NoCar Ref

A Financial Community of the state of the st

THE NOMINATION OF
FRANCIS SPEIGHT
FOR THE
OLIVER MAX GARDNER AWARD

JANUARY 15, 1975

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA 27834

OFFICE OF THE CHANCELLOR

January 10, 1975

Dr. William C. Friday
President
The University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514

Dear President Friday:

It is with pride and much pleasure that I submit the nomination of Francis Speight for the O. Max Gardner Award for 1974-75.

The contribution he has made with his art work spans the years of his life as an active painter. It increases as he continues to paint and as his paintings are exhibited in national museums and galleries and are evaluated and appraised by specialists in the field. The writers on Francis Speight's art which are included as a part of this nomination attest to his contribution and to his increasing stature among American artists.

If needed, other details concerning Mr. Speight will be gladly furnished.

We recognize the high distinction of the O. Max Gardner Award and consider it a real privilege to be a participant in the competition.

Best wishes,

Sincerely.

Leo W. Jenkins

LWJ:d1

East Carolina University is a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina

An Equal Opportunity Employer

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

GREENVELLE, NORTH CAROLINA 27834

January 10, 1975

FFICE OF THE CHANCELLOR

Dr. William C. Friday
President
The University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514

Dear President Friday:

It is with pride and much pleasure that I submit the nomination of Francis Speight for the O. Max Gardner Award for 1974-75.

The contribution he has made with his art work spans the years of his life as an active painter. It increases as he continues to paint and as his paintings are exhibited in national museums and galleries and are evaluated and appraised by specialists in the field. The writers on Francis Speight's art which are included as a part of this nomination attest to his contribution and to his increasing stature among American artists.

If needed, other details concerning Mr. Speight will be gladly furnished.

We recognize the high distinction of the O. Max Gardner Award and consider it a real privilege to be a participant in the competition.

lest wishes,

Leo W. Sentina

Ib: LWJ

THE NOMINATION

0

FRANCIS SPEIGHT

FOR

THE OLIVER MAX GARDNER AWARD

East Carolina University

Greenville, North Carolina

January 15, 1975

East Carollon University is a constituent institution of The University of Nexts Carollon

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Nocar 237 €32×

CHECK THE CHENTRE SURED

Base Carotina Maiverstry

CONTENTS

						Page
I.	BIOGRAPHICAL DETAILS	•	•	•		1
	AWARDS AND HONORS				uz No	8
	EXHIBITIONS AND ART JURY SERVICES					13
AT OF	PAINTINGS BY FRANCIS SPEIGHT		•		ance i	20
II.	HIS CONTRIBUTION TO THE WELFARE OF THE HUMAN RACE		•			31
	STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE ART OF FRANCIS SPEIGHT.	•	•	•		35
	APPENDIX FRANCIS SPEIGHT: EIGHTEEN PAINTINGS					51

to Sorthe Condition of their test from the Sharmosk home. This will whare from a Special the artist, was born and rathed, otel case and a fire orter crees. There are the best fire built in

THE TALL THE RESERVED THE RESERVED AND THE PERSON PRODUCTION.

the two two two tents tong the Manager of Art . He Specials again to the

FRANCIS SPEIGHT

I. BIOGRAPHICAL DETAILS

Francis Speight was born on September 11, 1896, at Windsor, North Carolina, the county seat of Bertie County. He was the son of Reverend Thomas Trotman Speight, a gentleman farmer as well as pastor, and Margaret Otelia Sharrock. Both parents have had a lasting influence upon Mr. Speight.

THOISTE BIONARY OF THE ART OF PRANCIS STELLING.

APPENDIX-FERANCIS SPEIGHT: ELGHTESN RAINTINGS . .

When Thomas T. Speight, who was then a widower, married Margaret Sharrock, the widow of Albert V. Cobb, he moved over to Bertie County, to what had been the Sharrock home. This was where Francis Speight, the artist, was born and raised. The house was fairly large, an L shaped old frame dwelling with a dining room and kitchen of newer origin built in the rear. The house rested on brick piers about three feet high. (When he was little, Francis and the other children played under the house.) It was in a grove of about seventy-five old oaks and a few other trees. There were many farm buildings in the yard. . . .*

Mr. Speight's first schooling was in a schoolhouse erected by his tails for the biographical sketch in this publication.

The indented passages are taken from the biographical sketch in Francis Speight: A Retrospective Exhibition--February 16 - March 26, 1961 by the North Carolina Museum of Art. Mr. Speight supplied all de-

EJIATTE JADIRTARDOIS ...

waret Otelia Sharrock Both perents had a lasting influence open

When Thomas II Spoight, who was then a widower, certied Ha was where Francis Speight, the artist, was born and raised.

garet Sharrock, the widow of Albert V, Cobb, be moved over ings in the yard.

Francis Speight was horn on September 11, 1896, at Windoon, North father in their own yard. A teacher was hired by his father to instruct Francis and the children of a few families from adjacent farms. At an early age a discipline was instilled in Mr. Speight which has come to be a vital characteristic of the man as artist. He was able later to attend a public school and he went to high school at Lewiston, just a few miles north of Windsor. During this time he was formulating in his mind the outlines for a career in writing. Events of the next few years would change the course of his life.

Francis' first five years of schooling were in the schoolhouse in the yard. His father employed a teacher and had a private school for his children and the children of a few other families in the neighborhood. Conversation in the household centered around religion, education, politics and the farm activities. . . . After the school in the yard was discontinued, Francis went to public school a mile down the road and then to high school in Lewiston. During this time there was much conversation among the older children in the family about writers, actors and artists.

Mr. Speight did not complete all requirements for graduation from high school. However, in 1915 he enrolled at Wake Forest College, where he studied for two years. During this period of time the rudiments of his career in art began. Possibly with the idea of learning the techniques of drawing in order to illustrate his writings, on Saturdays he took art lessons from Miss Ida Poteat, a faculty member at Meredith College in Raleigh.

a vital oparacteristan, of the man as eretst. He was able lettend a public school and he went to high school at Lewiston, just a few miles

Prencis' fire years of schooling sexe in the schooling in the yard, his father employed a teacher and had a private lies in the neighborhood Conversence in the household cen-ties, . . Alter the school in the yord was discontinued,

Francis went to public school a mile down the road and then tour sergeof in Lewiston, Duffing this time theoret at loosee third on conversation among the pider children in the family about write-

Mr. Speight did not complete all requirements for graduation thou high achool. Moverer, in 1915 he engelied of Make Former Gellege, where Although Francis did not finish high school, his father, anxious that he should graduate from college, sent him to Wake Forest College in 1915. . . . Francis, however, stayed in college only two years. During these two years, in addition to his studies at Wake Forest, he took art lessons on Saturdays with Miss Ida Poteat at Meredith College in Raleigh. Francis' chief interest at this time was to be a writer, and the art lessons were his sister Tulie's idea; she thought he might like to illustrate his own writings.

It is difficult to distinguish that moment or event which prompted Mr. Speight's commitment to painting. However, in 1919 he associated himself for a few months with a commercial art studio, the Chanderly Art School, at Washington, D. C. In January of 1920 he enrolled for a term at the Corcoran School of Art at Washington, D. C. Influenced by an exhibition of paintings by Daniel Garber, a faculty member at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Mr. Speight enrolled at the Academy in the fall of 1920, where first as student and later as teacher he remained until 1961.

After the United States entered the war in 1917, Francis' brother

Jim--later a member of the State Legislature--when he volunteered, asked Francis to stay at home with their parents until he re turned from the war. He said that then he would see to it that Francis went to art school. So Francis stayed at home, until he the art lessons were this router router will amore to you are add

Designous de destinguées de promotes de sons de sons de la la company de la company de

-es of redoced as votest birt greaters as level exectly exectly digit to live out of man nim same at the to the same and the same was drafted for three months' service. When Jim came home in 1919, Francis went to Washington, D. C., where he studied two or three months in a commercial art studio. Then, in January of 1920, he went to the Corcoran School of Art and studied for a semester. At the Corcoran he saw an exhibition of the drawings of Daniel Garber, who was a teacher at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. It was this exhibition, along with the interest of his sister Tulie, that led him to go to the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts School in the fall of 1920.

With his enrollment at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Mr. Speight's commitment to a career in art had been made. He excelled as a student, winning two Cresson Traveling Scholarships, each providing a summer of travel and study in Europe. As a painter he found his favorite subjects in the suburbs of Philadelphia. He was attracted to the manufacturing districts of Pennsylvania, where he painted the buildings, the rivers, the skies, and the people. This attraction has never diminished.

Though Francis had thought of going back to North Carolina to paint, the fact that he was offered a job teaching at the Pennsylvania Academy and the encouragement of Daniel Garber led him to spend his time painting in Manayunk, a hilly industrial area along the Schuylkill River on the edge of Philadelphia. Here the stone and stone-stucco houses on the hillsides, the stone was drafted for three months' service. When Jim caps home in of 1920, he went to the Corcerse School of Art and studied for a semanter. At the Corcoran he saw an exhibitiles of the drawings of Daniel Carmer, who was a reacher at the Pennsyl-sands applited the chis car if was line was to washed ainey

With his envoltment so the Pennsylvania Soudeny of Fine Arts, Mr.

Speight's commeltment to a career in art had been made. He excelled as Savorite subjects in the suburbs of Philadelphia, He was effraced to tine magnifactors districts of Pennsylvania, where he peinted the build-

Though Francis had chought of golog back to Morth Carolina-to paint, the fact that he was offered a job tenching at the Benn-to spend his since patenting in Manayanak, a Milly industrial ores

the stone and stone-street houses on the hillsides, the stone

a summer of travel and study in Europe: As a painter he found his diminished.

factories, the canal and the river furnished abundant material. Francis says about the area, "In Manayunk where most of my painting has been done, I have been fascinated by the height and depth of the landscape. When I was a child in eastern North Carolina where it was fairly flat, I was afraid of the least bit of a hill and recall that my father let me get out of the carriage and walk down the hill at 'Chisky Swamp' on the way to Windsor, but I did not mind walking up. In Manayunk, it was always stimulating to stand and look across the valley and paint the rich mosaics of houses on the distant hill, the river, and foreground sloping toward the river or turn and look up at the houses and trees, so often seen against the blue sky and white clouds." Pennsylvania Academy students had been going out to Manayunk to make sketches for years. But Francis Speight was the first professional artist to paint there and to bring it to national attention.

On November 7, 1936, Mr. Speight married Sarah Jane Blakeslee, and there have been two children: Thomas Blakeslee Speight and Elizabeth Sharrock Speight. Mrs. Speight, an outstanding painter in her own right, has been the recipient of numerous awards and honors and has served as a continual inspiration to Francis.

The recognition of Mr. Speight's talent as a painter was immediate, and the list of his awards and honors is long and impressive. Among the most noteworthy are honors that have come from institutions of higher education. In 1961 Wake Forest College conferred upon Mr. Speight factories, the const and the river fulnished abundant memberials

Francis says about the area, "In Managunk where most of my and depth of the Landscapes Tanks I was a chilled in mastern

Morrel Corolina where is wes foftly flat, I was afreid of the least bit of a hill and requis to take my father to aid wasel

the way to Windser, out I did not mind welking up., In Mana-valley and paint the rich meanics of houses on the distant bill, the river, and foreground sloping toward the river or cure and look up at the houses and trees, so often seen amy students and been spine but to Manayunk to make sketches for years, Bur Eranais Spating was the First professional

Fight, has been tentificat of gomerous owards and honors and has ground . aviancesqual how apply at agorned him chasses alm 30 well out box exclast to paint there and to bring it to mattonal arrention.

On Movember 7, 1936, Nr. Speight married Saunh Jane Blekewlee, and yunks, it was savery actualization of man look screek asy it show the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, and in 1964, in a ceremony during which President Lyndon B. Johnson was also honored, Holy Cross College conferred upon Mr. Speight the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts. The State of North Carolina has also honored her son. In 1964 Mr. Speight was awarded the North Carolina Award in recognition of his outstanding achievements in art, and in 1973, as a kind of culmination to an illustrious career, he was honored as the recipient of the Morrison Award, presented annually by the Roanoke Island Association to the North Carolinian who has contributed most to the arts.

In 1961, after an affiliation with the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts for slightly over forty years, Mr. Speight desired to return home, to the place of his birth. In this year he joined the faculty of the School of Art at East Carolina University as Artist-in-Residence, and he currently holds the rank of Professor of Fine Arts at East Carolina University. The students in his classes are enriched by his wealth of talent and experience.

In North Carolina his painting continues, and his attraction to the symbols of strength in an area remains strong. In his artistic activities, he continues to engage himself in capturing in oils and water colors those features of the landscape which speak to man of strength and endurance—the buildings, the houses, the trees, the rivers, and the people.

Provided below as important parts of this biographical sketch are three lists: (1) a list of Mr. Speight's awards and honors; (2) a list of Mr. Speight's exhibitions and art jury services; and (3) a list of the degree of Doctor of Homene Letters, and in 1904, in a ceremony during which President Lyndon B. Johnson was also honored, Noly Cross College conferred upon Mr. Speight the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts. The State of North Carolina his also basemed her son, in 1964 Mr. Speight was awarded the Morth Carolina Award in recognition of his outstanding achievements in ert, and in 1971, as a kind of culmination to an illustrious carmer, he was honored as the recipient of the Morth Tison Award, presented annually by the Rosnoke Island Association to the North Carolinian who has contributed most to the arts.

In 1961, after an affiliation with the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Acts for alightly over forty years, Mr. Speight desired to return home, to the place of his birth. In this year he joined the faculty of the School of Act at East Carolina University as Actist-in-Residence, and he currently holds the rank of Ecolessor of Fine Acts at East Carolina University. The students in his classes are england by his

In North Carolina his painting continues, and his stiraction to the symbols of strength in an area remains strong. In his artistic activities, he continues to engage himself in capturing in oils and water colors those festures of the landscape which speek to man of strength and endurance-the baildings, the houses, the trees, the rivers, and the

Provided below as important parts of this biographical sketch are obsect lists of Mr. Speight's swards and concest (2) a list of Mr. Speight's swhipicies and srt jury services; (3) a list of

Mr. Speight's paintings. These lists will show both a state and national recognition of his achievements in art.

Winner of Trovers Naveness Trivelius Steaker-Wincer of Shuther Pullouthin (dinent) fold Hele) William of the Landstaire Price The Association Witness of Kolonitions Tricks Chief Lundelburg of Wanter of Landersky Fritz Commettient Academy Whatten Brokesope of Art at the Chiver Sing of

-7-

FRANCIS SPEIGHT: AWARDS AND HONORS

Year	Award/Honor
1923	Winner of Cresson European Traveling Scholar- ship (Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1925	Winner of a second Cresson European Traveling Scholarship (Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1926	Winner of Academy Fellowship (Alumni) Gold Medal Award (Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1928	Winner of the Landscape Prize (The Association of Washington Artists)
1930	Winner of 1st Hallgarten Prize (National Acade- my of Design, New York)
1930	Winner of Kohnstamm Prize (Art Institute of Chicago)
1930	Winner of Fellowship Prize in the Annual Exhibi- tion of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts
1932	Winner of Landscape Prize (Connecticut Academy of Fine Arts)
1934, 1935	Visiting Professor of Art at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill during the summer sessions
1937	Winner of the 3rd Clark Prize ($1,000) and Bronze Medal (Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C.)
1937	Elected Associate Member of the National Academy of Design
1938	Winner of Philadelphia Sketch Club Medal
1940	Winner of Academy-Fellowship Prize (Regional Ex- hibition of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1940	Winner of the Sesnan Gold Medal for Landscape (Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1940	Elected Member of the National Academy of Design ship (Renney) veria academy of Fine Arts).

Winner of Academy Fellowship (Rimania) fold Medal

Minney of the Londscape Prize (The Association

Winner of Kahnetanne Prize Chre Inettrate of Rinner of Fellowship Pride to the Amnuel Schiller .

Patra only to predent wherevery of Fine Artsey

Visiting Professor of Age as the University of

Witness of the 3rd Classic Prize (31,000) and Spenty

Placted Assestate Mambor of the Mattonal Academy

Winner of Academy Tellowellp Prize (Ragional Ex-

Bisoccad Mondred of the Battenal Academy of Design

Winner of the Session Gold Medal for Landscape

Winder of Philadelphia Sketch tinb Madal

DAGI

(.3 .0 nongolderst , sea liery of Arr. Mashington, D. C.)

Year	Award/Honor
1945	Visiting Professor of Art at Shrivenham Ameri- can Army University, Shrivenham, England
1947	Visiting Artist at Westminster College
1948, 1949, 1956	Visiting Instructor of Painting during eve- ning classes at Lehigh University
1949	Visiting Artist at Depauw University
1951	Winner of 1st Altman Prize for Landscape ($1,000) (National Academy of Design, New York)
1953	Awarded Grant ($1,000) (National Institute of Arts and Letters)
1953	Winner of 2nd Altman Prize for Landscape ($600) (National Academy of Design, New York)
1954	Elected Member of the Century Association of the City of New York
1955	Winner of Obrig Prize (National Academy of Design, New York)
1958	Winner of 1st Altman Prize for Landscape ($2,000) (National Academy of Design, New York)
1960	Elected Member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters
1961	Winner of Owens Award (Awarded to a distinguished Pennsylvania artist by the Fellowship of the Penn- sylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1961	Awarded the Academy Gold Medal of Honor (Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts)
1961	Had conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Wake Forest College
1961	Established as Artist-in-Residence at East Caro- lina University, Greenville, North Carolina
1962	Winner of 2nd Prize at Legionair Valley, Pennsylvania, Annual Regional Show

den army university, Shrivenham, England 1945. -eve galiub gailales le referrant Malfrely Awarded Gradt (St. 000) (Nattonal lasticute of Risoted Manber of the Contury Association of tine City of New York Design, Rew York) to appart and Hamber of the Hattonal Institute of (està enta lo ymphena alney . Hed conferred upon him the degree of Derier of Humane Letters by Wake Forest College Wichest of 2nd Prince at Legiconity Valley, Rennsyl-

Year		Award/Honor
1963	Antopete to the 3x	Through the National Academy of Design, recipient of a Certificate of Merit of England's Royal Academy of Arts
1963	the following must	Appointed by Governor Sanford to serve as a Member of the North Carolina State Arts Council; reappointed by Governors Moore, Scott, and Holshouser
1964	The Fannsylvanie	Awarded by North Carolina the North Carolina Medal for Achievement in the Fine Arts, May 25, 1964
1964	The Burley Art In	Had conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts by Holy Cross College
1973	The Berken Calles	Winner of the Morrison Award, presented by the Roanoke Island Association, November 13, 1973

Among Francis Speight's other honors are the following:

- 1. His biography is included in Who's Who in America, the International Who's Who in Art and Antiques, and the publication honoring notable North Carolinians, 100 Years 100 Men.
- 2. He is listed and one of his works was reproduced in the Encyc lopaedia Britannica (1948; and again in 1954, Volume 17, Plate 24).

- 3. His painting, "Scene from West Manayunk," was used on a Christmas card by the Hallmark Publishing Company in 1944. In addition, his painting, "Winter," was published as a Christmas card by the American Artist Group, New York.
- 4. In 1951 he was made a member of the Advisory Board of the Corcoran School of Art, Washington, D. C.

Approinted by Governor Sanford to sarve as a Member of the Nerth Cerclins State Arts Councilis

Hed conterred upon the the degree of Deckor of Winner of the Morrings Award, presented by the

Remoder Island Association, Movember 13, 1973

honoring notable North Carotinians, 100 Years 100 Men-can Artist Group, New York.

school of Art; Washington, D. C.

2. The is listed and one of his world was reproduced in the incre-

3. His painting, "Scene tros Wear Manayunk, " was deed on a Coristone cerd by the Reliment Punitabiles Cospens in 1944: In addition, his painting, "Winter," was published as a Christmas card by the Ameri-

- 5. In 1952 he was appointed by the U. S. State Department as a delegate to the 3rd Conference of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO.
- 6. His paintings are represented in the permanent collections of the following museums, galleries, and institutions: The Metropolitan Museum, New York The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia The Toronto Art Gallery, Toronto, Canada The Butler Art Institute, Youngstown, Ohio The Norton Gallery of Art, Palm Beach, Florida The Boston Museum The North Carolina Museum of Art The Philadelphia Museum of Art The Rochester, New York, Museum The Montpelier, Vermont, Museum The Gibbs Art Gallery, Charleston, South Carolina The Woodmere Art Gallery, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia The Atwater Kent Museum, Philadelphia The Eberhart Museum, Scranton, Pennsylvania The West Chester Art Center, West Chester, Pennsylvania The Pennsylvania State University Museum of Art, University Park The Rocky Mount Arts Center Gallery, Rocky Mount, N. C. The Greenville Arts Center, Greenville, N. C.

Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, N. C.

5, En 1952 he was appointed by the W. Stare Department of a to sectionities incommencement or bouncepings our surlining oil . d tensituditions has an invited jeacesans polyalist adi-

The Montpeller, Vermont, Mustus

Wake Forest United at the Windspens Salem, N. C.

delegate to the line live of the to the to sensiteland but and of the setten

Wingate College, Wingate, N. C.

Pembroke State University, Pembroke, N. C.

The National Institute of Arts and Letters, New York

The National Academy of Design, New York

Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh

The Gallery of Art, Chattanooga, Tennessee

diction, representations by one or make paterings in national wants troops

Annual Ashibition of American Paintings.

a charmotogrees linging of his act jusy carrices.

FRANCIS SPEIGHT: EXHIBITIONS AND ART JURY SERVICES

The exhibitions and art jury services by Francis Speight have been numerous. They have helped him to maintain contact with the modes or styles of painting and with the art criticism during his professional career. The exhibitions are listed first, chronologically. All one man exhibitions, group exhibitions, and representations by one or more paintings in international exhibitions have been by invitation. In addition, representations by one or more paintings in national exhibitions have almost always been by invitation. The exhibitions are followed by a chronological listing of his art jury services.

Exhibitions

Wisconsin State University at Dehkosh

The Gallery of Art, Chattanooga, Tanneasee:

EXMIDITIONS
1926, 1927, 1928-62, 1967	Annual Exhibition of American Paintings, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Phila- delphia
1927, 1929-53	International Exhibition of Painting, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh
1927-,1950	Institute of Art, Chicago
1927, 1930-31, 1940	St. Louis Art Museum
1928	International Exhibition of Oil Paintings Brooklyn Museum
1929,1931	Annual Exhibition of American Painting, The Institute of Art, Detroit
1930-1952	Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C
1930, 1934, 1937-74	Annual Exhibition of Paintings and Sculp- ture, National Academy of Design, New Yor
1930, 1933	Milch Galleries, New York (One man ex- hibition)

		1931
REDIVERS YOUR TEA GHA SMOITISTHES	THRIBUTE STOWARY	1931
need systemats spaight have been	The continue and ac	1931
to about oils daily southern affanism of mid	Sequent avent years askersense
lamed sand our long and gultub me is bull to long odd	date been enighted to salves
emo Lia .wilawayoulonowda .awaki bersaki	ne americalistics and .apares.
	Halits group , enoisidings nam
-be at instruction by taylonticum; in adenotification is nectional axisting sign we should		1932-34, 1940 of best lot are smillighter off . Delication		1932, 1934, 1957, 1962
	l la guinali Insignionesmo e
	enointeldad	1932
Adminate Exhibition of American Petnoins Petnoins Petnos Arcs, Physical Resident Arcs, Physical Reside	1925, 1927, 1928-62, 1967	1932 1933
Indermational Exhibition of Painting, Cernagie Institute, Fistsburgh		1933-1949
The title of Art. Chicago	1927-1950	1934, 1935
austill tal stual .38	1927, 1930-31, 1940
lining the least thilded familians of oth Patent.		1934
Annes desiretation of American Paractury	reer.ese.	1935
Contested the vesting of arts. Residents	1930-1952	1935
fund heat agrissiat to noisididad lannah	ANT-VERT "NEST OFFT	1935
	ecel aces	1935

Town Hall, New York (Featured artist for one week) Los Angeles, California, Museum Exhibition assembled by the American Federation of Art and shown as follows: Brooklyn Museum Worcester, Massachusetts, Museum Lawrence Hall Museum, Williamstown, Mass. Memorial Art Gallery, Rochester Columbus, Ohio, Gallery of Fine Arts Dayton, Ohio, Art Institute Decatur, Illinois, Institute of Civic Arts Biennial Exhibition of American Painting, Whitney Museum of Art, New York Philadelphia Museum of Art Watkins Institute, Nashville, Tennessee (One man exhibition) Exhibition at Hartford, Connecticut Exhibition of United States Paintings rented to city or cities in South America Exhibitions arranged by a New York dealer (Milch Galleries) Chicago Century of Progress Exhibition (A group of four paintings) Everhart Museum, Scranton, Pennsylvania (One man exhibition) Exhibition at Cranbrook Academy of Art, Bloomfield Hill, Michigan (Group show) National Gallery of Canada (Rental ex-

Exhibition of paintings by artists of six-

Person Hall, University of North Carolina,

Chapel Hill (One man exhibition)

teen cities, Museum of Modern Art, New York

hibition)

Total Hall, New York (Featured artist	1001	1936	Raleigh, North Carolina, Art Center (One man exhibition)
Los Angales, California, Museum -	1931	1936	Butler Art Institute, Youngstown, Ohio (One man exhibition)
Exhibition assembled by the American	1931-32	1937	Exhibition at Toledo, Ohio, Museum
Rederation of Art and shown as follows: Brooklyn Museum Worcester, Massachusetta, Museum		1937	Philadelphia Art Alliance (One man ex- hibition)
Lewrence Hall Museum, Williamstown, Mass. Memorial Art Cellery, Rochester Columbus, Ohio, Gallery of Fine Arts		1937	Exhibition at Greensboro, North Carolina (One man exhibition)
Departur, Dhie, Art Lastitute Decatur, Dilinois, Institute of Civic		1939	Plainfield, New Jersey (Group exhibition)
Siennial Exhibition of American Painting	1932-34, 1940	1939 (February to December)	Golden Gate International Exhibition, San Francisco
Whiteney Museum of Art, New York		1939	Columbus, Georgia (One man exhibition)
Philadelphia Museum of Arc	1932, 1934, 1952, 1952	1939	Exhibition at Worlds Fair, New York
Watkins Institute, Nashville, Tennessee (One man exhibition)		1939	University of Alabama (One man exhibition)
Exhibition or Harriford, Connecticut	1932	1939	Clearwater, Florida, Museum
Exhibition of United States Paintings Fented to city or dittes in South America		1939	Exhibition at Jackson, Mississippi (One man exhibition)
Exhibitions arranged by a New York dealer (Mileh Galleries)	1933-1949	1939	Delgado Museum, New Orleans (One man ex- hibition)
Chicago Century of Programs Exhibition (A group of four paintings)	BERT PREST	1940	Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. (One man exhibition)
Rinswitzenski neshibition)		1941	International Water Color Exhibition, Brooklyn Museum
Eshibition on Cranbacook Mandamy of Art.		1942	Virginia Biennial Exhibition
(words quord) negliolk , iiin histamouka		1943	Artists for Victory Exhibition, Metro- politan Museum of Art, New York
-xa lannes) obenad to vxellad (sentited)		1945	Goodwill Exhibition of Contemporary Ameri- can Art, The Central Institute of Art
teen of tries, Museum of Modern Art, New York			and Design, London, England

the said the Person Hall, University of Morth Caroline,

Maletan, Merin Chrolina, Art Canter	1936	1946	Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Phila- delphia (One man exhibition)
(notaldides and and)		1949	Exhibition at Woodland, North Carolina
olifo avosennov estudional fra toffud (One men exhibition)	OEEL.	1949	Lehigh University (One man exhibition)
Tabilitation of Toledo, only idde	Très	1949-1950	Exhibition at the Virginia Museum, Rich- mond, Virginia
	1937	1951	Exhibition at Windsor, North Carolina
entloses dated coodenkers to noited him	TERM .	1952	Philadelphia Art Alliance (One man ex- hibition)
Plainfield, New Jorsey (Group axid bitten)	ecei	1952	Miami Beach, Florida (One man exhibition)
man moisted languagement of the maisted	1939 (February to December)	1956	Lehigh University (Group exhibition)
Columbus, Georgia (One man axhinistons)	Tasy to the second seco	1961	Francis Speight: A Retrospective Exhibition, North Carolina Museum of Art (One man ex- hibition)
Sabinicion at Worlds East, New York		1961-1967	One man exhibitions at Kinston, N. C.; Goldsboro, N. C.; Chowan College, Mur-
University of Alabama (One son exhibition)			freesboro, N. C.; Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, N. C.
ano) iqqinslinalm ,mordoni in solitidhili man omnibition)	ecet	1962	East Carolina University School of Art, Greenville, N. C. (One man exhibition)
Detgado Museum, new Orfeand (One man one	1939	1963	Joyner Library, East Carolina University (One man exhibition)
	One I	1963	Bertie County Tricentenial Celebration, Windsor, N. C. (One man exhibition)
Links and a Louis Water Color Benilities ton	IAC I	1963	Opening of Hines Gallery of the Rocky Mount Art Center (One man exhibition)
module dring in links to similarity	2002	1964	Converse College, Spartanburg, South Caro- lina (One man exhibition)
-printer for Viotory Exhibitation, Metero- philips at Mingolm of Art, New York		1965	Opening of the St. John's Art Gallery, Wilmington, N. C. (One man exhibition)
Conduct! Exhibite Dance of Concemporary America		1965	Student Union of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (One man exhibition)

Additional and a second

-sille Assa soil is western sine viveness	3461	1970	Greenville Art Center, Greenville, N. C. (One man exhibition)
delphia (One man exhibition)		1971	Vendo Nubes Gallery, Chestnut Hill, Phila- delphia (One man exhibition)
Exhibition at Woodland, North Carolina	5761
Lebigh University (One man exhibition)	1949	1974	Francis Speight: Retrospective Exhibition, Pennsylvania State University Museum of
Exhibition at the Virginia Museum, Rich- mond, Virginia	0881-6961		Art, University Park, Pennsylvania
Exhibition at Windsor, North Carolina	Teer	Art Jury Services
-es non seo) sonsilla sea sidnishmilde (nolabild	5201	1928	Annual Exhibition of American Painting and Sculpture (Painters Jury), Pennsyl- vania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia
Mismi Reson, Florida (One man exhibition)		1930	Society of Fine Arts Oil Painting Ex-
Lebigh University (Group exhibition)		1730	hibition, Wilmington, Delaware
Trancis Speignt: A Retrospective Exhibitto North Cerpiina Numeum of Art (One man ex-		1931	Annual Exhibition of American Painting, Art Institute of Chicago
One wan exhibititations on Kinsten P. C.; Online on College, Muse	taet-taet	1931	Annual Members Exhibition of the Fellow- ship of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts
Pinston-Sales, N. C.; Wold Porest University,		1933	Annual Exhibition of American Painting and Sculpture (Painters Jury), Pennsyl- vania Academy of Fine Arts
GENT Carolina Udiversity School of Art; (Freenville, F. C. (One man exhibition))			Annual Behibition, Indiana Assista Cibb
vile review interest treat treated treated	caer.	1933, 1936	Regional Exhibition, Associated Artists of Pittsburgh
(nothididay agar ago)		1937	Annual Exhibition of American Painting and Sculpture (Painters Jury), Pennsyl-
Serite County Tricentental Celebration, Windson, W. C. (One man exhibitizion)			vania Academy of Fine Arts
Opening of Bines Gullery of the Rocky Nount Art Center (One men exhibition)		1937	Annual Exhibition, Butler Museum of Art, Youngstown, Ohio
-orso dusum assissastrage agallad estevaed Line (One man exhibitatele)	Acce	1938	Delaware Water Color and Print Society (Chairman of Jury of Selection and Awards)
Opening of the St. John's Art Gellery.		1938	Exhibition at Virginia Academy of Science and Fine Arts, Richmond
Student United of the University of Motting	Zo Cu.	1940	Baltimore Evening Sun Black and White Sketch Contest, Baltimore

NEW PORT OF THE PROPERTY OF TH

The state of the second

o H politicano de Cantes de Cantes de La Cantes de Cante	1970	1940, 1948	Corcoran School Jury of Awards, Wash- ington, D. C. (Chairman 1940)
		1940	North Carolina Artists Exhibition (Jury of Awards), Chapel Hill
Vendo Maine Gallery, Chestaut Hill, Phila- desphie Callery, Chestaut		1941	Annual Exhibition of Paintings, John Her- ron Art Institute, Indianapolis
policidad svinosquouses, todelegs stoment	72.61
Printerly Manual State United Manually Manerum of Atta. Uniterlated Park, Pennsylvania.		1941	Annual Exhibition of American Painting and Sculpture (Painters Jury), Pennsyl- vania Academy of Fine Arts
	Pasivina Vint 144	1942	Regional Exhibition of Associated Ar-
Assess fixed bitties of american Printing	1928		tists of Pittsburgh and Sculpture (Printers Jury) Remmayl-		1944	Washington, D. C., Times Herald 7th Annual Outdoor Art Fair in President's
-xd guidnites lio brak onl'I an vasions	00.01		Park
Assumed Exhibition of American Painting	1931	1944	Annual Exhibition of American Painting (Painters Jury of Selection), National Academy of Design, New York
nganish) lo manakani ata			Exhibition at Parkersburg, West Virgin-
-solie' and le nollidinks arenash launna anti to quabana sinkylyannas and in pids	TEAT	1947	ia (Jury of Awards)
antantal mantanad to solutebake Labora		1948	Annual Exhibition of the Society of Washington Artists, Washington, D. C.
and Soulpture (Palenters Jury), Pennsylv		1040	Annual Exhibition, Indiana Artists Club
atth soill to ymobach binns		1948	Annual Virginia Artists Exhibition (Jury
Regional Indiction Associated Artilets Against Pictionage	1973, 1936	1949	of Selection and Awards), Virginia Museum of Fine Arts
entester decision of American Possessing - Leases South to the Later South Formay), Formay1-	zcer.	1952	Exhibition at Indiana State Fair (One man Jury of Awards) and to measual tulous annitted bink isomes. Yoursesum Onio		1953	Regional Exhibition, Rochester, New York, Art Club
		1955	Hoosier Salon, Indianapolis, Indiana
Delegant Water Golor and Print Society (Cinting of Juny of Selection and Awards)	1938		Annual Exhibition, National Academy of samelos to quadaua sinjuriy to nolykhidas	SERE	1957	Design, New York
bnomined and the base		1957	Regional Exhibition of Painting (One man Jury), Erie, Pennsylvania establish bas deads met mainava exemblish

Corcern School June of Andreas	BACI IDACI	1959	ing	s (Jury of S	selection and Awards), Le- , Pennsylvania
White Care Line Archete Extending Course Clury	DACI	1960			ion (Jury of Awards), Nation- Design, New York
Toll and the contract on of colerate the description lies		1964			ion (Jury of Selection), my of Design, New York
Anadus Sculpture (Palaters Jury), Benneyle	1401	1964	Exh	ibition at l olina (Jury	Museum of Florence, South of Selection and Awards)
Taggiornal Smithfelos of Associated Ar-		1965	Aca 1an		Fine Arts, Easton, Mary-
dul Distant co. 11022 Reveald Jub	ANGE	1967			ion (Jury of Awards), Nation- Design, New York
		1969			ion (Jury of Awards), Nation- Design, New York
Andrew Juny of Selection), Hartonal	Total Control of the	1972			ion (Jury of Selection), my of Design, New York
-nighty lead Thriston as Thriston West Virginia
Angelet Saulestion of the Society of	3001				ny arison Aldred Tongue
duid esaisua amulbul que priedinte faceca.	8491
Andrea Virginia arrive sale palv lector (Jory	e Area				Thilladelysta, 2a,
					Mary Organia Statemanh Millione, Bullion
on one) that state anaibnt the material (one and	1952
NOT WOR . TO THORSON . DOLLARS BEEN NOW YOUR	CZCI
Herster Salon, Indienapolis, Indiana

1481

Pengusylvania Hattonel Exhibition of Paintings (itery of Selection and Awards), Le-

. (noticeled to vist) notitetant lesent.

drol west angless le whohen is

el Acedemy of Design; New York

annual Exhibition (Juny of Selection),

PAINTINGS BY FRANCIS SPEIGHT

The listing on these pages of Mr. Speight's paintings that are in public and private collections is as inclusive as it is possible to determine. Paintings are listed chronologically, and the dates given are either exact or approximate to within two or three years. Other details supplied are titles of paintings, size of canvas (in inches), and present location. Unless otherwise noted, all paintings are in oil. Paintings presently owned by Mr. Speight are not included here.

Year	Title	Size	Present Location
1922-23	"House and Tree"	24 x 28	Museum of Art Chattanooga, Tennessee
1923-26	"View from West Manayunk"	30 x 36	Mr. & Mrs. James Cheatham Greenville, N. C.
1925	"Manayunk House"	24 x 28	The Fellowship of the Penn- sylvania Academy of Fine Arts
1926	"Maizies House"	32 x 40	Dr. & Mrs. Alfred Yongue Greenville, N. C.
1926	"The Little Brick Stable"	10 x 13	George & Anthony Stuempfig Philadelphia, Pa.
1926-28	"Canal Scene"	40 x 50	Mrs. George Stronach Wilson, N. C.
1927	"Shawmont"	36 x 40	Mr. Banks Talley, Dean of Students, N. C. State Univ.
1927	"When the Wind Blows"	36 x 40	Museum of Fine Arts Boston, Massachusetts
1927	"Between Two Houses"	40 x 42	Estate of Mrs. Levy Raleigh, N. C.
1927	"The Vacant Lot"	25 x 30	Mr. Robert Harlow New Jersey

THE ENGE BY FEANORS SPEKELL

public and private collections is as inclusive as it is possible to determine, Paintings are listed obroadlogically, and the dames fiven are elther exact or approximate to within two or chree years, other details supplied are titles of paintings, size of cenuse (in inches), and present location. Unlaws demendies noted, all paintings are in oil. Paintings

1922-23 "House and free" '24 x 28 Museum of Art

1923-25 Fytew from West Manayank" 30 x 35 Mrs. & Mrs. James Chesthan

1925 "Managuak House" 24 % 28 The Fellowship of the Penn-

1926 "Maistes House" IS x 40 Dr. & Mrs. Alfred Yougue

1925 "The Little Brick Stable" io w I) Gaorge & Anthony Studmpile logge "Shawasant" 35 x 60 Mr. Banks Tallay, Desa of 1927 "Setween Two souses" 40 x 42 Estate of Mrs. Levy

Charteneoga, Tennessee

Students, M. C. Stabe Univ.

Releigh, N. C.

.O. M. alllvasord

presently owned by Mr. Speight are not included here.

The Histing or these pages of Mr. Speight's paintings that are in

Year	Title	Size	Present Location
1927	"Portrait of Miss Betsy Overton"	25 x 30	Mr. & Mrs. Edward Overton Encino, California
1927	"Portrait of Miss Sherrie Overton"	18 x 24	Mr. & Mrs. Edward Overton Encino, California
1927	"View of Manayunk"	25 x 30	Mr. G. David Thompson Pittsburgh, Pa.
1927	"Spring Mill"	24 x 28	Purchased by someone in Detroit, Michigan
1927	"Spring Fruit Trees in Blossom"	24 x 28	Mr. Steel New York, N. Y.
1928	"Looking Across the Schuylkill"	24 x 28	Mr. & Mrs. Guntar Berzins Philadelphia, Pa.
1928	"West Manayunk Hillside"	19 x 25	Mr. Robert Harlow New Jersey
1929	"The Pasture Gap"	32 x 40	Miss Marion Cobb Takoma Park, Md.
1929	"Snow"	36 x 38	Toronto, Canada, Art Gallery
1929	"The Garber Cottage Yard"	18 x 24	Mrs. Donald Meekham Silver Springs, Md.
1929	"The Billboard"	14 x 18	Mr. & Mrs. Charles Rudy Ottsville, Pa.
1930	"Farm House" (Drawing)	10 x 13	Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Butler Youngstown, Ohio
1930	"Portrait of Miss Jean Beggs"	25 x 30	Adm. & Mrs. W. H. Ashford Raleigh, N. C.
1930	"Portrait of Miss Bette Beggs"	25 x 30	Adm. & Mrs. W. H. Ashford Raleigh, N. C.
1930	"White House in Manayunk"	24 x 28	Mr. & Mrs. M. P. Thomas Chapel Hill, N. C.
1930	"Portrait Study of Miss Margaret Cobb"	25 x 36	Miss Margaret Cobb Birmingham, Alabama

				Year	Title	Size	Present Location
Present Location			Year	1930	"Late Afternoon"	22 x 30	Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia
drewo Edward Overta		Welsh seth to linking"		1931	"Head of an Art Student"	14 x 20	N. C. Museum of Art
Nr. & Mrs. Bdwind Owerton Engine California	AS = 31	"Portrait of Miss Sherries" "sortoo"	1927:			32 x 40	Raleigh, N. C. Metropolitan Museum
Mr. G. David Thompson.		"Windysham to well"	1927	1931	"Spring in Manayunk"		New York, N. Y. Museum of Pennsylvania State U
Perchased by someone in		"Itilit geing?"	1927	1932	"Coaldale"	28 x 32	University Park, Pa.
Detrois, Michigan		ni seeti shriqa"		1932	"Ballet Dancer"	18 x 24	Offices of the Secretary of Cultural Affairs, Raleigh
New York, M. T.		"Looking Accoss the	1928	1932	"Schuylkill and Canal at Manayunk"	18 x 24	Mr. & Mrs. Lucius Crowell Charlestown, Pa.
Philladealphie, Ra.				1932	"StepsManayunk"	16 x 18	West Chester Art Center West Chester, Pa.
		"west Manayunk Hillside"		1933	"Rudolph's Row"	20 x 24	Friends of Mrs. C. M. West Centreville, Md.
Miles Markon Cobii	00 x 52			1933	"House on Jefferson St."	18 x 24	Mr. & Mrs. Mason Thomas
Toronto Canada, Art		"Inputa"	1929			28 x 40	Chapel Hill, N. C. National Academy of Design
	45 × 81	"bray egalico dedaho ed?"	1929	1933	"Manayunk Scene"		New York, N. Y.
Mr. & Mrs. Charles Rudy		Thungal Little butter	1929	1933	"Old House at Chester Springs"	28 x 40	Mr. & Mrs. Roswell Weidner Philadelphia, Pa.
				1933	"SunThe Painter"	25 x 30	Norton Art Gallery Palm Beach, Florida
Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Berler Foungstewn, Ohio		(grammati) Toanofi heal?"		1933	'Winter"	40 x 50	Mr. & Mrs. Dan MacMillan Fayetteville, N. C.
Ada. a Mrs. W. H. Ashford		nest sals in adequated?"	1930	1934	!!Tamaqua!!	43 x 50	Col. & Mrs. Hollstein
				1954	"Tamagua"	26 - 20	Fayetteville, N. C. Mr. & Mrs. Dan MacMillan
e kane die Propinsia de la company de la com		"Winted Squae to Manayunk"	0881	1934	"Umbria Street"	36 x 38	Fayetteville, N. C.
Oleaner Mills II.				1934	"Back Yard in Sunlight"	25 x 30	Mr. Walter Rotan Baltimore, Md.

THE PROPERTY OF THE PERSON NAMED AND PARTY OF THE PERSON NAMED AND

THE PARTY OF THE P

				Year	Title	Size	Present Location
Pressent booston	22 × 30	destill and property of the second	YBOY	1936	"Weirton, W. Virginia,	8 x 11	Mr. Sayshens Kutztown, Pa.
aldgiebsliff , sizh enty			1930	1937	Street" "Boxholder"	46 x 56	Wood Art Gallery
N. C. Musseum of Art Raleigh m. C.		"Teebute an an in been"				30 x 40	Mr. & Mrs. T. S. Speight
Matrapolitican imserm		"Sprigger in Managamaga"	reer	1938	"Hayfield, Applesbach- ville, Pa."	JO A 40	Windsor, N. C.
		"alshleng"	1932	1938	"Red Clay Street No. 1"	30 x 40	N. C. Museum of Art Raleigh, N. C.
University Narr, Pa.				1938	"Red Clay Street"	30 x 41	Mr. & Mrs. A. Greenburg Durham, N. C.
Offices or the Secretary of Cultural attacks, Raleigh	18 × 24	Tednad Jelise"				30 x 36	Mr. & Mrs. E. Rosenthal
Oharlestewn, Pa.		"Schooled Canal at	1932	1939	"Jamestown Street"		Goldsboro, N. C.
West Circates Art Center		"dispressible-requisit"		1939	"End of Jones Street"	20 x 32	Dr. & Mrs. Donald Tucker Greenville, N. C.
West Chestest Ps.				1939	"Red Clay Banks Railroad	25 x 30	Mr. & Mrs. G. L. Hughes Greensboro, N. C.
Centreville, Md.				1940	Cut-Out" "Seated Woman" (Drawing)	18 x 34	Mr. Philip Hanes
Mr. A.Mrs. Mason Thomas Ohapai Hill, H. C.		"Let nessettet no sewow"		1940		18 x 34	Winston-Salem, N. C. Butler Art Institute
	- GA EC	"Remark Mary House"	1933	1940	"End of the Street"	10 A 34	Youngstown, Ohio
Mr. & Mrs. Roswell Wetdoer	04 x 85	Total House at Chester		1940	"Schuylkill Valley Town"	40 x 54	Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia
LT andqishaltm			CECI	1940	"Industrial Area"	36 x 50	Philadelphia Museum of Art Philadelphia, Pa.
Norton Art Gallery Felm Mesch, Elerida	05 2 55	"ToxnisT odin-nu2"	1933			18 x 34	Mr. & Mrs. Guntar Berzins
Mr. E Mrs. Dan MacMillan D. R. silivilia, D. C.		Takini W		1940	"The Landfill" (Water Color)		Philadelphia, Pa.
niestlich aum B. Jes	OC X EX	"Salve Long To		1940	"N. C. Farmyard"	25 x 30	Art Center West Chester, Pa.
Fayettile, E. C.				1941	"Straw for the City's	36 x 46	Mrs. Robert Humber Greenville, N. C.
mailing Man Man And And Man		739375 5336NU		1941	Horses" "Summer Picnic"	32 x 40	Dr. & Mrs. J. E. Clement
naton neriew .ak	25 = 30	"Back Yaze in Suntilght"		1941	5 CHILLET LLCTLL		Greenville, N. C.

A ACMATERALISATION OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

The second of th

Present Location	asis		20.17	Year	Title	Size	Present Location
Mr. Sayshens Kutstown, Pa.		"Weirroom, W. Virginia, Streen."		1941	"The Paved Street"	22 x 30	Mr. & Mrs. Harry Kuch Philadelphia, Pa.
Wood Art Gallery Montpeller, Vermont		"Hanhforkog"		1941	"Stick and Stones"	20 x 26	Dr. Claiborne T. Smith Philadelphia, Pa.
Mr. & Mrs. T. S. Spelght Windsor, H. C.	04 × 66	"Hayfreld, Applesbach" Ville, Eliv		1942	"Sheldon Street"	40 x 50	Museum of Pennsylvania State U. University Park, Pa.
N. C. Mussum of Art Haleigh, N. C.		"E .of Jesus Eurest No. 2"	8661	1942	"Tracks in Winter"	30 x 36	Encyclopaedia Britannica Chicago, Illinois
Mr. & Mrs. A. Greenburg	14 × 06	"Restrict ve fo bear"	BEEL	1942	"Industrial Area"	24 x 30	Wake Forest University Winston-Salem, N. C.
Mr. & Mrs. E. Rosenthal		Tours of much asset!"	989	1942	"The Garden"	30 x 36	Dr. & Mrs. N. A. Thorne Asheville, N. C.
Dr. s. Frs. Bonald Tucker Createste, N. C.		"Issaust count to boa"		1942	"Pechin Street (Boy and Bicycle)"	20 x 24	Mr. & Mrs. Ben F. Williams Raleigh, N. C.
Mr. & Mrs. C. L. Bughes Greenshort, E. C.		Secultral admin well ben't		1943	"Overlooking Manayunk" (Drawing)	20 x 24	National Institute of Arts and Letters, New York
Mr. Philip Hanes.	AC × 61	(Contract Manage (Drawing)	1940	1943	"Winter Snow"	40 x 60	Mr. Harry Kuch Philadelphia, Pa.
Nutles Art Institute Youngstown, Ohio	46 x 35	"Toers age to bog!"	1940	1943	"Winter (Snow)"	40 x 42	Mr. Philip Hanes Winston-Salem, N. C.
Pennsylvenia Academy of		"Schugdkill Valley Loss"		1943	"Boone Street"	18 x 24	Mrs. Kravitch Savannah, Georgia
	0E × 3E	essa le remubat"	Oper	1944	"Field of Astors"	22 x 30	Mrs. Donald Meekham Silver Springs, Md.
	36 = B1		OPET	1944	"Winter (Snow)"	24 x 30	Dr. & Mrs. Alfred Yongue Greenville, N. C.
Aet Center	OE 2 25	The suppose of the second	1940	1944	"Still Life"	18 x 24	Purchased by someone in Cleveland, Ohio
Mest Dhaster, Pa.		a verta end not see 122"		1945	"West Manayunk in Spring"	30 x 36	Craig and Tarlton Antique Dealers, Raleigh, N. C.
Dremoille, N. C.		"Bounded Toleran P."		1947	"Flowering Dogwood"	16 x 20	Mr. & Mrs. Gary Singleton Raleigh, N. C.

Title .	Year	ZeeY		Blee	Present Location
"Steps up to Boone Street" (Drawing)	1947	Isei			Mr. & Mrs. Harry Kuch Philadelphia, Pa.
"Two Houses"	1947	1943	"sonos bas dalig"	20 x 26	Dr. Claiborne T. Smith Philadelphia, Pa.
"New Britain Snow"	1948	1992	"Shelden Street"	00 n 50	Museum of Penesylvania State University Park, Pa.
"Still Life"	1948	1942	"restate al catalogue		Encyclopaedia Britannica
"Old Mills, Main Street"	1948	1942	"para Istrianbul"	DE 32 00	Wake Porest University Winston-Salem, N. C.
"The Concrete Wall"	1949		"mabaco anim"	38 m by	Dr. & Mrs. N. A. Thorns Asheville, N. C.
"Moravian Church, Beth- lehem, Pa."	1949	1902	bes tod) Jacris dinsequ "(stoyets)"
"End of Main Street, Mana- yunk No. 2"	1949		"JunyeasH goldoofisyo" (prinsing)	20 % 24	Marional Institute of Arts
"End of Main Street, Mana- yunk No. 3"	1949	CNGI	"Went snow"	00 x 00
"The Lockhouse"	1949	ENGI	"(wont) teaming	. Ca = 03
"Ferry Street, New Hope"	1950	5761		AS = 81	Mrs. Kravicch Savanni, Georgie
"Boone Street No. 2"	1950	1994	"estable to bising"		Mrs. Donald Heekham
"White HouseStone Wall"	1951		"(Grent): teinig"	00 10 25	orenov Line W. C. Congue
"Beneath the R. R. Tracks No. 3"	1951		"lead of Eller and Eller a	15 × 21	Perchased by someone in Cleveland, Ohio
"Ruins Along the Schuyl- kill"	1951		anings of Smugaosif asswi		Oralg and Taricon Assigne Dealers, Ealeigh, M. C.
"Bennett's Mill"	1952	Tier	"boowgot anizaweth	16 x 20	norelevia cary Singleton

Size

16 x 22

Present Location

Atwater Kent Museum

Philadelphia, Pa.

Present Location .			2007
Ateatar Kent Museum Philadelphie, Pa.		"Steps up to Hoone Street" (Drawing)
Dr. & Mrs. I. B. Clement Greenville, N. O.		"Two Houses"	1947
Mrs. Elizabeth Blatt Throop, Pennsylvania	30 x 40	"Word ninstre wor"	8961
	18 × 22	"slii lile"	1948
Mrs. Charles Grace Philodelphia, Pa.		"Old Mills, Mala Street"	1948
Miss Anna Ingersoli Penllyn, Pa.		"The Congress Wall"	evet
Dr. Thor Johnson, Conductor, Nashville, Tenn., Symphony Orgh.		"Morayian Church, Sechrichen, Sechrichen, Po-"
Mr. James P. MaGill Philadelphia, 28.	81 = 31	"End of Main Street, Mana- yunk-No. 2"
Mr. John Gerbor Morrisville, Pe.		"End of Hain Street, Mand-	1949
Cibbes Art Gallery Charleston, S. C.	25 H 35
Mr. r. S. Speight Windsor, R. C.		"Ferry Street, New Hope"
	82 × 2	"goone Street No. 2"	1950
Mr. Sen F. Williams Raiotsh. D. C.		"AlaW snorthsameWalle"
Art Center Greenville, N. C.	27 = 05	"Bencath the R. R. Tracks No. 3"	ISSI
Memorial art Gallery Rochester, New York		"Huins Along the Schuyl- killb"	195%
		"Lile a' dismost"	sees

Year	Title ·	Size	Present Location
1952	"Old Mills"	20 x 32	Dr. & Mrs. Donald Tucker Greenville, N. C.
1953	"Manayunk"	25 x 30	Dr. & Mrs. Donald Tucker Greenville, N. C.
1953	"Hillside Below Little White Church"	25 x 30	Mr. Ben Kamihira Philadelphia, Pa.
1953	"Demolition"	22 x 30	Mrs. Bart Fearing Windsor, N. C.
1955	"Almshouse Road, Snow"	25 x 30	Mr. & Mrs. T. Gochenour Takoma Park, Md.
1955	"Manayunk Hillside"	30 x 38	Mr. Henry Lewis Chapel Hill, N. C.
1955	"Albemarle Sound at Edenton"	22 x 30	Rev. & Mrs. F. Drane Edenton, N. C.
1956	"Highland Avenue, Mana- yunk"	20 x 26	Mr. James P. MaGill Philadelphia, Pa.
1956	"End of Monastery Avenue No. 2"	20 x 31	Dr. & Mrs. George Paschal Raleigh, N. C.
1956	"View from West Mana- yunk"	20 x 20	Mr. James E. Hall Lumberton, N. C.
1957	"Between Two Houses"	23 x 25	Mr. & Mrs. Henry S. McNeil Philadelphia, Pa.
1958	"Halloween No. 1"	28 x 32	Mr. C. F. W. Coker Washington, D. C.
1958	"Bennett's Mill Pond"	20 x 24	Mr. & Mrs. Gordon Walker Burlington, N. C.
1959	"The Cliff"	24 x 25	Mrs. Charles West Centreville, Md.
1959	"Halloween No. 2"	24 x 28	Mrs. Sam Blount Raleigh, N. C.
1959	"SketchFragment"	14 x 18	Mr. Henry Lewis Chapel Hill, N. C.

JULYARE I IDBARY THE

THE PERSON NAMED AND POST OF THE PERSON NAMED IN

Present Location		A Tarr	Year
Dr. & Mrs. Bonsid Tucker Graenville, E. G.
Dr. G.Mrs. Donald Tucker Greenville, W. C.	05 × 25	"Managemen"
Philiphiland Pa.		"Harde Selos Littele "domedo aside	1953
Mindsor, Bart Fearing.			1953
Hr. & Mrs. T. Cochenour Takoma Park, Md.	06 × 65	"wood bunk seposterial"
Nr. Heary Lowis Chapel Hill, N. C.		"bhlullitt daugense"	1955
	22 x 55
Lines F. woost .or		-sont supera basidsin'
Br. & Mrs. George Forehall Raleigh, W. C.	20 × 31	Shusya questeaned le bag"
Mr. James E. Hall: Lumberton, N. C.	20 × 20	-anak seek marl malyn "sinsk"
Mr. & Mus. Henry S. HcNoid Philadelphia, Pa.		"secuoil out nessau."
	28 2 32	"I on neewollen"
Mr. & Mrs. Gordon Walker Burlington, N. C.		"bnog illk a'dtennagh".
Mrs. Charles West Gentreville, Md.	25 2 25	"32115 odT"	1959
Samela ms8 . and			1959
Mc. Henry Lewis Chapal Hill; N. C.		Inecupe Tendosed 2"

Year	Title '	Size	Present Location
1959	"Slow SketchHoly	19 x 20	Mr. & Mrs. J. T. Fraser, Jr. Philadelphia, Pa.
1959	Family Church" "Old Ice House Walls"	18 x 26	Mr. & Mrs. Allen Griffin Marshville, N. C.
1960	"Halloween No. 3"	24 x 28	Mrs. David Warren Chapel Hill, N. C.
1960	"Little Boat ClubOld Ice House Walls"	18 x 24	Mr. & Mrs. P. K. Andreson Greenville, N. C.
1960	"Albemarle Sound at Scotch Hall"	18 x 24	Mrs. G. W. Capehart, Sr. Windsor, N. C.
1960	"Sans Souci Ferry No. 1"	22 x 32	Mr. Banks Talley, Dean of Students, N. C. State Univ.
1960	"Cashoke Creek at Shipyard Landing"	18 x 34	Lawrence Library Windsor, N. C.
1960	"Skiles LandingSans Souci"	22 x 26	Lawrence Library Windsor, N. C.
1960	"Albemarle SoundBache- lors Bay"	22 x 28	Mr. Gordon Hanes Winston-Salem, N. C.
1960	"Roxborough-Manayunk Cliff"	30 x 38	Mr. James E. Hall Lumberton, N. C.
1961	"Peanut Field"	18 x 24	Mrs. Claude Evans Dallas, Texas
1962	"Two White Houses"	22 x 26	Mrs. Thomas Graves Wilson, N. C.
1962	"Old Speight House"	36 x 38	Art Center Gallery Rocky Mount, N. C.
1962	"Peanut Stacks and Old Tobacco Barns"	22 x 34	Mrs. Maxwell Augusta, Georgia
1962	"Sans SouciLate Spring"	25 x 30	Mrs. W. B. Peale Williamston, N. C.
1962	"Avoca Tree and Sound"	22 x 30	Mr. & Mrs. Gordon Walker Burlington, N. C.

TOVERD INDRASH THE

THE PERSONAL PROPERTY.

		oltit.
NY. & Nrs. J. T. Frenzer, Jr. Fritzigiste, Jr.			ecci
Mr. & Mrs. Wiles Griffin	85 x 81		ezer
Mes. David Warren		"Malloween No. 3"
Mr. & Mrs. P. K. Andreson Greenville, N. C.	18 x 24	Militie Boat GlabOld lee House Walls"	0961
Music G. W. Capehart, Sr. Windsor, E. C.		The bronch elizamedla" "Illes dozens	oser
Mr. Banks Talley, Dosm of Students, W. C. State Univ.		"Total Prist Loud angle	. 0861
Lawrence Library Windsor, N. C.		Prestudes Cross or Shipyard Landing"
Lawrence Library Windsor, M. C.		Topos Danding Same
Mr. Gordon Hanes Winston-Salem, N. C.	22 × 28	-ensettbases oftenediat	1961
	ac ix ot	Medicates in Managed Control	naei
Mrs. Claude Evens Daliss, Texas		"bfall format"
		"Leasuoli saldi mel"
Art Center College		OpanoH Highaga Lagar
Figures teaming
		'anima similar Loue? anne"
Mr. & Mrs. Cordon Walker docklostington, N. C.		"busica bus sour sourch"

Year	Title Title	Size	Present Location
1963	"Red Clay, Roxboro"	20 x 24	Dr. Schweizer Greensboro, N. C.
1963	"Snow, Roxboro, N. C."	20 x 24	Mrs. LeRoy Barrett Greenville, N. C.
1963	"Sans Souci"	25 x 36	Mrs. B. B. Everett, Sr. Palmyra, N. C.
1964	"Shipyard LandingMoss"	25 x 30	Wingate College Wingate, N. C.
1964	"Sans SouciSouth Side"	24 x 30	Mrs. W. C. Heckstall Windsor, N. C.
1964	"DemolitionAvoca"	25 x 30	Mr. M. P. Thomas Chapel Hill, N. C.
1964	"Roanoke Lowgrounds"	32 x 44	Mrs. B. B. Everett, Sr. Palmyra, N. C.
1964	"Shipyard Landing"	25 x 36	Greenville Art Center Greenville, N. C.
1965	"Still Water and Cypress Trees"	30 x 36	Mrs. B. B. Everett, Sr. Palmyra, N. C.
1965	"Manayunk Sketch at Boone Street"	6 x 8	Mr. M. P. Thomas Chapel Hill, N. C.
1965	"Peanut Stacks"	26 x 38	Mrs. B. B. Everett, Sr. Palmyra, N. C.
1965	"Still WaterRoanoke Low Grounds"	20 x 28	Mrs. Claude Evans Dallas, Texas
1965	"Peanut StacksHalifax	20 x 34	Mr. Philip Hanes Winston-Salem, N. C.
1965	County" "Still WaterWinter"	22 x 28	Estate of Mrs. Daughtridge Scotland Neck, N. C.
1965	"Sans Souci Ferry"	32 x 38	N. C. Museum of Art Raleigh, N. C.
1966	"Old Salem"	20 x 30	On loan to the Department of Administration, Raleigh, N. C.

TONNED INDUMENT THE

THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE OWNER.

		21111
Dr. Schweizer Greensbore, N. C.		"Sed Clay, Resbore"
Mrs. LeKey Sarratt Greenwills, N. C.		"Smort, Neskboro, M. C."
Mrs. S. H. Sverett, Sr. Palmyra, N. G.		"Same Souct"	1963
		"shippand LandingMoss"
Mrs. W. C. Heckstall Windson, N. C.		"Sans SouglSouth Side"	1964
Mr. M. P. Thomas Chapt Mill. N. O.	25 x 30	"souvar-noisilemen"
Mrs. B. B. Everect, Sr. Islayes, S. C.	32 x 25	"Rosnoke Lowgrounds"
Greenville, Art Center Oreenville, N. C.	25 x 36	"Shilpyard Lunding"
Mar. B. B. Everett, Sr. Buluwurs, N. C.	3E = 0E	"Scill Weter and Cypress	1963
Mr. M. F. Thomas Chapel Hill, N. C.	2 × 3	'Manayunk Sketch at Scote Street'
Mrs. S. B. Everett, Sr. Felmyra, N. C.		"Pganut Stucka"
Mrs. Claude Ivans		"Still WaterRonnoke Low Grounds"
Seri Philip Rames . Rimeton-Salem, M. C.	20 × 36	"Pednuc Statistar-Hallian County"
Estate of Mrs. Daughtrid Scheland Meck, W. C.	27 x 28	"Still RaterWinter"
N. C. Mussum of Art			6891
On leas to the Departmen		"mela2 bio"	1966

Von	Title .	Size	Present Location
Year 1966	"Old Salem Tobacco House"	20 x 31	Wake Forest University Winston-Salem, N. C.
1966	"Holy Family Church"	36 x 50	N. C. Museum of Art Raleigh, N. C.
1966	"Autumn"	28 x 34	Braswell Library Rocky Mount, N. C.
1966	"Old Salem, Winter"	18 x 34	On loan to the N. C. Arts Council, Raleigh, N. C.
1967	"Ben Gillam House"	25 x 30	Mr. Thomas Gillam, III Windsor, N. C.
1967	"Still WaterFrom Path"	20 x 30	Mr. & Mrs. L. B. Everett Palmyra, N. C.
1967	"Old Salem, Autumn"	24 x 32	Estate of Mr. Ralph Hanes Winston-Salem, N. C.
1968	"Sans Souci, Early Spring"	22 x 30	Dr. & Mrs. Percy Upchurch Williamston, N. C.
1968	"SpringTrinity"	26 x 38	On loan to Special Asst. to Attorney General, Raleigh
1968	"Sans Souci, Spring"	32 x 40	On loan to Commissioner, Dept. of Revenue, Raleigh
1968	"Sans Souci, Winter"	36 x 40	On loan to Governor's Man- sion, Raleigh
1968	"Sans Souci Ferry"	30 x 40	On loan to the Office of the Governor, Raleigh
1968	"Sans Souci, Autumn"	30 x 36	Mr. Roberson Washington, N. C.
1968	"Still Water and Cypress	22 x 26	Mrs. Swanson Graves, Jr. Washington, N. C.
1968	"Old House and Peanut	22 x 30	Estate of Mrs. Daughtridge Scotland Neck, N. C.
1969	Stacks No. 1" "Haw Field No. 2"	28 x 40	On loan to Dept. of Transpor- tation and Highway Safety, Raleigh

TOVALLO INDREME ---

Ye
19 19 19 10
19 19 19
-5
10
19 19 10 10.
19
197
191
1 0-197
NO STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PA
10-197
197
-31
10-197
197
-31
100
197
197 19/

lest "seill wates-from Path" 20 x 30 Mr. 6 Mrs. 14 8. Everate

1962 Fold Salem, Kutusum" 24 x 32 Estate of Mr. Raiph Hance

"Same Somet, Springs . 32 g to on loss to Commissioner, Dept,

"Sagar Sough, Authority, 10 m 36 mr. Robertson

1969 THEW ELECT NO. 4" OF N. 80 On Loss to Dept. of Lists well"

"SELLII Water and Cypress 22 2 28 38 New Newson Orenver, Jr.

Scattand Menk, M. C.

Year	Title '	Size	Present Location
1969	"Hope House"	26 x 40	On loan to Secretary, Dept. of Cultural Resources, Raleigh
1969	"SummerManayunk"	20 x 28	Mrs. Miller Roanoke, Virginia
1969	"Sans Souci North Side"	22 x 30	Mrs. W. C. Heckstall Windsor, N. C.
1969	"Sans Souci"	28 x 34	Wingate College Wingate, N. C.
1969	"Sans Souci, Spring"	26 x 30	Mr. Roberson Washington, N. C.
1969	"Old House and Peanut Stacks No. 2"	20 x 24	Mrs. B. B. Everett, Sr. Palmyra, N. C.
1969	"Farm BuildingsBlue Puddles"	20 x 30	Mr. Robert Pittman Greenville, N. C.
1970	"Up Highland Avenue"	20 x 24	Adm. & Mrs. W. H. Ashford Raleigh, N. C.
1971	"Looking up Highland Avenue"	16 x 18	Mr. Sayshens Kutztown, Pennsylvania
1971	"Looking down Highland Avenue"	22 x 26	Mr. & Mrs. Harry Kuch Philadelphia, Pa.
1971	"Clouds, Highland Avenue"	18 x 20	Mr. & Mrs. Henry Hotz, Penn- sylvania Academy of Fine Arts
1971	"Smoke Houses" (Drawing)	14 x 18	Dr. Claiborne T. Smith Philadelphia, Pa.
1971-74	"Sans Souci High Water"	20 x 25	Dr. & Mrs. Martin A. Hatcher Greensboro, N. C.
1972	"View from Price Street"	26 x 28	Mrs. Fred Webb Greenville, N. C.
1972	"The Home Place"	26 x 40	Dr. & Mrs. Donald Tucker Greenville, N. C.
1972	"Old Home Place, Autumn"	32 x 40	N. C. National Bank Charlotte, N. C.

FRANCIS SPEIGHT

0a-x-89

told House and Pagent 30 x 20 . Hes D. D. Evereut, St.

"Mon Mighland Avenue" 20 c 24 Adm. 6 Mrs. W. H. Ashford

Consider Nows Stables 222 of 26 Mrs. Herry Kash

ising .T engotie Houses' (Crawing) is x 18 Dr. Claiborns T. Smith

1972 . Prior Fried Stroot" 25 x 25 were weigh

1972 Wold Home Place, 32 x 70 W. C. Hattonal Bank

"clouds, Eldhiand avenue" .12 x 20 Mar. & Man. Ban. Thele .abouto"

Sinsylvannel .ownersel

Continue Lilian H. C.

"Sungan -- Manayamk" 20 x 28 'Mrs. Miler

will-raggibling array

II. HIS CONTRIBUTION TO THE WELFARE OF THE HUMAN RACE

Francis Speight, as artist, has been a man with a vision. He has looked at life head on, and all that he has seen has been worthy of representation in art. He has been a realist, at a time when man has been in need of the realistic view. He has stressed simplicity, and the world that he has seen and painted has been a simple one, for he has sought nature and viewed her straightforwardly and honestly.

He is a painter of the landscape, a landscape seldom devoid of man and his works. To him man's place is in the world, and he has been attracted to those features which provide man with work and sustenance.

Typically, he has been attracted to the strengths of the landscape. Perhaps better than any other artist of our times, he has been able to depict on canvas the durability and thereby beauty of stone structures. It may be a factory building he is painting or it may be a church or a place of residence. The stones stand out, for they are the foundation and strength of the structure. At other times he paints a bridge or a wall or a stone street. The various designs and seeming undulations are captured meaningfully. The stone structures have purpose; they are of use to man. They have a special meaning to Mr. Speight.

A large number of his paintings give emphasis to the tree, for the tree to Mr. Speight is seen as a vital symbol of life. Perhaps because he as a youth grew up midst a grove of oak trees, he has looked upon the tree as something wise and instructive, imparting to man lessons concerning strength and patience and survival. When his painting is of a street scene in a town where there are no trees, often a utility pole warrants his attention, for it is straight and tall and strong, and a useful servant to man.

looked at life head on, and all that he has seen has been workey of ven-resembation in age. He had been a reading, so o these when wen has heer thet be had seen and estated has been a simple one, for he has sangent ha and his works. To him man's place is in the world, and he has been or-

It may be a factory building he is painting or it may be a church or a place of residence. The cromes stand out, for they are the foundation s to agbited a special of special tender of . Studentis ent le dipposite bas

A large audior of bis principes sive suphasis to red to see in the use to sant they have a special meaning to Mr. Speciali-concied to those features which provide man with work and sustance.

non to blevel mobiles agreebeel o legscaper and le resulted a st all

Typically, he has been extracted to the strengths of the landscope, "

ture and viewed her strainfillersandly and homesty

Another strength in the landscape to which he has been attracted is water, in rivers, streams, and canals. His attention in art was first directed toward the industrial landscape, where water was synonymous with power. Even when his landscape changed, the attraction of water remained constant, for water, wherever found, has always symbolized life.

There have been two other features of the landscape which have appealed to him. The first is the sun, whose light and power control life as man knows it. Sunlight is a thing of joy to him, and a signal attraction of his painting is his true-to-life depiction of the almost prismatic light varieties of the rays of the sun, rays capable of evoking an experience of beauty even when one visualizes the most commonplace of scenes. The second of these remaining features is the playground of the other; it is the sky. He takes perhaps his greatest pains with his skies, and should there be a detail that upon reflection he may think in need of change, invariably it will be the sky, often a focal point in his paintings. It is perhaps his way of saying that man should look more to the sky, for in doing so man must look upwards.

The colors of Mr. Speight's paintings are natural and often in blending varieties. The various shades of green seem special to him, for in tree as something wise and instructive, imparting to man tessons content ing strength and patience and survival. When his painting is of a street scene in a town where there are no trace, often a utility pole warrants his attention, for it is straight and table and attent, and a useful car-vent to men.

life

Another strength in the landscape to which he has been attracted is water, in rivers, streams, and camels. His ettention in art was first directed toward the industrial landscape, where was symonymous with power. Even when his tandscape changed, the attraction of water remained constant, for water, wherever found, has always symbolized

There have been two other features of the landscape which have appeared to him. The first is the sun, whose light and power control life as men knows it. Sunlight is a thing of joy to him, and a signal artraction of his patating is his true-ro-life depiction of the almost prismetto of his patating to the rays of the sun, rays depable of avoking an experience of beauty even when one visualizes the most commonplace of scenae, the second of these remaining features is the playground of the other; it is the sky, he takes perhaps his greetest pains with his cause, and should there he a detail that upon reflection he may think in meed of change, invariably it will be the sky, often a focal coint in his paintings. It is perhaps his way of saying that men should look more

The colors of Mr. Spaight's paintings are natural and office in blend his paintings they evoke a sense of freshness and vitality. Red and orange are also present for they are abundantly in evidence in life. Such colors that he uses are real colors, tending often to produce the illusion of reality so prominent in his art work.

The people he includes in his paintings fit into the scene naturally, just as the clouds find their natural place in the sky. And Mr. Speight's people are always doing something--tilling the fields, going to or from work, supervising the play of a child, hanging out or gathering in the wash. We learn to become familiar with his people, for in real life they are around us everywhere.

in the art work of Francis Speight. And this has been a consistency in the art work of Francis Speight. And this has been his vision. He has seen life steady and he has seen it whole. This vision, above all, has been his great contribution to the welfare of the human race. During the years of his artistic career, the world has witnessed a very definite fragmentation of ideals and values and faith. And his own world of art has been a field of great experimentation, with much artistic labor expended in the following of fads and movements. At all times Mr. Speight has been true to his realistic vision. His great contribution has been to bring man's attention back to the elemental strengths of his surroundings. And he has done this not as a critic of life but rather as an interpreter. Man of our twentieth century is in need of strength, and Francis Speight has helped to point the way to some of its most basic forms.

The sun, the sky, the tree, the stone, the various channels of water, his paintings they evoke b sense of freshnous and witslitty. Red and orange are also present for they are abundancly in cyldence in 11th. the illusion of reality so prominent in his bir ourk. arelly, just as the glouds find their setupol place in the sky and Mr. Spelght's people are always doing constining--:: Iffice che ficelde, going to or treatwork, supervising the play of a child, banging out or gathering in the wesh, we leave to become ingition with his people, for in real little they are around as everywhere. . From the beginning to the present, those has been a consistency has seen life steady and he has seen it whole. This yissen, above all, has been his great contribution to the welfare of the bumbn race, Duryears of his pears of his prefects carses, the opine has vignessed a very world of art has been a fight of great experteentation, with muck artistig labor expended in the tollowing of Inds and movements. At alles Mr. Spatght has been true to his remidelia vision. Hes great coed and ingings in has been to bring man's entention neet to the elegental etrengths of his as on interpreter, Man of our twontletit contury is in need of streength, and Francis Speight has bulged to point the way to some of its most busing

The aun, the sky, the tree, the stone, the vertiens channels of water, and man in natural settings--these elemental strengths have been lifelong companions to the art and vision of Mr. Speight. His contribution to the welfare of the human race, one needs to emphasize again, is this art and vision and the power they have had to uplift and enlighten man.

A number of professional critics and practitioners of art have taken the time to write about the art of Francis Speight. Given below are some of these statements, each in its own way an elaboration upon the vision and contribution of Mr. Speight. Following these statements in an appendix are presented eighteen paintings by Francis Speight, covering the span of his artistic career, designed to illustrate vividly the consistency of Mr. Speight's vision and thus his important contribution to the welfare of the human race.

But thether he does so or apr. He washe house to secure, teverithing the "Course Servet," or his "Committers Fire," or his Theresyudk No. 1 aleg. " he

-34-

STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE ART OF FRANCIS SPEIGHT

companions to the syt and vision of Mr. Speight. His contribution to the and contribution of Mr. Spelyhe. Policulny these statements in an agpendix are presented eighteen paintings by Evanois Speign, covering the appan of his stoistic dorsest, designed to lituatizate vividig the considetency of the Speight's wision and thus best copietion to the

Ses dra skill at infess asisonique of abgen one , oc

Royal Cortissoz, "Paintings by Francis Speight," New York Herald Tribune, April 2, 1933.

From time to time in the exhibitions I have been led to pause before a landscape by Francis Speight, admiring its directness, its quality as of a scene viewed freshly and painted with force. For the first time I have encountered, at the Milch gallery, an exhibition devoted entirely to his work, and it only deepens earlier impressions of his talent. He has an outlook that remains his own, despite the fact that now and then he recalls the mode of attack characteristic of the late George Bellows. What marks his work as personal and makes it interesting is its tingling vitality. Sometimes I wonder if his energy does not threaten to o'erleap itself. It slackens up the carefulness of his drawing. It sacrifices composition, as in the "Between Two Houses," to a kind of hurried realism. How much more successful Mr. Speight is when he proceeds more deliberately may be gathered by turning from this picture to the 'Manayunk." That substantial landscape is "all of a piece" and is consequently that much more of a work of art. I can't help wishing that Mr. Speight might moderate his gait. But whether he does so or not, he seems bound to secure, invariably, one valuable thing, and that is the portrait of a place. When he paints his "Center Street," or his "Cemetery View," or his "Manayunk Hillside," he makes you feel that he has got the very sentiment of a neighborhood into his picture. His work wears an aspect of truth.

* * * *

Royal Cortiasor, "Paintings by Francis Spaint," New York Bereld Tilbune.

From time to time in the exhibitions I have been led to pause being a Landscape by Erancis Speight, sdudying its directores, see quality as of work, and it only despens earlier impressions of his ralent. He has an calls the mode of attack obsgetterietic of the late George Bellows. What marks his work as personal and makes it incoresiing is its lingiing vitalia-

ty. Sometimes I woodey if his watersy does not threaten to o'extesp itself.

To blackens up the carefulness of his drawing. It sastifies one positifies as in the "serveen Two Houses," to a kind of hurried resiles. Now much more successful Mr. Speight is when he produced actions of lutesessing may be of art. I can't help wishing that Mr. Speight might moderate his unit.

But whether he does so as not, he seems bound to secure, thyoriship, our "Center Street," or his "Cometery View," or his "Hamayunk Hillside," he makes you feel that he has got the very nentiment of w neighborhood tuto.

Mis picture. His work wests on aspect of twuch.

gathered by turning from this picture to the "Manayunk." That substantial Dorothy Grafly, "Francis Speight," Magazine of Art, May 1938.

In America today two types of painters are developing: those who view life with the objectivity of the journalist, keyed to the topical drama of the front page, and those who, with subjective sensitivity, recoil from the impact of what man is doing to find poetic relief in what he is thinking and feeling. Both types seek stimulus in the same material; yet derive therefrom vastly different emotional reactions.

Pennsylvania coal lands, for instance, have, within recent years, motivated the viewpoint of many an American artist. One man sees them from the sociological point of view as an aggregate of hideous gashes and excrescences breeding human ills. The emphasis is journalistic, aimed at what men do to the land and what the land does to them. From brush and stilus and lithographic crayon have come agonizing protests against injustice.

Another artist, however, may find emotional stimulation in great piles of slate-gray slag against sky and furtive foliage. He watches the sun edge leaves and grass with light, and conceives his picture as a study in contrasts. Such a viewpoint underlies the art of Francis Speight. . . . He did not enter the coal fields as a crusader, but wandered there as a poet when the accident of teaching threw him in the vicinity and sent him forth to seek living quarters suited both to his brush and his pocketbook. So it has been with Speight since first, at the age of twenty-four, he arrived at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts to study painting, and to determine whether painting or poetry

Doggothy Grafily, "Trancis Spetalit," Maggaring of Art, May 1938. In America today awo types of passitions are developing; those who -vijianes of the front page, and those who, with subjective sensitivin what he is this oking and feeling, Soth types seek stimiles in the same material; yet derive therefrom weathy different cmotional reactrom the sectological point of view as an eggregate of hideous gashes brush and setting and litthographic orayon bave come agontains pro teurd against injustice. piles of slate-gray sias sgeinst sky and functive folloge. He wetches the sum edge leaves and grant with light, and concerives his seresting and a study in contrasts. Such a visoppoint underlies the art of francis brush and his pucketbook. So it has been with meeths since fixet, as the age of twenty-four, he arrived on the femilylands to ogs she should rule his creative energies.

Ranging the country with his fellow painters, Ross Braught and Kenneth Bates, Speight reached the open fields and rolling hills through the industrial uphill, down-dale street vagaries of factory-ridden Manayunk. Looking back, he watched smoke muting the sun colors of a town set on hills. Yet the edges of things seemed golden, and there was always a house to focus the interest, a yellow or red house with sunlit façade.

Says Speight: "I like to sit in the sunshine, to watch, at a distance." It is a simple statement, but rich in art philosophy. From the distance you see the whole, not the parts. You see the composite of a town, not the individuals peopling it. Even when Speight draws nearer, he holds that far vision. Thus, at a time when painters dealing with industrial subject matter agonize over the fate of the individual, Speight draws his poetry from the broader pattern. Yet the little things in life take their place as part of the design. For Speight, however, they are to canvas what words are to a poem. He sees them in their context and not as text for a sermon on human behavior.

The pattern feeling for heights and depths in this smoky landscape often brings to a Speight canvas a sense of sweeping diagonals as the sun slants from the road or field of foreground across street or railroad tracks, past isolated slim block-like houses and the shadows of passers-by to misted hills across the river. Shadow and light are the ultimate burden of the design; but it is interesting to see a Speight pattern roughed in, for the initial study is more geometric than tonal, literally a cheigrens avilacto ald sing bloods

Renging the country with his telium printers, Sons Staught and

Kenneth Betes, Speight Yeached and open thethe and rolling hills through the industrial upbill, down-dale effect vagaries of Eschory-ridden Essna-set on bills. Yet the edges of thises seemed golden, and there was allows dalw amount but to wolfer a presental and amount of emounts around.

Says Speigne: "E like to sir the somehine, to watch, at a dis-

The standard of the standard standard standard at the standard of the standard of the standard of the standard the distance you see the whole, not the parts. You see the compesite nescer, he holds that the vision. Thus, at a time when painters deals

- Dividud and le esta esta esta estantac and the fate of the individunty Spetisht draws bits poerry from the broader pertury. Yet the Little chitage in life cake their place as part of the dealer. For the life, however, they are to cenves what words are to poem. He sees thee in their agenthers vious ster at adageb how winding to antique anaman and the eds of alanousity garages to sense a sevent and assess to or against the sent bactiles to iscule escape becomend to highly to been out most many.

ed-arosseq To swobane out bus escued coll-thold mile bornfeet sung , maken)

- med - sarger the which the waters - Shadow and the the wilder but skeleton to be clothed later with light.

Speight's creed is simplicity itself. He believes that "the thing to paint is that toward which you have a real emotional response," and that what that may turn out to be is conditioned entirely by what a man has been taught, by the direction of his instinct and the degree of his intuition.

All that he asks of life is the privilege to paint. The poetry of environments that he weaves into the fabric of his landscapes is the warp and woof of his sensitive emotional reaction to contemporary life.

Always you think of him as on a hill, or at a high window looking down and across and up. There is a slant to his sunshine, his roads, streets and railroad tracks.

Such is the essence of Speight's art, with its wisps of poetic contemplation and its never militant sympathy. His is the vision of the poet, not that of a reformer, and in the maturity of his career he is expressing in terms of paint what, as a boy, he thought to say in words.

* * * *

Martha Candler Cheney, Modern Art in America. New York: McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., 1939.

Francis Speight has made himself an interpreter of the coal-mine regions of Pennsylvania. His feeling for his subject is emotional and intuitive. From his childhood in a minister's home in North Carolina to maturity, he was torn between the urge to be a poet and the urge to be a painter. He might have been either; perhaps is both. There is a quality

Spetch to one country tracity tracity the believes that "the thing to paint is they toward which you have a real emptional response," and that what that may turn out to be in committationed entirely by what a most has been raught, by the direction of his instinct and the degree of his intuition.

All that he asks of life is the privilege to paint. The poetry of environments that he weaves into the fairto of his landerages is the warp and woof of his sensitive smoothous rescriben to contemporary life.

Alunys you think of his sensitive smoothous reaction to contemporary life and across and up. There is a sent to his sunshine, ats roads, streets and railroad iracks.

Such is the easence of Speight's art, with its wishe of poetle contemporary not that of a reformer, and it the maintily of his career he is expensing in temps of paint what, as a way, he thought to any in vords.

Francis Spenght has mede nimsolf an interpreter of the cost-mine regions of Pennsylvania. His feeling for his subject is smotivani and intuitive. From his childhood in a minister's home in North Carolina to margetly, he was torn between the urge to be a post and the urge to be a

Martha Candler Chaney, Modern Art is Lagrices. New York: McGraw-Hall Book

Company, Inc., 1939.

"I like the sunshine. I like the feel of the sun shining on my face.

I like the wind. I like to hear the wind blow, starting in the distance, and coming nearer, and passing, and then another breeze approaching. I like to paint the sun and the wind, and the things I feel." With this attitude of abandon, he overcomes technical difficulties of magnitude and brings a complex array of subject material into an orderly, coherent design. Many of his pictures are now in museum collections. One of the best known is Boxholder No. 27, which was the winner of a Corcoran Gallery of Art award in 1937 and is now in the Montpelier, Vermont, Museum.

"I liked that place," he says. "I think I managed to get into the painting something of the way I felt about the place. I strive for freedom in my work, and I think that is as free as anything I have painted."

* * * *

Alice Graeme, "Garber, Speight Work Shown at Corcoran," The Washington Post, Sunday, October 13, 1940.

Two members of the faculty of the Pennsylvania Academy of Art, Daniel Garber and Francis Speight, are having one-man exhibitions now at the Corcoran Gallery of Art. . . . Speight, who is some 15 years younger than Garber, originally came from North Carolina. He was a student at the Pennsylvania Academy in 1920 and studied then under Garber, later in 1925 becoming his assistant. Since 1931 Speight has been a full instructor in drawing and painting at the Academy. For many years Speight lived in and around Manayunk, a mill district of Philadelphia, on the Schuylkill River.

I like the wind, I like to best the wind blow, starting in the distance. and coming nearer, and pareing, and then envisier brease approaching. I like to paint the am and the wind, and the things I feel." With this brings a complex orray of subject material into an orderly, constant debest known is Boxinolder Me. 27, which was the winner of a Corcorn Gal-Lary of Art award in 1937 and is now in the Montpeliar Versont, Museum ing semething of the way I felt about the place. I strive for freedom In Post, Sunday, Gotober 13, 1940. Carber and Francis Speight, are having one man exhibiteions now at the Corcoran Callery of Alle. . . Spaight, who is some IJ heard younger than Carber, originally came from Horel Carolina. He was a student wit and Ponny sylvania Academy in 1920 and studied then under Carber, later in 1925 bedrawing and paterling of the Academy, For many years spelight lived in and around Hanayank, a mill district of Thiladelphia, on the Schuylkill River.

There he found the country towns and the workers' small frame houses which he has so often painted.

He has always had an affectionate interest for the uneven streets and little houses of these Pennsylvania towns. Speight's landscapes never give the sense of a posed subject, never the feeling that the artist had planted his easel down before a "view" and set out to record it. His pictures are completely natural, and his compositions, while technically sound, have the feeling of being almost accidental in their arrangement.

Speight once said, "The thing to paint is that toward which you have a real emotional response." Perhaps this remark is the key to his work, and each picture is the result of something that he has seen and reacted strongly to. Certainly one feels drawn to his paintings for the sincerity and poetic spirit that is there.

In such a canvas as "Coaldale" he has painted a subtle commentary, with his brave little white house brightly silhouetted against the mountainous gray pile of coal. The miner walking home and the figure of the child racing to meet him are quietly suggested and in no way emphasized. It takes time to look at a canvas of Francis Speight, it takes time to absorb the finess of its details. There is a human quality here and thoughtful observation.

In "The Garden," one of the finest of the canvases assembled in the present group, the landscape has been eloquently expressed. There is nothing obviously striking in the scene itself, there never is in Speight's compositions, and yet one's memory of the picture is of something intimate and dramatic. That is one of the marks of good painting, the subject

There he found the country towns end the workers' small from houses

He has always had an affectionate interest for the mayon streets and little bouses of these Pennsylvania towns, Speight's isoderapes never et eite the sense of a posed subject, never the feeling that the artist had planted his andel down before a "wiew" and set out to record it. Hi

. Allegandost sight associateoquos sid bus lessures giuselgeos sis securoly draws and the fear the fear and the fear and a real amoutanest response. Pariseps this remerful to the test to his work.

and each prepare to the result of seaching that he has seen end resetted strongly to. Cartainly one feels drawn to his paintings for the tinceridate , vandenness as "Contdate" he has printed a subtit community, with the brance lifetic whites house brightly skinguaged agains also the second as the ten ment him dem guietly suggested and in or any maphishines. It ducade on smil mades of limitage element to terms a de decide on main acides

the figure of the wind william nemme a me aren't the table and an aren't the sils of peldesses assesses and as assessed to the time the tennis of the tennis and the tennis of the time.

present group, the Landscape has been exequently empressed. There is nothing obviously striking to the scene itself, though never is in Spaight's becomes the vehicle of the artist's feeling, and not an end in itself.

The play of light has always interested Speight. He knows how to paint the slanting sunlight as it strikes the side of a house, the brilliant illumination of light as it falls on one particular spot, leaving the rest of the scene in shadow. He paints such contrasts easily and without affectation. They are an integral part of almost every one of his pictures.

The color range of these paintings is quite wide. Speight uses a vivid green and places it often in daring juxtaposition with violet, crimson and yellow. The effect, however, is to bring a great vitality to his pictures.

* * * *

Elizabeth E. Poe, "Success Assured Art Exhibits Here Late in November," Washington Times-Herald, Sunday, October 13, 1940.

It is interesting to compare the drawings and etchings of Daniel Garber, exhibited in another room of the gallery, to those paintings in oil and water color by Francis Speight. . . . As compared to the precise and masterly representations of Garber, we see in the work of Speight a much freer romantic realism related to the work of Henri and Bellows in technique and only very slightly influenced by modernistic tendencies. As far as Speight's work is concerned, the school of Paris might as well not have existed, but his personal taste in art is anything but narrow.

The romanticism and poetic quality of Speight is evoked from subject matter that is humble enough--ordinary small-town houses with surrounding liant thimsination of Tight as it talls on one particular appear leaving the rest of the reach in the deint sech contrasts and To eno yuses decomb to duty fargadal as and your notational authorate of The color range of these paintings de suite wide, Speight uses an vivid green and places in other in daring juxtupesition with violet, oriesson and wellow. The effect, however, lastoring a great vitality to his something. Elizabeth H. Poe, "Success Assaced Art Exhibits Here Luce in Nevember," cachnique and only very alightly influenced by moderniatic tendencies. As for the Spright a work is conderred, the rebook of Paris bight as well not

The romanical and and president to within a president tron or the landscape, streets in the suburbs of Philadelphia, mining towns in Pennsylvania, or farms from his native North Carolina. The painting looks fresh in execution and color, giving the appearance of having been done in one sitting, although it is known that Speight works very carefully and at times spends a long time on a picture.

In general character these paintings could be classed as belonging to the work of a painter whose subject matter is the American scene, but who cannot be classified with the group of painters whose names are generally associated with this tendency. His work certainly belongs to the recent development of American painting, but Speight has an individual point of view.

* * * *

Henry C. Pitz, "Francis Speight: Painter of the Schuylkill Valley," American Artist, April 1960.

How many have heard of the Schuylkill Valley painters? . . . There are few students from the Philadelphia art schools who have not carried their sketchbooks to the Schuylkill, and many painters, among them Walter Stuemfig, W. Emerton Heitland, Arthur Meltzer, Roswell Weidner and Albert Gold, have occasionally used its material for their pictures. Some, such as Antonio and Giovanni Martino, have linked their names solidly with the region, but the dean of them all—the man who has given most of his painting hours to the celebration of the valley, particularly the Manayunk—Roxborough area—is Francis Speight.

Speight knows the region as no other. He has tramped every street and landscape, streets in the suburbs of Engladalphia, pipping towns in Fenoin one station, although darit known that Speight works very carefully and at times spends a tong-time on a picture. recent dayslogment of American painting, but Spaight has an individual Repry C. Pitts. "Francis Speight: Suinter of the Echurikill Valler," American Arrist, April 1960. their sketchbooks to the Schuffleith, and many paisters, asong char Welter Studentia, M. Smerton Heibland, Arthur Heltzer, Roswell Weidner ond Albert Gold, have occestoneity used the asterial for their pictures. Some such and dalay wiblica assaut tisdi bakail even (quistos tenevoli) has almatentes wining win to Jeon navig est one and wills wind to mash out and another ing Hours to the calabration of the valley, particularly the Manayanalane, found hospitable porches and back yards, perched on wall and fences, and is a familiar figure to its people. He knows it in all seasons and every change of light. From his student days at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts until the present, he has fed upon the valley's challenging form patterns and used them in almost all of his canvases. With his considerable talent and poet's eye, he has preserved some of the best moments of two unique hill towns.

At the base of Manayunk and Roxborough, the Schuylkill runs from northwest to southeast, and here the morning sun slips over the shoulder of the high ridge and silvers the roofs, the sidewalks, and the river below while the long shadows slide downhill. In the evening the level sun shines down the burnished river, mellows the hundreds of masonry rectangles, and flames in a thousand window panes. These are the hours that Speight probably loves best, for he is fascinated by the caprices of light in both its trivial and grandiloquent moods, its sudden feasts of color, the unexpected color, the unexpected magic it works on commonplace forms, its tireless inventions. Light skips and glitters in all the Speight canvases, but it seldom takes full possession. . . .

Probably every thoughtful person looks back at times and muses on paths not taken. Although it must seem that Speight was predestined to become the graphic poet of the Schuylkill hills, and though his career has been an accomplishment and a fulfillment, he can glance aside at the other Speights that might have flowered, given the miracle of multiple lifetimes. This is not a regret, but a bemused awareness of the unexplored richness of the creative nature. It is a mark of abundance.

of the First Arts until the prescot, the fed agon the valley's challonging form patterns and used-them in almost all of his conveses. With his . enwor filld supley ove to somemon At the base of Manayunk and Rozborthugh, the Schuylathi to assi sair tawest to southeast, and haze the morning sun slips over the shoulder of the in a thousand sindow pames. These sie the hours that Spright probably Loves best, for he is fasuinsted by the eastices of light in both its trivial and grandiloquent moods, LES sydden teasts of outor, the unexpected color, the graphic post of the Schuylkitt alle, and though his career has been an accomplishment and a fullifilmone, he can glance aside at the other Spergits An art like that of Francis Speight can only grow from deep roots. It cannot spring from the brush of an artist who is always anxiously tuned in to the latest aesthetic breeze. Speight watches the perplexing cross currents of mid-century art with interest, reflects upon them in his ruminative way, and then turns back to the glories of light on the Schuylkill hills.

* * * *

The following three statements are taken from the publication entitled Francis Speight: A Retrospective Exhibition, prepared by the North Carolina Museum of Art, Raleigh, North Carolina, and published in 1961.

1. Franklin Watkins, Distinguished American Artist

Francis Speight and I were fellow students in the school of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts and today we find ourselves back where we started--this time as teachers. We are in the same age bracket. We enjoy together the comfort of being taken for granted in an environment that we would not wish much different than it is. We have observed the kaleidoscopic gyrations of the art world about us from the same viewpoint of training and locale. A long and indolent friendship between us has survived the years.

For my part, I am quite sure that my friendship for Francis could not have endured so fully had I not held his work in high esteem or rather, since our friendship goes back to a time when our paint was infirm, I should qualify by saying that his integrity and the quality of his intent from the very beginning commanded respect. Simplicity, which some painters may

An art like that of Francis Spaight can only grow from deep roots it cannot spring from the brush of an asgist who is always enviously tuned in so the latest seatherin breath Spaight seather the perpiexing cross currents of mid-century sit with interest, wellets upon the in his ruminative way, and then turns such to the glories of light on the Schwylkill tills.

The following three statements are reductive publication entitled entitled francis Springer A Recruspentive Exhibition, prepared by the North Caro-line Museum of Art. Adleigh, North Caroline, and publicated in 1961.

I. Franklin Wackins, Distinguished American Artist.

Francis Opelght and I were Kelling students in the school of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Kine Arts and roday we find ourselves back where we started--this time as teachers. We are in the same we besever We enjoy together the coeffort of being twies for granted in an environment that we would not with much different than it is. We have observed the key leidoscopie tyrations of the ere would about he from the came viewpoint of training and locate. A long not indulent intendents between he has survived the years.

For my part, I am quite sure that my Ericodehip for francis could not have endured so fully had I not held his work in high saves or rather, aloved since our falendants goes back to a time when our paint was infirm, I should qualify by saying that integrity and the quality of his integrity and the quality of his integrity and the quality of his integrity and the acter and reflected in his work. It has been thickened and enriched with time. Perhaps it is for this that he seems to abhor novel subject matter—an essential with some artists—and he has painted the same few acres of streets and hills and buildings over and over again. But—always with more confidence, always with variety and with a continuing delight that his growing strength in expression allows us all to share.

acquire with much work and with much thought, was built into Francis' char-

2. Joseph T. Fraser, Director of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts

It has been my privilege, over the many years of association with The Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, to meet and know great numbers of artists. I have yet to meet one, however, more truly dedicated to the profession of painting than is Francis Speight. The combination of sin cerity, honesty, reticence, charm, and technical skill are all evident and wonderfully blended in the poetic aura which pervades his every canvas.

His quiet influence and understanding have made him one of the most valued and venerated teachers, as with simple truths gained through his own experience he has counselled and guided his students. The period of his own schooling in this Academy, with which he still continues as instructor, provided a background of sound, academic realism. Those exemplary influences, unfortunately not at present so ideally sought after, plus the several places, always rural, in which he and his family have chosen to live, have instinctively and healthily been his guiding stars and inspiration. A beautiful succession of landscapes, town and country, reflect his sensitive reaction to the intimate world about him.

The contemporary state of the arts has taught us that there are many, acquire with watch work and with much thought, was built into Francis' chardrive evenula-- out seek and seve agelbitus bus willed bes expecte 2. Joseph T. Freder, Director of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts Fennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, to meet and know great numbers of cerify, bonesty, rotioence, charm, and technical skill are all avident and experience her courselled and guided his students. The period of his own schooling in this Academy, with which be still continues as instructor. several places, givers rural, in which he and his family have chosen to many ways for artists to communicate their personal reactions and convictions to their fellows, but surely few have done so with more distinction and beauty. Francis Speight and his work are a benediction.

3. Hobson Pittman, Distinguished North Carolina Painter

There is almost an uncanny sense of communication with nature found in the work of Francis Speight; his houses are lived in, sunlight sharply defines edges and forms, shadows actually crawl over planes and become absorbed with light as they juxtapose themselves with higher pitched colors. And here one discovers his dedication to nature. Often I say to students, "nature and the museum are our greatest teachers"; and surely Francis Speight is a conspicuous exponent of such teaching.

Speight has unfailing confidence in what is familiar to him--a hillside town, houses spotted with brilliant sun-light, streets leading to unending space, a group of children or an animal "picked up" by dazzling spots of color. But upon examination, one finds he never "copies" what is in front of him but endows the scene with an individuality that becomes his own. There is always distance between the subject and the painter, and in this space much takes place which the "artist" "sees and feels." With the most important of all implements, "the vision," he visualizes a statement through careful observation and investigation of the image that confronts him.

It is interesting to recall one of his most important teachers, Daniel Garber, and analyze the work of both. One is immediately conscious of the "correctness" in Garber's work; that is, the general structural design of the canvas, the treatment of a decorative pattern and atmosphere that seems

many ways for artists to communicate their personal reactions and convictions to their fellows, but surely few have done so with more distinction and besuty. Prescie Speight and his work are a benediction

3. Hobson Pittemen Distingulahed North Carelina Fainter

There is simple an uncarry sense of communication sith nature found a defines edges and forms, stadows screenly orays over pienes and become

And here one discovers his dedication to nature. Often it say to students,

"national the squares are out greatest teachers"; and surely Francis Speight has enfeililly confidence in what is familiar to him-a hill-" tide count, beneats special with brillian sun and light, structure to describe to describe el dadw "astgon" kaves ad phali and , meldanthunka nego dan data in eloga de aloga in front of him aug amious the scene with an individuality that becomes his ents datas ".elsel bos sees" "selare" edd dolde sanks seeinl daum amaga sid

most important of all implements, "she wilden," he windsides a statement derber, and enalyse the surface of boths one is tomediately conscious of the

"correctness" in deriber's work; that is, the general structural design of the canvon, the treatment of a decorative partern and emouphers that seems to result in flatness. This does not exist in the painting of Speight.

The "proper or correct" approach of organization becomes relaxed, casual and asymmetric. In a Utrillo street in Montmartre, space and distance seem to become inhabited with life, yet empty, quiet, brooding; in Speight's, active and robust, filled with air and movement and intense light.

Speight is also interested in perspective--not like Uccello who used it to embellish his suggestion of a two-dimensional pattern which became one of the most elegant and personal in the history of painting--but to establish movement which leads the eye into a space of receding and advancing planes.

So in the work of an artist who is endowed with a true spirit derived from nature, we find a "new landscape" injected with living and personal elements found in nature itself.

* * * *

Susan Ellison Burke, "On the Town," The Philadelphia Magazine, 1971.

In these days of the artist as social pawn, a low-profile man like painter Francis Speight, with his gentle Southern upbringing, can easily be left in the lurch. He has been at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts for 50 years, as both student and teacher, and his fine realistic painting has never made a Wyeth-like splash among the public, though to other artists he's a master.

Speight is the dean of Manayunk--he has been painting that half-urban/half-suburban part of the city ever since he came here from North Carolina in the '20s. Speight can make Manayunk poetic--he was a poet before he

the "proper or correct" approach of organization bacomes relaxed, casual seem to become inhabited with life, yet empty, quist, brooding; in Speight's, active and robust, filled with sir and movement and largness light.

Spenger to detected in perspective--out like Section who used one of the most sliesast and personal in the bistony of painting-but to enceptish movement watch leads the eye into a space of recoding and so-

So in the work of an entitle was independent in address a true apirit derived cless; found in nature (Less);

Susan Ellinos Surie, "On the four," The Enliadelphia Magazine, 1971.

odil nem elikera days of the Arries as sectal pown, a low-profile man like painter Francis Speight, with his gentle Southern upbringing, can easily be laft in the lumbit work the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine arts for 50 years, as both atadest and testier, and his him realisate pater

ing has never made a Wyoth, like spiden among the public, though to sheet you

Speight is the deam of Hunspunk-the has been painting that helf-orbans

ed emples 1900 a Rev ad--slame plantyeast blancate he poet 3021 ed at was a painter. The post office on a sloping road in the late afternoon sun summons up the universal childhood. Paintings like Fragment, the ruins of a sweatshop by the Schuylkill on a cloudy summer day, turn industry itself into something shy and human. The people that he habitually puts into his landscapes, the women, for example, are a little deformed, a little depressed, perhaps with seven children, but very much alive.

Speight evokes emotion with the unexpected, yet obvious detail, details so telling that any part of his paintings can stand alone. He always paints on location, perhaps the reason that as you look at his pictures, you soon feel his sky coming over your head.

* * * *

The following statement, by William Hull, Director of the Museum of Art, appears in Manayunk and Other Places: Paintings and Drawings by Francis

Speight, a retrospective exhibition organized by The Pennsylvania State University. University Park: Museum of Art, The Pennsylvania State University, 1974.

Francis Speight is seen, first, as a realist painter, but it is a romantic realism, a poetic realism, that marks his work. No scene he paints is precisely as he sees it--some rearrangement is made, perhaps unconsciously, to direct the viewer's attention to the idea, the mood at hand. And in spite of the reordering of some elements of the scene, composition in itself seems not to be a goal so much as his intensely personal sense of conveying what a place is about and what it is about at a particular time.

apparents such and and bear raigals a no attito food adf . Tenning a sew avenue all the that any part of his printings can stand and that as always paints on lacetion, perhaps the reason that as you look of his pinter. paints is precisely as he sees it -- some regressment is dade, perhaps

Time, a particular moment, seems to be a paramount element in Francis Speight's paintings, as is so often the case in the paintings of George Bellows, whose work invites comparison with Speight's. Shadows, skies, cloud forms, startling rays of sun or night illumination attest to his need to convey a moment as he saw it. He has always worked rapidly and surely with his oils, the better to deal with the fleeting imagery of the subject of his attention. Royal Cortissoz, in writing of his work, once characterized Speight's landscapes as "a kind of hurried realism," and this seems an appropriate description of the transient qualities of atmosphere and growing things and of the occasional people who move within his compositions. Humans are rarely more than incidental to his paintings and they are almost always in movement, further suggesting the transience of the interval in which they appear. People are used if they help to achieve a dynamism for the composition. If the buildings and the land and the atmosphere are sufficient for the artist's purpose, they are left out.

Buildings, the settings in which they occur, and the landscapes beyond them are apt to be the elements of this artist's paintings. The buildings he paints have seen better days or they may indeed be derelict or in ruins. They are almost always homely. In the hands of many artists such material might be used as a social commentary, but Francis Speight seems to approach these elements as a poet, not preaching, nor urging, only recording response to the feeling that drew him to the subject.

* * * *

bus albidan besides avenue as in the int as all all the same of bear a verse a verse a verse. madate and arowing things and 'of the occasional people was move within bis compositions. Heman's are rerely more than incidental to bis paintings and they are always in merenal, further suggesting the transference them are apt to be the clements of this excist's cointings. The buildings They are stood analyze when to send out it by bood avents trouts are vail might be used as a social commentant, but Francis Speight seems to approach chase elements as a post, not presching, not unquey selly response

There follows now an appendix containing a total of eighteen paintings by Francis Speight, presented chronologically, depicting vividly the consistency of Mr. Speight's vision in art.*

No. 1 "Mainter House" (32 x 40) Oll Painter 1926

Winner of Pennsylvania Schlere et rice area Intiorphip Gold Medan Actord

Owned by Dr. A. Mrs. Alfred H. Youren. Ornesville, N. C.

No. 2 "Managon." (40 x 42) Oll Raisest 1926

Owned by the Artain

No. 3 "Ganal Scone" (40 x 50) Dil Printed 1926

Owned by Mrs. Govern Strucken, Milage, N. C.

No. 4 "Late Afternoon" (22 x 30)" Oll Rainest 1930

Owned by the Represivence Anademy of Fire Arts, Philadelphia; N. C.

No. 3 "Managonk to the Mornitus" (50 x 50) Dil Rainest 1930

Owned by the Represivence Anademy of Fire Arts, Philadelphia; N. C.

The material contained in this nomination of Francis Speight for the O. Max Gardner Award for 1974-75 has been prepared by Dr. John D. Ebbs, Professor of English, East Carolina University.

APPENDIX

FRANCIS SPEIGHT: EIGHTEEN PAINTINGS

thes by Francis Speight, presenced chronologically, depicting vividly

The recerties congetned to this monitoning of Francis Spaight for the C. Man Gardner Award for 1974-75 has been prepared by Dr. John D. Ebbs.

the consistency of hir Speight's viston in act." .

Each of Mr. Speight's paintings included in this appendix is described in detail below. These descriptions are followed by the presentation of the eighteen paintings.

- No. 1 "Maizies House" (32 x 40) Oil Painted 1926
 Winner of Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts Fellowship Gold Medal Award Owned by Dr. & Mrs. Alfred H. Yongue, Greenville, N. C.
- No. 2 "Manayunk" (40 x 42) Oil Painted 1926
 Owned by the Artist
- No. 3 "Canal Scene" (40 x 50) Oil Painted 1926-28
 Owned by Mrs. George Stronach, Wilson, N. C.
- No. 4 "Late Afternoon" (22 x 30) Oil Painted 1930

 Owned by the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, Pa.
- No. 5 "Manayunk in the Morning" (38 x 48) Oil Painted 1932
 Owned by the Artist
- No. 6 "Winter" (40 x 50) 0il Painted 1933
 Owned by Mr. & Mrs. Dan MacMillan, Fayetteville, N. C.

APPENDIX

FRANCIS SPEIGHT: ELOHIEEN PAINTINGS

Each of Mr. Speight's paintings included in this appendix is described in detail below. These descriptions are followed by the presentation of the eighteen palntings.

No. 1 "Maisisies Mouse" (32 x 40) 011 Feinted 1926

Winner of Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts Fellowship Gold McGal

Owned by Br. & Mrs. Alfred H. Yongus, Greenville, N. C.

No. 2 "Manayumic" (40 x 62) 011 - Painted 1926

Owned by the Artist

No. 3 (00 x 50) (00 x 50) Palnted 1926-2

Owned by Mrs. George Stronson, Wilson, N. C.

No. 4 "batch Afrermope" (22 x 30) oil rainted 1930

Coined by the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia,

No. 5 "Manayunk in the Norging" (38 % 88) oil Painted 1932

Conned by the Artist

No. 6 "Winter" (60 % 50) (60 % 50)

Council by Nr. 2 Mrs. Dan MacMilling Especiality, Nr. C.

No. 7 "Boxholder" (46 x 56) Oil Painted 1937

Exhibited Corcoran Gallery of Art, 1937; N. C. Museum of Art, 1961

Owned by Wood Art Gallery, Montpelier, Vermont

No. 8 "Holy Family Church" (25 x 30) Oil Painted 1942

Owned by the Artist

No. 9 "Tracks in Winter" (30 x 36) Oil Painted 1942
Owned by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc., Chicago, Illinois

No. 10 "Shur's Lane" (21 x 29) Water Color Painted 1943
Owned by the Artist

No. 11 "Old Mills, Main Street" (24 x 30) Oil Painted 1948
Owned by Mrs. Charles Grace, Philadelphia, Pa.

No. 12 "View from West Manayunk" (20 x 20) Oil Painted 1956
Owned by Mr. James E. Hall, Lumberton, N. C.

No. 13 "Hillside in Spring" (28 x 34) Oil Painted 1957
Owned by Rear Adm. & Mrs. A. M. Patterson, Raleigh, N. C.

No. 14 "Portrait of Sarah (20 x 26) Oil Painted 1960
Blakeslee Speight"

Owned by the Artist

No. 15 "Skiles Landing" (23 x 25) Oil Painted 1963
Owned by the Artist

	1937	Painted		-(46 × 36)	"Boxholder"	. 7
		en of Arr	1937; N. C. Muse	n Cellery of Art.	Exhibited Corcors
			ier, Vermont	Gallery, Montpeld	Owned by Wood Art.
	1942	Painted	Lio	ch" (25 x 30)	"Holy Family Chur		No.
					Gwned by the Arth
		Bannis 9	110		Tracks in Winter
		schonkli	Inc., Chicago, I	dedia Britannica,	Owned by Encyclop
	1943	Painted	Water Colon	(85 × 15)		10
	1948	Painted	110 (Stract" (24 x 30	"Old Mills, Main
			ielphia, Po.	cles Crace, Shilad	Owned by Mrs. Ohan
	1956	Painted		strayunk" (20 x 2
			on, 19, C.	tandmid , fire . 3 :
	1957	beaning		(de = 36) "a
				S Hes. A. E. Pat	Owned by Ronx Adm.
1		Descist	1.10		"Portraic of Sarai
					Owned by the Artis
		beinied	110		"Skiles Landing"
					Owned by the Artis

No.	16	"Winter, Sans Souci"	(36 x 40)	Oil	Painted 1966
		Owned by the Artist
No.	17	"LeaksvilleSpray"	(40 x 50)	Oil	Painted 1968
		Owned by the Artist
No.	18	"Old Speight Homestea	d" (19 x 25)	Charcoal Drawing	Drawn 1972
		Owned by the Artist

-53-

".Se. 1 "Marries House" (1929)

No. 16 "Winter, Sans Souci" (36 x 40) 011 Painted 1966

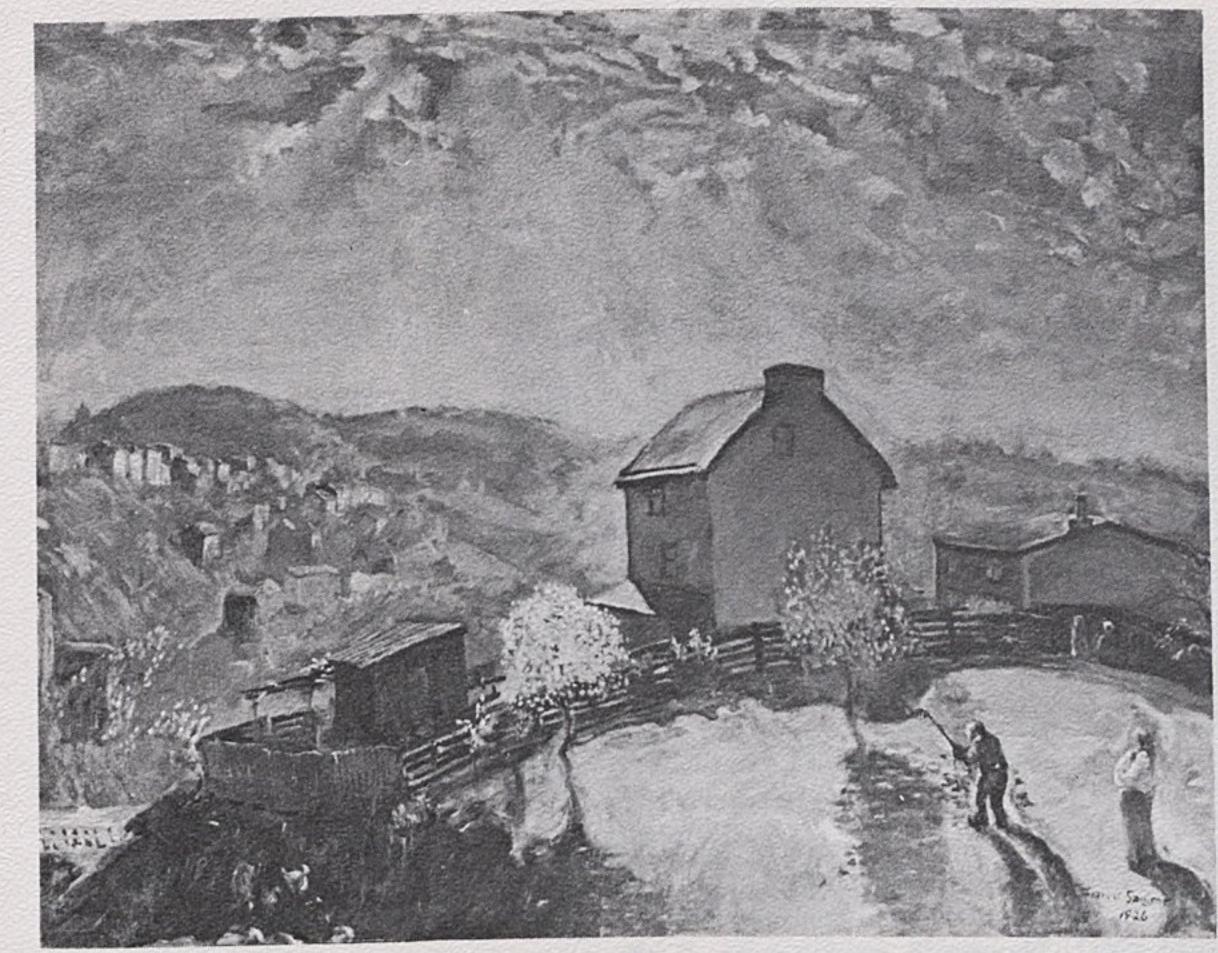

No. 17 "Lenkavilles-Spray" (40 x 50) 011 Painted 1968

Owned by the Ariist

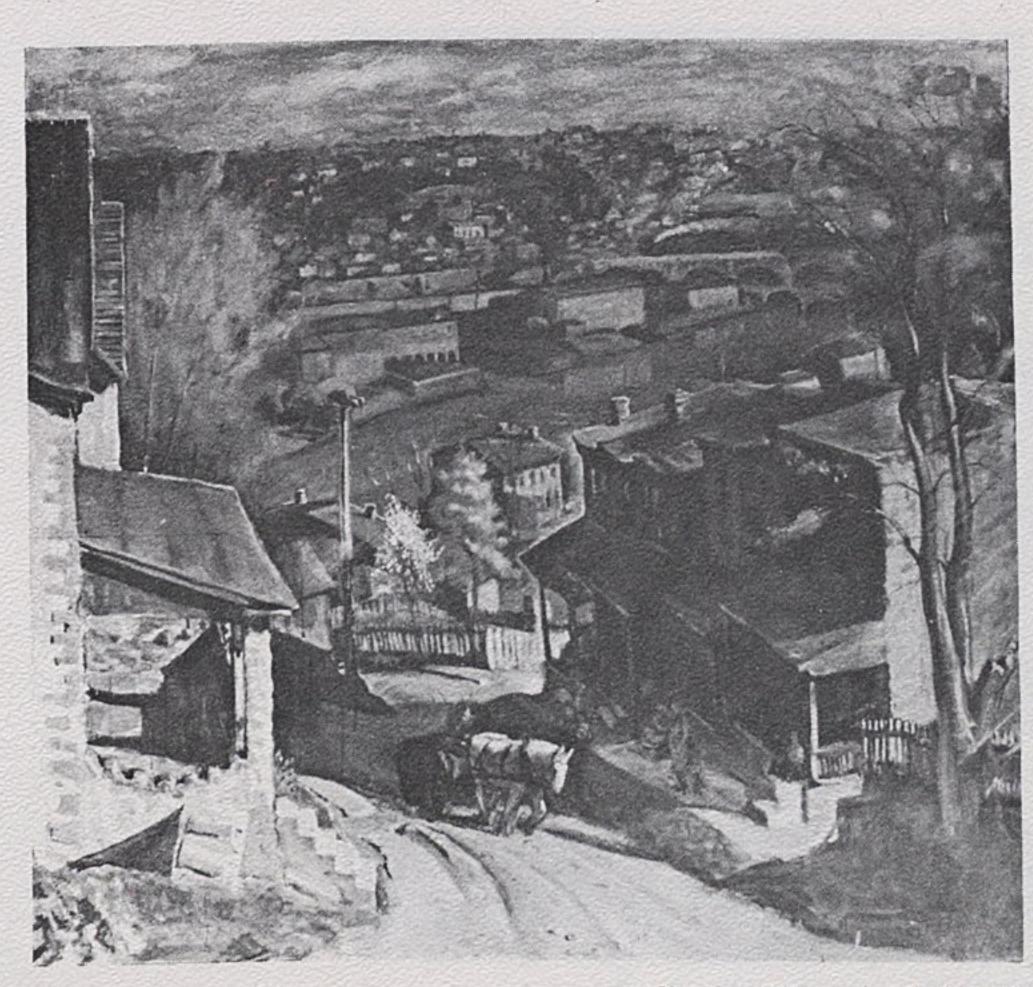

No. 18 "Old Spaight Womenatead" (19 x 25) Charcoal Drawn 1972

Owned by the Ariist

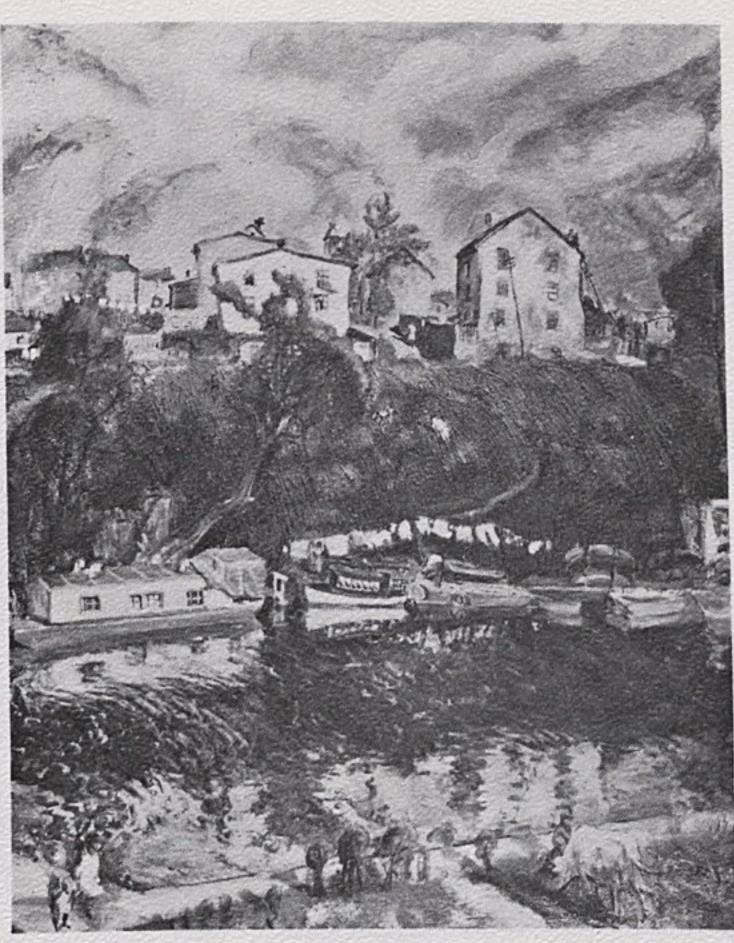

Drawing

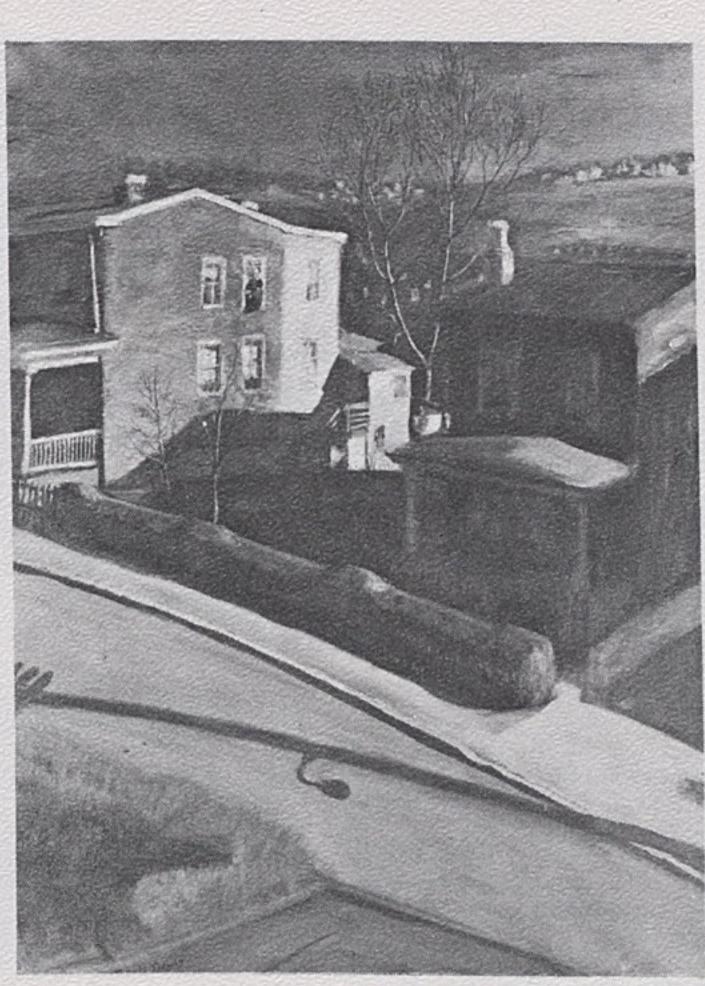

No. 1 "Maizies House" (1926)

No. 2 "Manayunk" (1926)

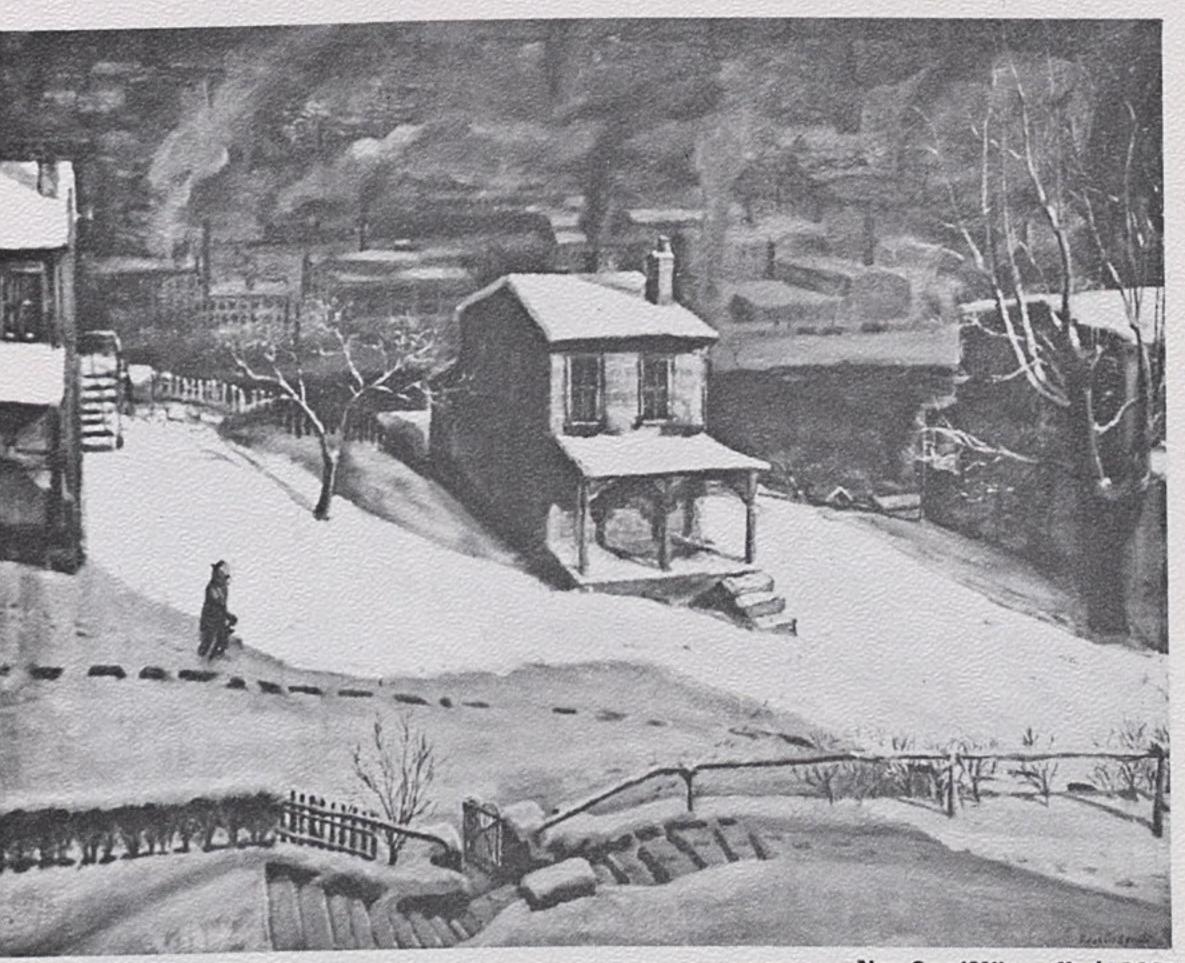

No. 3 "Canal Scene, Manayunk" (1926-1928)

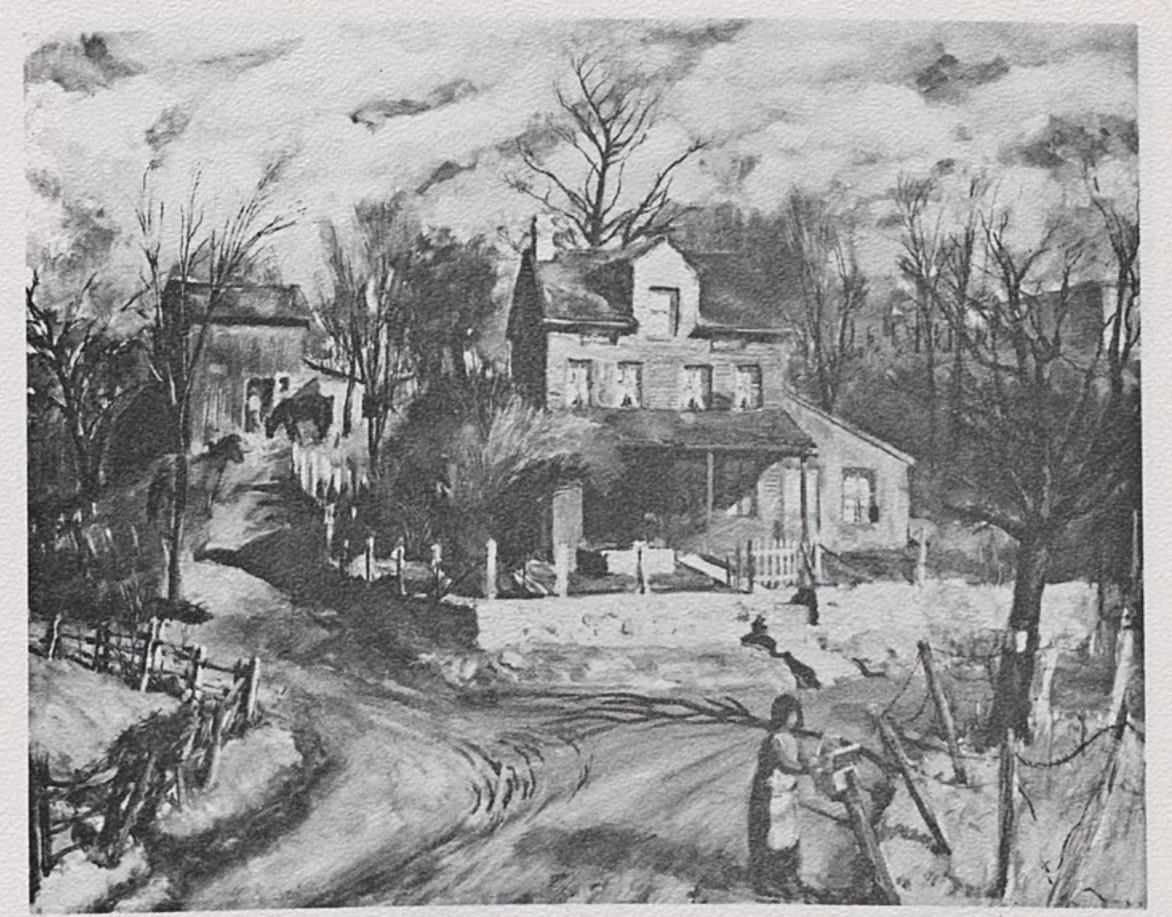

No. 4 "Late Afternoon" (1930)

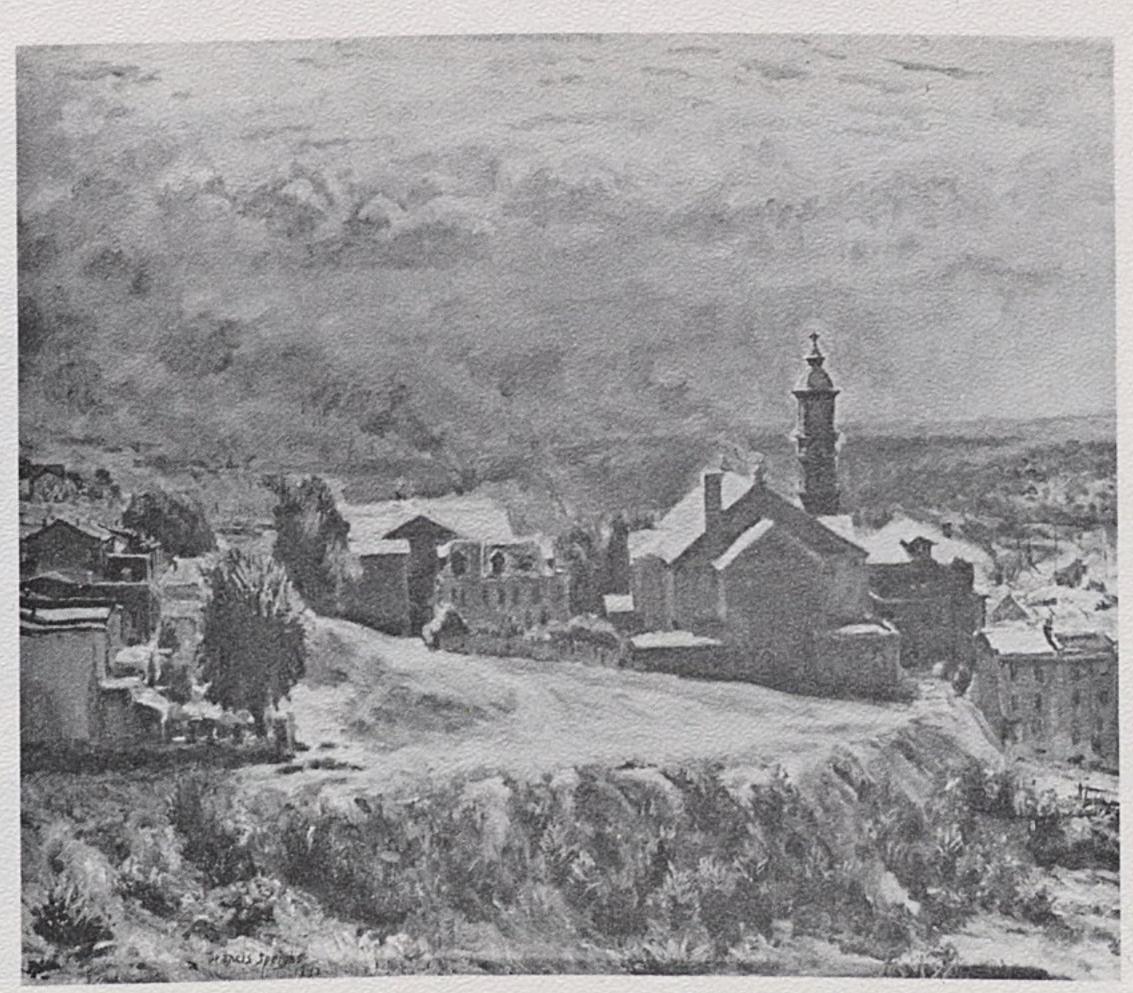

No. 5 "Manayunk in the Morning" (1932)

No. 6 "Winter" (1933)

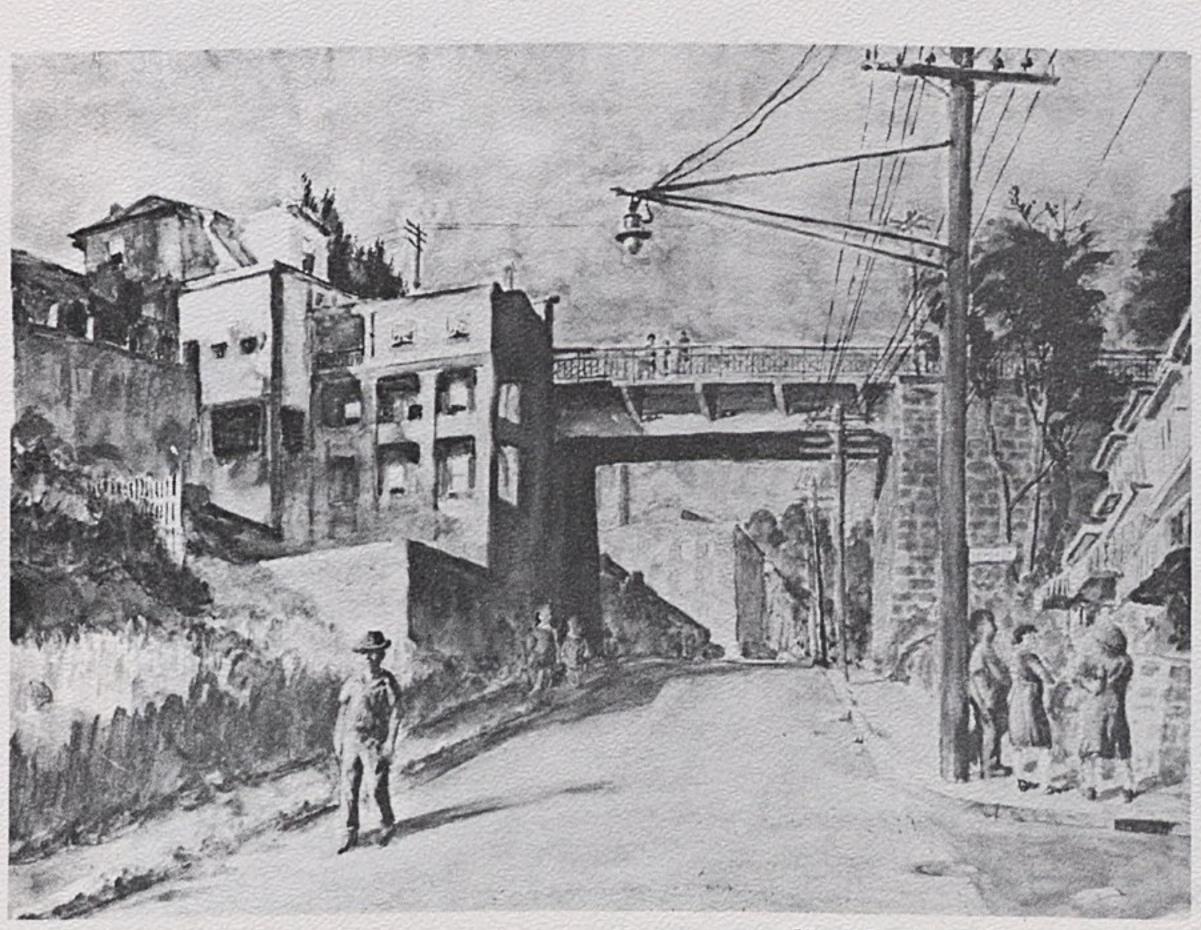

No. 7 "Box Holder" (1937)

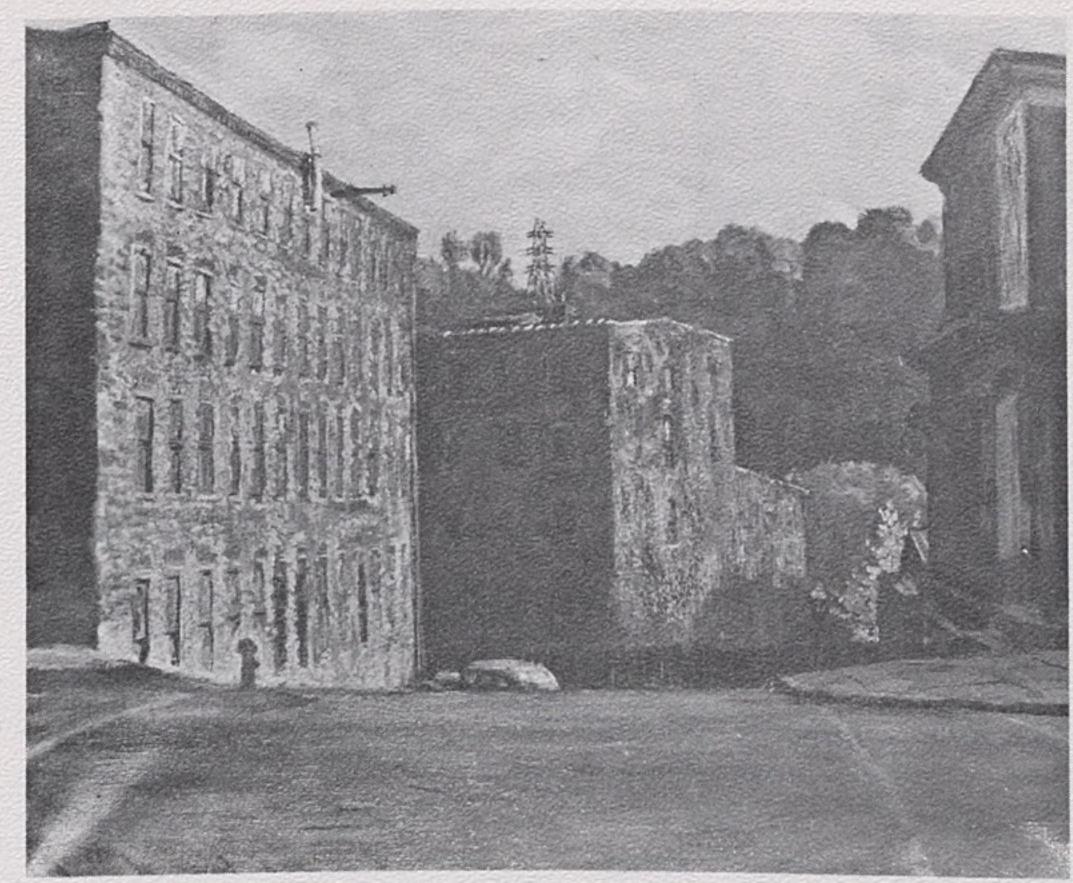

No. 8 "Holy Family Church" (1942)

No. 9 "Tracks in Winter" (1942)

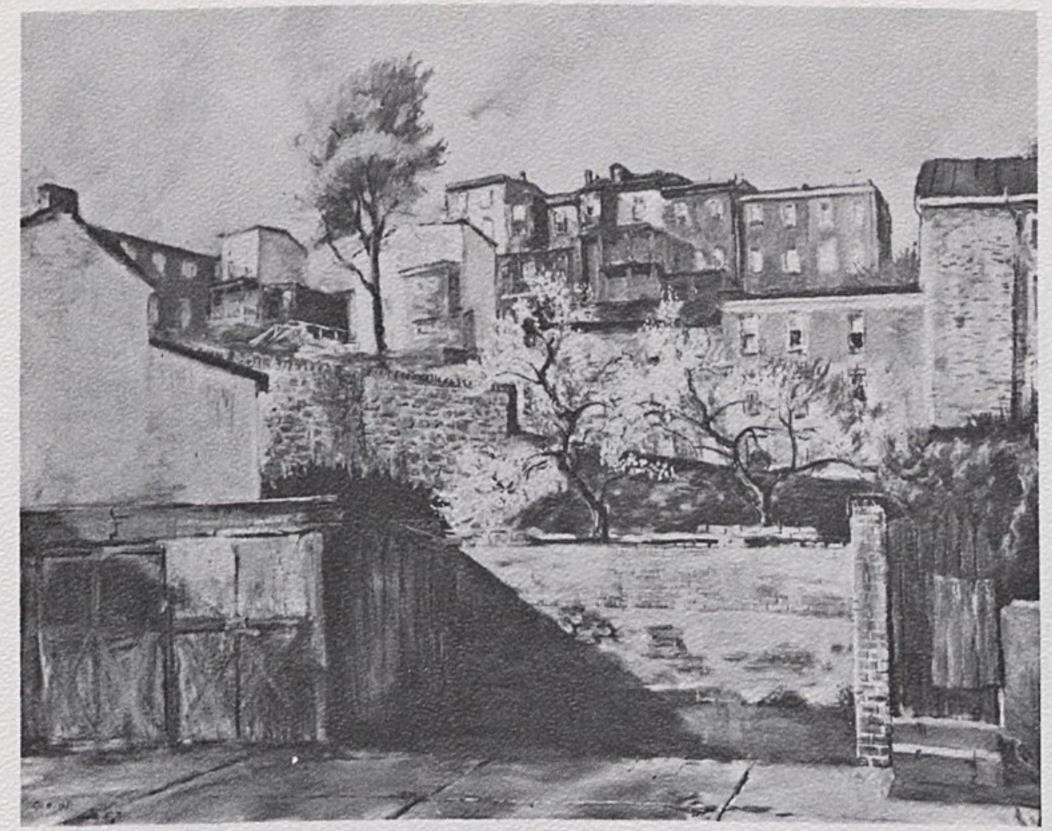

No. 10 "Shur's Lane" (1943)

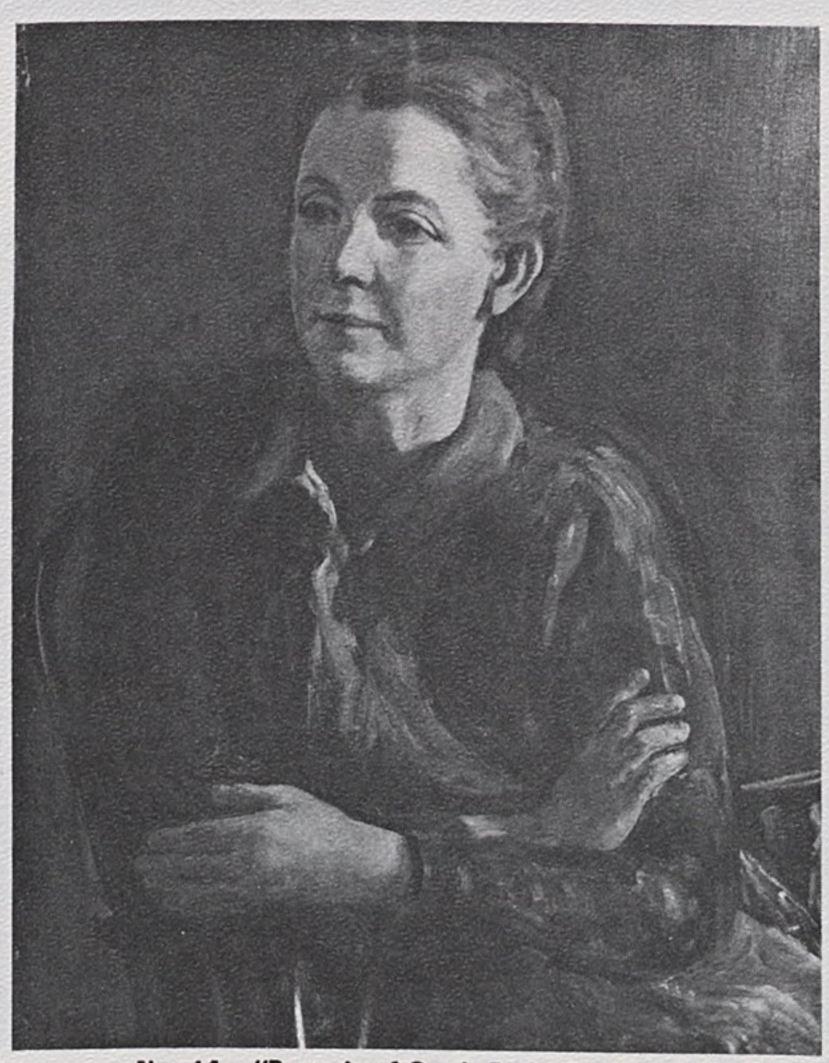

No. 11 "Old Mills, Main Street" (1948)

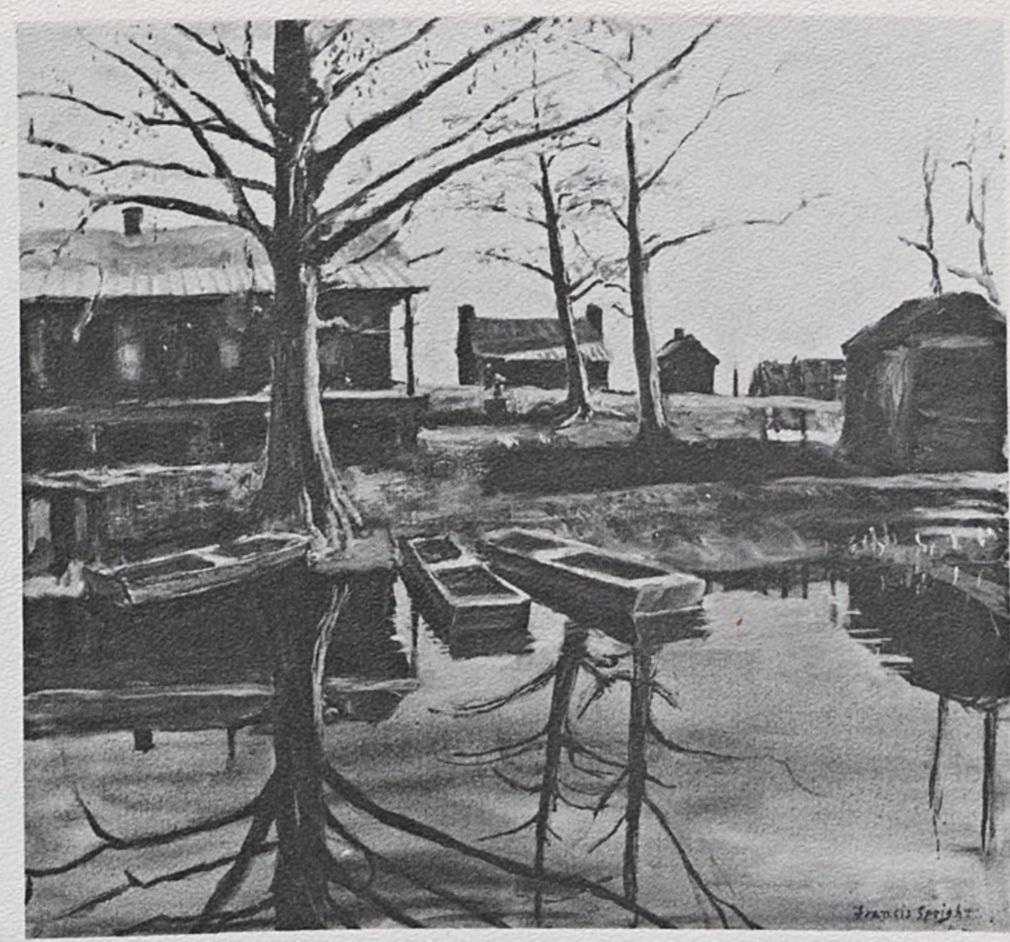

No. 12 "View from West Manayunk" (1956)

No. 13 "Hillside in Spring" (1957)

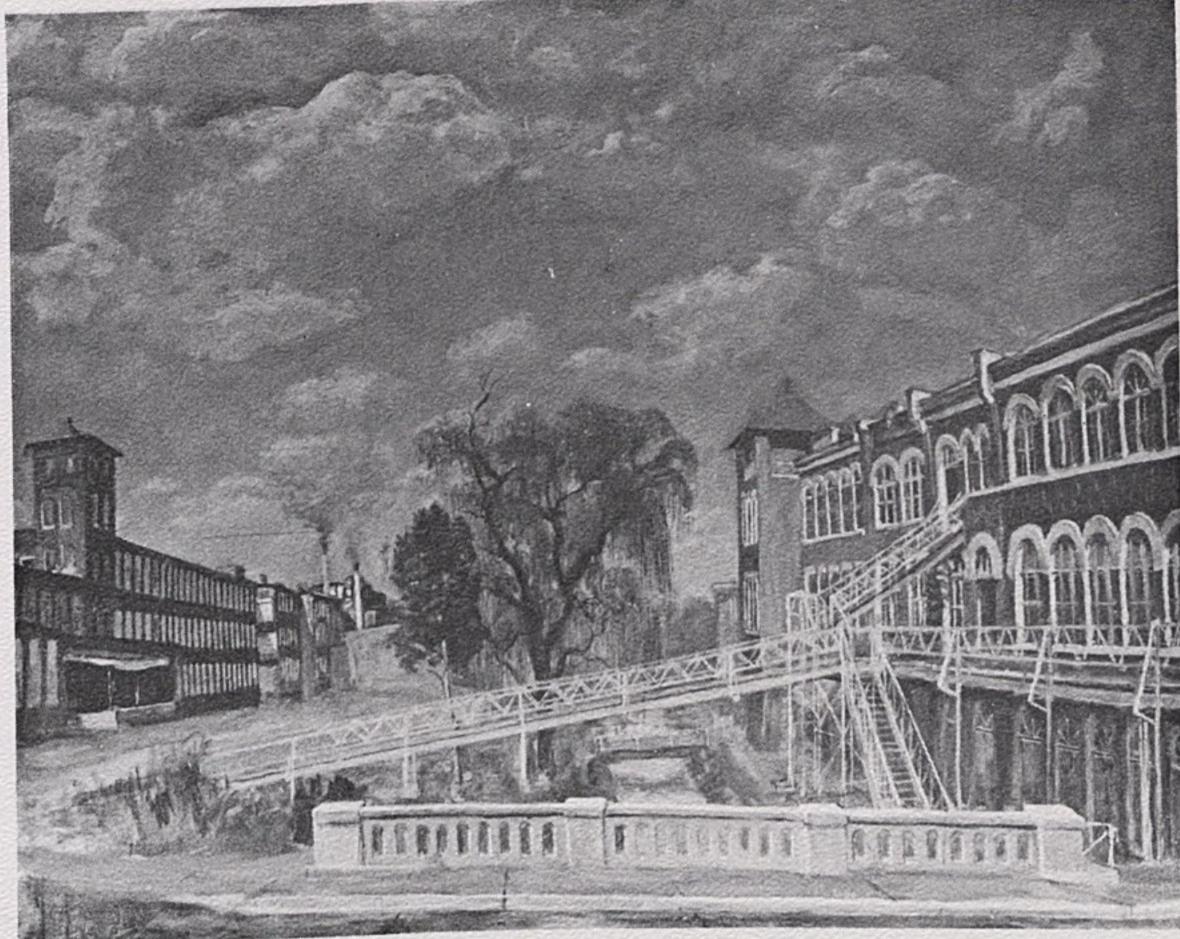

No. 14 "Portrait of Sarah Blakeslee Speight" (1960)

No. 15 "Skiles Landing" (1963)

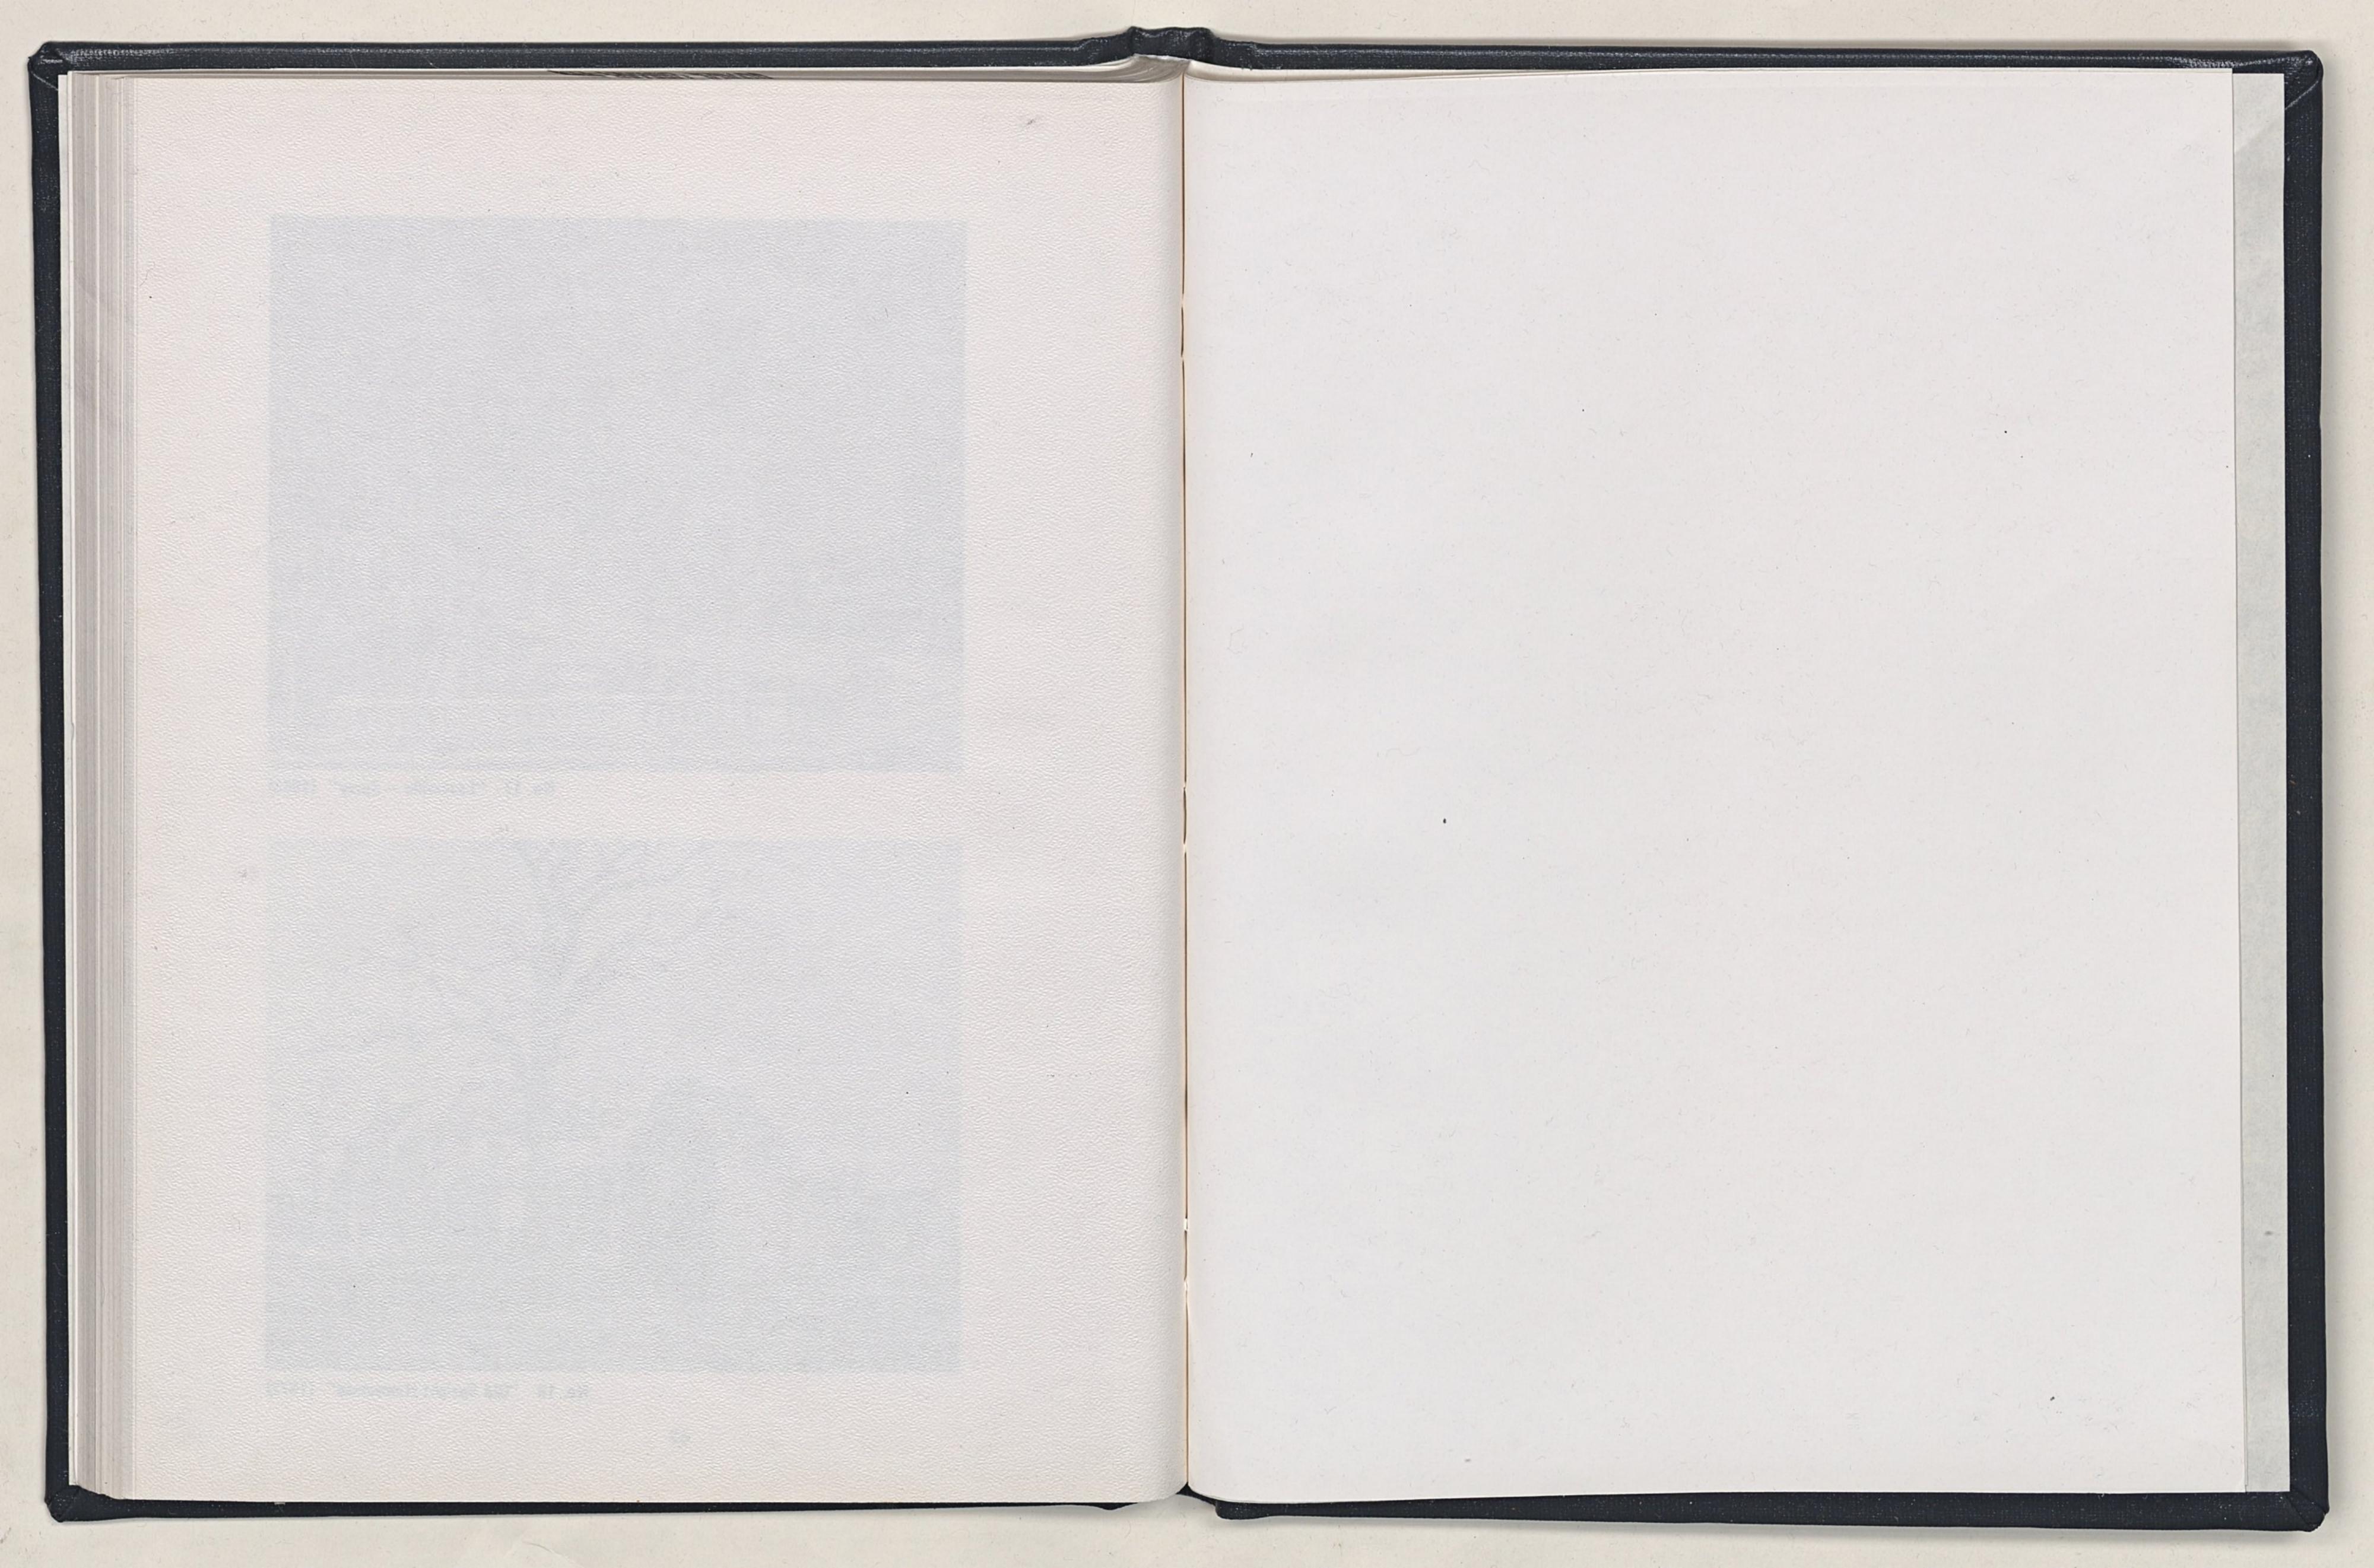

No. 16 "Winter, Sans Souci" (1966)

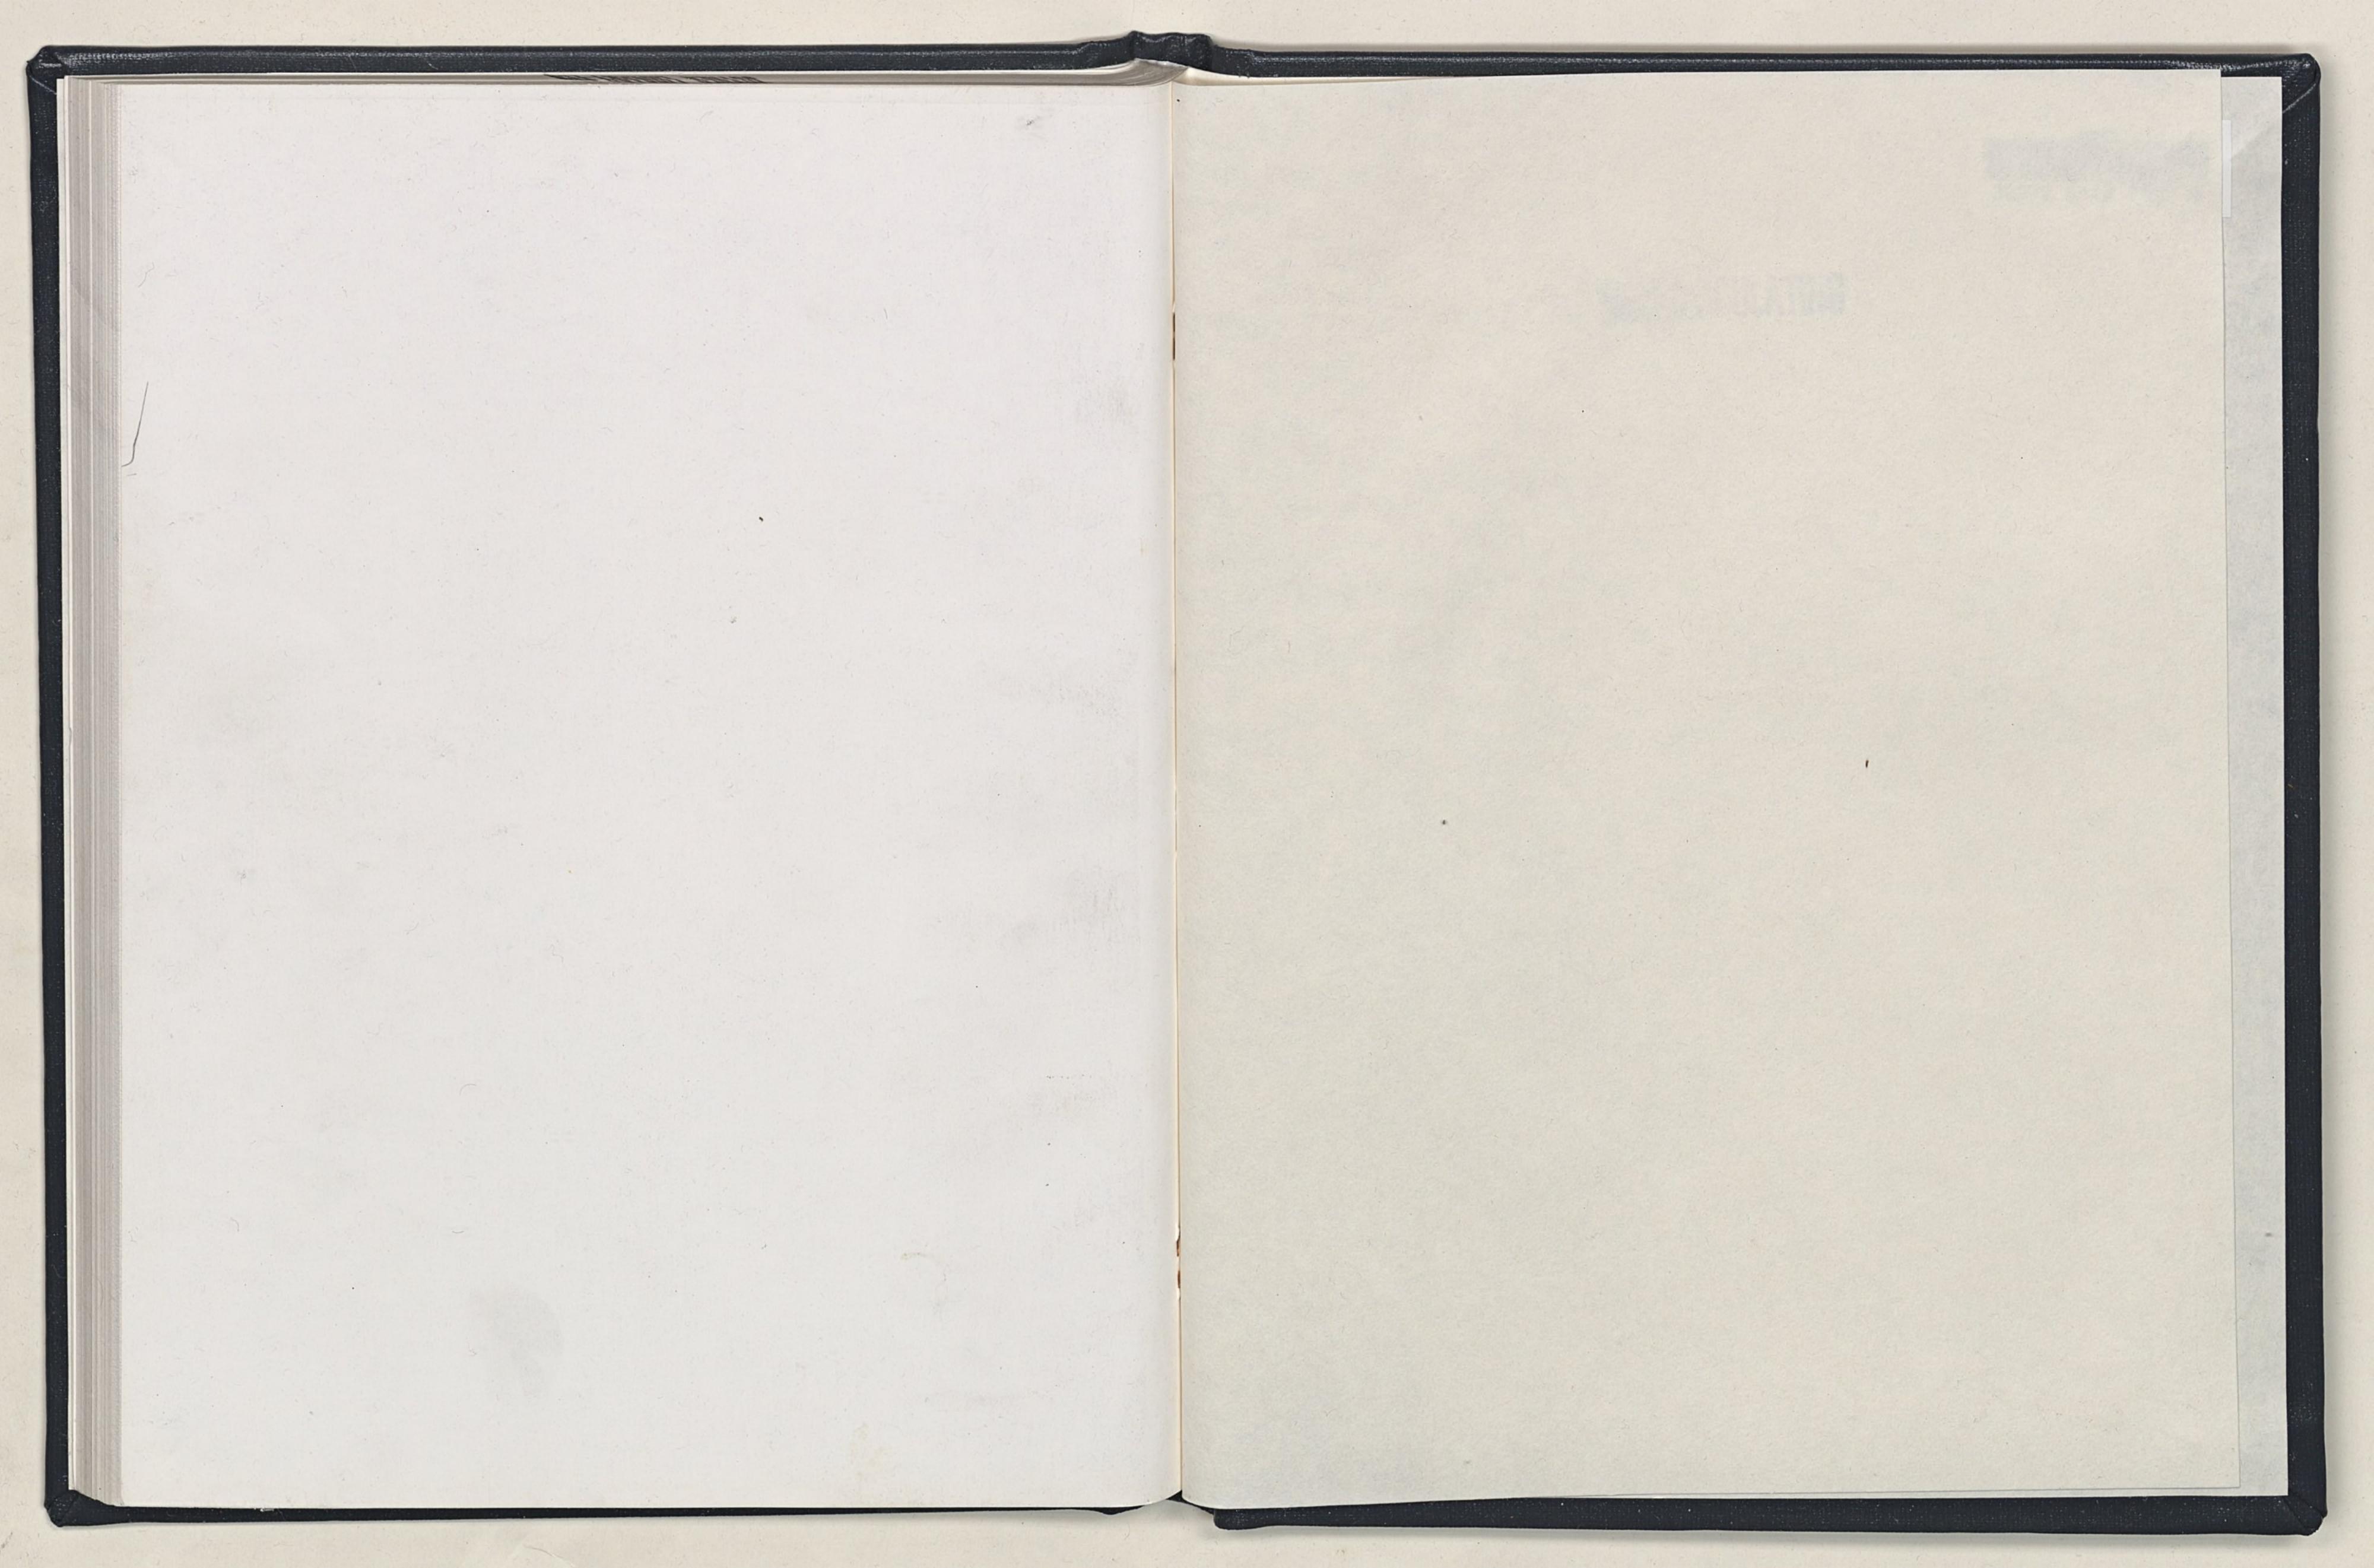

No. 17 "Leaksville - Spray" (1968)

No. 18 "Old Speight Homestead" (1972)

NON-CIRCULATING

