Dr. J. F. Baldwin, of Columbus, O., the originator of the main features of this table, writes:

"I am perfectly delighted with the Baldwin Table. This table is manufactured by quite a number of firms in this country, and I have seen quite a variety of tables sold under the Baldwin name, but this table of yours is certainly, in its workmanship, the best I have yet seen. You seem to have the exact idea of what is wanted, and have carried it out to perfection.

Dr. Hall's suggestion, in regard to the rounded angle for the popliteal space, is an excellent one and adds materially to the value of the table.

With kindest regards,

Very truly yours,
J. F. BALDWIN."

Dr. R. B. Hall, of Cincinnati, writes:

"I have used the Baldwin Operating Table since it was invented, and had the second table manufactured. I have now in my hospital an improved Baldwin Table, which you made for me, and call the Hall-Baldwin, and am well pleased with it in every respect. It is an ideal table for gynæcological work. The workmanship is first class, and has no cog wheels or ratchets to get out of repair. Anyone who wishes a table for the Trendelenberg position, as well as general surgical work, would be delighted with it.

Very truly yours, RUFUS B. HALL."

Dr. L. S. McMurtry, of Louisville, Ky., writes:

"Several surgeons visiting my hospital have examined the table and expressed enthusiastic appreciation of its superior advantages. I shall be pleased to refer all interested to you.

Very truly yours, L. S. McMURTRY."
