Willie Montanez and pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dick Ruthven. "That's probably four of his top players."

Bristol could have used some of them Monday night, especially the pitchers. The Pirates hit four home runs off the soft-touch Atlanta staff.

While their pitchers weren't pitching, their hitters weren't hitting. Pittsburgh right-hander Bruce Kison had something to do with that, of course, firing a three-hitter.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds edged the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2; the San Diego Padres beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 and the Los Angeles Dodgers turned back the New York Mets 3-1.

In the American League, the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 3-1; the Oakland A's whipped the Baltimore Orioles 2-0 and the Kansas City Royals downed the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Ed Ott drove in three runs with a single and a homer and Willie Stargell, Omar Moreno and Fernando Gonzalez also homered for the Pirates, who won their eighth game in their last nine starts.

speed," Smith said. "He's shown the most improvement of any player I've ever had."

"He's our team leader as far as offense goes."

Hemingway is also a good student and does a number of things for the school, Smith said. He did the announcing and ran the concession stand at the football games after his injury this season.

Hemingway said he plans to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill this fall and hopes to enter the school of pharmacy.

"As much as I enjoy baseball," he said, "I wish I could play in college, but I really don't have the arm."

He said he plans to play senior Babe Ruth league ball this summer and may give junior varsity baseball a try at college next year, depending on his studying situation.

It takes time to make a great bourbon.

Making a good bourbon takes time. Making a great bourbon takes extra time. Time spent in charred oak barrels that imparts extra bouquet, mellowness and flavor.

Some bourbons are aged longer than others. Only a few like Ancient Age are in the barrel a full ten years.

The extra years change Ancient Age from a good bourbon to a great one.

It isn't easy to make. That's why it's so easy to enjoy.

Moneywise: Kids Are A Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most parents don't expect to gain economic benefits or security from their children, a researcher says. And that's a good thing, because from a financial point of view, kids are a loss.

It costs a middle-income family $53,605 to raise a child to age 18 and a total of $64,215 to raise the child and put him or her through four years of college at a state university, according to Thomas J. Espenshade, an associate professor of economics at Florida State University.

That's in direct costs, including food, clothing, peanut butter, bandaids and everything else.

It doesn't include the $107,000 in "lost" earnings if the mother in a middle-income family gives up a part-time job to stay home with the child until age 14.

The costs are a little less steep for low-income families: $35,261 to raise a child to age 18 and a total of $44,156 to send the child to a four-year public college.

Espenshade's estimates are based on Department of Agriculture data and 1977 prices. Middle-income is defined as a family with income between $16,500 and $30,000 a year after taxes. A low-income family needs between $10,500 and $13,500 after taxes.

Espenshade's report, "The Value and Cost of Children," was published in the April bulletin of the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., a Washington-based research organization.

In a study of several hundred couples in Hawaii, Espenshade found that 94 per cent of the white middle-class parents "said they did not expect to rely at all on their children in old age." And 73 per cent of the white lower-income parents gave the same response.

Asked about the advantages of children, nearly three-quarters of the parents cited happiness, love and companionship. More than half also pointed to their own personal development and child rearing satisfactions.

Asked to list disadvantages, 71 per cent cited restrictions on other activities, 59 per cent cited emotional costs and 46 per cent cited financial costs. In each instance, the middle-income parents "were proportionately more likely to see these as disadvantages."

Espenshade said the first child is the most expensive to raise, costing roughly twice as much as the second or the third.

The first child is more expensive because parents may buy a larger house, and they also buy nursery equipment, toys, and clothes used by succeeding children.

His cost estimates are up more than 60 per cent from a 1969 study that pegged the cost of raising a child through college at $39,924 for the middle-income family and $27,109 for the low-income one.

The biggest expense in child-raising is housing, which accounts for 32.3 per cent. Food is 24.3 per cent; transportation 16.1 per cent; clothing 9.5 per cent; medical expenses 5.3 per cent; education 1.5 per cent and all other expenses 11 per cent.

He also noted that one study predicts that by the 1990s, when today's infants will be ready for college, the cost for four years at a state university will be $47,330 and $82,830 at a private university.

The winners were as follows: First place—Scott Thompson, Jay Mattox, Lara Perry, Rusty Barnes, Betsy Kane, Joseph Rayle and Martha Richardson.

Third place—Steven Bell, Jarvis Grooms, Thomas and Gil Gardner, Kevin Baker, Maria

Kelly, Krissy Hall and Beth Winchester.

The chief coordinator of this year's fair at South Greenville was Mrs. Anne Davis, enrichment teacher at the school. Judges were Paul Waldrop, Wendie Allen and Darryl Davis.

KIRBY ARRAIGNED — Clad in jail denims, comedian-impersonator George Kirby bows his head to avoid photographers Monday as he entered the federal building in Las Vegas for arraignment on charges of trying to sell about a pound of heroin to an undercover agent. Kirby was later released on bond. (AP Wirephoto)

EXECUTIVE KILLED KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Edward N. Cole, retired General Motors president who designed the ill-fated Corvair and was an advocate of air bags and rotary engines, died in a plane crash Monday. He was 67.

WEATHER FORECAST—Showers are forecast today from the Southwest to the northern Plains. Showers are also due from the Midwest to the Carolinas and for most of Florida. Weather is expected to be cool for the Northeast and warm elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

By The Associated Press
A cold front is approaching North Carolina and will bring scattered showers and some thundershowers in the northeast counties today. Little change in weather is expected for the next two days across the state.

Early today high clouds covered most of the state with some areas of low clouds. Spotty fog was reported in several areas, but overall temperatures were mild, in the low 50s to low 60s. There was practically no wind over the state.

High temperatures Monday generally were in the 70s. The highest station reporting was Fayetteville with a 82 degrees mark.
Today's outlook calls for fair weather with some scattered showers through Wednesday. Weekend weather will be much the same, with some change in temperatures. Winds will remain light except for some gusty winds in a near isolated thundershowers.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Public school teachers could serve on local boards of education, but not the boards for which they work, under a bill tentatively approved Monday night by the Senate.

Introduced in response to a recent court ruling, the bill would amend state law, which prohibits teachers from serving on any local school boards.
"In a superior court of North Carolina it was ruled that a person who was a school teacher could serve on a school board so long as it was not the one by which he was employed," said Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green after some senators got bogged down in a confusing debate.

The bill includes any person employed by the boards of education, not only teachers. They could seek election while employed, but would have to quit their jobs before taking a board seat.
The measure passed 27-17 on second reading, but final action was delayed until Tuesday.
In other legislative action Monday night:

CHINA
A resolution encouraging the United States to continue diplomatic relations with the Republic of China was introduced in the Senate. But its sponsor, Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, said he wished he had read it more carefully first. The measure directs that copies be sent to the President, Secretary of State, the ambassador from the republic, and members of Congress from Georgia — not North Carolina.

That was a mistake, said Henley, even though officials from that state might have influence with the President. "I'm sure they copied that from a Georgia bill and forgot to change it," said Henley.
Henley said he introduced the bill at Green's suggestion and received his draft from Green's chief counsel, Sam Johnson.

CONSUMERS
A bill called the "Consumer Protection Act of 1977" by its sponsors was introduced in the Senate. The bill would declare illegal any unfair, unethical, deceptive or fraudulent business activities, and would instruct courts to follow Federal Trade Commission rulings.
Fines of up to $5,000 could be levied for violations. The bill was sponsored by Sen. Harold Harrison, D-Lenoir.

UNC
New legislation included two bills that would make 70 a mandatory retirement age for University of North Carolina Board of Governors members and provide for the filling of vacancies on the board.

The measure was sponsored by Sen. John Winters, D-Wake, a former board member. In the event of a vacancy, the governor would appoint a replacement to serve until he could be confirmed or rejected by the next General Assembly session.

Book Report Winners Named

W. H. Robinson Primary Reading Lab teacher, Althea Weathington and her assistant, Betty Lou Brock, have announced the following book report winners for the fifth six-weeks period: Bears class, Donald Smith; Cougars, Major Best and Tommy Blatt; Giants, Sharon Jones; Lions, Angela Tyson; Pirates, Robert Richardson; and Tigers, Kenneth Murphy.

REGISTRATION
Students in the Pactulus Elementary School area who have not been registered for kindergarten should do so before June 1, 1977. Parents should take birth certificates and immunization records to the registration which will be held at the school.

Teach Drivers With Clarity

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — There have been no serious accidents or injuries in Jack Smith's 31 years as a driving instructor and he admits that fate has been kind.
His students have stalled cars in the paths of oncoming trucks, zoomed the wrong way down one-way streets and even stopped in the middle of traffic to break down in tears.
But through it all, Smith, 65, has remained composed.
"It used to be a mental and physical task, but now it's all mental," he said.

His techniques have remained the same over the years, he said — be soft-spoken and encouraging and don't create competition between students.
For his years of service in Forsyth County, Smith was honored recently by the N.C. Driver and Traffic Safety Education Association.
Experience is often a harsh teacher and Smith said he learned an important lesson years ago — speak with clarity.
A young woman student driver approached an intersection from the left turn lane and sought confirmation for her next move.
"Do I turn left?" she asked.
"Right," Smith replied.
The young student obediently veered across two lanes of traffic, turned right and rocketed the wrong way up a one-way street.
"There was no traffic in sight. That saved the day," Smith said. "Now I just say 'affirmative' or 'negative.'"

Nursery School Has Openings

The Lutheran Church Nursery School announces there are still openings for both boys and girls in the four-year-old program for fall 1977-78.
The four-year-old class meets from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The curriculum is designed to provide the child with learning experiences through arts, music, drama, field trips, reading, creative play and physical activity.
Further information and applications may be obtained from the church during school hours or by contacting the co-directors, Mrs. Mary Muzarelli, 758-5612, and Mrs. Sheila Kupec, 756-6522.

Solicitation Requests OK'd

Two requests for solicitation permits were approved by City Manager Jim Caldwell.
Caldwell reported that approval was given to a request by the Greenville Host Lions Club for permission to conduct its annual broom sale door-to-door from May 2 through May 13 from 6-9 p.m.
The Lions Club request was submitted by Dr. Melvin J. Williams.
The request of the Church of God of Prophecy for permission to sell doughnuts door-to-door on April 30 was also approved.
The request was submitted by the Rev. G. O. Langley.

Arrest Youth On Larceny Count

Chief Glenn Cannon reported today that John Kenneth Nobles, 16 of 521 Roundtree Dr. was arrested yesterday on larceny charges.
According to the chief, Nobles was charged in connection with an incident at the Extended School Program center April 15.

Adding a new room to your home costs several thousand dollars, but it could be well worth it, since it can increase the value of your home. Helping you with home improvements is just part of 'Cash-Flow' Banking, and it all begins with a booklet fitting your situation, which is yours for the asking. Stop in at any NCNB office, or call 800-822-8855 and we'll send you a copy.

If you're like most people, your home is your biggest investment. All told, you've got thousands upon thousands of dollars involved. And, since you've got so much in it, it makes sense to improve on your investment. (It can also be much more economical than moving.)
Maybe your house needs repairs. Maybe you need another room. Considering the winter we had, maybe you should improve your insulation and add storm windows to hold down utility bills.
Here's an idea of some costs.

FIXING UP YOUR HOME: WHAT IT COSTS
Remodel Bathroom	$1,000-$3,000
Remodel Kitchen	$3,000-$6,000
Adding a 12 x 15 Room	$6,000-$8,000
12 x 18 Patio	$1,500-$2,000
Attached Garage, 12 x 24	$2,500-$5,000
Replace Plumbing Pipes	$1,000-$2,000
Replace Furnace	$700-$1,500
Attic Insulation	$250-$500
Storm Windows	$20-$40 each
New Roof	$1,000-$1,500
Enclose Side Porch, 8 x 15	$1,800-$3,000

The range of prices depends on the extent of the job you want done. Estimates are for finished job, including labor. These are average figures; the location, size and age of your house might mean higher or lower estimates.

Any of these improvements can pay off in your home's increased value, and, at NCNB, we'll be happy to help with the money you need.

Because, as a homeowner, you've proven that you know how to handle credit. So come see us.

Let's talk over what you want to do, and the best way of doing it.

It could be a Personal Loan, or it may be an NCNB Homeowner Loan, with lower monthly payments, over a longer period.

Either way, the people who make loans at NCNB will work with you to help improve the investment you have in your home.

After all, that's the basic idea of 'Cash-Flow' Banking: information, services and people to help you in making the most of the money you make. And the money you borrow.

for SX-70 pictures.

Now less than ever before

SX-70 picture-taking costs less than ever before with Polaroid's Pronto! Now you can have the same SX-70 excitement of watching a hard, dry color picture develop in minutes before your eyes — at a new low price.

And it couldn't be simpler to use. Just slip in a 10-shot SX-70 film pack. Estimate the distance (3' to infinity outdoors, 3' to 12' with flash) Frame. Press the red button. And there's your picture.

This is Polaroid's Pronto! It fits comfortably in the palm of your hand. Hangs easily around your neck. Weighs only 16 ounces. Takes beautiful color pictures indoors (with convenient 10-shot FlashBar), or out. Pronto! Come see it demonstrated today!
