

OFFICE OF

L. L. POLK,

President National Farmers Alliance and Industrial Union,

344 D STREET N. W.,

June 9th, '91.

My Dear Sir and Bro:

I enclose you a program of the National Alliance campaign so far as made out. Please permit me to say briefly that I regard a campaign of this kind this year of vital importance to our Order,, and I do not think we could employ our energies to better advantage than to see that the meetings are held, and that they are made grandly successful.

I would suggest that you urge the president and executive committee of the county in which each meeting is to be held to take the matter in hand and perfect arrangements for it. I am also compelled to say that the expenses of the speakers must be borne either by the State Alliance or the assemblies which the speakers may address.

Will I presume too much, my brother, to trust you to look after this matter? I know all this requires much personal effort without direct compensation, but I have taken it for granted that our entire Brotherhood are in earnest in the work, and do not hesitate to call on them when occasion demands.

Of I do not mean that these should be the only meetings held in your state. I hope the people will frequently assemble themselves to gether during the year at Alliance pic-nics, harvest dinners and the like, and freely interchange views and opinions. This method of work is the only one which I see that can be made effective against the tremendous money and boodle campaign that will be conducted by those who oppose and fight us.

I would be glad to hear from you at any time on any matter.

Yours truly and fraternally,
