Dear Elias:

You certainly had a narrow escape, a man of your weight kicked up & dropped any distance might consider himself fortunate to get off without many broken bones, I hope the arm is all right & that it will give you no further. It has been raining here since last Sunday night, & yesterday & today people are wearing overcoats, It looks like the "long, cold wet spell of May" has come in June, Eastern N. C., I see, has escaped to some extent, but many of the Southern states have been catching it. I send magazines occasionally to you
