Mr. Moody says the Legislature will probably adjourn by the 15th of February to which the people of North Carolina would say, amen.

Something must be going wrong at Raleigh, the Legislature has not turned out a Democrat and put in a Fusionist in two or three days.

There seems to be some delay in introducing the election law and the county government bill in the Legislature. It may be that some of the fellows won't agree.

It is now hoped that the Legislature will not disturb the State Guard further than to withdraw the five thousand dollars appropriated for the encampment.

Profanity.

Cowper wrote some lines about swearing, which it would be worth while for every one to learn:

"It chills my blood to hear the blest Supreme,
Rudely appealed to on every thrilling theme;

Maintain your rank, vulgarity despise—
To swear is neither brave nor wise."

"Some who would not swear by the name of God, think nothing of swearing 'By George,' or 'By jingo,' or by something else; others cry out, 'Good Gracious!' or 'Mercy on me!' and the like. These are the beginning of swearing. They are to profane swearing what acorns are to the oak.

Our Savior said when on earth: "Let your yea be yea, and your nay, nay; for whosoever is more than this, cometh of evil." This means that we should use plain, simple language. David had a short prayer to this point: "Set a watch; O, Lord! before my mouth; and keep the door of my lips."

The Piedmont Headlight, of Spartanburg, one of the "reform" papers of South Carolina, and, if we are not mistaken, an Alliance organ, has this paragraph in its last issue:

The national Alliance has certainly a jim-dandy president in Marion Butler, North Carolina. In order to get a seat in the Senate, he has made a trade with the Republicans to help them organize that body. We would like for Marion to tell us how he intends to mix Ocalaism with Republicanism? But it's offices and not principles, that these so-called People's leaders are after. Our farmers will never accomplish anything until they let leaders severely alone and begin to think for themselves.

If Col. Gantt, the editor of the Headlight, knew the Alliance leaders in North Carolina as we do, he would know that the reconciliation of Ocalaism and Republicanism is, to use a darkeyism, "the least of their studyment." They are just simply out for the dust, the are.—Charlotte Observer.

Mary M. Seely and Jason Hodges, of Provincetown, Cape Cod, were engaged to be married, for forty-three years. The engagement was broken last Thursday, because Jason pulled a corkscrew out of his pocket along with his handkerchief. Miss Seely says she is glad the discovery was made, because she had her suspicions for thirty-five years.—Orange (Va) Observer.

Time is money to busy people. Don't bother them. It is said that a big carpet manufacturer explained to some visitors that the reason he allowed nobody in the work-rooms was that every hand would be hindered at least five minutes and it amounted to a great deal in the aggregate. It is true of the individual as a great number of hands, that little hindrances count up considerable in the long run.

The Jackson, Miss., Clarion Ledger reports that one Mississippi farmer produced 300 bales of cotton on 300 acres at a cost of 2 1/2 cents per pound. That beats raising it in North Carolina.
