June 19, 1898.

Dear Mr. Carr:

Before she left, I gave your daughter full directions as to carrying out my prescriptions, which she wrote down, I hope was rigidly observed. She was very much better, but the local trouble was not entirely cured. These affections are often very rebellious to treatment; still,

They are curable, & yield to intelligent treatment in time.

While at the hospital,
she had several nervous attacks, but I did not think she had an attack of renal colic. The infallible test of that is the passage of a renal calculus. If
she ever possesses one,
please send it to me
that I may have it
analyzed.

She has a neurotic temperament, & I think that sea-bathing
would have a tendency to brace up
her nervous system.

With kind regards to her & Mrs. C. &
with sentiments
of cordial regard,
I remain,

Yrs Sincerely,
W. T. Howard
