NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FOUR

ELEANOR POOLE editor JIM RABON business manager

VOLUME XLII

Foreword

The graduate of the class of 1910, the first graduating class of East Carolina College, went home to be, by and large, a citizen of his local community. The graduate of 1964 is a citizen of the world, and as such his first loyalty is to the world community. There his talents, abilities, and resources are needed in all phases of human endeavor: social, cultural, and academic.

Socially, meeting and compromising with people are important in being a success in the world. Throughout four years of college, the student learns to study, work, and play with other individuals. By daily living and association with friends, professors, sorority sisters, fraternity brothers, club members, and roommates, the future leaders of the country face the public and endeavor to live as acceptable social beings.

Culturally, East Carolina College offers a wide variety of fine arts to prepare each person to develop an understanding of world culture. As the United States is called the "melting pot" of the world, so is East Carolina College a meeting place for students of various nationalities, religious faiths, and creeds. Deep insights into the culture and philosophy of the world are developed and broadened.

Academically, the College provides facilities to prepare the student for the challenges of whatever vocation he desires. In the world of space, rockets, rebellion, Communism, and chaos, each person needs as broad an education as he is capable of attaining. Although academic disciplines differ widely, East Carolina College gives the student good basic preparation to meet the world of his generation.

The three major roles of East Carolina College—social, cultural, and academic—are prominent in the lives of the student. This issue of the BUCCANEER presents the student body in these roles which define the place of the College in the world community of 1964.

INDEX 451

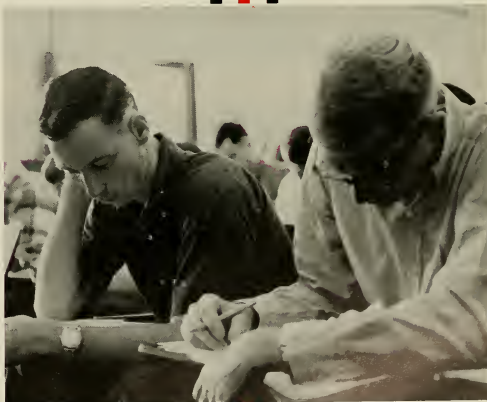

East Carolina College students are enthusiastic about the events of 1964. As each anticipation becomes a reality, it exerts a great influence on the lives of the future leaders of the world. For them, the dedication of Ficklen Stadium, the presentation of the playhouse productions, the nightly dances at the College Union, the long hours of concentrated study, and the fun filled football games will remain permanent memories.

As the Horizons of the World Grow and Develop, . . .

Over eight million dollars of construction work has been allocated to the College. Among the new buildings under construction are a new classroom building and a new women's dormitory.

As the school progresses, the academic tasks become quite burdensome. Classes and study time must be budgeted into a student's schedule.

. . . So Does the Influence of East Carolina College.

Study hours.

Dancing hours.

Party hours.

The raison d'être of East Carolina College is its students. For students, this College was founded fifty-seven years ago. For them, it flourishes today. They keep the learning process continuous. Students may be found relaxing between classes, socializing in the College Union, or hurrying to their residences after a hard day of study.

As East Carolina College takes its place in the world, the campus becomes old and majestic in many aspects; but young and energetic in others. Where once stood only a few solitary buildings, now stand over twenty-five structures encompassing a two hundred and ninety-five acre campus. Modern classroom buildings, athletic facilities, and dormitories stand beside Austin Building and Wright Auditorium. This is the world of East Carolina College—nineteen hundred and sixty-four.

Folk Singing at the Bohemian.

Intermission at the Football Games.

Ever changing and ever growing is the population of the world. Each year new buildings are erected, the population booms skyward, and changes take place over the world scene. New countries come into existence, and others change hands. Never allowed to remain stagnant are the people of the world. Growing likewise, East Carolina College expands to meet the needs of the student body. Larger freshman classes enter, and an ever increasing number of young people receive their degrees from this college. Leaders will emerge from the halls of East Carolina College, and the world will receive the benefit of such abilities. To the world, this institution contributes her best in human resources.

COLLEGE

Dr. Jenkins introduces speaker, Edward R. Murrow, at 1963 Commencement exercises.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins . . .

Having received degrees from Rutgers, Columbia, and New York Universities, Dr. Leo W. Jenkins is well-qualified for his position as the sixth President of East Carolina College. Originally from New Jersey, this noted educator joined the staff in 1947 as Dean and became President in 1960.

Active in the National Education Association and the Governor's Committee on Better Schools, President Jenkins devotedly adheres to the betterment of colleges throughout the state. As a member of College Visitation Teams, he serves the Southern Association of Colleges and the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The father of six children, Dr. Jenkins lends leadership in various functions of the Methodist church of which he and his family are members. He serves on the Board of Stewards and teaches the Adult Bible Class.

In addition to his support of the East Carolina College Pirates, this avid fan finds enjoyment in painting and music.

. . . Completes Fourth Year at College.

One of the Pirates' strongest supporters, Dr. Jenkins cheers them to victory over Wake Forest.

Distinguished leaders, William Scales, Jr., Chairman Stadium Committee, Governor Terry Sanford, Dr. Jenkins, and Congressman Herbert Bonner, gather for the dedication of the new Ficklen Stadium.

As East Carolina College makes its place in the state, the nation, and the world, a constant attempt is made on the part of the Student Government Association through its legislation and committees to provide the student body with worthwhile activities and entertainment.

Student Government business is transacted with the students and the institution in mind. Through its policies and programs, the SGA works for student rights and for a better and greater East Carolina College.

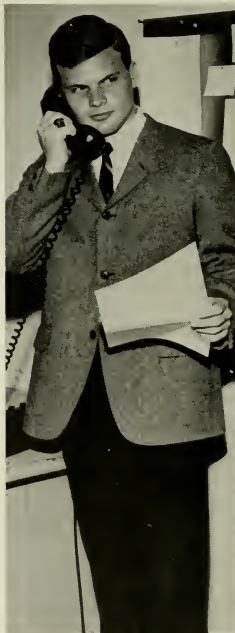

Student Government Association . . .

The Student Government on the East Carolina College campus exemplifies democracy in action. A governing body of the students, by the students, and for the students, the SGA functions effectively and efficiently through its three branches: the Executive (Executive Council), the Legislative (Student Senate), and the Judicial (the Judiciary Councils and the Honor Councils). The policy making body is the Executive Council which meets the first Monday night of each month.

Student Government membership offers a challenge in managing student affairs, in working on important committees, and in promoting the highest ideals of honors and achievement for a better and greater institution of learning. Representative of a student body of 6,000, the SGA is the students. Any student is a part of the SGA when he pays his fifteen dollars activity fee at the beginning of each quarter. The Executive officers and Student Senators are chosen in general elections in the spring.

... and Renders Efficient Committee Work.

Every Monday night except the first Monday night of each month, the Student Senate of approximately sixty members meets; and bills, resolutions, and recommendations are introduced, considered, discussed, and debated. The vote for acceptance or rejection is taken. The SGA President may call a Senate meeting at any time.

After the Senate has convened in the traditional meeting chamber of the Buccaneer Room, members listen attentively to debate.

The voice vote has been close; a standing vote is taken to decide the question.

Billy Braswell introduces his resolution asking for repeal or modification of HB 1395. The body voted to adopt it.

Sam Williams takes notes on Senate action.

Cathy Shesso rises to speak her views before the vote is taken.

Pat Waff listens to heated discussion of a resolution.

Legislators Act on HB 1395 Resolution.

Senators take notes and prepare arguments.

Senior class senator, Tom Sobol, contemplates his stand on an issue.

Committees Effect SGA Legwork.

The standing and special committees do much of the actual work under Student Government Association jurisdiction. The committees report their activities to the Student Senate. The ten standing committees are Budget, Elections, Entertainment, External Affairs, Identification Cards, Orientation, Productions, Publicity, Ring, and Special Events. Some of the special committees are Foreign Films, Popular Films, Constitutional Revisions, Campus Radio, Book Exchange, Traffic Problems, Student Tutoring Society, and Steering and Publicity.

Each of these committees operates in a group effort to solve general and specific student and administrative problems. The SGA is a big organization, and the committee work is proof that the Senators do much more throughout the week than convene under a legislative atmosphere on Monday nights.

NSA Coordinator, Shirley Morse, plans possible campus programs.

Freshman Senator, Murray Parker, checks the SGA bulletin board notices.

Five members of the Popular Films Committee, Jackie Perkins, Chairman Nathan Caroon, Dr. Cho, Diane Bray, and Jimmy Lassiter, plan the campus movies.

External Affairs Chairman, Bill Eyerman, discusses the Mock UN and State Student Legislature plans with committee members Bill Clark, Celia Orr, Kathy Cauble, and Billy Braswell.

Barbara Johnson, Special Events Chairman, plans out the Homecoming festivities with three of her committee members, Bill Tharrington, Celia Orr, and Tim Bagwell. This group executed a highly successful weekend under the theme "Pirates' Parade of Progress." Dave Astor and "The Lettermen" entertained for the Homecoming Queen Coronation Pageant.

An SGA service program to the student body, the Student Tutoring Society, Sigma Tau Sigma, has been endorsed by the Student Senate. Honor Council Is

Just before the end of spring quarter of 1963, the Student Senate passed the Honor Code system; and it became a part of East Carolina College. "You are on your honor not to cheat, steal or lie" states the Honor Code. Further the Campus Code states: "You are bound by your responsibility as a gentleman or a lady, to conduct yourself as such at all times, and further to see to it insofar as possible, that your fellow students do likewise." This system is not designed to restrict student actions, but its strength is based upon the belief that integrity is fostered in all people with a common purpose in mind and a mutual respect for the truth. Both the Women's and Men's Honor Councils are composed of seven members and alternate. Four juniors and three seniors are elected to each of the councils in campus elections. These groups elect their own officers. Both have attorney-general staffs. Bob Miller serves as the men's attorney-general with Mack Worthington as an aid. Kathy Cauble heads the attorney-general staff for women students. The Honor Council endorses a standard of conduct for all students at East Carolina College. Three faculty members and four students comprise the Appeals Board which is the highest judicial branch on campus. Any student may appeal his case as high as the Appeals Board and then to the President of the College.

Three Appeals Board members, Chairman George Wightman, Mary Ann Watson and Dr. Patton discuss policy.

Publications Board Adopts Policies.

CHAIRMAN
Dr. James H. Tucker

The Publications Board selects the editors for the four student publications—the Buccaneer, the East Carolinian, the Rebel, and The Key. In addition, all policies, budgets, and publishing contracts are awarded through this body. This year saw all budgets increased, a three-year publishing contract for the yearbook let, and salaries raised for the newspaper and the literary magazine.

Composed of the editors and business managers of the publications, faculty advisors, administrative officials, and two members-at-large, this board presently numbers nineteen. This council is an official organ of the Student Government Association.

Yearbook Staff Completes

Operating on a budget of forty two thousand dollars, the Buccaneer, the East Carolina College yearbook, is distributed to the student body each spring. In this publication, a history of the year is given. Like all the publications, the Buccaneer is financed through the Student Government Association.

Recognition for beauty, leadership, scholarship, and outstanding contributions in the world has been an incentive to those who merit awards for their services. East Carolina College also recognizes outstanding student leaders, beauty queens, faculty members, and marshals. To those who have contributed the most for four years go the Who's Who listings; to those who have beauty, poise, and charm go the nine Beauty titles; to those faculty members who have student appeal and exceptional qualities go the Baccalaureate Faculty Citations; and to those who have a B average and popularity goes the honor of being a marshal. These persons are in the limelight of East Carolina College.

Buccaneer Queen

October 14, 1963, was a night of splendor for Miss Patricia Huggins because at approximately eleven o'clock that night, she became the reigning beauty of the 1964 yearbook. Through the various media of communication, people around the world daily learn what has happened the preceding night and day in the world community. Things happen so rapidly that people are compelled to keep informed if they are to communicate with one another. This same pace of life is found on the East Carolina College campus. The students are interested in campus events. In 1910, it was possible by talking to the students to keep abreast with campus news. Today, however, the campus flourishes with public address systems, bulletin boards, campus news media, and literary publications.

This growth is due greatly to the enthusiasm of the student body. High spirit and deep loyalty constitute the pervading atmosphere of East Carolina College.

Spring . . .

a time looked forward to by all East Carolina students . . . a time of leisurely strolls, quiet afternoon naps, fun and frolicking, new subjects, outdoor entertainment, the fragrances of flowers in bloom, short bicycle trips, and those never-ending tests and final exams. Spring becomes full of many activities: concerts by the band and by the Collegians, the annual water show presented by the Aquanymphs, the Women's Recreation Association Spring Banquet, dramatic productions produced by the playhouse, and numerous baseball games. Spring is indeed a season of many memories.

Many outstanding events made the summer of 1963 a memorable one. The Entertainment Series sponsored by the Student Government Association provided popular entertainment for the students on campus. On July 29, a "Piano Plus Personality" Concert was presented by a well-known artist, Greg Colson. Classical and popular music made the show a success. A dance and musical program was presented on July 11 by a trio known as "Three in Concert." Those who composed the trio were Douglas Williams, Sandra Volkert, and Ivan Allen.

The Tenth Summer Music Camp took place this summer on July 21 through August 3. More than 500 juniors and seniors participated in the camp. A staff of thirty-eight faculty members directed the work of the students. An annual Gala Concert was presented by the bands and majorettes as a finale to the week.

Cigarette Tally Brings Profit of $10,000.

"Let's vote" was the cry of the interested Student Government Association personnel as the campaign for the Summer School officers began. With only voting by 279 people, George Wightman was the victor over three write-in candidates for the presidential post. Eleven positions were filled by the election.

Another count was made, but not for officers. The final Liggett and Myers cigarette tally was reached with a profit to the school of over ten thousand dollars. With this money, a portable shell for outdoor events was purchased and was first used by the band for their Lawn Concert.

After the tallying was completed, attention turned toward the watermelon cuttings which were given by the College Union. Held on the mall at least every two weeks, students left their class at three o'clock in the afternoon to receive their portion of the juicy, red meat. Politicians and hungry people were truly an integral part of the summer school life.

Hundreds of Eager Freshmen

Dean Alexander directed the freshmen toward their destinations

New freshmen began a day of preregistration which would help them to understand the programs offered by the College. After a greeting from the administrative officials, they hurried off to their appointments for the day. Throughout the day several tests such as the mathematics, personality, and swimming were administered. Pictures were made for identification cards, and a tour of the library was conducted by the library personnel. Students then met with the heads of their respective departments.

This day of preregistration was typical of any of the eleven Wednesdays throughout the summer. A group numbering from one to two hundred was present for each all day program. Approximately 2,200 freshmen were enrolled in the fall quarter of 1963.

Students are allowed to express their own opinions on various topics in the Kuder Personality test.

As fall opened, varied activities awaited the new freshmen and upper-classmen as they flocked to the campus. October was Fair month and the college set was among the persons who attended the Pitt County Fair. With all items of amusement the fair led the entertainment field for the week of October 7 through 13. Special rates of thirty-five cents per student were charged for admission. "East Carolina College Night" was proclaimed Monday and Thursday nights.

As well as enjoyment for themselves, the students also found time to help others. The Red Cross Blood-mobile visited the campus twice during the school year. At the fall count-up, 190 pints of blood were donated by the staff and students. In addition, there was student entertainment during the quarter. The Inter-Dormitory Council Talent Show on November 19 spotlighted singing, dancing, twirling and comedy acts. Hundreds of graduates viewed the pageantry displayed during the weekend. The Lettermen staged a performance at Wright Building on Friday night. On Saturday morning a parade with nearly one hundred units marched through downtown Greenville. The East Carolina-Western Carolina Football Game highlighted the afternoon's events.

Alumni and other campus visitors attended open house in Wright Building after the game. Other special features included a reunion of the graduating class of 1953 and a reception in the Buccaneer Room honoring the football teams of 1933 and 1953.

Athletics

The athletic program of an institution is often taken as an indication of the general value of the entire college. In inter-collegiate sports, East Carolina has been well represented this year. With the acceptance into the Southern Conference, the College has taken another step forward.

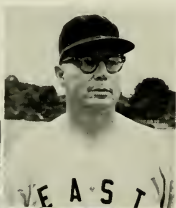

Perhaps even more important than inter-collegiate athletics is the overall program, the program geared to the average student. East Carolina students are fortunate that there is such an excellent intramural program. With the variety and standards of the athletic program students find physical training equal with their academic education.

NAIA Tournament.

After a successful season of conference play including wins over Guilford, 14-4 and Atlantic Christian, 14-3, the Pirate linksmen went to Boone, N.C., for the twenty-sixth annual N.A.I.A. Tournament. East Carolina College placed second to Appalachian College despite rain and the unfamiliar course. The team was well rounded with each member coming in first at one time or another during the season. Although the 1963 tennis team was not in a conference, it was as successful as it has been in the previous six seasons during which the netters held the Carolina Conference championship. One of the victims which fell to the Pirate netmen was Atlantic Coast Conference foe—Wake Forest, 5 to 1.

Each match was like a tournament in itself. The Bucs proved their power again by ending up with the impressive won-loss record of eleven to three.

For the track meet against the University of Richmond, Jerry Tolley teamed with Bill McPhall to lead the East Carolina Pirates over the Spiders. Both won two events, placed third in one event, and ran a leg in the mile relay. They scored twenty-four and one-half points between them. Tolley won the triple jump and the 220 yard dash; McPhall, the high jump and the 880 race. The Buc trackmen also gained points from Whitty Bass who won the 440-yarder. Tom Michel took the 330 intermediates. Poole placed first in shot put competition. McWatters won the javelin throw.

The East Carolina cindermen had a successful season despite the hardship of no home track. The Bucs placed second in a tri-meet with North Carolina State College and Campbell College. Tolley finished second in three events—the triple jump, the 100 yard dash and the 200 yarder, totaling nine points for the Pirates.

Richmond Nips ECC 10-7.

A fourth quarter field goal provided the winning points for Richmond as it defeated East Carolina, in the season's opener. For the second year, the Pirates have forced the Southern Conference member to come from behind to gain the victory.

In the first quarter, two East Carolina touchdowns were called back for illegal procedure and illegal motion. The Pirates held the upper hand in the first half although the score was tied 7 to 7. In the second half Richmond took command. A field goal from East Carolina's twenty five yard line settled the issue 10 to 7 in favor of the Spiders.

over Wake Forest 20-10.

As a capacity crowd of 16,000 looked on, East Carolina upset Wake Forest with a resounding 20-10 victory. They spotted the Deacons the lead twice, but with the versatile single-wing offensive they took complete control of the action. Hopeful Deacs could not match the Pirate offense. The Pirates scored the last two times they came into possession in the first half and the first time they had it in the second to go ahead. There was no more scoring for Wake Forest after that, with East Carolina holding the upper hand.

The Deacs received the opening kickoff, drove to the Pirate fifteen and kicked a field goal for a 3-0 lead. East Carolina recovered a fumble and Michel scored from the two yard line, with four minutes in the first half, Wake Forest held a 10-6 advantage. Bovender started a drive and East Carolina led 12-10 at the half.

The Pirates took the kickoff and moved fifty-five yards in thirteen plays for a touchdown. The Deacs were crushed 20-10. A pass to Johnny Anderson was good for a two point conversion. East Carolina had a net gain of one hundred ninety yards rushing and passed for seventy-one yards.

Pirates Take Terriers 34-7.

Rain failed to dampen the Pirate single wing charge on Wofford. The same potent running and passing that made Wake Forest a victim wrecked the Terriers from South Carolina. Wofford fumbled four times to the hard hitting Bucs. This, plus a blocked punt on the Wofford twelve yard line, gave East Carolina good scoring opportunities. Although Wofford scored first, the Pirates retaliated with a sixty-two yard pass complete to Bumgarner. Mills also scored on a pass. The Bucs piled up 356 yards in total offense and completed seven out of ten passes.

John Anderson jarred the punt receiver and took over the Bucs on the forty-three yard line. Two plays brought the Pirates to midfield; here Mills scored with a fifty-yard dash on a reverse play. The score was 8 to 7 in favor of the Pirates. Late in the third period the single wing machine began to roll. Driving from the Blue Hose forty, Cline hit Bumgarner on a jump pass for the score. With twelve minutes left in the game, the Bucs held 17 to 7 lead. Defensive back Jerry Tolley intercepted a pass on East Carolina's twenty-six yard line and scampered to the one yard mark. Mills crossed the goal line and a pass to Allen completed the game.

imax of Homecoming.

Some eleven thousand spectators thrilled to a near perfect Pirate performance on October 19. The Buc offense kept the crowd on its feet much of the time. The tackling and blocking was teeth-rattling. The Pirates took command early in the game and never let up. At the end of the first period, full-back Tom Michel, end Dave Bumgarner, and wingback Dinky Mills had secured a lead of 23-0 for East Carolina College.

At halftime the score read 36-0, after a touchdown by Buddy Bovender and a seventeen yard pass from Cline to Anderson. Buc defense poured it on and held the Catamounts virtually motionless. In the third period, Michel powered over from the four, following wingback Jerry Tolley's eighty-two yard return of the second half kickoff. In the fourth quarter, Bovender carried three times from the Cat thirty-nine to score. Ralph Royster kicked the fiftieth point. The Cats crossed midfield only once during the entire game when they were not forced to punt.

Pirate fullback, Tom Michel, clears defending Cadets.

East Carolina College, rated as an underdog in the battle with the Citadel Cadets, tore through the ranks of the Southern Conference team. The Bucs crushed the high punting average of Andresen. Until the Pirate invasion he had been averaging 42.5 yards per boot—enough to be ranked nationally. He was rushed to the extent of having one kick blocked and his average was 29 yards per punt. The defense unit kept the Cadets contained in their own territory all but three times during the game. They forced the South Carolina team to punt seven times and recovered two of their fumbles. Mitchell Cannon was outstanding on defense as he moved in fast to block a Citadel punt to set up the last Pirate score.

In rolling up a 20-6 victory the defensive squad did not gain all the glory as the offense showed an exceptional amount of talent. The Pirates picked up 385 yards in total and dominated the entire contest. Nine plays following the start of game, the Bucs hit paydirt. Cline calmly tossed the ball 28 yards to Mills for the first tally.

Citadel 20-6.

The extra two points came with a pass complete to Bumgarner to set the score 8 to 0. Four minutes later, East Carolina went into action again. Tom Michel raced through the Cadets on a fifty-four yard touchdown scamper. The Citadel team rallied and moved to East Carolina's eight yard line, but the stout Buc line halted them. The score 14-0, stood at halftime and remained throughout the third period. The final East Carolina tally came with a wingback reverse by Jerry Tolly. The attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful and gave the Pirates a 20-0 lead.

With less than a minute and a half remaining in the game, the Cadet eleven managed to hit pay dirt. A pass from the Cadet quarterback to the end gained their lone score for the game. The East Carolina Pirates claimed their prize as the game ended shortly after the Citadel touchdown. This was a very important victory for East Carolina College, who continued to prove capable of competing in the Southern Conference.

Cadets hold Bill Cline to 34 yards rushing.

Lenoir Rhyne Bows to th

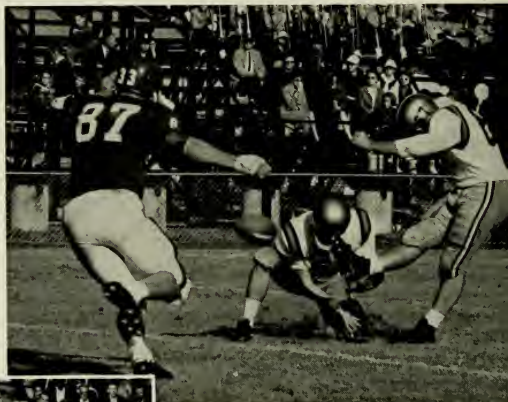

The "Fighting Pirates" picked up their eighth consecutive win from Lenoir Rhyne. The Pirates responded well to the task of defending against the single wing as they held the Lenoir Rhyne Bears to 38-yards passing and 84-yards rushing. The first half lacked the usual Pirate color because they had to defend the old time single wing for the first time. The only score in the first half came when Ralph Royster recovered a Bear fumble. Two plays later, Bovender plunged over the goal line. The rest of the half was highlighted by defensive work by both teams.

The second half took on the spirit of East Carolina football as the Pirates started to use a little deception. For the first time, the Bucs used a split end. Using this formation, Bass teamed with Bovender for a 33-yard pass touchdown combination. The last two Pirate tallies were reaped from the use of hard-knock football in Pirate style.

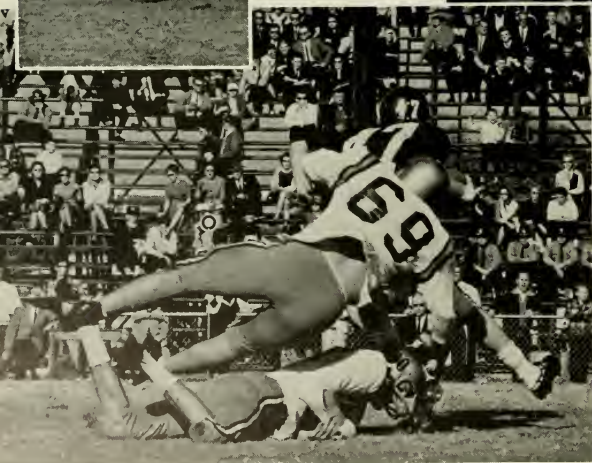

The East Carolina line must be recognized for the outstanding job it did in holding the Bears, who never scored. Because of the work of front men like Lewis, Royster, and Day, the bears had to leave the field with a loss of 28-0.

Bucs Top Tampa 14-8.

The last game of the Pirates' regular season was marked by fumbles which cost many prime positions. When the Buc's defense tightened, Mitchel Cannon recovered a Tampa fumble on the 20-yard line. The hard hitting Pirate line forced the Spartan eleven to play an aerial game. East Carolina line braced at the 6-yard line and blocked a field goal attempt; however, Val Johnson, Tampa quarterback, raced into the end zone and gave Tampa its first score. The final Spartan tally came as Buddy Bovender was tackled in the end zone.

In the third quarter the Pirates added another tally to the first half touchdown by Michel and two-point conversion of Jerry Tolly to complete the scoring. Dave Alexander intercepted a Spartan pass which set up the Bovender touchdown run. The final score was 14-8. This game wrapped up the Pirate's successful season and paved the way to the Eastern Bowl game.

E.C.C. Boasts Bowl Bid.

Despite the intense cold and frozen field, the Bucs dominated the Eastern Bowl clash with Northeastern University. Both Tom Michel and Larry Rudisill made 80-yard touchdown plays in the second half. In the first period Michel went over from the fifteen to give the first tally of the game. Northeastern drove to the Pirate eleven yard-line only to be blocked by the stout Buc line. After scoring two field goals, the Huskies relinquished the ball. Michel took the ball on a fake back lateral and scampered 82-yards to pay dirt. The next East Carolina tally came in less than three minutes. Larry Rudisill caught a deflected pass from Cline and ran 50-yards to score. These plays took the spirit from the Huskies and the remaining minutes belonged to the Bucs. Bovender connected with Allen for 18-yards that clinched the game. ORGANIZATIONS

Because interests of the people of the world vary from social, to spiritual, and to occupational, people organize themselves according to mutual interests. The students of East Carolina College likewise join organizations according to their individualities. Organizations on this campus are much like those found in any society. These include the fraternities and sororities for social entertainment and fellowship, the clubs for mutual occupational and social interest, and the religious groups for people of like faith. Many tasks of life are accomplished by the combined efforts of people who have common interests and aspirations. By joining organizations, students are able to communicate their ideas and aims and together accomplish what they cannot achieve individually.

Alumni Association

The objectives of the East Carolina College Alumni Association are threefold: to keep alumni informed about the college activities; to encourage alumni to represent the college in their respective communities; and to persuade each alumnus to make an annual contribution to the East Carolina College Development Fund.

College Union Provides Various Outlets

John Thompson
Vice-President

Donna Thigpen
President

Acting as the community center of the College, the College Union is designed for the students, faculty, administration, alumni, and guests. It is not just a building, but it is also an organization and a program. Together they represent a well-balanced plan for the community life of the College.

The purpose of the College Union is two-fold, social and service. Within the social, come the recreation and education offered through College Union facilities and through the volunteer student committees which plan and stage events. As well as providing a center for self-directed recreation, the College Union offers planned and well-organized activities designed to appeal to a variety of social and recreational interests.

In serving the College, the Union is open ninety hours a week and is used as an information center, checking station, and lost and found headquarters. The Union is a unifying force in the life of the College.

Serving the students, the College Union is widely known as the gathering center on campus. Rush hours are ten in the morning and lunchtime.

Chess is not as popular as bridge, but occasionally two fans meet in a battle of the wits.

For Students.

Many hours are spent in the College Union playing the ever popular card game, bridge.

A favorite outlet for the summer school students is the traditional bingo-ice cream parties.

Delegates to the Regional Convention are Bobby Chappell, Cherry Garris, Billi Stewart, Tim Bagwell, and John Thompson. Tim is president of Region V.

Homecoming is a favorite time of the College Union. An open house welcomes alumni and guests to the festive weekend.

Compose Campus Communications Media.

WWWS-AM, WWWS-FM, and WWWS-TV are under the direction of Dr. Corinne Rickert, Director of On-Campus Broadcasting. Miss Rosalind Roulston is in charge of all Off-Campus Broadcasting. The intra-television channel provides entertainment as well as educational programs. Offered as television courses are health, business, geography, psychology, music and science.

Under the direction of station manager Tommy Wallace and with the assistance of Rick Nitolli, the AM station remained on the air forty-eight hours during the drive for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. Members of the staff collected from the students a total of $380.00.

The radio station, which is located in Joyner Memorial Library, is self-supported and one of the few communications media not under the Student Government Association. This medium provides the only professional broadcasting training at the College. In the past four years, more than twelve students trained at the station have entered professional broadcasting.

These three media of communication enable the students and the public to be better informed of campus programs and activities.

Judy Spruill mimeographs copies of the daily news happenings on campus.

Reporter Jean Allen types her news story for publication.

Johnny Parker addresses envelopes to be sent to the hometown newspapers.

News Bureau Obtains New Director.

Mr. Henry Howard busies himself at his desk in his first year at this important post.

Busy moments occur as the personnel of the News Bureau endeavor to relay the campus news to all papers concerned.

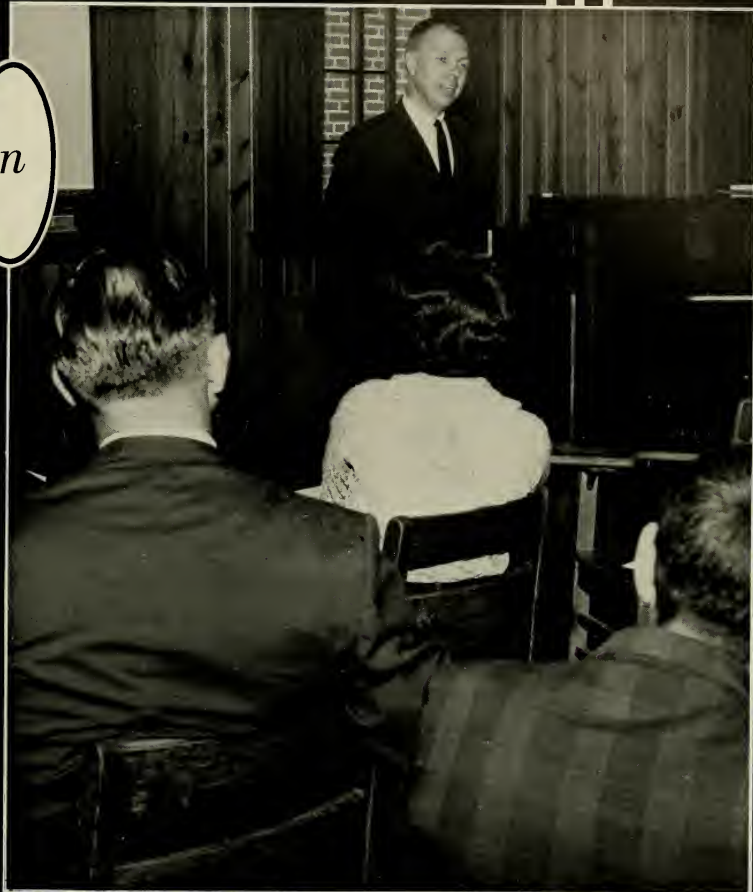

North Carolinians learn of the happenings on the East Carolina College campus through the News Bureau. Under the supervision of Mr. Henry Howard, the News Bureau reaches over two hundred news outlets—fifty-one daily newspapers and 144 non-daily news media. In the course of one week thirty to thirty-five stories go to these news media.

The bureau writes two types of news. The first is general information about the growth and development of the College. The second is current events of the individual students. When a student receives recognition for some service, the News Bureau sends an article to the hometown newspaper. This news outlet keeps the public informed about the College.

Virginia Dansy and Sarah Kirkpatrick are the other two full-time employees of the News Bureau. Sarah is Assistant Director, and Virginia is the secretary.

Religion

The tensions of the world today affect college students more than most people realize, and East Carolina students are no exception. In this atmosphere, many students find that they need some type of Divine Guidance to give them security. Many turn to their religion and hence to the religious groups on campus.

The ten different religious groups at East Carolina help greatly in filling this need. Not only do they provide friendship through their meetings, but they also help students find the understanding they need in order to give and to receive much from campus life. These groups are coordinated by the Inter-Religious Council headed by Mr. D. D. Gross.

Homecooked meals every Monday night are a project of the Baptist Student Union.

Baptists Participate in Christmas Caroling.

Providing depth and balance in Christian education and helping students practice their Christian concern in areas of creative service are the ideals and purposes of the East Carolina Baptist Student Union.

A student is qualified to join this organization if he has been a member of a Baptist Church. Membership may also be obtained by those of other denominations.

The one hundred and thirty-five members of this organization hold weekly forms and vesper services. Bible discussion groups help the student understand his religious beliefs. Monthly social activities and other meetings bring students together in fellowship. At Christmas the group goes caroling in Greenville. A very important service is the work youth teams in the churches.

Enjoyment may be found in the basement of the BSU Center where members try their skill at table tennis.

Informal discussions benefit the students of the Canterbury Club in exploring and learning more about their faith.

Weekly Communion Highlights Canterbury Meetings.

Delicious meals are prepared and enjoyed at each meeting of the Canterbury Club.

Canterbury affords any interested student an opportunity to learn and discuss life and its inevitable questions. This Episcopal sponsored organization provides religious fellowship and religious activities for college students. Canterbury sponsors a book club, a married couples Canterbury, and a faculty fellowship. The weekly meetings at St. Paul's Episcopal Church begins with the service of Holy Communion followed by a supper and a program. The Episcopal Chaplain for East Carolina College campus is the Reverend Richard N. Ottaway.

A part of growing in the Episcopal faith is experienced through the observance of Communion. This ritual is held weekly at the Canterbury meetings.

Free Will Baptists Enjoy Yearly Picnic.

A religious organization organized to provide fellowship for Free Will Baptist students on East Carolina Campus, the Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship has no requirements for membership. Weekly meetings, suppers, yearly banquet, annual picnic, and religious programs are the plans for 1964. Campus and community activities include membership in the Inter-Religious council and assistance with the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association. This organization is sponsored by the North Carolina State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists.

Reverend C. L. Patrick, president of the N. C. State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists, visited the East Carolina organization in January.

Devotions are a vital portion of the opening service at the meetings of the Lutheran Student Association,

The highlight of the year for this group was the completion and dedication of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church. The dream was actually begun by college students.

Lutherans Take Annual Retreat to the Sound.

This religious group strives to provide fellowship among Lutheran students. They work, worship, and play together. Plans within the organization this year include annual fall and spring retreats at Pamlico Sound, spring carnival, and spring ashram for Lutheran Student Associations in the Southern states. Campus and community activities are Inter-Religious council, Religious Emphasis Week, and Our Redeemer Lutheran Church in Greenville.

Led by the Lutheran minister and Mrs. Mildred Derrick and Miss Pat Benson, advisors, students gather for lively discussions on religious questions.

Balanced programs of religious, intellectual, and social activities are provided through the Newman Club. Catholic training is provided on a college level for Catholic students in non-Catholic colleges. The club also provides any information about the Catholic religion to any non-Catholic who might be interested. All students interested in the club meetings and participation in club discussions are invited to join. This year the club has thirty-five local members.

Meeting weekly in the Y-Hut located on campus, the club takes part in social and fraternal activities. Plans include sponsoring a fall festival at St. Raphael's School, giving a St. Patrick's Day party, and teaching the Catholic religion to grammar school children.

This religious group was founded in 1915 in the memory of John Henry Cardinal Newman who devoted his life to the Catholic College Student.

By working together, the Newman Club holds a car wash to make money for their projects.

Father Spillan leads Catholic students in their meetings and discussions each week.

At their twice monthly meetings, the members of the Society of Young Friends enjoy gathering around the piano and participating in a good old fashioned song fest.

Young Friends Visit Guilford College.

This religious group promotes fellowship among Quaker students on campus; learns more about Quaker beliefs; and develops spiritual, social, and leadership qualities. Membership is open to all Quaker students attending East Carolina and other persons who are earnestly interested in Quaker doctrine and beliefs. The Young Friends was founded on the East Carolina Campus fall quarter, 1961. Plans include seminars on the study of Quaker beliefs, a trip to the Yearly Meeting of Friends at Guilford College in August, Christmas social, and a banquet during spring quarter.

Westminster Fellowship Plans Spring Retreat.

That the calling to be God's people while a part of a college community might be more clearly understood and more vitally realized in the lives of a Presbyterian student is the purpose of the Westminster Fellowship. Projects for this year include Fall and Spring Retreats, North Greenville Sunday School for Negro children, support of Taejon College in Korea, and support of the National Student Christian Federation and World Student Christian Federation. The Westminster Fellowship has a representative to the Inter-Religious Council and Synod Westminster Council.

Eloise Johnson, vice-president; Charles Rose, treasurer; Pat Farrior, vice-president; Jim Biggs, president; and Judy Biggs, secretary.

Wesley Foundation Provides Recreation for Students

At their weekly meeting, members of the Wesley Foundation are served a meal for a nominal fee.

Singing hymns is a favorite pastime of the members of the Wesley Foundation.

Organized at East Carolina College in 1936, the Wesley Foundation provides the opportunity for college students to explore the spiritual and material meanings of life. Members congregate to study, to worship, and to give a fuller meaning to their religion.

Although initially established for Methodist students only, the Wesley Foundation does not set denominational qualifications upon its membership. Anyone who is interested in the foundation may become a member. All Methodist students are theoretically members.

The main activity in which the Wesley Foundation participates is the Inter-Religious Council and activities sponsored by this group.

Throughout the year the members experiment with new forms to use in the attempt to understand the essentials of the New Testament Witness.

Emmett Jones, treasurer; Barbara Proctor, secretary; Ola Mae Bundy, vice-president; and William Joseph, president.

Clubs

Clubs are organized because of student interest in a particular area of study. Clubs give the student a chance to voice his opinions and prepare him for future responsibility in governing his country.

Twenty such organizations exist on this campus. Although service is the primary objective, these groups benefit the student in his social life. These clubs appeal to different groups, but they all serve the common purpose of helping the student learn to cooperate. Through club activities, the student learns to be a responsible citizen today and tomorrow.

Forming figures in the water is an essential part of the training in this water club.

Membership in the Aquanymphs numbers approximately nineteen coeds.

Aquanymphs Present Annual Water Show.

To practice synchronized swimming and to present the spring water show for the enjoyment of students and the general public are the purposes of the Aquanymphs. Membership qualifications are the ability to swim front and back crawl, to breast stroke, to side stroke, to float, and to perform several stunts. The Aquanymphs' plans for this year are a spring water show and participation in Carolina's A.A.U. Synchronized Swimming Meet in the Spring.

FIRST ROW: Ann Kizer, vice-president; Faye Bowman, president; Merle Evans, vice-president.
SECOND ROW: Jo Ann Anders, treasurer; Sylvia Crocker, Hycalith Lemons, membership chairman; and Lynn Abbott, historian.

Making mum corsages for Homecoming is an endless job for the A.C.E. members.

The purpose of the Association of Childhood Education is to work for the education and well-being of children by promoting desirable conditions, programs, and practices; to raise the standard of preparation; to encourage continued professional growth of teachers and leaders in this field; to inform the public of the needs of children and of the school program; and to bring into active cooperation all groups concerned with children.

The A.C.E. includes all persons interested in the education and well-being of children two to twelve years of age. Each year the A.C.E. tries to help some child have a happier Christmas. This year the A.C.E. sold Homecoming mums in order to make a child's Christmas brighter. Representatives were sent to the international convention in Portland, Oregon.

Broadcasting Guild Aids UNICEF Campaign.

Counting donations for the annual WWWS campus radio "radiothon" is a task for the guild members.

Nationally founded May 13, 1963, the Broadcasting Guild is an honorary fraternity at East Carolina College.

The main purpose of this organization is to promote superior quality within the field of broadcasting. The advancement of the ideals of broadcasting both educational and professional has been achieved by honoring those who have set examples of these ideals.

This year nine members joined the organization. To be a member, a student must have a "C" average; and he must be active in radio or television for a period of one year or more. The conduct of each member must be superior to the generally approved educational and professional standards. Membership must not exceed thirteen. Bi-monthly meetings include a supper meeting and a business meeting.

Bill Pitman, president; Jerry Fulford, secretary; and Robert Taft, treasurer.

Circle K Club Usher at Entertainment Series.

Outstanding qualities of leadership and scholarship with a "C" average are qualifications one must possess to be a member in the Circle K Club. Membership is by invitation. This service organization was founded in Pullman, Washington, in 1936; and the East Carolina Club was the fifth organized in the United States. "We build for justice, liberty, democracy, and a better world" is the motto of the club.

Dinner meetings are held each week in the Buccaneer Room for the Circle K members.

Discussion groups offer the members a chance to express themselves; therefore, training them for their roles as future leaders.

College Artists Open Art Sales Gallery.

Fellow members evaluate and criticize the work of artist Don Miller.

Third quarter freshmen who have submitted an acceptable portfolio of six pieces of work are eligible for membership in this art service club. The club proposes to further the cause and enjoyment of art among the students and citizens of Greenville. Officers are elected each quarter. This association was formed fall quarter, 1963. An art sales gallery, the first one in Greenville, features student exhibitions throughout North Carolina. A booklet showing art work from East Carolina has been published.

Home Economics Club Sponsors Spaghetti Supper.

The Home Economics Club features as its theme for the float in the Homecoming Parade, "Buccaneer Fashion Review."

Values of home economics in a dual course are an example of the many adult courses offered at East Carolina College.

Senior Day, which was sponsored by the Home Economics Department, was an exciting one for high school senior girls. They enjoyed a tour of the college campus.

Developing professional attitudes is one of the many purposes of the East Carolina Home Economics Association. Inter-group and international understanding in many fields, especially those concerned with family life, is emphasized. As a result of the work of the club, professional ties between college students and home economists are built. The club serves as a recruit for the profession of home economists and demonstrates through individual and group work the ideas of home economics. The students participate in programs for improving family life.

The Home Economics Club was founded in 1908 at Lake Placid, New York. It grew out of a lag between the findings of science and their applications in the home. So great was the need for improvement that the federal legislation promoted the movement. Any student who is a home economics major or minor is eligible for membership. This year the club has one hundred and thirteen members.

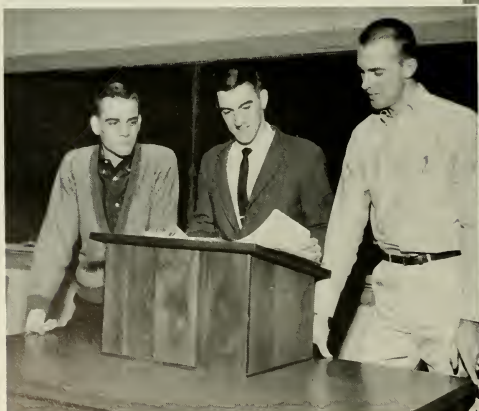

Industrial Arts Club Publishes Student Directory.

To promote professional activities among industrial arts students and to provide fellowship and interesting activities among members are the ideals of the Industrial Arts Club. Industrial arts majors are invited to become members. Plans within the organization include field trips to various industries and a delegation to the National and State Industrial Arts Conventions in Washington, D. C., and Raleigh, N. C. The club has participated in Homecoming, White Ball, and Fall Festival activities for the year. They also perform various services for the college and the Industrial Arts Department. They contracted and published the 1963-64 student directory.

A library science major or minor, or a library assistant, or anyone seriously interested in library work is the person who qualifies to be a member of the East Carolina Library Club.

This organization is dedicated to the purpose of promoting fellowship among the college students who seem to have like interests. The most important ideas are the encouragement of interest in the field of library science and in the East Carolina College Library. In order to fulfill these ideas and purposes, the organization holds meetings monthly to hear discussions about library problems and interests. These meetings stimulate the interest as well as help members to get a better understanding of this field.

This year has been filled with activities. The members participated in National Book Week November tenth through the sixteenth and worked on projects for Library Week.

Guest Lecturers Speak to Mathematics Club.

Billy Peedin tells a new member exactly what the aims of the club are.

This organization has striven to stimulate an interest in mathematics. Its purpose is to bring into fellowship people who share this interest in the field. They hear speakers and give reports in order to promote an even greater enthusiasm for its study.

With seventy-five members, the Marie D. Graham Mathematics Club has participated in many campus and community activities. It helped with Homecoming activities, a project in which the club participates each year. It participated in the carnivals and aided a family at Christmas.

The Mathematics Club enjoys refreshments at one of the regular meetings and proves that mathematicians also have fun.

Modern Dance students learn how to express emotion through body movements.

Modern Dance Club Stages Recital.

Promoting the mastery of body movements is one of the purposes of the Modern Dance Club. This group encourages creative group activity and fosters an interest in modern dance for both men and women. While conditioning the body, students develop poise, grace, and ability.

The East Carolina Modern Dance Club was founded in 1961. Any college student who has had at least one quarter of modern dance or its equivalent is eligible for membership. The club currently has eighteen members.

Each year the club takes part in the Women's Recreation Association. The club is now making plans for a spring recital.

As they participate in the organization, these students learn much about the intricacy of dance.

Design Group Awards Yearly Scholarship.

To promote a closer relationship between the interior design profession and the student is the purpose of the National Society of Interior Designers. The East Carolina Chapter was founded October 29, 1963. Sophomore students who are majoring in interior design are eligible for membership. Activities include field trips to furniture markets and lectures by interior designers and architects. An annual two hundred dollar scholarship is awarded a student.

Vickie DeBerry and Dr. Gray converse about the various projects of the Society of Interior Designers.

Nurses Club Helps Mail Christmas Seals.

Developing student nurses as truly democratic citizens by broadening their horizons as individuals as well as members of a group, the East Carolina Nurses Club serves as a channel of communication to the North Carolina Student Nurses Associations. Student nurses learn to adjust professionally and socially.

The East Carolina Nurses Club was organized in 1961. It is open for membership to any student enrolled in the school of nursing. This year the club has fifty members.

Meetings are held once a month. The club takes part in Homecoming, the spring carnival, the local Tuberculosis Association, the sale of Christmas seals, and the District and State Conventions.

Members follow the motto "The fame is nothing; the deed is everything."

Work with the Christmas seals is the main project of the year for this organization.

Phi Beta Lambda Conducts Candy Sale.

All business major students with a C average are eligible for membership in Phi Beta Lambda, which acts to promote better understanding between chapter members and the business world and to develop competent, aggressive business leaders. Phi Beta Lambda was founded in Washington, D.C., in July, 1946. Campus activities include help with the bloodmobile and with the School of Business open house at Homecoming. Plans for this year are a Christmas party, participation in both State and National Conventions, awards program, redecoration of the trophy case, and a spring banquet. The national president, William Thompson, is a member of the Omicron chapter. Awards were received at the state convention.

A candy sale is the means of obtaining money in Phi Beta Lambda this year. Members discuss plans for the sale.

Medical Club Tours Local Hospital.

Members listen attentively to a lecture by one of the guest speakers at their monthly meetings.

Fifteen members and two advisors compose the membership of the Pre-Medical Society.

Founded on East Carolina campus November 13, 1963, as an honorary science society, the Pre-Medical and Pre-Dental Club strives to stimulate an appreciation of the importance of premedical education to the study of medicine. Qualifications for membership are superior scholastic achievements, and each year a prize is given to the member with the highest scholastic achievements. Activities include medical films and lectures by physicians and other outstanding speakers.

Learning about the medical equipment is of vital importance to the pre-medical students.

Management Group Makes Field Trips.

Troy Lane, secretary; Lynwood Roper, treasurer; William Hart, advisor; and Terry Vann, president.

President Terry Vann explains membership data to prospective business majors.

Discussion groups always bring the problems of management to light. In this manner, members learn to be better prepared for their role as leaders in the management field.

Founded in 1912, this organization acts to bring together business students and executives for the exchange of information on management and to provide practical management experience through the activities of the organization. Students of business administration and others above the freshman level who are registered for a degree and have a sincere interest in the art and science of management are eligible for membership in the Society for Advancement of Management. The schedule calls for a monthly speaker from businesses of the area, members also make one field trip each quarter. The national publication for the Society is Advanced Management-Office Executive, a magazine geared to the interest of business executives and business students.

S.N.E.A. Sells Fruit Cakes at Christmas.

To provide opportunities for personal and professional growth, development of leadership skills, understanding of history, ethics, programs at state and national levels, and professional activities is the purpose of this educational club founded in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1857. All Bachelor of Science majors are candidates for membership.

This year the Student National Education Association helped the Civitans sponsor a Claxton Fruit Cake sale for the benefit of retarded children in the state. A Christmas project to help a needy family was also an activity for the year. Members plan to attend the State Convention in Raleigh. Each year the club sponsors the selection of the "Best Student Teacher."

W.R.A. Spearheads Intramural Competition.

Basketball is a favorite sport of the W.R.A. Members eagerly participate.

Patricia Dercole, president; Gray Little, historian; Dee Sauvageau, treasurer; Judy Brisson, secretary; and Nancy Langdon, vice-president.

Providing wholesome activities for women students in a variety of sports and encouraging the spirit of play for its own sake are the objectives of the Women's Recreation Association. Being a woman student at East Carolina is automatic membership in this organization. This past year one thousand active members participated in the various sports offered. Intramural activities planned for this year include volleyball, tennis, basketball, softball, badminton, archery, "Swim for Fun Night," awards banquet, and W.R.A. house party. Each year the W.R.A. publishes a handbook for freshmen which explains the coming year's activities. Sponsoring the Aquanymphs club and Modern Dance Club is a function of the organization.

Who gets the ball does not matter. W.R.A. is more interested in sportsmanship.

Young Democrats Attend Political Rallies.

r. Kathleen Stokes tells the YDC about the techniques of campaigning for public office.

Open to all students who profess allegiance to the principles of the Democratic Party, the Young Democrat Club's purposes are to stimulate in young people an active interest in government affairs and to foster and perpetuate the ideas and the principles of the Democratic Party. This year YDC plans to attend political rallies; to invite Democratic leaders to speak on pertinent issues; to support Democratic candidates for Congress, local government, and state legislature, and get voters to vote in November. YDC also helps with registration of voters.

Prior to the showing of a film, the Young Democrats engage in a period of political discussion.

A desire to work toward a revitalization of sound, conservative, free enterprise philosophy of government is the requirement for membership in the Young Republicans Club at East Carolina. The goal of the Young Republicans Club is to bring the two-party system back to North Carolina. Essentially the job will be campaigning.

Interesting programs which feature films and speakers are presented the second Wednesday of each month. This year members hope to take part in the Student Government elections and support the local Pitt County Republican Party.

Greeks

Fraternities and sororities have long been associated with lasting friendships formed during the college years. The word "Greek" is synonymous with friendship and brotherhood. Many life-long friends are made through the Greek organizations. Many of the most active students on campus can be found in the various social groups. The majority of the fraternities and sororities have service projects, often in cooperation with one another. All of the Greeks participate in campus activities in addition to their many social functions. East Carolina students choose from eight sororities and nine fraternities coordinated by the Panhellenic Council and Inter-Fraternity Council.

The Panhellenic Council is an organization composed of two representatives from each of the eight sororities. As stated in the Panhellenic Creed, the purposes are scholarship, good health, cooperation, social standards, service, and citizenship.

Setting up rush procedures and rules is an important function of the council. It sponsors Panhellenic Open House to introduce all prospective rushees to the sororities and later presents convocation to give the coeds a better understanding of the sorority system and a chance to sign for formal rush.

I.F.C. Explains Formal Rush Procedures.

The Inter-Fraternity Council is an organization composed of representatives of each of the nine social fraternities. Through this unity, the fraternity system is able to achieve goals which would be impossible on an individual basis. This organization has four primary purposes: to promote the interests of the college; to promote the fraternity interest; to promote the interests of the general fraternity system; and to insure cooperation between the fraternity system and the college administration.

An important function of I.F.C. is handling rushing and bidding. The council determines rush rules and gives out bids. The main social event sponsored by the organization is Greek Week. This helps to bring the men of each fraternity together in an atmosphere of friendly competition and fun. During the week, fraternities compete in day sports and in skit night. The climax of the week is the I.F.C. dance at which the Greek Week Queen is crowned and the winner of the week's competition is announced.

Rushes gather to receive instructions for formal rush.

Alpha Delta Pi sorority was honored last September with a visit from Grand National President, Mrs. Maxine Blake, and Province President, Mrs. George Lontz. "ADPi," the first secret society for women, was founded nationally May 15, 1851, in Macon, Georgia. The local chapter, Delta Omicron, was the hundredth chapter to be chartered.

"We live for each other" is the sorority motto. The girls have won honors for their homecoming float for the past two years. They took first place in scholarship last year over all other sororities. Not only do the sisters work for themselves; but they also work for others by raising money for the Easter Seal fund, aiding the Crippled Children's Fund, and helping with the Bloodmobile. They also participate in the Spring Carnival and the Sorority All Sing. The sorority sponsors an annual faculty tea.

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded nationally in New York, January 2, 1897. The local chapter, chartered in 1960, is one of seventy collegiate chapters. Through their life on campus the sisters uphold their ideal: To have a few simple and potent symbols and to serve the college by upholding good character and tolerance.

Each year the "AOPis" present, through Panhellenic, a trophy to the sorority with the highest scholastic average. Other activities of the group are presentation of gifts to the Frontier Nursing Service in Kentucky and participation in the sorority spectacular and Homecoming parade. At the 1963 Homecoming, Alpha Omicron Pi won second place for the float built with Alpha Phi Omega.

Alpha Phi seeks to develop the highest type of womanhood as exemplified by the three "C's": character, conduct, and culture. Alpha Phis follow these ideals as they take part in campus and community activities. Carrying out their national philanthropy Cardiac Aid, the girls conduct "Tag Day" in the Greenville business district for the Greenville Heart Fund. On campus the sorority participates in the All-Sing and Homecoming. Last fall it received second place for its float. In intramurals the "Phis" were volleyball champions for the last two years and received the WRA Best Participation Award.

Alpha Phi was founded at Syracuse University, October 10, 1872. The Delta Alpha Chapter was founded February 6, 1960. The Phis were the second sorority on campus to buy a house and move in this spring.

"We may not be the oldest or the largest, but we are the friendliest" is the motto of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. This sorority was the first on campus to go national. The chapter was chartered locally in September, 1959, and nationally April 17, 1893, in Galesburg, Illinois.

The most important yearly event of the sorority is the sponsoring of a Greek All-Sing. The girls also give Christmas gifts to orphans and support and educate a local child. Within the chapter a Best Pledge Award and Outstanding Member Award are given.

Chi Omega sorority fulfills its purposes of scholarship, friendship, and service through participation in many campus activities. During the year members have sponsored a picnic for their parents, a tea for judges and contestants in the Buccaneer Pageant, a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and a March of Dimes Dance. The group also acted as hostess for a luncheon honoring dignitaries attending the dedication of Ficklen Stadium. Sisters turned athletic as they participated in the sorority intramurals. Last spring they emerged as champions of the sorority division in softball.

Delta Zeta sorority each year participates enthusiastically in campus and community services. This year the sisters, with Lambda Chi Alpha, sponsored an Easter Egg hunt for underprivileged children. Nationally Delta Zeta sponsors the only college in the world for the deaf at Washington, D.C. The local chapter helps the Greenville School for Trainable Children and the Cancer Drive.

The objectives of Delta Zeta are sincere and lasting friendship, knowledge, moral and social culture, and unity in action. Founded as Lambda Tau in 1958, the local chapter went national February 6, 1960, as the Zeta Lambda Chapter. The national founding took place October 24, 1902, at Oxford, Ohio.

Kappa Delta annually participates in the Alpha Xi Delta All-Sing, the Heart Fund Drive, sorority intramurals, and Bloodmobile efforts. The group also aids underprivileged children at Christmas and Thanksgiving, sponsors a family picnic, and with the Lambda Chi decorates the campus Christmas tree. An annual highlight is the banquet honoring the football team.

Through its national philanthropy, Kappa Delta designs and sells its own Christmas Seals each year for the support of the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia.

The open motto of Kappa Delta, "Let us strive for that which is honorable, beautiful, and highest," has been an aim of the local chapter since its organization February 6, 1960. The group was founded nationally at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia, in 1897.

Sigma Sigma Sigma started the year with first place honors in the Sorority All-Sing and later with awards in sports. Members participate in the yearly Cancer Drives, Heart Fund, and Bloodmobile. Their major project is sponsoring a children's wing at the North Carolina Memorial Hospital, the Robbie Page Memorial Wing.

"Tri-Sigma" was founded nationally April 20, 1898, at Farmville, Virginia, and locally February 5, 1960. It was the first local sorority to acquire a house. The sisters work for the establishment of friendship and the development of strong womanly character. They endeavor to furnish a workable nucleus for campus activities.

Brothers chat with their new housemother, Mrs. Narleen Shavender.

Highlight of the year for Alpha Epsilon Pi was the acquisition of a house on Summit Street. This social fraternity was founded November 7, 1913, at New York University. The local chapter, Epsilon Kappa, was founded during the winter of 1961. It is one of eighty chapters today.

With ideals of brotherly love, faith, courage, and honesty, the men of "AEPi" participate in regular campus activities and intramurals. At Christmas in cooperation with a local church they gave a party for needy children. Within the fraternity, awards are given for scholarship, service, and the best pledge.

Living up to the ideals of Robert E. Lee and the South was the purpose of the founders of Kappa Alpha Order in December, 1865 at Washington and Lee University. The National Convention is held each year January 19 to celebrate Robert E. Lee's birthday and the founding of the order. This and the Old South Ball are two of the major events.

Six Kappa Alpha Orders are now in North Carolina. The local chapter, Gamma Rho, was founded in September, 1958. These "K.A.'s" usher at football games, give a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and participate in intramural sports. Winning the first place Homecoming float trophy started the year off right for the brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha. In intramurals the fraternity has held the title of champions in nearly every sport in the past two years. One of the recent titles was of football champions of Greek intramurals. A Christmas party and an Easter Egg Hunt for children are two annual activities.

With the motto, "Every Man A Man," Lambda Chi was formed to foster the spirit of Christian brotherhood in an academic and social environment. Chartered November 2, 1900, at Boston College, the national fraternity now includes over 85,000 men. The local chapter was chartered May 2, 1959.

Men who wear the diamond-shaped Pi Kappa Alpha pin strive to promote high scholarship, social values of true brotherhood, and ideal American manhood. This fraternity has the distinction of being the first fraternity to have a house and the first to operate a dining room. The two important social events each year are the Dream Girl Ball and the Concert By the Sea. The men participate in the Cancer Drive, and Bloodmobile Drive. They sponsor a party for underprivileged children. Within the fraternity an award is given to the Best Pledge of the Year and the Fred Robertson Award to the most outstanding brother of the year.

Since the national founding March 1, 1868, at the University of Virginia, PiKa has grown to include 127 chapters. The local chapter, Epsilon Mu, was founded May 17, 1958.

"Nothing shall tear us asunder" is the motto of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. The members try to follow this motto as they promote their ideals of fellowship, trust, scholarship, Christian manhood, and citizenship. The national founding was December 10, 1904, in Charleston, South Carolina. Locally it was founded February 16, 1963. This Beta Phi chapter was distinguished then by being the only chapter to be chartered by the entire National Council.

During the first year of chapter activities the "Pi Kaps" participated in the Bloodmobile Drive, Arthritis Drive, intramurals, Greek Week, and Homecoming. Awards given within the fraternity include the Master Chapter Award and scholarship awards.

Fine Arts

Excellence in the field of fine arts is almost a requirement for any liberal arts college. In this area, East Carolina is among the best in the state. The Glee Clubs were chosen to represent North Carolina in its Christmas salute to the nation. The talent displayed by the East Carolina Playhouse was instrumental in bringing about the formation of a summer theater, the first in this section of the state. The orchestra and band have often ranked with the best that can be found. Because of the high standards and performances of these groups, East Carolina can justly be proud of this realm of fine arts and its contributions to the world, the nation, and the state.

Spring Oper

Each year, the East Carolina Playhouse and the Opera Theatre present a joint production. This past spring on May 2 and 3, they combined in the presentation of "The Marriage of Figaro." The production, staged as a part of the events of the Second Annual Contemporary Music Festival, May 1 through 6, satirizes the social and political conditions in France immediately preceding the French Revolution and mocks the nobility of that period. According to the director of the Opera Theatre, Mr. Strassler, it is an opera of court intrigue as well as a satire on the foibles of the aristocratic class.

Originally written by De Beaumarchais, this play was later made into an opera by Wolfgang Mozart. The East Carolina presentation was an English version by Edward J. Dent, and the vocal score was by Erwin Stein.

A cast of eleven principals and a twenty-four piece orchestra composed the presentation. Principals of the opera included Jerold Teachey, Alison Moss, Ann Vickery, Martha Bradner, Nettie Bunn, Bill Newberry, Bonnie Currin, M. B. Godbold, John Sneden, Martha Compton, John Aldrich, John Berry, and Ronald Kuhns.

With the chorus of dancers and the entire cast assembled, the wedding scene portrays the finale of the dramatic production, "The Marriage of Figaro."

This scene originates from the prologue of the play at the Battle of Chancellorsville where Jackson (Ben Avery) was mortally wounded.

"The Faithful Lightning," a drama written by Kermit Hunter, was based on the life of Thomas Jonathan "Stonewall" Jackson from 1891-1861 while he was a teacher at Virginia Military Institute. This historical play premiered in McGinnis Auditorium March 13-16. Twenty-two speaking parts and many extras composed the cast of the presentation.

Running for a four-day period, the drama was highlighted by the appearance of the author at the Saturday night production. Hunter, noted author of "Unto These Hills" and professor of dramatic arts at Hollins College, Virginia, wanted to view the production before deciding to rewrite it for the New York stage or to incorporate it into an outdoor drama. Hunter called his new play, staged by the Playhouse, a complete change in style for historical drama, whether indoors or outdoors.

Produced by Director Edgar Loessin and Technical Director John Sneden, the play featured a multiple-level set which allowed three different time periods to take place simultaneously.

nd Cleopatra."

Tuesday, October 22, 1963, marked the opening of the most elaborate production ever undertaken by the ECC theater group. The Shakespearean classic, "Antony and Cleopatra," ran four nights in ECC's McGinnis Auditorium. After closing on campus, the production was staged in the Raleigh Little Theater the following night.

Two ECC faculty members, Dr. Corinne Rickert and Cleveland J. Bradner, Jr., held title roles. Two other members of the faculty, Dr. George Cook and George Douglas Ray, joined Bradner and Dr. Rickert as players for the production. The remaining cast was composed of ECC students. A cast of forty members from five states and nineteen North Carolina counties participated in this production.

Mr. Edgar R. Loessin, director of the College's drama and speech department, and John Sneden, technical director of the Playhouse, made possible the production of "Antony and Cleopatra," the first of five productions scheduled for the year by the Playhouse.

"West Side Story" Intrigue

"West Side Story," the award-winning Broadway musical based on Shakespeare's theme of "Romeo and Juliet," was presented by the East Carolina Playhouse and School of Music nightly February 12-15.

Music for the play was provided by the College Orchestra under the direction of Paul Gene Strassler, faculty member of the School of Music. Director Edgar Loessin and Technical Director John Sneden with Betty Rose Griffith, choreographer, combined time and effort to produce what might well be called the Playhouse "hit" of the season.

The production, a sell-out since early February, attracted some 4,000 theater goers during its four-night run in McGinnis Auditorium.

Stars of the performance were Connie McGhee (Maria), Bill Newberry (Tony), Diane Bray (Anita), Brad Weisiger, Jr. (Bernardo), and Randy Cochran (Riff). These five stars, along with 37 other members of the cast, began rehearsals in early January.

Present for the Saturday night performance were Governor Terry Sanford and Congressman Herbert Bonner.

Scene two features "The Jets" in the musical selection, "Gee, Officer Krupke."

ACADEMICS

As the world is divided into nations, East Carolina College is divided into schools and departments. Academic departments help the freshman make adjustments, aid the sophomore in deciding his major, and guide the junior and the senior in their final steps before graduation. The task is never ending. Curricula are changed, and new teaching methods are introduced. With the influx of students, academic standards become higher, and prerequisites for membership in the professional and honorary fraternities are more exacting. As the world changes, the College accepts the resulting challenges.

Offers Two New Degrees.

With 240 majors and a faculty of eighteen, the School of Arts ranks as the largest collegiate art school in the South. This year the school was authorized to offer the Bachelor of Fine Arts and Master of Fine Arts degree. This professionally oriented program enables its candidates to concentrate in three times the number of studies as before. One of two such programs in the state, it has been hailed as the strongest fine arts program in the nation. The six fields of study are painting, sculpture, ceramics, graphic arts, commercial art, and interior design.

New equipment obtained this year includes a high temperature gas kiln for the ceramics department. It enables more experimentation in firing as well as glazing and texture.

Specializing to meet the interests of the students, three groups are found in the School of Art. These are the College Artists Association, composed of exhibiting artists; the National Society of Interior Decorators, composed of student membership; and Delta Phi Delta, composed of honor students.

With Dr. Douglas Jones as Dean, the school offers a Bachelor of Science degree in primary and grammar education. Graduate work leading to the degree of Master of Education is offered in the areas of school administration, elementary education, guidance, and speech and hearing.

Special services rendered by the School of Education are remedial reading classes, guidance counseling, speech correction, and a reading clinic.

Along with the academic phase of education are the student organizations. On campus, four societies are available for those majoring in education: Tau Sigma, National Education Association, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Association for Childhood Education.

Despite the loss of several staff members to the new Department of Drama and Speech, the teaching staff of the English Department numbers thirty-seven. This department offers some fifty courses leading to the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Master of Arts degrees in English. Students may meet their language requirements for the liberal arts degree in French, Spanish, or German in the Foreign Language Department. Major and minor concentration is offered for both the liberal arts and teaching degrees in French and Spanish. Members of the foreign language staff have studied in colleges and universities in North America, Latin America, and Europe. Several members are native speakers of the languages they teach. Student assistants from France, Spain, or South America are employed each year.

The departmental equipment includes a language laboratory in which thirty individual booths contain the latest in modern electronic machines. A listening-reading room provides advanced students and staff members an opportunity to read current foreign publications and by means of earphones to hear recorded drama and poetry. Russian is offered by the department as part of the extension program provided by the College. Holding the rank of seventh in the nation among colleges and universities for their programs in Health and Physical Education, this department has a total of three hundred and fifty majors in the undergraduate field. Headed by Dr. Nephi Jorgensen, the department has a staff of twenty-three instructors.

Besides the Standard Bachelor of Arts degree, the Health and Physical Education Department offers a Masters and a Masters in Education to its prospective graduates. A certificate in education is offered for thirty hours to majors who desire additional training. Workshops and clinics for football, basketball, swimming, and baseball are held during the summer. A Gymnastics Club has been formed to demonstrate skills in gymnastics in other schools.

Money has been appropriated for a gymnasium to be completed by the fall of 1965. With the help of a balcony above the main floor, this new gymnasium will seat six thousand spectators. It will contain hand ball courts, a diving pool, a swimming pool, wrestling room, and classrooms. The site for this new project will be at the right side of Ficklen Stadium.

History Department Begins First Year

Dr. Herbert Paschal heads the History Department, which is, for the first year, a separate department. A faculty of twenty-four professors and five graduate students directs approximately five hundred history majors and teaches general history courses to all students.

During its first year, the History Department has distinguished itself. A club for history majors has been organized, and the faculty members have organized a seminar within the department. A collection of papers and articles on historical topics will be written and edited by members of the department. It will be published yearly.

Last summer, the department sponsored an Asian Studies Institute. This project is to be held again this summer.

Senior history majors with "B" averages may participate in the Honors Program in which they do independent reading and study under selected professors. At the end of two quarters, they prepare a paper on an independent research project. At the freshman and sophomore levels, honors sections are open to students of special promise. Their study in these sections permits a broader scope. Such classes are usually small and not confined to history majors.

Weekend for High School Students.

Home economics as a part of the Science Department was offered when the college was established in 1909. It became a separate department in 1937 and in 1940 was approved as an educational center for the preparation of vocational teachers. It is one of three colleges approved for such preparation by the North Carolina State Department of Public Instruction.

Today the department offers an undergraduate program for approximately 198 majors. Among these majors are the president of the Senior Class and two members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

At High School Day during the fall, two hundred high school students from this area came to get a preview of the department. A former graduate of East Carolina and president of the North Carolina Home Economics Association, Hazel Tripp, was the guest speaker. This event is held every other year.

Curriculum requirements for the education of teachers of Industrial Arts have been revised and strengthened. Many course outlines have been rewritten, and new methods and techniques of teaching have been put into operation. The Industrial Arts Club is open to all majors and minors. Epsilon Pi Tau, an honorary national fraternity, selects its members from active men in the club and from those who maintain a B or better average in Industrial Arts. These two groups participate in student affairs and carry on a variety of activities related to the department and to the college. Dr. Kenneth Bing heads this department.

Science Program Gives Flight Instruction.

Possibly thinking of future careers, cadets display the latest developments in aviation.

Training highly selected cadets for duty as commissioned officers is the mission of the Department of Military Science. Upon satisfactory completion of Air Force instruction and graduation from college, AFROTC cadets receive commissions as Second Lieutenants in the Air Force. They will then be called to active duty and begin careers as Air Force officers.

Three squadrons and thirteen flights which compose the 600th AFROTC Cadet Group have an enrollment of 390 cadets during the fall quarter. The group is staffed by high ranking cadets of the advanced course. East Carolina College cadets who attended summer training camps in 1963 received the highest overall rating of any group of cadets from the twenty major colleges and universities with AFROTC Detachments which border the Atlantic seaboard.

Senior cadets qualified for future Air Force pilot training are highly motivated by the Flight Instruction Program. Each flying cadet is awarded a Private Pilot's Certificate upon completing the thirty-six hour Flight Instruction Program and passing the Federal Aviation Agency written examination.

Social highlights of this year include the Fifth Annual Dining-In, Cadet Field Day, and the Military Ball.

Many long hours are spent in perfecting one selection.

Completes Plans for New Building.

Specialists in every phase of music and music education compose the faculty of the School of Music. This faculty of twenty-six instructors and seven graduate students includes a composer-in-residence as well as several additional active composers. There are now two hundred majors. Both the student body and staff are looking forward to the new facilities which should be available for occupancy by June, 1965.

Several performance groups including the Marching Pirates, the Symphonic Band, the Concert Choir, and the Opera Theater have received honors during the year. Many students and faculty members have won awards for individual performances, and students have received graduate fellowships. The annual Contemporary Music Festival continues to attract wide attention.

Eastern North Carolina is served by the School of Music through conferences, clinics, workshops, concerts, and the radio and television programs which originate from the College. WRAL-TV in Raleigh has sponsored a series of telecasts featuring performances from the School of Music during the early spring for three consecutive years.

The School of Nursing, under the direction of Dean Eva Warren, has since 1959 been accredited by the State Board and the National League for Nursing. Upon the completion of this four-year program, student nurses receive a Bachelor of Science Degree.

Nursing majors in this department have facilities available to them not only in the local Pitt Memorial Hospital, but also in the Public Health Department. In both locations, students are provided with a clinical atmosphere in which nursing fundamentals can be actively applied.

Affiliation at an Asheville Sanatorium and at the Butner Hospital for Mentally Ill in Durham also adds new learning experiences for the more advanced students. For personal counseling and laboratory work, the school has access to rooms on the third floor of Graham Building.

The first two graduates to complete the new clinical Master's were graduated this year. Richard Humphrey of Kinston, North Carolina, will be chief psychologist at the diagnostic clinic at the new center in Morganton, North Carolina. Wilbur Castellow is working at Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee, Florida. One recent graduate, Charles Moore, is now working on his doctorate at the University of Georgia, to which he received a fellowship.

Research on many topics has been done by the Psychology Department. Plans have been completed for the construction of a new building which will include an experimental facility with animals as well as individualized space for the other programs.

Dr. Everett demonstrates the principles of electrolytic conduction.

Four departments make up the Division of Science: Biology; Chemistry; Physics; and Science Education. Dr. Charles W. Reynolds is the overall director of the division. Each of the four departments has a separate director.

Among the programs now being developed in the Biology Department are marine biology, microbiology, and radiation biology. The department recently received a grant from the Atomic Energy Commission for laboratory equipment for radiation biology. The specialized training of the staff of the Chemistry Department permits the offering of courses at an advanced level in any of the major areas of chemistry. The laboratory facilities are modern, and the department has recently moved into a new wing of Flanagan Building. The Physics Department has a two-fold purpose: training teachers and providing a strong liberal arts degree for those preparing for further study in physics. The Science Education Department teaches science courses to elementary education majors; it also teaches the science methods courses and supervises student teaching in science.

Sociology,

Mrs. Howell discusses Malthusian theory of population.

With five full-time faculty members and Dr. Williams as head the newly formed Sociology Department strives to encourage student interest by guiding pupils in facing the reality of social problems. From eleven different courses now being offered, students learn that the present situation facing this country and the rest of the world calls for greater understanding of human relations and social conditions everywhere.

Farsighted students are increasingly enrolling in sociology courses in college to give them a better liberal arts education, irrespective of their chosen vocation or career. This subject is considered one of the best undergraduate majors for pre-professional training in law, business, industrial relations, personnel work, social case work, and social administration.

The Department of Drama and Speech offers instruction in all phases of theater production. The producing organization of the department, the East Carolina Playhouse, presents five major productions each Phiyear and several one-act plays directed by students and faculty. The work in speech includes a wide variety of forensic activities such as debates, broadcasting on the campus radio station, poetry reading, and oratory.

Including Edgar R. Loessin, director of the department, nine full-time staff members guide students working toward the Bachelor of Arts degree and majoring in either Drama, Drama and Speech, or Speech.

Honoraries

The campus honorary organizations acclaim outstanding students and those who devote much of their time and energy to the betterment of East Carolina College. By making this recognition both possible and desirable, these organizations themselves do a great deal in advancing the reputation of the school.

Included in these groups are the newly formed tutoring society and the honorary fraternities from most of the major departments. High academic achievement is a prerequisite for membership, and favorable recognition is gained by students accepted into these fraternities. The academic climate provided by these groups plays an important part in the growth of scholastic excellence at the College.

Alpha Phi Omega was founded to create close brotherhood among men and to be of service to campus, community, and nation. This service fraternity, the first fraternity on campus, was organized locally January 17, 1953. The national organization has grown since 1925 to include over three hundred chapters.

Each winter the "APO's" sponsor the White Ball, a fund raising project for Crippled Children. During football season and at graduation exercises they serve as ushers. Helping with the Christmas Seal Drive and presenting a trophy to the most outstanding football player of the year are two other services of the fraternity. Along with other organizations, the fraternity participates in Homecoming events. Last year it won second place for its float. In every activity the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega strive to uphold their motto—"Be a friend; be of service; be a leader."

Gamma Theta Upsilon, honorary geography fraternity, sponsors field trips to geographic points of interest in Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and the annual trip to Washington, D.C. The national, founded in March, 1928, at Illinois State, provides scholarships to members who work on their graduate degree in geography.

To create a better understanding of geography and to help members further their education in the field of geography are the purpose of Gamma Theta Upsilon. The local chapter, Beta Iota, was founded on March 25, 1955. It is open for membership to any interested geography major or minor. At the present, this chapter is undertaking a "crash" program to become one of the leading chapters in the nation. Loyalty, service, and progress are the motto of Pi Omega Pi, honorary business fraternity. Each year the members of this fraternity take part in the Northeastern Regional Typewriting Contest, Homecoming activities, and Spring Carnival. A scholarship is given to the senior with the highest average in Business Education, and an award is given to the student who is outstanding in the teacher-training program.

Founded on campus on February 12, 1944, Pi Omega Pi is open to a business education major with a "B" average in business and education courses and an overall "C" average. At the national founding June 13, 1923, at Missouri State Teachers College, the fraternity set up its purpose of establishing chapters of Pi Omega Pi and creating a fellowship among teachers of business subjects.

Recently organized on campus is Sigma Tau Sigma, the student tutoring society. This is a program offered free of charge by the students to other students who need scholastic help. The purpose of the society is three fold: to provide instruction free of charge to those students who desire to improve their scholastic standing; to stimulate among the student body an increased interest in the teaching profession; and to contribute to the scholarship and intellectual atmosphere of our college.

With the Motto, "Service To All," this group was first organized in 1954, at the University of Pennsylvania. Today there are thirty-one chapters. To be a member, a student must have a B average in the subject tutored. Members are invited upon recommendation of other honorary fraternities and department heads. Sigma Tau Sigma are the Greek letters which are equivalent of S.T.S., which stand for Student Tutoring Society.

With the motto, "Enriching growth and high ideals should be a mark of our life," Phi Omicron was founded on campus April 8, 1952. Any junior or senior home economics major with a "B" average is eligible for membership. The purpose of Phi Omicron is to encourage interest and scholarship in home economics, to aid in civic betterment at East Carolina College, to encourage high ethical standards in business and professional life, and to instill the ideal of service.

The main project this year was a cake sale in February. Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Lambie, the organization participated in the Spring Carnival and nominated a sponsor for the Homecoming Court.

Membership in Sigma Pi Alpha, honorary foreign language fraternity, is open to any student with an academic average of "C," a language average of "B," and credit for a language course above the elementary level. The fraternity was founded at N.C. State College in 1926 and locally in 1939.

Sigma Pi Alpha takes part in United Nations Week activities and sponsors foreign films at downtown theaters. The purpose of this organization is to stimulate an interest in and acquire a more intimate knowledge of the people whose languages are being studied and to contribute towards a better understanding between the United States and other countries.

Sigma Tau Deltas have informal discussion while making plans for upcoming year.

With the motto, "Sincerity, truth, and design," Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, was started locally in 1961. Requirements for membership are a major or minor in English, a "B" average in English courses, and an overall "C" average. The fraternity was founded to promote the mastery of written expression, to encourage worthwhile reading, and to foster a spirit of fellowship among English majors.

Participating in the Spring Carnival, aiding campus publications, and sponsoring the Fine Arts Festival are three projects of Sigma Tau Delta. The faculty advisor is Dr. Hermine Caraway.

Honorary educational fraternity, Tau Sigma, was organized to explore education, to supplement classroom work with actual experiences, to give members an opportunity to meet real problems and situations that will be eventually met in the field, and to provide a living laboratory in which to learn practical ways to be of service.

With the motto "To Serve," the Alpha Chapter was founded in the spring of 1955. Qualifications include a "B" average, requirements toward B.S. degree, classification of second quarter freshman or upperclassman, and qualities of leadership. The members, under the direction of Dr. Douglas Jones, participate in the Buccaneer Pageant, Homecoming Weekend, and the Spring Carnival.

Classes

With a body of six thousand students, East Carolina College ranks third in size in the state. Representing fourteen foreign countries, thirty-one states, and the District of Columbia, the student body yearly expands.

Within these six thousand students are five major divisions—graduates, seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen. Together these people constitute the nucleus of society at the College. At present, the freshman class is the largest. In the spring, a graduating class of over one thousand will exit from the halls of East Carolina.

Graduates

Graduate students wait for the nine o'clock classes to begin on Saturday.

The Graduate Division at East Carolina has a wide offering for the student wishing to do work at the graduate level. It is possible to receive one of four degrees: Master of Arts with an academic major, Master of Arts in Education, Master of Fine Arts Degree in the School of Art, or Master of Music Degree in the School of Music.

A Bachelor's Degree from an accredited college with acceptable grades and a satisfactory score on the aptitude section of the Graduate Record Examination are two requirements for all who wish to enter Graduate School. Forty-five hours is the minimum requirement for a Master's Degree in any field offered. Administration of the graduate program is the responsibility of the Director of Graduate Studies.

Bobby Hood and Terry Tugwell gather outside the College Union during one of those Saturday morning class breaks.

Football games are the main items for social life during the fall quarter. As usual, there are persons who take a keen interest in the game, ones who talk to their neighbor, and others who have that disgusted look. Football time is the time for many varied expressions.

An integral part of college life is associating with people especially those who have mutual interests. One of these outlets is sorority life. Each year in October, an open house is given for the girls who are interested. At this time, each sorority displays its awards and emblems. In November, sorority convocation is held. Approximately three hundred girls attend and fill the halls and auditorium. In February, most of these coeds find themselves a member of one of the eight sororities on campus.

Carolyn Thayer, the most popular write-in candidate in several years, vied for the position of SGA Secretary in the spring elections. She lost to Cathy Shesso.

Every student who votes in the student elections usually votes in his respective dormitory. However, the College Union is the polling place for the day students.

"Practice makes perfect" is the age-old saying for perfection. Therefore, each Saturday morning prior to graduation, the graduating class and the marshals journey to Ficklen Stadium to practice for the exercises the following day. Under the direction of the administrative officials, directions are given and the processional is put in order. This occasion is usually a scene of mass confusion for all involved.

Folk singers like Mary Adams and jazz musicians entertain at the Fine Arts Festival during spring quarter. The scene is the open space between the two cafeterias. Art, sculpture, and poetry reading are phases of this annual event. Friday afternoon and Saturday morning are the days usually designated for this display of student talent.

Portraits for the yearbook are made by a local photographer. In this edition of the Buccaneer, 4400 students, faculty members, and administrative officials came to the third floor of Wright Building for their photographs. Approximately eighty per cent of the student body is represented in this forty second volume. Five weeks, eight hours and an average of 140 persons per day was the length of time which this "say cheese" production continued.

With the enrollment stretching to the six thousand mark, registration has greatly been eased by the addition of the IBM facilities. However, dropping and adding courses are done on registration day. For the freshmen, it was quite a bewildering experience to enter Wright Building, complete five forms, and then check out in accordance with the rules. Registration is more simplified, but minor problems still may be solved on the first day of each quarter.

During the Homecoming week-end of October 18-20, the class of 1953 held its class reunion. In addition, the football team of the same year was honored, along with the team of 1933, at a banquet in South Cafeteria and tea in the Bucaneer Room. Among the invited guests, were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith and Mr. and Mrs. James Mallory. Miss Janice Hardison was in charge of alumni affairs for this special event.

Parties are "the go" on this college campus. East Carolina endeavors to keep pace with such dances as the thunderbird and the chicken. Most people try to buy the all popular weejuns, the country shirts, and the other collegiate trends in fashion. A party is the perfect place to see the typical collegiate in dress, as well as in manner.

Shopping is always on the agenda for the college set. Needless to say, the frequent trips uptown may buy one's own wardrobe, a gift for that special friend, or a card for the folks back home. Edith Dobson, Daisy Griffith, and Harriet Paylor share their shopping chores. Because of such collegiates, Greenville businesses thrive.

As an introduction to college life, the class of 1967 came to the campus in groups of an average of 150 during the summer. They were taken on tours of the campus including the J. Y. Joyner Library. Miss Walker informed the newcomers on how to use the periodical references. In addition, they were given placement and personality tests.

In a democracy, the government is in the hands of the people. Such is the case on this college campus. The freshmen early learn that they must choose their own officers; therefore, the class elections take place in October. In the first election, a small minority of the freshmen went to the polls. For the run-off election and after a "Meet Your Candidate Meeting," three times the original number voted. Carole White helped with the operation of the polls during the busy day.

Alma

Mater

Praise to your name so fair,
Dear old East Carolina

Your joys we'll all share

And your friends we'll ever be.

We pledge our loyalty,
And our heart's devotion.

To thee our Alma Mater,
Love and praise.

Editor's Epitaph

Sixty minutes an hour, twenty-four hours a day, and three hundred and sixty-five days a year, the earth turns on its axis. Within this space of time, exciting events happen, memories linger, and heartaches occur. Such has been my year as editor of the 1964 Buccaneer.

Editing a yearbook involves more than sitting behind a desk and dictating orders. It presents a challenge and a varied number of activities. Among rewards have been my first trip to New York City and my first train ride. I was also fortunate enough to obtain my first airplane ride over the city of Greenville. These have been the highlights.

No editor can do the work herself. Behind me have been the most loyal and dedicated section heads. Joyce Sigmon, Oran Perry, Shirley Hanes, Rowena Skipper, Sue Whittle, Ritchie Steele, Merle Evans, Bobbie Eason, and Sandra Waddill have been my shining lights in this respect. To Jim Rabon, the business manager, go more thanks than I can ever say in words. Along with the student help, I owe a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Mary Goodman, the literary advisor, for her hours of reading and correcting probably some of the worst copy she has ever read. To Miss Gwen Potter, my appreciation for helping with the financial aspects is expressed. To Dr. J. H. Tucker and the Publications Board go my thanks for enough faith to let me undertake this task.

Little can be done on a 464 page edition without the aid of professional help. Mr. Lee Blackwell, Taylor Publishing Company Representative, was always here when I needed him; and Zeno Spence needs a big thanks for interpreting my artwork. A yearbook without pictures would not be a yearbook. Photo Arts Studio was entirely responsible for the pictorial coverage. Gratitude for this work goes to Gilbert Windham, Fred Robertson, Tom Doe, Rufus Freeman, Joe Brannon, Vaughan Gwyn, and Johnny Deekins. Homer Ball of Goldsboro was the expert photographer for most of the color work.

An editor needs not only material help but also support of the morale. Patsy Wiley, my roommate and sorority sister, has provided the latter. Others who have done those little things when I needed them most were Henry Wallace, Joan Morrison, and Miles Barefoot.

My year has ended. Another staff begins work, and to it I wish the best success ever. At times, the going is rough especially when three tests, four reports, and a yearbook deadline are due in the same week. The fun I have had and the people I have met have more than compensated for the problems. I have enjoyed exploring the world, of 1964 at East Carolina College.
