

Sunday.

My dear Elias.

Thank
you so much for these lovely partridges which I am told you and Nick killed. Bless your
dear hearts for the kind thought
of sending them to us. We are going to give a dinner next Thursday night

to use them. I never tasted as good sausage before it really seems better than any before that you have sent us maybe it's because I expected them to be - after your performance on them last summer. Did you ever feel such a mild Fall as this has been?
we have had no winter at all so far - just one or two cold snaps - Our bases on front have been blooming right along, on my deck I show three beautiful ones I pulled this morning
Of course we have enjoyed the drives in consequence of the mild weather - but I much prefer the cold &
I think it is healthier.

When are you coming
as to see us Cant
you come this I mean we would love so to have you? Give us a piece - its true
you are coming, I think - its been years
since you were here Bruce & Burtan join me in love

Here is a big kiss
for you my dear
sweet father

Devotly yours
Kiss Martina
