March, 23th, 95.

My dear Mr. Lee:

You wrote
me some time ago you
had written to Mama
to see if she could let me have the money I wrote for. I have not yet heard from you, and I am very much in need of a small amount, I am very sorry I have to ask you but I hope you
understand it all.
As necessity forces me to do it. I hope to hear from you
by next mail

if you can possibly
make any arrangements.
I am expecting to teach next fall and hope I will not have to call
on you for money.

I will thank you
very kindly for your kindness. Hope you will not have to refuse me. Love to all.

Please answer at your first opportunity. And
oblige

Your Friend
Annie Lottin
