

Working the Roads.

The Board of Directors of the county of Durham, having in charge the working of the roads, makes a report for the three months ending December 1st, that shows the work has been done with a saving to the county where the convicts were used. In cash values it is represented as follows: The convict labor, at 65 cents a day, upon which amount board is deducted, for the three months named, amounted to $1,544.00. The total expenses, including clothing and feed for convicts, guards and keeping up tools, were $755.30, leaving a money value to the credit of the county of $778.70. This looks as if the convict system of working will pay where it is managed right.—Durham Sun.

North Carolina must not fail to be well represented in its tobacco exhibits in the great show of 1895 at Atlanta. It is a positive fact that the best, finest, brightest and richest tobacco grown on this continent is produced in North Carolina. If the best farmers of the best tobacco growing counties will send their very best samples to Atlanta and the committee to judge deals fairly, North Carolina will get the prize or whatever is offered. Do not neglect to send the richest, most oily bright and finest "gold leaf" raised this year. Do not neglect the opportunity but improve it. Advertise the State. It will be a fine occasion and a great exhibit. The North will be at Atlanta.—Wilmington Messenger.

The Supreme Court of North Carolina has rendered a very important decision with reference to building and loan associations. It is held that when a mortgage is foreclosed that a stockholder does not forfeit his stock and that in a foreclosure credits should be given for payments upon stock; or, if this is not done and the mortgage is satisfied from the proceeds of a sale, the stock remains the property of the borrower.
