Losses to Lumbermen.

The high water in the river has caused several rafts of logs to break loose from their moorings and come down the stream. Saturday night a large raft lodged against the county dridge and had to be cut away Sunday to prevent damage to the bridge.

Ayden Items.

AYDEN, N. C., Mar. 23rd, 1895. The Carolina Christian College give an entertainment last night and is reported as being a very enjoyable occasion. Great many in attendance.

The town has been full of cotton buyers this week, and the stuff has been rolling in.

Misses Annie Brooks and Mary Harvey are visiting Mrs. J. B. Harvey.

Three of a Kind.

An exchange speaks of three of the most stingy men on record. The first will not drink as much water as he wants unless it comes from his neighbor's well. The second forbids his family to write anything but a small hand as it is a waste of ink to make large letters. The third stops the clock to save the wear and tear of machinery. They all refuse to take a newspaper on the ground that it is a terrible strain on their spectacles to read.

Mr. Allen Warren says he feels safe in saying that the cold weather of the last few days did not damage the fruit prospects at all.

More Robbers.

While the family of Mr. John Matthews were at church Sunday night some one went into his house on Washington street. The thief broke a sash in the blind to the front window, unlocked the blind, raised the sash and went in, closing the window after him. The thief was after money only and seemed to know where it was kept in the house, as nothing but the trunk in which Mr. Matthews kept his purse was disturbed and only the money was taken out the empty purse being left in the tray of the trunk and the trunk left open. The robber went out at one of the rear windows. Mr. Matthews says he does not know the exact amount of money that was in the purse, but it did not exceed $10.

Six ladies of Alexandria, Va., cowhided a man named J. E. Weiss for slandering them.

NEARER HOME.

What is Happening Over the State.

Hardy T. Gregory, of North Carolina, has been appointed a post-office inspector.

Mr. W. C. Thorne, Solicitor of Halifax county Inferior Court, died Saturday night.

A bill to tax bachelors and establish an "old maids' home" when the tax fund shall have reached $50,000 was introduced in the Illinois House of Representatives by Representative Walleck. The bill defines bachelors as single men of 32 years or over who have never been married, and exempts men who have reached 65, or who can prove to a board of unmarried women over 60 years of age that they have proposed marriage at least three times to marriageable females and been refused each time.
