

Christ Church Rectory
Wednesday March 28th 1894.

My dear Governor,

An unexpected call out of town early Monday morning and physical indisposition since my return have prevented an earlier acknowledgment of your characteristic kindness to me. The generous supply of beautiful sermon paper was left at the Rectory with your card reader - and I thank you for your thoughtful goodness with all my heart.

If the sermons delivered from the pulpit of Christ Church for some time to come prove to be less tedious than usual the congregation will be largely indebted to you, for certainly the rector has now an incentive to write more are such beautiful paper even if — in deference to the wishes of a considerable part of the congregation — the Manuscript is left behind in the study.

Heartily hoping that you and your household have had a happy Easter and will have many more in our midst and with renewed expressions of my grateful appreciation of your kindness, I am Very Sincerely & Faithfully
Your friend & pastor
