The Governor's Message.

Last Thursday Governor Fowle sent his message to the Legislature of the North Carolina. We have not the time and space to comment on it as we would like, and so we can notice only a few of the leading topics. It is one of the ablest documents we have seen in a good while. It is far ahead of the President's message. It touches upon nearly all the topics which will claim the attention of the legislature, and shows that the State is in an prosperous condition. It is an exhaustive review of State affairs for the past two years.

It shows that the actual debt of the State is only $3,219,000, while the State has gained some $2,000,000. It makes some timely suggestions on education, and urges the enactment of some such law as will improve the public schools by authorizing the county commissioners to make public school appropriations before any other. He dwells at length on the matter of education. If something is not done to protect the opiate in the opiate industry in a few years the opiate industry of our State will be a thing of the past. Something must be done on this line. He recommends the appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars to enable North Carolina to make her display at the World's Fair.

One of the most important recommendations is the establishment of a reformatory for youthful criminals. Many a youthful criminal, who was doubtless led into crime without thinking of its wrong or consequences, has been ruined for life by being placed in company with old and hardened criminals. Some of these could doubtless be reformed and made good citizens with proper care.

A training school for white teachers, and especially for females if not for both sexes, is urged upon our law-makers as one thing necessary to be established. In this we heartily agree with our Governor. Taken all in all the message is full of interest. People of all classes, and our legislators, should give suggestions and recommendations careful consideration.

We do not remember a Superior Court in Pitt county to have given satisfaction to the people there for the present. Judge Wilshire is an able jurist, who is not doing his duty. He should be removed from the bench with a dignity that cannot be to the detriment of the law.

It is a pity that the law is so slow in coming to the people. It is a pity that the law is so slow in coming to the people. It is a pity that the law is so slow in coming to the people.

The Case of the School.

We are glad to see that the case of the school in Richmond has been turned over to the ladies association to be used as a library building and conference room. It has been used for a school building for twenty years. When it was proposed to tear it down and erect a more suitable school building, the noble ladies of Richmond could not bear the idea of losing the residence of one they loved so dearly that demolished, and it was determined to preserve the house and make it a memorial of the gallant Confederate General Mr. Davis, though dead, still lives in the hearts of the Southern people.

The United States Senate.

The United States Senate, having laid aside the Revenue Bill, is now considering the financial bill which is for the free coinage of silver. This is a much needed legislation and ought to become a law, but the chances are that the Senate will pass a free coinage bill which the House, being strongly anti-silver, will not agree to, and a compromise measure will be the result. It is rumored that the President has threatened to veto a free coinage bill should it be passed.

County Alliance held a meeting.

The County Alliance held a meeting here last Friday. The Secretary, Mr. E. A. Moy, has been so busy at Court that he could not be as a synopsis of the meeting, but says a resolution was adopted asking the members of the General Assembly from Pitt county to vote for instructions to our Senators and Representatives in Congress to support the Sub-Treasury bill.

The Biblical Recorder had an excellent article.

The Biblical Recorder had an excellent article last week about the action of the county superintendents of public schools in their meeting at Raleigh, in regard to compulsory education and other matters pertaining to public education. It is timely and thoughtful, and ought to be read by every member of the Legislature before any law is passed compelling children to attend school. We think the time has not yet come for compulsory education. With those who can do without the work of their children but are careless as to their education, such a law would do some good. But with a majority of our people sparing their children when they are needed to work is a greater item than paying for a few months' tuition. And unless a law is passed providing for other demands which compulsory education would cause, it would not bring about its object. No one, however, is more anxious for longer and better schools than we have at present and we hope everything practicable will be done to improve the existing law.
