

801 Madison Avenue,
Baltimore

March 30, 1898.

Dear Gov. Carr:

Your daughter, Miss Eleanor,
came over to see me on yesterday, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Miss Nichols (if I remember the latter's name correctly).

Miss Eleanor does not look to be in a healthy condition. She has a bad leucorrhoea, severe headaches, & her "periods" are scanty. I doubt if she can get well
at school; she cannot get proper attention, nor can she do herself justice at study.

I prescribed for her,
but fear she cannot get all the benefit
from my prescriptions
while at school.

The best thing for her to do is, to come over & take a private room at our Woman's Hospital, where she can be comfortable, & have my orders carried out by the best trained nurses

in the City.

With cordial regards
to Mrs. C.,

Yrs faithfully,

W. T. Howard.
