

OFFICE OF THE

Judge of the County Court of King George County,

CHAS. H. ASHTON, JUDGE,

Alden, King George Co., Va., Sept. 30 1891.

Col. Elias Carr:

Dear Sir:

My daughter, Alice, has just arrived home. From her statement of the case I am at a loss to understand why you did not pay her her salary as agreed upon for the year as she was pressed by those for whose conduct you are responsible, to leave and permitted for carrying out the part of the contract, which she was ready and willing to do. I do not know she was told by a member of your family too young to be capable of doing so on her own responsibility - that she was not wanted and that another was all of which was an excuse was imposed by an older head. The result of all this has been to cause her to lose a situation for the year, two of which she could have gotten, one at $40⁰⁰ per month, but for having been under contract with you. And not only has she lost employment for the year but has
