st a wall of red tape. in the lobby of the Cl group who lengthened w said we can now legally ped out the sign in and s f some of the freshmen ru Permission Slips" (i.e., written permission from

y it is run and who has nd Dean Fulghum, and ut this thing; the Establis obscenity and other our complaint is more f stated purely.

nile at ECU). There are Grump Box.

that are put into the by written in reply to Mr. Hassion of physical violence.

ountainhead

and the truth shall make you free'

Greenville, North Carolina

Thursday, November 5, 1970

e printed in the Founta swill try to do something them to the right hands. String to do something them to the right hands. University Board court

By BECKY NOBLE

Volume II. Number 20

(Staff Writer) rection Suit against SGA vice-president Phil Dixon ack ECU student, Kenneth Gailoway, has University Board court for public to a female student, for assault, and > dung a public disturbance. has filed a counter-suit against way for abusive misbehavior and

GA President Bob Whitle down took the case to the University t know whether he attended tollowing Dixon's acquittal for assault in ement rally but its purp beenville district court Tuesday, Nov. 3.

nings, to make possible a charges stem from an incident during the GA and our student both. Homecoming parade, in which each eferred to was taken communical to have been hit by the other. The and does not include the sof the incident given by both men, in and in interviews, differ greatly.

asked why the SGA Neway said that he was struck in the eye n national and political and had not provoked Dixon or s the go the blow. However, Dixon said that should de provoked him by jabbing him in the on to did the times with his fingers and that the

HEARING SLATED

B. Mallory, dean of men, said the Will be either Wednesday, Nov. 11, or University Board is a campus court in One student can file charges against According to The Key, the Board has Jurisdiction in all violations of the riot onstration regulations and referred uon from other councils or the attorney

KENNETH GALLOWAY ...charges assault

This official was Phil Dixon, vice-present of Galloway said that he learned from Harriette McCullers, ECU's only black cheerleader, that it appeared she would be unable to ride in the parade with the other freshmen cheerleaders, because her uniform was not completed when it was supposed to be and she did not receive it come to my office," and then walked away.

According to Galloway, when Dixon was approached by a black female, Cynthia Byars, and asked how Harriette could secure the necessary completions for her uniform, he replied, "Sorry Sweetheart, you don't get a damn thing."

GALLOWAY APPROACHES DIXON

Galloway said he then approached Dixon and asked him never to say anything like that in front of a young black lady again and asked him to apologize.

"He got very angry, and very unexpectedly, without my ever touching him, punched me in the eye. This blow later caused my left eye to become swollen and turn blue," recounted Dixon's height is 6 feet 2 inches; Galloway's height is 5 feet 4 inches, Dixon weighs 185 pounds and Galloway weighs 125 pounds, according to Galloway.

He added that when he approached Dixon there were 10 to 15 other white students standing around him. He said he approached

CAMPUS SCENES

Before the parade was to begin Saturday morning, according to Dixon, one of the varsity cheerleaders contacted him and explained that an argument was taking place between a group of black students and the freshman head cheerleader.

PROBLEM WITH RIDE

To determine the problem, he said, he proceeded to the beginning of the parade route and found five black students with Beverly Dameron, the freshman head cheerleader.

"I asked what the problem was and was told by one of the black girls that she wanted to know why Harriette McCullers, one of the freshman cheerleaders, a black student, had not been given a ride to the parade site.

COLLEGE UNION snack bar offers welcome break for harried students.

not cussed his sisters! I told him exactly what I had said," continued Dixon. "He again stuck his finger in my chest and I again told him not to threaten me," said Dixon. "When he stuck his finger in my chest a third time, I removed his hand," he continued. "We struggled and I pushed him back. We then exchanged blows before we were pulled apart. One of the black girls struck me from behind

Dixon said he was called all sorts of names but everyone calmed down and the parade began. He added that when the parade reached downtown the blacks heckled him as he passed during scuffle."

WARRANT TAKEN OUT