was passed by the society.

Miss Hicks reported that since we had ordered a large amount of society stationery the company would make the die free for putting the seal on our paper.

Miss Julia Taylor, our last year's president, has paid her dues of $1.00 and is still an active member of our society.

An interesting debate made up the program. It was, Resolved, That East Carolina Teachers' college should be a co-ed school.

Misses Hilda Duke and Minnie Swann were elected cheer leaders. They were urged by the president to get to work on some songs for the coming debate.

The critic made a few suggestions as to debating, and a few corrections in English. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

A call meeting of the Poe society was held in room II, Feb. 15, 1922 for the purpose of dividing the society in groups to go to different rooms to hear the girls debate on different subjects. This plan saved time and had several groups of girls debating at the same time. It was decided that this plan would be carried out at other times in order to give the girls more practice in debating.
