There was a regular business meeting of the E. A. P. Literary Society in the Y. W. C. A. hall on Jan. 14, 1922. Two new members were admitted to the society. The minutes were read and approved and the roll was called.

Miss Hicks reported that she didn't have any success in getting the society paper here in Greenville. After a short discussion it was moved by Miss Bell and seconded by Miss Walkup that we some society stationery printed in red. This motion was carried.

It was moved, seconded, and passed that we write some company and find out what kind of stationery they had and decide what kind we liked best.

The chairman of the flower bed committee reported that she had sent off some of the flowers and had them examined. She said the company stated what the disease was and how to cure it. also that Mr. Austin had promised to have the flowers treated.

The treasurer reported that a few had not paid their dues and for them to see her and pay them. The program consisted of an open forum debate which was very interesting. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.
