

June 20/92.

Messrs. Elias Carr & Son.

Old Sparta, N. C.

Gentlemen;

Replying to yours of the 13th will say that there must be some mistake about the measurements.

The only way we can account for such extraordinary measurements as you give is that you must have measured the circumference of the collar. Kindly give us the measure of the collar you want on the rim side of the collar measuring the diameter through the center from the buckle to throat and we feel confident that the measurements of the collar that you sent us must be wrong. We have no record of any balance due you on our books. If you will kindly give us more information regarding it we will make an effort to hunt it up.

Yours Truly,

(Dictated)

R. Woolley's Sons.
