Elias Carr,

President, N.C. F. S. A

Dear Bro:— Last April a man made application by petition to join Low's Alliance, his petition was successful, but he never offered himself for initiation and finally withdrew his initiation fee, in about six months he was bal--lotted for again with like results, he again didn't offer himself for initiation, I wd The mean time the alliance was becoming so numerous that a demit was granted a sufficient no to organize a new Alliance at Thompson^{ville} row. The first or Low's Alliance is trying to vote him in again virtually trying to take the Candidate from us which is the nearest Alliance to him.

Is such a procedure in accordance with the Constitution and principles of the Alliance?
Can a man's wife join the order and buy through it when the husband is ineligible to join? An early reply will be greatly appreciated.

Footernally yours
J. Hawkins Simpson
