AND STATE WEATHER SERVICE,
OFFICE OF DIRECTOR,

Raleigh, N. C., Oct, 4, 1890

Col. Elias Carr,

Old Sparta, N.C.

My daer Colonel:-

Your letter of the 29th, was duly received. I had gone so far in carrying out the plan, that I cannot very well stop now. I had interested Mr. Ramsey, Editor of the Progressive Farmer in it, and he has written a short editorial which will come out in the next week's Farmer. Not getting your letter and knowing you had been in Chicago, and thinking this was the cause of the delay, caused me to continue the work.

I hope that we can at least make a start and in every way be in a position to make an advancement by the next meeting. I am sorry that I could not put in my letter to the Secretaries some reference to the plan through a letter from you, but I can do this the next time I write to them. The idea of the Com-mitties was an after thought, after writing my letter to you. Ramsey thought this was an excellent plan; It seems to me that if this can be inaugurated it will go far towards keeping the interests of the farmers in the Station, and being of benefit in every way?

Mr. John Doe,

123 Main St.,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Doe: The purpose of this letter is to inform you of the results of the recent survey conducted by the Bureau of Economic Warfare. The survey was conducted in order to determine the extent of the economic damage caused by the activities of the Axis powers during the war. The results of the survey indicate that the economic damage caused by the Axis powers was extensive and that the United States has taken effective measures to counteract this damage. It is hoped that this information will be helpful to you in your business and financial planning.

I am sure that you will find this information of interest and value. If you have any questions or need further information, please contact the Bureau of Economic Warfare, Washington, D. C. The Bureau is pleased to provide any assistance it can. Very truly yours,
Director, Bureau of Economic Warfare
