We are slow to believe that Mr B. has intentionally deprived us of our money; but the result to us in dollars and cents is just the same as if prompted by bad motive. The delay in disposing of the Tobacco furnished a good excuse for a long time; but as that is now a dead issue we find matters in just that shape that we had apprehended. Your advice in this case will be gladly rec'd and highly appreciated.

*Yours truly
Elias Cawley.*

Mr Elias bar.

Old Sparta, N.C.,

Dear Sir:

Our friend Jas. S. Baute surprises us. We inclose herewith his letter. Did you know that a labor's lien was a prior claim to a craft lien in N.C.? ~~When~~ The writer was in Wauanton last week and called socially upon Mrs Baute; upon which occasion she referred to Mr Baute's debt and I inferred from her conversation that Mr B. had disposed of the Stock conveyed to us in bill of sale. No doubt he intends paying us as stated; but will not his family demands be so great that he will find himself unable to carry his intention into effect? If you think well of it you can get, at our expense, a lawyer's opinion upon the lien question. Must we remain listless for relationship's sake and see our legal and just rights thus abused?
