

Constitution

The Constitution of the N.C. State Alliance, P. 10, containing and everything contained therein with our declaration of principles, and not in conflict with its provisions. Can this be done?

If the framers of our Constitution had any right either human or divine to require the payment of fees and dues with which to defray the expenses of the state Alliance, and at the same time created the County Alliances, it follows; that in conferring the power of framing their own County Constitutions on these county alliances, they conferred on them, the power to provide for the payment of their officers if they chose to do so, by example at least. Or else they were guilty of an inconsistency unbecoming intelligent American citizens.
