Mr. Sutton Surrenders the Key.

Some gentlemen were discussing that frozen bird yarn in yesterday's REFLECTOR, when Mr. W. H. Harrington said it reminded him of one that was told him: A man threw a lightwood knot on the fire and when it got to blazing up well he warmed himself and went off to bed. Upon getting up next morning he found the blaze standing up the chimney frozen stiff.

The ground hog has for a week been furnishing his annual quota of items to the papers. If that hog rooted up all this bad weather he ought to be turned into pork, and that while the weather is cold enough to keep him from pilin'.

THE LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY.

Both houses in session only about an hour, adjournment being taken to attend the laying of the corner stone to the L. L. Polk monument.

The only bill of general interest passed in the Senate were to amend the code of Civil Procedure so that title to office may be tried without consent of the Attorney General, and to reduce salary of Railroad Commissioners from $2,000 to $1,500.

In the House a few bills of minor importance were introduced and the remainder of the time taken up in discussing the public printing bill, which finally passed third reading with an amendment that party to whom the printing is awarded must give a $5,000 bond.

STATE NEWS.
