On the evening of April 27, 1918 the regular business meeting of the Edgar Allen Poe Society was held.

The meeting was called to order by the new president.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

This was the night for the election of the assistant editor of the Quarterly, but because of the fact that so many of the girls wanted to go to a speaking this was left over until next meeting.

A committee of the following girls was appointed to meet with the faculty advisory com. and nominate some girls for the assistant editor.

Daisy Fugua
Ethel Stanfield.

The president told the flower committee to look out for something else to plant in our bed for next summer and fall.

There was a report from the committee on the entertainment of the Laniers

A motion was made and carried to the effect that the members who, at the last meeting were in bad standing because they had not paid their dues but who have now paid them be reinstated to good standing.

There was no further business so the meeting was turned over to the program com. and a delightful program was enjoyed by all present
