On the afternoon of Jan. 4, 1916 there was a call meeting of the Edgar Allan Poe Society.

There was a report from the debating committee. The query decided upon was: Resolved: "That the Federal Gov. should own and operate the railroads of the United States". The names of the girls who had been recommended by the faculty for the debators were read but because of the fact that only about one third of the society was present the girls were not elected.

The Sec. was requested to send the Lanivs the challenge for a debate.

As there was no further business the meeting adjourned.
