Mr Carr

Dear Sir

I am done, let me know when the clothes are wanted for verily I have fallen from grace, I will relate the cause of this trouble and see if from you I get no sympathy,

Years ago I knew a little girl and also a small boy, these individuals grew up and together entered into the holy bonds of matrimony the result of which is a small specimen of humanity.

who has just been christened William Bruce — it is not necessary to give the name of the curiosity in full.

Well when this wonderful stranger was in a presentable condition to bear a name so honored by various burning excursions I was invited to gaze upon the innocent face of one that cost me a silver cup, the happy anchor brought forth the sparkling and such bliss was impossible for any mortal to resist. I baptized the baby shook hands with the father and if I recollect right kissed the happy mother

When I left I had considerable pig water concealed about my person, and it is only this morning that I fully awoke to the extent of damages
