Faces Caught as They Passed Before the Reflector.

Dr. R. L. Carr has returned from Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hines returned home last night.

Miss Carrie Dail, of Snow Hill, is visiting Mrs. R. W. King.

Mrs. John Pierce, of Ayden, is visiting Mrs. Emily Harris.

Messrs A. Ward and J. T. Ward of Bethel, spent last night here.

Mr. A. B. Ellington has moved into the Perkins house on Fourth street.

Mr. J. S. Jenkins left this morning for Danville to spend a few days.

Mr. F. M. Hodges has returned from a holiday visit to Washington and Tarboro.

Mr. N. H. Whitfield has returned from Oxford where he went to spend the holidays.

Miss Chatty Atkinson took the train here this morning returning to her home near Goldsboro.

Mrs. C. J. Woodson and children, who were visiting at Col. Harry Skinner's left this morning.

Mr. J. R. Cory has moved back from Ayden to Greenville and will again open his harness shop here.

Mr. C. T. Munford has returned from his visit to Wilson. Mrs. Munford remains a few days longer with relatives.

Miss Connie Checkley, of Rocky Mount, who was visiting her sister at the Female Institute left for home this morning.

Cotton 4½ to day.

Granulated Sugar 5 cents a pound, and Seedless Raisins at Old Brick Store.

We overlooked changing the price of eggs in the Norfolk market reports on second page. They are worth 16 to 18 cents.

You can still get Dry Goods and Clothing at bottom prices at C. T. Munford's.

LITTLE BITS:

Cream of Local News Boiled Down for Busy Folks.

Whew! ain't it cold!

The blizzard seems to have struck us with a vim.

We got just a few flakes of fine snow here yesterday.

The thermometer in front of J. B. Cherry & Co's store was down to 12 this morning.

The train was an hour late again last night, caused by having to wait for the main line trains.

This market and Washington have both been bare of oysters the last few days and orders had to be sent to Norfolk for them. The bad weather may keep them scarce for some days longer.

Light A-Coming.

The lamp-smasher must have been getting in his work all over town, or else the lighter was afraid to stick a match to the street lamps, as none of them were shining last night. But never mind, the moon will be getting in her work in a night or two, then there will be light. And we'd like to see the scamp, drunk or sober, who can smash Luna's globe with a stick.

It Was Fine.

We deem no apology necessary for giving so much space to-day to the account of the "Merry Milkmaids" last night, even to the exclusion of other matter. Every reader of the DAILY REFLECTOR had a daughter, son, sister, brother, sweetheart or friend in the operetta, and nothing will be more interesting than to read about it. Besides, it deserves every line given it.

Suing for the Offices.

On Friday afternoon W. H. Harrington and J. A. Thigpen, who were elected by the Populists as Sheriff and Treasurer and whose official bonds were rejected by the Board of County Commissioners, had summons served on the Commissioners to appear before the Superior Court which convenes on the first Monday in January and show cause why the said bonds should not be accepted.

Family Reunion.

There was an enjoyable family reunion and dining at the home of Mr. J. B. Johnson, Sr., Friday afternoon. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and their son Mr. J. B. Johnson, Jr., there were present three sisters of Mrs. Johnson, namely, Mrs. M. A. Bernard, Mrs. E. S. Greene and Miss Hannah Smith, also the children of the two first named, Mr. W. S. and Miss Mary Bernard, Messrs. Robert, W. B., J. C., Edward and Misses Belle and Betsy Greene, and an intimate friend of the family, Miss Lela Cherry. It was the first time they had all been together in many years, and the occasion was a happy one.
