

[JUNE 18, 1875]

Dear Mrs. Carr,

I cannot say how very much I regretted the necessity of leaving Warrenton yesterday before seeing you and the children. Nothing but an engagement to meet company here, (or some such imperative duty) could have torn me away, an engagement I could not avoid making.

Your kind letter was such a pleasure. I felt as if I had seen you all. I have so many, many things to say, but no time now. I am am anticipating the pleasure of a good talk with you face to face ere long. Willie Jones is staying with us now - We are expecting Uncle Joe to day.

Much love to the boys. I'll Buttons I am delighted at the prospect of seeing him soon.

Yours and affectionately
I. D. Twitty.
