A Daub of Ink

That was Worth Three Dollars a Week.

Jam's Gordon Bennett has a way of dropping in to examine the Herald at the most unexpected times and as his visits often result in a general "shake up" and reorganization of the paper's managerial, editorial and working forces they are awaited with fear and trembling by his employees, says the Argonaut. On one of these occasions one of the pressman a man who had worked for the elder Bennett and was an excellent workman, though guilty of an occasional lapse from sobriety, had a black eye, and was in a quandary as to what excuse he should offer if Bennett noticed it. Acting on a spur-of-the-moment inspiration, he seized an ink roller and rubbed a daub of ink on the side of his face, completely concealing the discoloration of the skin. Presently Mr. Bennett came in the press room, and with the superintendent, John Hayes, went carefully through criticizing every detail, and looking sharply at each employee. When about to leave he turned suddenly and pointing to the besmirched pressman said: "Mr. Hayes, what is that man's name?" The culprit quaked in his shoes until Mr. Bennett said slowly: "I want you to give that man $3 per week more wages; he is the only man in the room that looks as if he had been working."

If the United States Government has a soul it would fare bad in the next world because of its unjust and inhuman treatment of the Indian, if nothing else. It does not speak well for our boasted civilization when it is charged that the Government is wholly responsible for the butchery of the Indians and the killing of the United States troops, in the war now being waged in the Dakotas—Henderson Gold Leaf.

CHINESE THEATRE—VARIETY IN OPERA—A DIMINUTIVE WORKER—MATRONS IN STATION HOUSES.

Regular Correspondence. New York, Jan. 26th, 1891.

Chin Kun, the Treasurer of the Chinese Opera and Theatrical Company of Portland, Oregon, arrived here last week and has made arrangements to take a five years' lease of a six story building in Pell street for the purpose of making it into a Chinese theatre. A number of New York and Boston Chinese merchants will take shares in the new theatre, the capital stock of which is to be $40,000. The company is to be organized according to American ideas, and if the building selected proves satisfactory to the building inspectors, alterations will be commenced immediately. According to Chin Kun, plenty of money will be spent to decorate the theatre, which will be one of the most elaborate in the country. All of the alterations will be made by Chinese workmen, and the theatre will be Chinese in every respect. The plays will be Chinese, the actors Chinese and no doubt the audiences will be Chinese also. We had a taste of the Chinese drama last year and I imagine that will satisfy Americans for some years to come.

VARIETY IN PERA. The lovers of music in its highest form have been agreeably surprised this week by the announcement that, for a time at least, the Metropolitan Opera House has decided to put aside German opera and take up Italian and French. The Metropolitan, which is admitted to be one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the world, has been almost exclusively devoted to German opera for the past seven years. The box-office receipts show that this policy was financially the best, as the Italian and French operas which were tried were very unsuccessful. Mr. Abbey, the manager of the Metropolitan, introduced Italian opera there some eight years ago and, it is said, lost a quarter of a million dollars in one season. There are many devoted Wagnerites who are now predicting that as much, if not more, will be lost if the same experiment is tried again. In spite of this, I believe that most of our opera goers will like a change and will welcome a season of Italian and French music without meaning to condemn the German variety in the least.

THREE FEET OF HUMANITY. Three arrived at the Barge Office in this city last week a bit of humanity three feet high, forty years old, and weighing 53 pounds. His name is Lukas Galapac and he came from Moravia on the North German Lloyd steamship Eider. The overcoat he wore measured two feet in length, and eleven inches across the shoulders, while the satchel he carried weighed more than himself. The little fellow's face is lined and wrinkled, and his hands and feet are miniature. He is not a dime museum freak, however, as he has always supported himself by work. After answering the usual list of questions at the Barge Office he was allowed to go. He said he was going to Hallettsville, Texas, to work on a stock ranch.

70,000 WOMEN LODGERS. The question of appointing matrons for public stations is receiving a great deal of attention now, and much pressure is being exerted upon the authorities to accomplish this needed reform. The fact that during the past year nearly seventy thousand women were compelled to take refuge in the public stations as lodgers is sufficient to show how important the subject is. These women were not guilty of crime or misdemeanor, yet they were relegated to the sole care of men, without being afforded the common courtesies of decency. But even the guilty ones are entitled to some consideration, and it is simply disgraceful that they are not attended by members of their own sex. Separate lodging houses are also being urgently advocated, and if the agitation is kept up both reforms will no doubt be attained. EDWIN ARLINGTON.

Most Excellent Railroad.

The Watch-Tower. While this paper has a special mission before it, still it is also its mission to educate its readers on all the living questions of the day. Railroading is one of these living questions; one of the absorbing topics; one of the practical, business considerations of the day. The person who is ignorant of the blessings, comforts and pleasures of the iron horse needs to be pitted; the person who does not realize the railroads as educators and great schemes to develop our resources and industries occupies space in this world that is in no sense evitable. Churches, school buildings and towns spring up and expand with wonderful and astonishing rapidity wherever the whistle is heard.

We have carefully observed the magnificent progress of that prince of roads, the Wilmington and Weldon, and have often imagined how it has been so successful. The trunk line, beginning at Weldon and opening and developing the counties of Halifax, Edgecombe, Nash, Wilson, Wayne, New Hanover and terminating at the city of Wilmington is known far and near for its reliability, promptness and superior business management. Such men as Messrs. Elliot for president, and Divine for superintendent, the management could not be otherwise than successful. Not content with this mammoth trunk or main line the Wilmington and Weldon has been branching and branching until its branches now are furnishing transportation to places that a few years ago were almost unknown. Notice the branch from Rocky Mount to Plymouth. The road to Tarboro has been in existence for a long time. Its extension to Wilmington is of modern date and its continuance to Plymouth, on the Roanoke river, is but recently accomplished. It is a fact, that the road now only lies nine miles of being in connection with the Albemarle and Pamlico road and the nine miles can be built much cheaper than the same number of miles from Wilmington to Plymouth. If the line is continued to Mackey's Ferry it will connect with the A. & P., and if the W. & W. gets control of the A. & P., it will have a terminus on Pamlico river, where it can place a steamer and control all the business in Hyde county, and the best part of Beaufort. This deal has been predicted and if consummated what has long been desired by the extreme eastern counties will be fully realized—as outlet to all the Southern cities. A direct line from Pamlico river, at the mouth of Pungo river, to Rocky Mount will be one of the grandest schemes known to our people. We shall wait and see and inform our readers.

The next branch is that is known as the "Short Cut." This is a thoroughly equipped road from Wilson, crossing the R. & D. at Selma and thence on by Dunn to the town of Fayetteville.

The latest is the road from Halifax, by Scotland Neck, Greenville, Grifton and resting for the time at the town of Kinston where it taps the A. & N. C. R. Every branch of business on this line is on a boom. The town of Ayden has sprung up; Grifton, once an insignificant place is now one of the rising towns of Eastern Carolina. The business on this line justifies a daily freight and everybody and everything seems to be onward and upward. It satisfactory freights can be secured over this branch no telling what a country will be seen ten years hence. The conductor on this branch, Capt. J. O. Whitaker is a man of sterling worth and is all business and push. Mr. J. E. Moore agent at Greenville is a man of many noble qualities of head and heart; and Mr. J. J. Rhodes at Grifton is a young man but is steady and solidly winning golden opinions. In fact, all the employees are men eminently qualified for the respective positions they fill.

While this gigantic company has made wonderful strides, we judge from the signs of the times that a grander and more auspicious day is yet in the future. In all the moves to build up our waste places and develop the Old North State, the Watch-Tower bids them God speed.

How Children are Spoiled.

DR. TALMAGE. It is easy enough to spoil a child. No great art is demanded. Only three or four things are requisite to complete the work. Make all the nurses wait on him and fly at his bidding; let him learn never to go for a drink, but always have it brought to him; at ten years of age have Bridget trim his shoestrings; let him strike a nut because she will not get him a sugar plumb. He will soon learn that the house is his realm, and he is to rule it. He will come up into manhood one of those precious spirits that demand obedience and service, and with the theory that the world is his oyster, which, with knife he will proceed to open, if that does not spoil him, buy him a horse; it is exhilarating and enlarging for a man to own such an animal. A good horseback ride shakes up the liver and helps them to be virtuous; if it is almost impossible to be good with too much bile, an enlarged spleen, or a stomach out of duty. We congratulate any man who can afford to own a horse; but if a boy own one, he will probably ride on it to destruction; he will stop at the tavern for drinks; he will bet at the races. There will be room enough in the same saddle for idleness and dissipation to ride, one of them before, and one of them behind. The bit will not be strong enough to rein in at the right place. There are men who all their lives have been going down hill, and the reason is that in boyhood they sprang astride a horse, and got going so fast that they have never been able to stop.

But if the child be insensible to all such efforts to spoil him, try the plan of never saying anything encouraging to him. If he do wrong, thrash him soundly; but if he do well, keep on reading the newspaper, pretending not to see him. There are excellent people who through fear of producing childish vanity, are unresponsive to the very best endeavor, when a child craves parental applause, he ought to have it. If he gets up head at school, give him a book or an apple. If he saw a bully on the playground trampling on a sickly boy, and your son took the bully by the throat so tightly that he became a little variegated in color, praise your boy and let him know that you love to have him the champion of the weak. Perhaps you would not do right a day if you had no more prospect of reward than that which you have given him. If, on commencement day, he make the best speech, or read the best essay, tell him of it. Truth is always harmless, and the more you use of it the better. If your daughter at the conservatory takes the palm, give her a new piece of music, a ring, kiss or a blessing.

Success Certain.

It is said that Baron Rothschild had the following alphabetical list of maxims framed on his back walls: Attend carefully to details of your business. Be prompt in all things. Consider well, then decide positively. Dare to do right, fear to do wrong. Endure trials patiently. Fight life's battle bravely, manfully. Go not into the society of the vicious. Hold integrity sacred. Injure not another's reputation nor business. Join hands only with the virtuous. Keep your mind from evil thoughts. Lie not for consideration. Make few acquaintances. Never try to appear what you are not. Observe good manners. Pay your debts promptly. Question not the veracity of a friend. Respect the counsel of your parents. Sacrifice money rather than principle. Touch not, taste not, handle not intoxicating drinks. Use your leisure time for improvement. Venture not upon the threshold of wrong. Watch carefully over your passions. Extend to everyone a kindly salutation. Yield not to discouragement. Zealously labor for the right. And success is certain.

The Legislature.

From the proceedings published in the Raleigh papers it is impossible to form entirely correct ideas of all the Legislature is doing, as some of the bills cannot be understood from the unintelligible synopsis given. We have run over the back proceedings and give below some of the bills that have passed each branch. Here after we will endeavor to give all the bills that pass, and mention the matters up for consideration that are of special interest to this section.

IN THE SENATE. Bill to repeal chapter 321, laws 1879, relating to sale of seed cotton passed second and third readings. A bill to amend charter of the town of Wilkesboro.

A bill to simplify the statute limitations passed third reading. A bill to abolish the December term of Davidson Superior Court.

Resolution to create a special committee consisting of two Senators and three Representatives to investigate the letting of convict labor under the acts of 1883 and 1885 to the Western N. C. Railroad Co. and the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company.

A bill for the better protection of the oyster interests of North Carolina and for other purposes. Sec. 1, gives the Governor power of the militia and the Treasurers shall pay expenses of carrying this act into effect.

Section 2, makes it unlawful to catch oysters from any of the public grounds, or natural oyster beds of North Carolina with dredge, drag, scoop or patent tongs, except such tongs as are worked by hand—penalty $1,000 to $5,000, or imprisonment one to five years or both.

Bill to go into effect immediately after its passage for three months. A bill to amend the charter of Trinity College.

A bill to amend the code in relation to interest; repeals the provision making 8 per cent a legal rate under written contracts.

Mr. Williams, whose bill this is, made a noble effort in behalf of its passage. He traced the practice of usury from the days of our Saviour's sojourn upon earth when he drove the money changers from the temple down to the present day. Mr. Williams had just gotten into the heat of debate when the hour for the special order arrived and the bill went over as unfinished business.

A bill to allow persons to change their names in accordance with Art. 2, Sec. 11, of the Constitution. The bill provides that any person having sufficient good reason, may upon the testimony of good witnesses from the county in which he resides, make application to a Superior Court Clerk, for a change of his name, and that that clerk have power to authorize such change.

A bill to change the name of the Western North Carolina Lunatic Asylum to the North Carolina Hospital passed its several readings. The bill provides for the care of a limited number of inebriates in the institution and for policy regulations.

Authorizing the Board of County Commissioners to appoint an inspector of timber, relating to the counties of Jones, Craven, Onslow, Bertie, Pitt and Northampton.

To define when registration books shall be closed. Time fixed at 12 M. on Saturday week before the election.

IN THE HOUSE. House bill introduced by Mr. Hood, of Mecklenburg, relating to the refunding of the indebtedness of Mecklenburg county.

Senate bill No. 4, introduced by Senator Williams, of Pitt, amending the Laws of North Carolina 1889, chap. 187, relating to the selling of cotton, was upon motion taken up and passed. The law as it stood required all parties selling cotton in the counties of Pitt, Jones, Greene and Lenoir should go before a Justice of the Peace and register the same.

To amend chapter 1, volume 2, of the Code, providing for a tonnage tax on fertilizers. It provides for a tax of 25 cents per ton instead of the $500 license tax which has been decided illegal by the courts.

To suppress gambling. This bill was introduced by Mr. Hood, of Mecklenburg, and as amended the bill passed second and third reading.

To compensate judges and canvassers of election. They shall receive a compensation not to exceed one dollar.

To enable the city of Wilmington to purchase a public park. Passed and read and carried.

Young Man! This is for You.

1. Save a part of your weekly earnings, even if it be no more than a quarter dollar, and put your savings monthly in a savings bank.

2. Buy nothing till you can pay for it, and buy nothing that you do not need.

A young man who has grit enough to follow these rules will have taken the first step upward to success in business. He may be compelled to wear a coat a year longer, even if it be unfashionable; he may have to live in a smaller house than some of his young acquaintances; his wife may not sparkle with diamonds nor be respectful in silk or satin, just yet; his children may not be dressed as dolls or popinjays; his table may be plain but wholesome; and the whiz of the beer or champagne cork may never be heard in his dwelling; he may have to get along without the earliest fruit or vegetables; he may have to abjure the club-room, the theatre and the gambling hell, and to reverence the Sabbath-day and read and follow the precepts of the Bible instead; but he will be the better off in every way for this self-discipline. Yes, he may do all these without detriment to his manhood, or health, or character. True, empty-headed folks may sneer at him and affect to pity him; but he will find that he has grown stronger, braver and braver enough to stand the laugh of the foolish. He has become an independent man. He never owes anybody, and so he is no man's slave. He has become master of himself, and a man of himself will become a leader among men, and prosperity will crown his every enterprise.

Young man! life's discipline and life's success come from hard work and early self-denial; and hard earned success is all the sweeter at the time when of years climb up on your shoulder and you used propping up.

The Muddy Stream.

Esop, in his methods, was a genius whether his fables were written for the mere amusement of the infantile mind, or for the broader application of simile to the various conditions and vicissitudes of more mature life. The attitude of some men toward others more successful is very much akin to the amusing interview between the wolf and the lamb on the borders of the thithered limpid stream. The former, through lack of pluck, perseverance and self-denial, endeavor to drag down to their own level those who through diligence and application have attained the goal of honor and success. If they succeed not, others must not succeed. Death to all successful forms of business enterprises in which they have no management, is their implied sentiment.

Give these same people a chance, and place them in the positions they so much desire, and what unscrupulous and unrighteous tyrants the most of them, in their new circumstances, would become!

Can wonder exist that the manufacturers of to-day are looking to the adoption of means of self-preservation and protection? Who compels the formation of trusts, and other supposed odious forms of conducting business? Is it not the men who desire something for almost nothing, with a total disregard of the value of commodities, so long as they gain their ends?

The modern craze for cheap goods generates tricks in trade—tricks and in morals that ignore justice, right and fair dealing—tricks that tend to the inevitable loss of the consumer, who finds that, in the long run, he has not had the worth of his money. Society is best served when all who labor receive adequate profit from their toil, brains and enterprise.

Vigorous Life.

It has been well said that the vital principle grows weak when isolated. The man who cares for nobody and for whom nobody cares has nothing to live for that will pay for the trouble of keeping body and soul together. You must have a heap of embers to make a glowing fire. Scatter them apart, and they become dim and cold. So to have a brisk, vigorous life you must have a group of lives to keep each other warm, as it were—to afford each other mutual encouragement and confidence and support. If you wish to live the life of a man, and not that of a fungus, be social, be friendly, be charitable, be sympathetic and labor heartily for the good of your kind.

The past week has been one of nominating and electing United States Senators. North Carolina's most beloved son Hon. Z. B. Vance, has been elected to succeed himself for another term. Gov. David B. Hill was elected to succeed Mr. Everts. This is a gain of one Democrat, and a good one at that. There is no better Democrat in the country than Gov. Hill. Senator Platt, Republican, from Connecticut, was elected to succeed himself. Mr. Blair of New Hampshire, got left, and Dr. Gallinger succeeds him. There ought to be a Democrat from that State but Billy Chandler played his old game, and stole the Senatorship from the Democrats. Mr. Teller of Colorado was elected to succeed himself. Mr. Teller than any other Republican. Mr. Jones, Democrat of Arkansas, succeeds himself. Squire of Washington, is re-elected so is Mr. Mitchell of Oregon. Mr. Vest, of Missouri, and Mr. Voorhes, of Indiana, staunch Democrats, also go back. Hon. William Vilas, who was in Cleveland's cabinet, will take the place of a Republican from Wisconsin. Up to this writing no choice has been made in Illinois, Kansas, South Dakota and North Dakota. The chances favor Moody for re-election in South Dakota, Palmer in Illinois. Things are in a muddle in Kansas. Ingalls will hardly get back unless the legislature fails to elect and he is appointed by the Governor. So far the Democrats have gained two with prospects of two more, one from Illinois and one from Kansas if the Democrats will do their duty. The Democrats returned and those elected are true and tried men who have, and who will reflect honor on the country.

The chances for the Democrats were never in the history of the country brighter than at present. Unless they do some foolish things to displease the people, and unless they use their force in the next House recklessly, it seems that they will have a walkover next election. The Republicans recognize this fact and are trying by every means of cheat, stealing and rascality to thwart the will of the people at the polls. If they can pass the Force Bill they think they have the matter secure, being rebuked at the polls in November, they are trying their old tricks harder than ever. They have stolen the Senatorship in New Hampshire, and are now trying to gag the United States Senate, a body which for more than a hundred years has never been limited in debate. It is to be hoped that the gag rules will not be applied. When such an august body as the Senate changes their time honored custom of a hundred years just for partisan purposes in order for the dominant party to keep itself in power against the will of the people our government will cease to be a government of the people, for the people and by the people. It will be a government of the Republicans, for the Republicans and by the Republicans, to steal, plunder and rob against the will of the people. Will the majority of the people submit to the minority?

The Republican party is more hopelessly divided upon the silver question than upon the tariff, and how it can pull itself together sufficiently to make the fight in 1892 is interesting at the present time a puzzle to the closest political observer.

C. E. Cross and Sam'l C. White ex-officials of the defunct State National Bank of Raleigh, have been pardoned by Gov. Fowle. Petitions for their pardon were signed by numerous persons throughout the State, by the Judges and Solicitors and by those who knew them not as well as those who knew them. It is to be regretted that they ever were entangled in such an affair. We have always believed that they were drawn into the matter unintentionally, and did not mean to wreck the bank. The bank was doubtless a wreck before they took charge of it. The Governor in pardoning them has done what most any other man would have done under similar circumstances. The mental anguish which these men have undergone is greater punishment than their term of physical labor would have been. We see nothing special to be gained by the State in not pardoning them, and it is to be hoped that they may yet become useful and worthy men. Mr. Cross is yet a young man, and can redeem himself, and make a useful man, and Mr. White, though advanced in years, we trust may be spared to regain his former fair name.

The New York Legislature has elected Gov. Hill United States Senator. We suppose this leaves the way clearly open for Mr. Cleveland's nomination for the Presidency in 1892. It is evident, and has been since the election, that Mr. Cleveland is the choice of the people outside of New York, and if he should have been beaten it would have been on account of the New York delegation. Mr. Hill is a far-sighted politician, and doubtless thinks a Senatorship in the hand is worth two Presidential possibilities in the future. All indications now point to Mr. Cleveland as the next standard-bearer, but there may be some dark horse developed who is not yet known to fame.

The President is opposed to free coinage of silver and it is said will veto the bill if it passes the house. It is not probable that he will have a chance to veto it, for it is certain that Czar Reed is opposed to it, and he has only to crack the party whip to kill or put through any measure he wishes. Mr. Harrison is very anxious to have the measure defeated in the House. If it should pass the House he would be in a very unenviable position with regard to his party. Should he veto it he would incur the displeasure of the Western Republicans, and should he sign it he would incur the displeasure of the Eastern Republicans. He wants a renomination and he knows that if the responsibility of either passing or defeating free coinage would kill his chances of succeeding himself.

It is rumored that with little effort the branch road that the Wilmington & Weldon Company are contemplating building out from Washington to some point on the Scotland Neck & Greenville branch could be induced to come to Greenville instead of going to the Junction. The REFLECTOR is of the opinion that it is worth while for our citizens to look into this matter and see what can be accomplished toward getting it to come this way. The people between here and Washington are ready to help secure this route, we understand. It would be a valuable aid to Greenville.

The Raleigh Chronicle says one of the Building and Loan Associations which has a branch organization in that city has already built three or four nice, comfortable homes for some of the shareholders. Greenville is slow to take hold of anything like that. If enough of the citizens would take stock in the branch association here they would see good results coming to our town.

Zeb Vance Walsler, the Republican State Senator from Davidson county, has introduced in the Senate a bill to provide for the disfranchising of persons buying and selling votes. If his bill could pass it would make North Carolina an unhealthy State for his Republican brethren Wanamaker, Dudley, and the balance of the "blocks of five" gang to move to.

Josephus Daniels, editor of the State Chronicle was re-elected State Printer by acclamation, and both branches of the Legislature decided by unanimous vote not to make any changes in the contract for the printing. Next time a man wants to be elected without a dissenting voice it would be a good idea to hire the Durham Globe to go to kicking against him.

We are glad to see that Gov. Fowle is preparing to put the oyster law in execution. Active measures should be taken at once to protect our oyster beds, and if it cannot be done without force, it must be done by force. The oyster beds belong to North Carolina and should not be plundered by parties from other States.

The Legislature. Some of the Bills Passed. SENATE. Bill authorizing the commissioners of Jackson county to levy a special tax, passed third reading. Bill to allow the town of Washington to issue bonds to build a railroad, passed its third reading. Bill to authorize the Commissioners of Macon county to levy a special tax, passed third reading. Bill to amend section 2,111 of the Code, relative to dower. Allows heirs to file petition to assign dower to a widow when she fails to do so within three months. The bill passed its several readings. On motion of Mr. Turner, the rules were suspended, and Mr. Williams' bill making Gen. R. E. Lee's birthday a legal holiday, was taken up. Mr. Williams said that this bill is to commemorate the name of one of the greatest men known to history. He was certainly the greatest warrior who has ever lived. His character was spotless. He possessed magnetism as no other man known to the world had possessed. It is not his heroism so much that we would like to bring before the youth of the land, and his devotion to duty. We have very few holidays in this country, and he thought it wise and fitting to have days upon which our people will assemble and talk about the great men who have made our history illustrious. The bill passed without a dissenting vote.

At the conclusion of Senator Williams' speech upon his bill to make General Lee's birthday a legal holiday, the ladies in the gallery presented the Senator with a bouquet of beautiful flowers, accompanied by the following note: "The ladies respond most sincerely to the grand and eloquent sentiments of the distinguished Senator of Pitt in his eulogy upon the greatest of men, General Lee. Please accept these simple flowers as a token of our thanks."

To amend the charter of the city of Asheville, allowing a vote of a special tax in regard to the removal of Bingham School. S. B. amending the act relating to the Western N. C. Insane Asylum, changing its name to State Hospital and to provide an inebriate department, passed third reading. The bill requiring butchers to keep a registration book in which to record the transactions in the purchase of cattle &c., passed third reading. The bill to prevent enticing miners from the State, making it a misdemeanor with fine and imprisonment not less than four months in the county jail or more than two years in the State penitentiary. To facilitate the registration of mortgages, and deeds of trust; allowing acknowledgements to be made in the county in which the parties reside. To repeal chapter 37, laws of '89 which requires payment of a fee to the register of deeds from all persons who sell seed cotton. Passed third reading. To authorize uniform system of cancellation of all county scrip after its payment. It requires the word "Paid" to be out through all such scrip. Passed third reading. To amend Sec. 2566 of school law of 1889. This changes the law so that County Superintendents is not required to have assistants in making examinations. It is left optional.

Mr. Whitfield, bill to compel owners of stock to pen them in Lenoir county so that they shall not have access to stream, ditch and canal. It is to prevent the spread of hog cholera. Passed third reading. To incorporate Ayden, Pitt county, passed third reading.

Resolution to pay U. M. Busbee $800 as fee for legal services to railroad investigating committee, was taken up. Mr. Sutton and Holman advocated adoption of the report. Passed third reading. The bill to authorize the boards of commissioners of Craven, Currier, Jones and Onslow, Bertie, Pitt and Northampton counties to appoint, not to exceed three timber inspectors, who upon petition, shall examine logs and timbers. They to be paid 5 cents per thousand feet and no more than $3 a day. Mr. Sutton offered a resolution to appoint the following committee to take in charge of and secure the proper ventilation and heating of the House: Drs. Stancill, Tatum, Lowe, Deany of Guilford, Woodson, and Phillips of Watauga. Mr. Skinner moved that the committee look into the matter of smoking, and see if it were not deleterious to the health of the members. Mr. Sutton made the point of order that Mr. Skinner's amendment was out of order, and ought to go to the committee on rules. Mr. Skinner opposed it, and thought Mr. Skinner was trying to make fun. Mr. Jones asked Mr. Sutton if he smoked in the House. He said he did, and asked if Mr. Jones smoked. He said no. A motion to amend "chewing gum" was offered. There was some fun here, and Mr. Skinner withdrew his amendment as to smoking. Resolution passed.

The fact that there is no real sentiment anywhere in this country favoring the outrageous Force bill has not had a feather's weight with the Republican bosses in Congress, whose only idea is to perpetuate their own power. Senator Williams, of Pitt, is doing yeoman service for the people in his open opposition to everything in the character of pending legislation that looks like granting special privileges to any class of men. His example is to be commended.—Progressive Farmer.

The Farmers' Alliance in North Carolina is happy in having able friends and helpers amongst the lawyers of the State, and it is indebted to its friends in the legal profession for eminent services rendered to its cause. But it is perhaps indebted to no one of these more deeply than to Col. Harry Skinner, of Pitt county. Col. Skinner has many of the qualifications for leadership. He is clear-headed, true sighted, brave and faithful to the people. We predict for this talented young North Carolinian a brilliant future in his country's service.—Progressive Farmer.

Farmers, Attention! We have come among you to stay. What concerns you also concerns us. That which is to your interest is also to ours. We are therefore ready to lend a helping hand, and encourage any enterprise which may seem to your interest. The culture of Bright Tobacco was introduced in this county only a few years ago, yet to-day Pitt county is recognized as one of the finest tobacco producing counties in the State. But you must not stand still and trust too much to the reputation already achieved, you must be up and doing to keep abreast of the times. Improvements are being made each year in the quality as well as the cultivation of Bright Tobacco. We do not think you have as yet thoroughly established what species of tobacco is best adapted to your soil and your climate. Many of you have made a wonderful success in the cultivation of Tobacco. We feel interested in this matter, and we desire it given a thorough test. We are told the success of making tobacco depends largely upon the character, quality and purity of the seed from which the plant is raised, and the Fertilizer used. Therefore in order that you may have the best and purest seed an d a good selection to choose from, we have ordered and will have in stock in a few days a limited supply of BRIGHT TOBACCO SEED five different kinds, any of which will we think, suit this section. These seed came direct from the tobacco seed farm of Maj. R. L. Ragland, of Hico, Halifax county, Va., who is recognized as the best authority on the culture of tobacco in the United States. In order that you may see what he says about the different varieties we print below the following clippings from his book on tobacco seed: LONG-LEAF GOOCH.—Leaf longer and finer than the Broad-Leaf Gooch, growing more and more popular every year. One of the best. WHITE-STEM OROKONO.—From the yellow Orokonok, which it resembles, and a most excellent variety. Greatly preferred in some localities where the finest types are grown. STERLING.—This is indeed a "Sterling" variety, fine as the finest, one of the earliest to ripen, makes the silkiest of wrappers, brightest of cutters, and toughest and sweetest of fillers. GOOCH.—A new variety of great excellence. Resembles the yellow Orokonok, but has a larger leaf; a splendid manufacturing sort. RAGLAND'S CONQUEROR.—Until the development of the variety thus named the originator had failed to find his ideal of a Superb Bright Yellow possessing all the requisites demanded—a healthy vigorous grower of the best form and finest texture, ripening early and uniformly and easily cured to the brightest color. The Conqueror has no superior as a producer of the finest goods of the finest type grown, and will surely please the most exacting. It will come to stay. These are the different varieties we have ordered. We expect them in by the middle of the week. We intend to give them away and to get them equally, and equitably distributed among our customers.—we have adopted the following plan. As soon as they arrive they will go on distribution. Every one who spends one dollar or over with us will get a package of seed free. If you spend $5.00 you get two packages and so on at the same ratio. Look over the list, make your choice, come to see us and buy your goods, and you get a package of the most reliable seed that can be gotten. Allow us to say here, that we can not give away the seed on account of past purchases because that would defeat the object which we have in view as to a just distribution. We have not increased the price of our goods one cent. You can examine the mark for yourselves and see that they have not been changed. We have only a limited supply of these seed. The first customers will get the benefit of them. So if you want any do not delay. In this connection we beg to say we are sole agents for "Tinsley's High Grade Special Bright Tobacco Fertilizer." We have bought a large quantity of this fertilizer for sale this season, and we hope every farmer will try some. Those who have used it or seen it used need have nothing said to them in its praise. Those who have never used it, but desire some information before trying it, we would refer them to those who have used the most of it and used it longest. We now have some ordered for Plant Bed use, and shall be pleased to receive your orders, and at least would like to have you come to see us and "talk the matter over." We will also furnish any one buying their Plant Bed fertilizer from us with seed free of cost. We shall have a full supply of KAISIT, ACID PHOSPHATE and Standard High Grade Cotton Fertilizer on hand in due season. Our line of GENERAL MERCHANDISE, HARDWARE AND GROCERIES is large and well assorted. We have a large lot of Plant Bed Cloth just arrived. We will save you money if you will only call to see us before you buy. The winter trade is nearly over. We still have a large stock to sell. We know that low prices is the only thing that will do it. We must sell them, and we have tried to make the prices so low that they are bound to go. We can not do business and sell goods at and below cost. But we will sell you on a very small profit, and this we know all fair-minded men are willing to pay. All we ask is a trial of our goods, and our system of doing business. We are sure we can please you with both. Truly &c., YOUNG & FRIDY, Greenville, N. C. P. S.—We also have a limited supply of Plant Bed Cloth.

If the number of horses and mules sold is a good sign, the farmers of Pitt are preparing for heavy crops this year. More stock has been sold here this season than during any that can be remembered. The farmers having money to buy more team is an indication of prosperity that the REFLECTOR is glad to note.

Singing Class. Prof. Theo. Wood has been in our town nearly two weeks conducting a singing class of about sixty pupils.

During the time he has proven himself to be a music teacher of fine qualifications, and his work is best judged by knowing how his class has improved during the short time.

Prof. Wood has fine testimonials from the North and Northwest which he has devoted his life in teaching music. His testimonials are from clergymen of all denominations and from members of school boards who have witnessed and known his work.

It only has to be seen what his work is to know that his testimonials are not overdrawn. He is full of enthusiasm in his work, and knows just how to bring out what there is in a pupil. The class will close Friday night. An admission fee of 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be charged, the proceeds to go to incidental expenses and benevolent work.

Grand Jury Reports. North Carolina, Superior Court, Pitt County, Jan. Term, '91.

We, the Grand Jury, do make the following report as to the Poor House in said county:

We find the Poor House in good condition, and the inmates say they are well cared for. We recommend that the keeper be required to live on the premises.

ELIAS C. BLOUNT, Foreman Grand Jury.

North Carolina, Superior Court, Pitt County, Jan. Term, 1891.

We, the Grand Jury, after visiting and examining the Jail of the county do make the following report:

We find some of the glass lights out of the windows of the building. We suggest that other lights be put in. We think the inmates are well provided with food and bedding. We suggest that the keeper be careful to keep the buildings as cleanly as possible. With the exception of the absence of some lights we find the building in itself in good condition.

Respectfully, ELIAS CARR BLOUNT, Foreman Grand Jury.

OBITUARY.

On the 7th inst., at his residence in Pitt county, our father, Moses Turnage, departed this life in the 64th year of his age.

His death Farmville Alliance has lost a true member, and his family their best earthly benefactor. He leaves two sons to mourn his death.

The funeral was preached by Rev. John Phillips, at his residence to a large audience. His body was laid to rest in the family burying ground.

Friend after friend departs! Who hath not lost a friend? There is no more heart of loving hearts, That hath not here its end.

Our father sleeps forgetful of his Once bright fame, he has No feeling of the glory gone; That once drew his spirit on; He lies in dull, oblivious dreams, Not caring who the wreathed laurel bears.

As yet not all forgotten sleeps He here. There are who still remember How he bore upward 'till the air, Seemed living with the crown Of light he wore.

Nor can, nor will they forget him. He sleeps, yet around the sightless eye The yearnings in dull oblivion lie; There hovers still the light of other days Deep in that soul a spirit not Of earth still struggles for its birth.

Father's spirit cannot be lost Shrouding of morning flies The gathered slumber leaves His loving brow, From his half opened eye.

In faller beams His wakened spirit streams, Father's spirit cannot be lost, In dust whose essence is eternal, For life's dearest cup of bitterness, Rivers of piousness and seas of joy, Above him smiles the eye Of tender love, And underneath, Sweeter than life, the everlasting Arms, Father's, not dead, his Spirit is not dead, But rest in Jesus for he is this.

His God has wiped All sorrow from his eye, All sin from his fair Soul, eternal love For pain has laid its hands upon.

Approved: J. W. WOODARD, Solicitor 3d Judicial District.

Do you remember that just the other day, so it seems, we were celebrating the new year? Now this soon one month of 1891 is almost gone.

No Cards. When the beautiful steamer Greenville came sailing through the placid waters of the meandering Tar, on a recent Thursday morning, and cast out her bow line on the wharf at Greenville, the world did not know that among her precious freight were a gallant youth and blushing maiden whose hearts Cupid had strung upon the same wire, and who were anxious to reach some haven where the ends of said wire could be welded so fast that neither of the hearts could slip off.

Neither did the world know that beneath those heaving breasts there were same hearts were trembling with fear lest some hand should interpose and prevent the union on which they were eager bent. The steamer alone seemed to realize their condition as she hurried and landed at perhaps a sooner hour than usual.

Passing hand in hand over the gang way they attracted no special attention, nor did they meet the gaze of the populace as is the case when a wedding procession is passing by. There were no flowers to deck the pathway o'er which they tread. There were no dulcet strains from Mendelssohn to measure their pace. There was no comment upon the bridal gown, no ushers to lead their way, none of these, but the couple had to go it alone as they hurriedly "tapped the grid" from the wharf to the Temple of Justice.

Register James was little expecting white dusting out preparatory for the days work that his quarters were soon to be turned into the marriage hall. But presently his door softly opened and two anxious faces peeped in, one of them asking: "Can we get license in here?"

"Certainly!" exclaimed the Register, taking in the situation at a glance, "come in."

He gathered up the usual paraphernalia necessary in such cases and began the routine questions as to residence, age, &c.

"What is your name?" asked he of the Miss.

"Fanny Jones" came the response. "And your age?"

"I'm near 'bout seventeen." A cloud of disappointment rushed over the officer's face, as he dropped his pen and in sad tones informed the maid that unless she was older than that proceedings must stop right here.

"Can't you put it down eighteen?" she asked anxiously.

"When were you born?" he asked again.

"In '81 or '82" she said eagerly. "Then you are sufficiently old," and all faces lit up with happiness once more.

"What is your name, sir?" addressing the youth.

"Columbus Dunn." "Your age?"

He did not want to see another halt in the affair so he got around on the other side first and said "I was born in '69"

The license was finished and two faces beamed with smiles as enough small change was piled together to cover the fees.

Suddenly the smiles disappeared again. They had a license but were not married.

"Can any of you marry us?" tremblingly asked the maid.

They were directed to Deputy D. C. Moore, who is clothed with the authority vested in a J. P. The Justice arose basted his coat, cleared his throat, and proceeded to tie the Gordon knot with as much grace and dignity as a full fledged bishop, and after pronouncing them man and wife raised both hands aloft and invoked richest blessings upon their bowed heads.

After the ceremony the couple stated they were from Tarboro. They had to run away to get married and had taken passage that morning upon the steamer. The bride looked every day of 28, while the groom's youthful appearance indicated that he was hardly more than 18.

The happy couple left the Court House, stopped at the Old Brick Store for a few congratulations as they passed down the street, inquired the road to Falkland and went on their way rejoicing.

Washington in Letter. From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23, '90. Senator Gorman is proving himself more than a match for the republican Senators, and he is still confident that the active and determined support of democratic Senators, and the moral support of the conservative masses of the country, the Force bill and its revolutionary forerunner, the gag-rule, can be defeated. He fairly and squarely outgeneraled the republicans when they attempted to wear out the democrats by a continuous night and day session of the Senate, and now he is winning new parliamentary laurels by the manner in which he is blocking the republican attempt to force a vote upon Senator Aldrich's gag-rule resolution. He compelled Mr. Moore to acknowledge that he had made an erroneous ruling. The republicans have but one hope of succeeding and that lies in Vice President Morton making an arbitrary decision in their favor, and the probabilities are rather in favor of his doing so, although it will be because of great pressure brought to bear upon him and not because he wants to do it.

Even if the Senate adopts the gag-rule resolution and passes the Force bill, there will still be ground upon which to base hope for its defeat. The amendments made to the bill in the House, necessary, and there the democrats can renew the fight, which the nearness of the 4th of March and the end of the session, may make successful. At any rate the republicans in the House will have to have a quorum of their own members in order to pass it, and that's more than they have had for three successive days during the session.

Czar Reed as he hears the end of his power shows a disposition to resume some of his tricks of the last session. By the denial of a request that was right and fair, he this week provoked Mr. Mills into an exhibition of temper that was very much regretted by that gentleman's friends; not on Reed's account, he deserved all that Mr. Mills said of him, but on account of the effect that it may have upon the candidacy of Mr. Mills for the Speakership of the next House. "You are perpetrating a fraud upon the House," shouted Mr. Mills, advancing down the aisle, and shaking his fist at the Speaker, "and you know it."

Mr. Mills then intimated in language not to be mistaken that the Speaker was not an honorable gentleman. A minute or two later Representative Kerr, of Iowa, had the bad taste to call Mr. Mills a "traitor." "You are a traitor your self," retorted Mr. Mills, "to the constitution and the laws. You are trying to surround the ballot box with bayonets and to deprive the people of their right of representation." This was followed by a scene hard to describe. The democrats cheered Mr. Mills loudly and the republicans hissed. Representative Perkins of Kansas said "put the dirty loafer (Mills) out," and in a moment he found the big fist of Representative Mann, of Indiana, in close proximity to his nose and was told that if there was to be any putting out (the Mann) proposed taking a hand in it. That was the last heard of Perkins. In the meantime the Sergeant at Arms trotted out with the gold headed mace, the emblem of authority in the House, and quiet was restored.

The Dockery resolution providing for an investigation of the Congressional Silver pools is bearing fruit. Senator Vest has testified that Senator Cameron told him that he made some money speculating in silver bullion, and Senator Cameron has acknowledged it, claiming that he had as much right to speculate in silver as in corn, wheat or any other product. How is that for cool audacity? The chairman of the committee, Representative Dingley, of Maine, is accused of having adjourned the committee from last week until Wednesday of this week in order to prevent Senator Vest from testifying until after the Pennsylvania legislature had re-elected Cameron to the Senate, although Mr. Vest had stated his willingness to testify. It is believed here that Cameron would have been defeated had his connection with the silver speculation been made public before his re-election. There are two other big republicans who will be exposed if the committee does its duty without fear or favor.

The latest scheme of Reed and the henchmen in the House to force the silver republican Senators to vote for the Force bill is outlined in the announcement that the House committee on Coinage, before which the free coinage bill now is, will not report that measure to the House until the Senate passes the Force bill. It remains to be seen how the silver republicans in the House will take this. They will be given an opportunity of voting with Democrats to discharge the committee and take the bill up in the House. Representative Bland has already offered a substitute for a resolution on Rules to limit the debate on the appropriation bills, making the free coinage bill a continual order from an after January 27.

SUCIDAL FRATERNITY.

A new method of making the wind was recently resorted to in Paris by a couple of Parisian engineers.

Suddenly he cast his eyes upward, as if to take a last view of the skies, muttered apparently as if in prayer for a moment, and then plunged headlong into the river.

The bystanders stretched with breathless anxiety as the hero's head floated, came up to the surface and again went under in his endeavors to save the wretch who had attempted his own destruction.

Close by was a house or station where half-drowned persons are restored and where those who rescue them receive the municipal reward of twenty-five francs.

He rose to ask for prayer.

Harvesting with the rude implements was a scene of struggle three or four hundred years ago.

Suddenly they would dash in before the band at full speed, when the motion became reversed, with the effect of ploving up the trampled straw to the very bottom.
