Dear Sir:-

We are in receipt of your esteemed favor of the 14th inst.' inclosing check for $420.00, tendered in payment of the annual premium, $452.70, due to-day, 17th inst., and receipt for the latter amount is herewith inclosed. Owing to a shortage in your remittance of $32.70, we drew on you for the same, we are just in receipt, however, of your favor of the 16th inst.' with check for $32.70 covering the shortage. Upon presentation of the draft kindly instruct the bank to return it and we will take same up with your check just received.

Yours truly,

I herewith enclose you a statement of acct. which with the data at hand I can scarcely hope will prove more than a mere approximation. ~~to~~ to the actual status of affairs. I do not seek an exact balance, but if there be any large errors of omission or commission I shall appreciate their correction.
The notes I have drawn for the sake of uniformity under two heads - Renewals or Valid notes & Vouchers against which the checks of E. C. & S. would appear & which you would enter on their credit then running acct. ^{with} the 500 note of May 25-89 I knew as a Renewal & not as a Credit or Voucher note. Is this correct?
