

THE REFLECTOR

VOL. X.

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1891.

NO. 20

D. J. WHICHARD, Editor and Proprietor.

TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION.

TERMS: $1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

PLAIN MISS BARSTOW.

"What nonsense it is for me to stand here gazing into the glass in hope of discovering one good feature! A face every one calls plain! Ah, me! I wish I could learn to listen without a pang to the many remarks made on my personal appearance. I am a perfect fool to Emily, and people notice my ugliness because my sister is such a beauty. I see her sought after and admired, while I—"

Lucille Barstow stopped speaking, and dropping her head in her hands, burst into tears. She did not heed the length and luxuriance of the chestnut hair which enveloped her like a veil. In her opinion Emily's hair was far lovelier than her own. And she was unconscious of the symmetry of her small hands and feet. To their beauty she attached no importance, and thought only of the plain face on which so many of her acquaintances remarked.

She had passed the evening at a ball, and while dancing a quadrille had heard a gentleman say to her: "You are a beauty, Miss Barstow, you heard him say, 'Yes, she is dressed in blue and white, I see. She is the same.'"

The reply of his partner came distinctly to Lucille's ears:

"Which young lady? It was the plain Miss Barstow you heard him say, 'Yes, she is dressed in blue and white, I see. She is the same.'"

How well Lucille remembered every word! She could sing. No one ever denied the sweetness and strength of her voice, and she had sung her best at Mrs. Springer's. No wonder, then, that she had been remembered. Few could forget the beauty of that clear voice, but Lucille would have willingly bartered her voice for a lovely face.

At last the weary girl turned off the gas, and went to bed; but it was long before she could find rest in sleep.

Breakfast was nearly over when Lucille appeared in the dining room the next morning. Her grandmother and sister were just rising from the table.

"Mercy, sister," cried Emily, "how swollen your eyes are, and you look like a ghost! It doesn't improve your appearance very much to look so woeful."

"I am not always staiding my appearance," answered Lucille, taking a seat at the table.

"Lucille, Geoffrey Wayne spoke to me last night of the excellence of your singing at Mrs. Springer's," said Mrs. Barstow.

"Yes, I heard him speak of it," said Lucille, with a bitter smile, for she remembered that she had also heard the answer of his partner in the quadrille.

"But don't let his praise cause you to have hopes of fascinating him," said Emily, "for I have entered the lists, and naturally you will have no chance."

"Naturally, of course," said Lucille. "Emily, don't fret Lucille this morning. She looks half sick," said Mrs. Barstow, looking at the beauty, whom she idolized.

"I am wholly sick," said Lucille, pushing away her coffee cup. "I wish there was some place on this earth where I could go with the certainty of not hearing the changes rung on my ugliness."

"I am afraid there is no such beautiful spot," said Emily, "but I will try to dress for Geoffrey Wayne is to call this noon. This is November. I will wear a pair of gloves to you, Lucille, that I have a chance of becoming Mrs. Wayne before January."

"Don't do it, sister, I won't run the risk of losing the gloves," said Lucille, leaving the room.

Geoffrey Wayne came at the time appointed, and Emily, beautifully dressed, flitted down into the parlor, and held out one white dimpled hand in welcome to this tall, golden haired fellow who was so sought after by the society.

"Where is your sister? I hoped to have the pleasure of hearing her sing," Mr. Wayne said when he at last arose to go.

"She has a headache. Indeed, she is a perfect martyr to all the petty ills to which flesh is heir," replied Emily. "She carries very little of the beauty which she receives morning calls," she added.

That night Lucille came into her grandmother's room, and knelt beside the low chair in which the old lady sat. She did not speak, and her face looked worn and sad.

"What is the matter, Lucie? Has anything gone wrong?" asked Mrs. Barstow, kissing the upturned brow of her granddaughter.

"Everything is wrong, grandma. I am leading a vain, useless life, and I am tired of this life of mine. I am tired of this continual round of balls and parties! It brings no peace, no joy to me, and I am sure I bring no joy to any one else. I hear myself spoken of everywhere as the plain Miss Barstow. It is thus that I am distinguished from Emily."

"My highest ambition is to make the orphan children of my poor boy happy," said Mrs. Barstow in a sad tone. "I cannot forget that he consigned them to my care with his dying breath. You shall do as you wish, Lucie; but you will be leaving a luxurious home for a very plain one. Emily seems very happy here; why cannot you be so also?"

"Emily and I are very different," replied Lucille. "She thrusts me into the background always. Perhaps she does not mean to be unkind, but the knowledge of her great beauty and the homage it receives makes me selfish and overbearing. I shall be happier for having a change, even though it will be only to dull little Barstow."

Lucille wrote to her friend at once, asking if she could have a home with her for a few months, and the answer came by return mail. The Winters were delighted with the idea of her coming, and hoped she would come at once.

Of course Emily was much surprised at her sister's desire to leave the city in the height of the gay season; but Lucille would listen to no reasoning or arguments, and the end of the week found her in Barstow.

At first she was very well contented with the change she had made. She practiced all her old music, read every book which came in her way and did a large amount of worsted work. But after a few days she grew weary of this. The small time dragged very heavily. The small cluttering library was exhausted, and every bureau and mantle in the house was supplied with worsted mats. The days grew weary again, and Lucille began to question whether she was making a better use of her life in Barstow than she had made in her own home. During this season of doubt a letter came from Emily containing great news.

"Congratulations, dear Lu," so the letter ran, "for I have bagged my bird. Yes, I am actually engaged to that golden haired Adonis, Geoffrey Wayne, and have a solitary diamond three times as large as the one Will Gorham gave Molly Prichard. I was undecided at first between Geoff and Count Lazara—do you remember him? Oh, such dashing, languishing eyes and such a thrilling voice! But he is poor, and I am not so fond of love as you are. I don't suit him so even with the count as your worshiper. If his old aunt in France would but die conveniently and leave him a fortune! But she won't, of course, and Geoff is richer than she is anyhow. He is really in love with me. Won't you not help me to get married? I am married you and grandma can live as humdrum as you please; and you needn't vegetate into the country to avoid being overshadowed by me. The count told me last night that I had a face like a falling star. Wasn't that good? Oh, dear, how I wish he were rich! Geoff is too dignified to say such things. Send me your congratulations, little plain face. Your turn may come some time. Love in a cottage might suit you admirably; but for heaven's sake don't marry one of those Barstow punks. I am used to tell you."

"What a different letter I should write her if I should become engaged!" murmured Lucille, allowing the epistle to fall in her lap. "But then Emily and I are not at all alike."

Then she drew her chair to the center table, and with her finger and thumb began the congratulatory letter required by her friend. When it was finished she took it to the postoffice herself, for she felt the need of a brisk walk. On her way home she bought a newspaper, and when she reached her own room again threw herself on a comfortable lounge, and began to read. Almost the first thing that met her eye was an advertisement for a governess:

"Wanted, a governess for two small children. Home in the country. Good salary. English branches only required. None but homey women need apply. Address Mrs. Julia Lamotte, Wildwood Park, Queensbury, N. Y."

Over and over again did Lucille read this singular advertisement. She knew that none but foolish women ever inserted such strange productions, and wondered what kind of a person Mrs. Lamotte was.

"She must be jealous of her husband, and won't throw temptation in his way in the shape of a pretty governess," Lucille thought. "I wonder if I would prove homely enough to suit her. I hardly think she would be jealous of 'the plain Miss Barstow,' and the girl placed in the long mirror which hung opposite her. 'At any rate, I mean to try for the situation. I am tired of the dull monotony of my life here, and yet I can't go back to the old one, only to go through that dreary round of pleasure seeking and dissipation. What an experience it will be to go out into a governess! I will tell Amy at once.'"

Of course Lucille met with opposition from her friends. They thought she would find the life of a governess very irksome, and that her grandmother wouldn't approve of the plan at all.

"Wherever the place is, I will go, please, and I don't intend to tell grandma a word about it. You can forward all her letters to me, and I will send all my letters to you to post here. She will never know that I am not with you, and I am bent on being Mrs. Lamotte's governess. So don't try to stop me."

Mrs. Winter and Amy at length ceased to oppose the wishes of their guest, and Mrs. Lamotte's answer to Lucille's letter having been favorable, she found herself a week later on her way to Queensbury. A carriage drawn by a pair of handsome bays was waiting for her at the station, and she was driven rapidly toward Wildwood Park.

So anxious was Mrs. Lamotte to see whether the homeliness of her new governess was as pronounced as she wished it to be that she carried herself to the hall door when the carriage arrived, and when she saw Lucille's face she gave her a cordial greeting and led the way to a handsome parlor.

"Do you admire my home?" she asked when Lucille had divested herself of her wraps. "I think it beautiful," said Lucille heartily, "and it shows to advantage in this fresh springtime, with the green grass springing up everywhere and the trees putting forth their young leaves and buds."

"You are enthusiastic," said Mrs. Lamotte, "and I feel sure I shall like you. Draw your chair nearer, and I will tell you in confidence why I advertised for a homely governess."

Lucille, who had called herself Miss Danvers (her middle name), did as Mrs. Lamotte requested, and that lady began: "I am a widow, as of course you perceive by my mourning. My poor Arthur died five years ago, and left me this estate and a comfortable income. My only child is a bachelor, and spends his winters in the city, but his summer weeks he spends here next week. He is healthy and much sought after, and I have had a terrible time protecting him from the snares set for him by every old maid and young woman in the neighborhood. I had one pretty governess, and I firmly made up my mind that I would never have another. There shall be no more running round the garden moonlight evenings and culling buttonhole bouquets. Do you know, Miss Danvers, I actually caught that Miss Garfield in the very act of pinning a rose on my brother's coat! Of course I paid her a month's salary in advance and sent her off. I am obliged to have a governess for my two poor darlings, but it shall never be said that my only brother was sacrificed on my account to one of those sly, deep, pretty governesses. No, I have—"

"Enough of them. I suffered from nervous apprehension all the time Miss Garfield was here. Another week

the sly thing would have been my brother's wife."

"I don't think I shall trouble his peace of mind," said Lucille languidly, inwardly laughing at Mrs. Lamotte's tribulations. "I am sure you will not wonder in the garden and pick roses together."

"Oh, I am sure there is no danger with you," said Mrs. Lamotte.

Several days went quickly by, Lucille being charmed with her new life. She completely won the hearts of her two little pupils, and found both interest and amusement in teaching them. She had now regular duties which she was obliged to fulfill, and found life much more bearable than at Barstow.

One morning when she entered the breakfast room she started back as if she had seen an apparition, for there in an easy chair, his handsome head on his hand, his blue eyes bent on the carpet as if in melancholy dreaming, sat Geoffrey Wayne. He was evidently entirely at home, for, hearing a footstep, he looked up, saw Lucille, and rising from his chair, he went to her and said:

"Miss Danvers, I am glad. I arrived very late last night, and saw my sister but a few moments, yet she found time to tell me of you and the love Maud and Willie bear you."

He did not recognize her then. Why should he? She had been so long at school at both places where they had met, and her hair had been dressed with flowers and sprinkled with gold dust. Of course she looked vastly different now in a plain dress of dark muslin and her luxuriant hair in a simple coil. And of course, she had not seen him since she had been found in his sister's governess's study.

Before Lucille could collect her thoughts sufficiently to reply Mrs. Lamotte entered, evidently not at all disturbed at finding her handsome brother and her homely governess together. Lucille saw by the way she looked and laughed at Geoffrey about matrimony and the snares spread for him that she knew nothing of his engagement to Emily.

Mr. Geoffrey Wayne had come to pass the summer with his sister at Barstow; but to the lady's astonishment he did not enter with his usual zest into her plans for croquet parties and archery matches. Lucille noticed that he was grave almost to melancholy, and when letters came from Emily would go off to read. Almost the first thing that met her eye was an advertisement for a governess:

"Wanted, a governess for two small children. Home in the country. Good salary. English branches only required. None but homey women need apply. Address Mrs. Julia Lamotte, Wildwood Park, Queensbury, N. Y."

Over and over again did Lucille read this singular advertisement. She knew that none but foolish women ever inserted such strange productions, and wondered what kind of a person Mrs. Lamotte was.

"She must be jealous of her husband, and won't throw temptation in his way in the shape of a pretty governess," Lucille thought. "I wonder if I would prove homely enough to suit her. I hardly think she would be jealous of 'the plain Miss Barstow,' and the girl placed in the long mirror which hung opposite her. 'At any rate, I mean to try for the situation. I am tired of the dull monotony of my life here, and yet I can't go back to the old one, only to go through that dreary round of pleasure seeking and dissipation. What an experience it will be to go out into a governess! I will tell Amy at once.'"

Of course Lucille met with opposition from her friends. They thought she would find the life of a governess very irksome, and that her grandmother wouldn't approve of the plan at all.

"Wherever the place is, I will go, please, and I don't intend to tell grandma a word about it. You can forward all her letters to me, and I will send all my letters to you to post here. She will never know that I am not with you, and I am bent on being Mrs. Lamotte's governess. So don't try to stop me."

Mrs. Winter and Amy at length ceased to oppose the wishes of their guest, and Mrs. Lamotte's answer to Lucille's letter having been favorable, she found herself a week later on her way to Queensbury. A carriage drawn by a pair of handsome bays was waiting for her at the station, and she was driven rapidly toward Wildwood Park.

So anxious was Mrs. Lamotte to see whether the homeliness of her new governess was as pronounced as she wished it to be that she carried herself to the hall door when the carriage arrived, and when she saw Lucille's face she gave her a cordial greeting and led the way to a handsome parlor.

"Do you admire my home?" she asked when Lucille had divested herself of her wraps. "I think it beautiful," said Lucille heartily, "and it shows to advantage in this fresh springtime, with the green grass springing up everywhere and the trees putting forth their young leaves and buds."

"You are enthusiastic," said Mrs. Lamotte, "and I feel sure I shall like you. Draw your chair nearer, and I will tell you in confidence why I advertised for a homely governess."

Lucille, who had called herself Miss Danvers (her middle name), did as Mrs. Lamotte requested, and that lady began: "I am a widow, as of course you perceive by my mourning. My poor Arthur died five years ago, and left me this estate and a comfortable income. My only child is a bachelor, and spends his winters in the city, but his summer weeks he spends here next week. He is healthy and much sought after, and I have had a terrible time protecting him from the snares set for him by every old maid and young woman in the neighborhood. I had one pretty governess, and I firmly made up my mind that I would never have another. There shall be no more running round the garden moonlight evenings and culling buttonhole bouquets. Do you know, Miss Danvers, I actually caught that Miss Garfield in the very act of pinning a rose on my brother's coat! Of course I paid her a month's salary in advance and sent her off. I am obliged to have a governess for my two poor darlings, but it shall never be said that my only brother was sacrificed on my account to one of those sly, deep, pretty governesses. No, I have—"

"Enough of them. I suffered from nervous apprehension all the time Miss Garfield was here. Another week

the sly thing would have been my brother's wife."

"I don't think I shall trouble his peace of mind," said Lucille languidly, inwardly laughing at Mrs. Lamotte's tribulations. "I am sure you will not wonder in the garden and pick roses together."

"Oh, I am sure there is no danger with you," said Mrs. Lamotte.

Several days went quickly by, Lucille being charmed with her new life. She completely won the hearts of her two little pupils, and found both interest and amusement in teaching them. She had now regular duties which she was obliged to fulfill, and found life much more bearable than at Barstow.

One morning when she entered the breakfast room she started back as if she had seen an apparition, for there in an easy chair, his handsome head on his hand, his blue eyes bent on the carpet as if in melancholy dreaming, sat Geoffrey Wayne. He was evidently entirely at home, for, hearing a footstep, he looked up, saw Lucille, and rising from his chair, he went to her and said:

"Miss Danvers, I am glad. I arrived very late last night, and saw my sister but a few moments, yet she found time to tell me of you and the love Maud and Willie bear you."

He did not recognize her then. Why should he? She had been so long at school at both places where they had met, and her hair had been dressed with flowers and sprinkled with gold dust. Of course she looked vastly different now in a plain dress of dark muslin and her luxuriant hair in a simple coil. And of course, she had not seen him since she had been found in his sister's governess's study.

Before Lucille could collect her thoughts sufficiently to reply Mrs. Lamotte entered, evidently not at all disturbed at finding her handsome brother and her homely governess together. Lucille saw by the way she looked and laughed at Geoffrey about matrimony and the snares spread for him that she knew nothing of his engagement to Emily.

Mr. Geoffrey Wayne had come to pass the summer with his sister at Barstow; but to the lady's astonishment he did not enter with his usual zest into her plans for croquet parties and archery matches. Lucille noticed that he was grave almost to melancholy, and when letters came from Emily would go off to read. Almost the first thing that met her eye was an advertisement for a governess:

"Wanted, a governess for two small children. Home in the country. Good salary. English branches only required. None but homey women need apply. Address Mrs. Julia Lamotte, Wildwood Park, Queensbury, N. Y."

Over and over again did Lucille read this singular advertisement. She knew that none but foolish women ever inserted such strange productions, and wondered what kind of a person Mrs. Lamotte was.

"She must be jealous of her husband, and won't throw temptation in his way in the shape of a pretty governess," Lucille thought. "I wonder if I would prove homely enough to suit her. I hardly think she would be jealous of 'the plain Miss Barstow,' and the girl placed in the long mirror which hung opposite her. 'At any rate, I mean to try for the situation. I am tired of the dull monotony of my life here, and yet I can't go back to the old one, only to go through that dreary round of pleasure seeking and dissipation. What an experience it will be to go out into a governess! I will tell Amy at once.'"

Of course Lucille met with opposition from her friends. They thought she would find the life of a governess very irksome, and that her grandmother wouldn't approve of the plan at all.

"Wherever the place is, I will go, please, and I don't intend to tell grandma a word about it. You can forward all her letters to me, and I will send all my letters to you to post here. She will never know that I am not with you, and I am bent on being Mrs. Lamotte's governess. So don't try to stop me."

Mrs. Winter and Amy at length ceased to oppose the wishes of their guest, and Mrs. Lamotte's answer to Lucille's letter having been favorable, she found herself a week later on her way to Queensbury. A carriage drawn by a pair of handsome bays was waiting for her at the station, and she was driven rapidly toward Wildwood Park.

So anxious was Mrs. Lamotte to see whether the homeliness of her new governess was as pronounced as she wished it to be that she carried herself to the hall door when the carriage arrived, and when she saw Lucille's face she gave her a cordial greeting and led the way to a handsome parlor.

"Do you admire my home?" she asked when Lucille had divested herself of her wraps. "I think it beautiful," said Lucille heartily, "and it shows

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR,
Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WILCHARD, Editor and Proprietor.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT GREENVILLE, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS
MAIL MATTER.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27th, 1891.

Publisher's Announcement.

THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE OF
THE REFLECTOR IS $1.00 per year.
ADVERTISING RATES.—One column
one year, $75; one-half column one year, $40; one-quarter column one year, $25.
Transient Advertisements.—One inch
one week, $1; two weeks, $1.50; one month, $2. Two inches one week, $1.50,
two weeks, $2; one month, $3.

Advertisements inserted in Local Column as reading items, 7 1/2 cents per line for each insertion.
Legal Advertisements, such as Administrators' and Executors' Notices,
Commissioners' and Trustees' Sales, Summons to Non-Residents, etc., will be charged for at legal rates and MUST BE PAID FOR IN ADVANCE. The REF-LECTOR has suffered some loss and much annoyance because of having no
fixed rule as to the payment of this class of advertisements, and in order to avoid future trouble payment IN ADVANCE
will be demanded.

Contracts for any space not mentioned above, for any length of time, can be made by application to the office either
in person or by letter.

Copy for NEW Advertisements and changes of advertisements should be brought in by 10 o'clock on Tuesday mornings in order to receive prompt insertion the day following.

The REFLECTOR having a large circulation will be found a profitable medium
through which to reach the public.

The monkey brand of politics
will never become popular in this country.

When a man has a big mortgage
on his home it is difficult to convince him that he is prosperous.

The Republicans speak lightly of the third party movement, but their words do not represent their thoughts.

The chase of the Chilean insurgent steamer Itata by the Charleston seems to have been only a bit of administration bunnism.

The "Benefit" societies that are collapsing all over the country have been of little benefit to anybody except the "fakers" who conducted them.

What's the matter with Foraker
these days? He has not raised a row in the Republican party for quite awhile. Has Sherman put him to "sawing wood?"

Is Chicago to be made an international duelling ground in order to boom the World's Fair? Chicago folks are thoroughly alive
to the benefits of judicious advertising.

The Republican party must have campaign material, ever if it costs a dollar a pound to make American tinseltine. The bills will,
as usual, be paid by the protected manufacturers.

Political isms are quite plentiful
this year, but the indications are that the old fashioned, simon-pure Andrew Jackson Democratic principles will be good enough for a majority of the voters next year.

Is W. K. Vanderbilt thinking of going into politics? The question is suggested by the statement that he had given out a contract for the erection of a $15,000 hen house on his farm. Everybody is turning farmer these days.

Judge Breckenridge of St.
Louis fell dead from heart disease
last week while addressing the Presbyterian Assembly at Detroit, Mich. He was speaking on the famous Briggs case of Union Theological Seminary.

Neither North Carolina, Virginia nor Alabama was represented at the Cincinnati Convention.
The leaders of the Alliance in the South were conspicuous by their absence. They realize that the hope of the country is centered in the Democratic party.

A movement is on foot to colonize a number of exiled Jews from Russia in Western North Carolina.
A large tract of land has been secured for that purpose and they will make their abode with us next fall. We hope Russia will see fit to keep her nihilists from among us.

A theological discussion in the hands of masterly debaters may become almost as exciting as a salvation army meeting; but the good it does to Christianity is not apparent to the ordinary observer.
It is nowhere recorded that Christ engaged in any theological disputes.

Last Saturday was memorial day throughout the North. In nearly all the principal cities vast crowds of people assembled and paid honor to the soldiers who wore the blue. President Harrison and his party went to Philadelphia and took part in the services. Hon. John S. Wise, of Virginia, delivered an address at New York in honor of the fallen Federal soldiers.

Why doesn't Mr. Harrison fire
Blaine and make son Russell Secretary of State? If son Russell does not bridle the pens of his minions Blaine may take it into his head to fire "Me and Pap's administration" so high that it will not come down in time to take part in next year's campaign.

Senator Call after a long contest has been re-elected to the United States Senate from Florida.
There was a great effort made to defeat him, and his opponents resorted to the plan of running away and breaking a quorum to prevent his election, but their trick was turned against them and he was elected, as he ought to be have been much sooner.

The Republican editors and correspondents are going through an awful lot of unnecessary worry in order to determine to their own satisfaction whether ex-President Cleveland, Governor Hill or a western man will be the Democratic candidate next year. They appear to have entirely overlooked
the fact that the Democratic national convention, and not the Republican newspapers, will name
the Democratic national ticket.

Wonder if Russell Harrison was the originator of the fake about Blaine's brain having become useless? It will be a sad day for "Me and Pap's administration"
when the Secretary of State shall become a victim of any brain trouble. No one would think of accusing us of admiring Mr.
Blaine's political methods, but we have no hesitation in saying that if his work could be wiped out of the record of this administration
the remainder would present a very, very blank appearance.

Some are easily fooled. A crowd of about five thousand were a few days ago completely fooled
at Omaha. A couple of fellows advertised a show to consist of the ascending of the Chicago air ship
into the heavens, and a marriage in mid-air. Five thousand people marched out to the fair grounds and deposited as many quarters to see the novel show. But when the time came there was no air-ship
in sight. On making an enquiry it was found that the sharpers had scooted to other quarters with all the quarters they had taken in, and left the people to await the coming of the air-ship.

The Raun family was, at last accounts, still drawing salaries
from the United States, notwithstanding the exposure which has shown the father to have been guilty of using his official authority, as Commissioner of Pensions, to borrow money from the king of the pension sharks, and the son to have been guilty of selling appointments and promotions in the Pension office; and yet the country is repeatedly told by Republicans that Mr. Harrison has given us a clean and honest administration. If the Pension office disclosures be examples of Republican cleanliness and honesty, what prayer, would be its idea of nastiness
and dishonesty?

Jerry Simpson displayed his shrewdness by declining to take any part in the recent conference
at Cincinnati which some misgud-ed people think launched a national political party. There are men
—many of them—in the ranks of the Farmers' Alliance capable of organizing and leading a great national political party; but they were conspicuous by their absence
from the Cincinnati gathering, and should they deem it wise to form a political party at their convention next February it is not probable that they would be willing to recognize the Dalgetty's of national notoriety who were shovled to the front at Cincinnati. The Alliance leaders are honest, while some of the would-be leaders at the Cincinnati conference are well, certainly under suspicion.

The next Congress will not be so noted as the last for so many contested seats. The clerk of the House reports five contests, three of them from the North, where Democrats will contest the seats
of Republicans, and two from the South where Republicans will contest the seats of Democrats. The mere fact that a Republican will contest a seat before a strongly Democratic House shows that they have more confidence in the Democrats than the Democrats could have in them from their past record. In the last Congress
a Democrat would not have had a hearing before the House and his case would not have been presented for consideration. But the present House will not resort to such partisan measures. They can give all the contested seats to the Republicans and then have more than a two-third majority.
The people at the last election settled the question as to who should have the control of the House.

For Newest Goods! -- Latest Styles! -- Lowest Prices!
CALL ON YOUNG & PRIDDY.
—They carry the largest stock of—

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, HATS & SHOES

of any store in Greenville. Look over this list:

Boys' Suits $2.35.
Men's Suits $5.00.
Nice All Wool Pants $1.00.
Thin Coats 35 cts.
Silk & Mohair coats and vests $3.25.
Gent's Low Quarter Shoes $1.75.

Flannel and Silk Neglige Shirts
all styles and sizes 30 cts.
Latest styles and best brands of Calicoes 5 cts.
Gent's Wool Hats 10 cts.
Nice Straw Hats 10 cts.

Ladies Slippers 70 cts.
Ladies Low Quarter button shoes
70 cts.
Ladies Oxford Ties $1.10.
Children's shoes 30 cts.
Misses and Ladies shoes 75 cts.

Nice Cheek Muslin 6 cts.
White Lawn in all styles 8 cts.
Mulle, Nun's Veiling and many other fabrics.
Cashmeres 6 cts to $1.50 pr yd.
A nice brown domestic 42c pr yd.

All we ask is that you call and examine our stock and prices

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May 29, '91.

Mr. Harrison has at last, it is said, braced up his backbone sufficiently to inform Commissioner of Pensions Raun that he must hand
in his resignation as soon as another man can be found with some political pull who is willing to take the place. Raun did the grand kick act, and has not yet consented to resign, saying that he prefers being dismissed; but he'll change his mind. They all do that way. When Tanner was asked for his resignation he swore that he would never write it, but he did all the same. It's easy to talk about being kicked, but when the big hob-nailed boot is raised they all get out of the way if possible.

Just as might have been expected
the alleged attempt to begin criminal proceedings against young Raun and his partners in office
selling has already practically terminated. The District Attorney has begun to hint about the difficulty of securing the necessary proof
to convict Raun or any of his pals,
and the uselessness of bringing the case before the grand jury. It is always difficult to do that which we do not wish to do.

By the way, speaking of Pension Office matters, there was quite a farce played there this week. A man was tried for borrowing money,
and Commissioner Raun, the man who acknowledged under oath that he had borrowed $12,000 from the king of the pension sharks, was one of the judges. Ye gods, think of that. It was certainly the acme of absurdity. Of course the borrower was acquitted, but a victim had to be found, so the fellow who got the loan for him from a Washington
ten center was found to be too loose in his ideas of the amount of interest that ought to be charged for accommodation loans, and was accordingly dismissed in disgrace
from the Government service.

There are piles and piles of excessive all over the Pension Bureau awaiting the eagle eye of a democratic congressional investigating committee.

If it be true, as is generally believed here, that the instructions
telegraphed the revenue cutters Rush and Bear as to the part they should take in the present sealing season in Behring Sea, are practically the same as those issued to them last season—to pretend to watch, but at the same time to be very careful never to see any illegal sealing—Mr. Blaine must feel very chagrined that he was not here when they were issued.

The Attorney General has gone to the rescue of the Secretary of the Treasury, to a limited extent, by deciding that the last named official has authority to issue silver certificates against the $4,000,000 seigniorage that has been accumulated by the coinage of bullion. Mr. Foster was also, it is said, arrived at the conclusion that he can issue silver certificates against the $20,000,000
in fractional silver that he has been unsuccessfully trying to put into circulation for several weeks past.
These are the methods by which the administration hopes to stave off that much dreaded deficit.

Mr. Harrison must have been reminded of the Cocking-Garfield trouble this week when ex-Senators Platt and Miller, of New York, each supported by a dozen or more friends, invaded the White House
to engage in a fight over the appropriation of the port of New York.
Mr. Harrison finally succeeded in making Secretary Foster temporary referee of the contest, and he got rid of the gang by promising to come over to New York and look into things before making any decision. When that decision is made,
the side that gets left will jump on
Mr. Harrison for satisfaction, and he will wish, as many another President has, that there were no Federal offices in New York.

WEEKLY WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

For the Week Ending Friday, May 29th.

CENTRAL OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C.

The reports of correspondents of
the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin
issued by the N. C. Experiment Station and State Weather Service
for the week ending Friday, May 29th, 1891, show that general rains have fallen over nearly the entire State except in the southeastern portion of the Eastern District from New Bern to Southport, where the drought still continues. Showers are probable in that portion to-day (Saturday). The area of excessive precipitation covers nearly the entire central portion of the State.
During the first part of the week,
while the weather was warm, the rain-fall was very beneficial, but during the latter part the temperature fell rapidly, with north to north-east winds, retarding growth of crops. In several counties some injury was done by hail and high winds. At Raleigh the storm of the 23rd was severe enough to blow down large trees, but fortunately the hail was small and did not last long enough to do great damage.
Grapes were injured. Rust on wheat has been reported in two or three places. Though at present the effect of the rain is reported as unfavorable at many places, it is believed, after a few days of warm sunshine, the benefit will appear,
and next week will cause great improvement in the crop outlook. In the districts injured by hail week
before last crops have been replanted and are doing well.

EASTERN DISTRICT. The weather has continued very dry in the south-eastern portion along the immediate coast from Newbern to Southport, where crops are still suffering from drought. In all other portions of the district plenty of rain has fallen, which would have been of greater benefit if accompanied by warmer weather. In the western and northern portions excessive rains and cold lightly damaged cotton and truck and retarded all crops. The temperature for the week was from 14 degrees below the average at Wilmington to 23 below
at Norfolk, the rain-fall from .70
inches below at Wilmington to 1.40 above at Norfolk, and about .450 above at Weldon. Maximum temperature 92 on 23rd; minimum 52
on 23th. Rains for the week: Weldon, 5.97 inches; Garysburg, 4.75; Goldboro, 1.81; Newbern, .36; Lamberton, 1.31 inches.

CENTRAL DISTRICT. The early part of the week was warm with showers, which were very beneficial.
Latter part general rain occurred with much colder weather. A violent thunder-storm with rain and hail occurred on evening of 23rd.
At Raleigh wind reached 59 miles an hour for a few minutes, blowing down trees, etc. Hail did slight damage during week in following counties: Wake, Davie, Arson, Johnston, Chatham, and Forsyth.
The rain-fall was in excess and injurious to crops chiefly in the southern and eastern portions of the district. Warmer, dry weather will soon improve the outlook. The deficiency in temperature for the week was about 23 degrees, the excess in rainfall over 3.00 inches. Rains:
Raleigh 4.88 inches; Oak Ridge,
4.70; Chapel Hill, 4.49; Wadesboro,
1.86.

WESTERN DISTRICT. The excess in rain-fall extended through eastern portion of this district from north to south, but not westward to the mountainous region. The weather has been so wet as to retard growth of crops, and prevent farmers from doing very necessary work in the fields. A very severe hail and rain storm occurred on 24th near Saluda, Polk county, covering about four square miles. The deficiency in temperature was 28 at Charlotte and 14 at Knoxville.
West of the mountains the rain-fall
was below the average. Rains
during week as follows: Hickory,
2.80 inches; Old Port, 6.00 (estimated); Davidson College, 1.98;
Dallas, 2.50; Mt. Pleasant, 3.18;
Charlotte, 2.64.

PITT COUNTY AND ITS PEOPLE.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:
I think Old Pitt is in much better financial condition than even one year ago. The farmers, and in fact all, seem to have some cash, and the merchants say that the farmers are buying much lighter than last year and in fact for several years gone by, I mean on time, and am glad indeed to see it, for the only way to success is to live close and take short cuts just now. By that means we will get able to buy for cash and at very low prices, for goods are sold exceedingly low in and around Greenville. If any one doubts it just come down and try our market. Greenville can boast of as good merchants as any town

in the old North State, and can and will pay as much for all country produce as any market. I see nearly every day something coming in from the country for sale by the farmers, to-wit: Corn, fodder, hams, beef cattle, chickens, etc., all of this means to keep out of debt,
and I know of a great many farmers who have money, and even more than they need for running this year. Would it not be better for all if they would put it in the bank and get six per cent. for it and let the bank loan it to those who need it?
Then it would pay and help everybody. As now we have at last a good bank in Greenville to fill a long felt need owned and conducted by two good,
honest and responsible young men,
Tyson & Rawls, who deserve a great deal for their pluck and energy, and will in a few days have a new burglary proof safe to cost about $1,200, the only one in Pitt county. In the near future we expect to have a live town, for we think that she has started. The Greenville Land and Improvement Company will soon lay off a new part of the old town and go to work in dead earnest. So look out, and we will soon have tobacco warehouses, saw mills and other enterprises. In fact Old Pitt is a grand old county.
COW BOY.

MOYE'S MILL ITEMS.

Rain! We had a nice little shower
yesterday late in the afternoon.
Mr. John H. Flanagan has built two more tobacco barns in addition to the one he built last year.
No time to loiter about—everybody
is hard at work chopping cotton and plowing their corn; at the same time some are setting out tobacco.
Crops! Our crops are looking remarkably well in the late spring and cold bad weather. Cotton has come up beautifully since the rain
and a few warm days.
I believe Doctor Sam is ahead of anybody in this section setting out sweet potatoes. Mr. Parker, at the Streeter place, comes next, having set out nearly if not quite half his patch.
On the 9th inst., the little infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Carr, died at their home in Greene county, about three miles from this place.
How these little things that bring joy to the heart, for his life brought rays of joy.

Blessed Saviour, keep their cherub
Safe upon Thy gentle breast.
Where no sickness, pain nor sorrow
Can disturb his peaceful rest.

Farming has become a science as well as a trade, and a man to be entirely successful must read and keep pace with progress. A man who expects to succeed in any calling must avail himself of every possible means of acquiring information in regard to it. Let us then encourage all men who are disposed to favor an intelligent and progressive system of agriculture. Farmers are more numerous. After their crops are planted they should ditch their land thoroughly so as to prevent the formation of pools of water that must stand until removed by evaporation or the slow process of working down through the soil. After a heavy rain the field should be visited, as at this time the lower spots are easily detected and the surface drainage
made complete.

BLUE BIRD.

Moye's Mill, May 27th.

OCRACOKE.

The Most Popular Summer Resort.

We are authorized to say that Ocracoke Hotel will be open for the reception of guests on June 15th, and that passengers will be transported on sail vessels until July 1st, when a common steamboat will make regular trips to and from Washington.

The management will be in the hands of Spencer Bros., who have acquired a caterer of 30 years experience
to look after the table.
A band has also been provided and piano for the use of the ladies will be in place. There will be dances, sailing, fishing and bathing in abundance,
and Ocraoke will be a popular resort
this summer. Spencer Bros. have large experience as hoteliers and will make it comfortable and pleasant for all.

Summer Rates.

The following railroad rates will prevail through the summer. Tickets for round trip will be on sale from June 1st until September 30th, good to return until October 31st:
Asheville, via Goldsboro or Selma, $17.00
Hot Springs, via Goldsboro
or Selma, 18.50
Black Mountain, via Goldsboro or Selma, 16.35
Waynesville, via Goldsboro or
Selma, 18.20
Morehead, via Goldsboro, 8.90
Virginia Beach, via Weldon,
or Hobbard, and N. & C.R.R., 6.55
Wrightsville, 7.75
Carolina Beach, 7.75
Rates to other points are proportionate to the above.
J. R. MOORE, Agent.

FIRST COTTON SQUARE.

BEAVER DAM, June 2nd, '91.
EDITOR REFLECTOR.—Mr. J. C.
Cobb, of this township, stands at the head of the 1st this season, so
Mr. John Joyner, of Marlboro, says.
He had cotton squares on the 26th
of May, which were seen by more than one farmer.
N. B.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

$200.00 REWARD.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, official information has been received at this department that John R. MOORE, late of the County of Pitt stands charged with Shooting William Moore from ambush, and
whereas, it appears that the said John R.
Moore has fled the State, or so conceals himself that the ordinary process of law
cannot be served upon him:

Now, Therefore, I, Thomas M. Holt,
Governor of the State of North Carolina,
by virtue of authority in me vested by law, do issue this my Proclamation,
offering a reward of Two Hundred Dollars for the apprehension and delivery of the said John R. Moore to the Sheriff of Pitt county, at the Court House in Greenville, and I do enjoin all officers of the State, and all good citizens, to assist in bringing said criminal to justice.

Done at our City of Raleigh,
the 28th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-
one, and in the one hundred and fiftieth year of our American Independence.

THOS. M. HOLT.

By the Governor:
S. F. TILFAIR, Private Sec.

DESCRIPTION.

A dark complected white man 21 years
old, black hair streaked with gray, blue eyes, height 5 feet 10 inches, weight about 145 pounds, wears a No. 6 shoe fit
hat, has gold fillings in his front teeth,
very prominent.

Tobacco Flues!

PLANTERS HOES,

Hardware of Description,

COTTON PLOWS, COOK STOVES,

Rope, Paints, Oil, Glass,

—All for sale cheap to—

—CASH—

—BY—

Latham & Pender,

Greenville, N. C.

MRS. R. H. HORNE.

MILLINERY!

I take pleasure in announcing to the people of Greenville and the surrounding country that my
—SPRING STOCK—
is now arriving and ready for examination. I have secured the services of a City Trimmer who will execute work to suit the most fastidious taste. The new styles will be sold at the lowest margin that millinery goods have ever been handled before in this market.

Also a splendid line of Fancy Goods,
consisting of Steel Engravings, Oil Paintings, Picture Frames, Easels, Fancy
Tablets, Plush Goods, China and Bohemian
Vases, Jewelry, Lace Curtains,
Linen Shades, &c. These will be sold at as low as they must be disposed of by the last of June. All who wish to make great bargains for themselves
should call at once and see me before purchasing elsewhere.

J. B. Cherry. J. R. Moye. J. G. Moye.

J. B. CHERRY & CO.

SPRING ANNOUNCEMENT!

We beg to inform our friends and patrons that we now have the most complete stock we have ever had. To our lady friends we wish to say that our stock of Dress Goods will compare favorably with any line in town.

DRY :: GOODS!

In Wool Fabrics we have Henriettes, Cashmeres, Albatross and Nunsveils in the leading Spring and Summer shades.
In Cotton Fabrics we have
Pine Apple Tissues, Swiss Zephyrs, Satines, Batiste, Outing Cloths, Victorias, Lawns, Gingham, a full line of White Dress Goods. In all of these lines you will find beautiful styles. No prettier to be found in town.
In all grades of Men and Boys Hats we have nice styles
and will sell at prices to please our customers.
We invite comparison of quality and prices of the following lines: Notions, Gent's Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, Hardware, Crockery, Tinware,
Wood and Willow Ware, Groceries, Provisions, and all kinds of Farming Implements and Furniture.

Dress Goods, Notions, Trunks,

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS, FURNITURE!

Our stock of Shoes and Slippers is very attractive. We think we can suit you both in quality and fit. One of the leading Shoes with us is our Opera
Toe with Common Sense Heel.
This is a long felt want with the ladies.
In Men and Boys Shoes we have in stock and to arrive the best line ever carried by us.
We have sold L. M. Reynolds's Shoes for the past two years and find them to be the best line ever handled by us. This spring we will have a complete line of these Shoes and when our friends are in need of good shoes we will be pleased to serve them.
We carry the largest and best selected stock of Furniture in our town and will sell at prices
to please.
We have a nice line of Mattresses which we will sell at low figures.
In Children Carriages we have the best and prettiest line ever carried by us.
We realize the importance of selling goods at a small profit.
We do not claim to sell goods
at cost, but do claim and back up our assertion, that we will give you honest goods for your honest money.

SEE US! TALK WITH US! TRY US!

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.

We would like to have a few words with you in regard to Spring wearing apparel. We know that in a few days you will be looking around for your new clothes and a correct knowledge of where to find them will, we think, greatly assist you in making your selections. To the ladies we would say that our stock of Spring and Summer "DRESS GOODS" comprises everything stylish and seasonable in both imported and domestic makes. We have all the new shadings in both plain and stripe effects. We also show an elegant line of embroidered ROBES in the new colors. Our black goods department is as usual, a complete line of staple and fancy effects from the costliest silk warp to the most economical. HENRIETTA and SEBASTIA POOL to the cheap cotton. We have in various quantities Sheppard's plaid in Black and White which is proving to be one of the leading dress fabrics this season. Our stock of wash goods includes the most effective designs in fancy and plain. Zephyrs and Gingham. Our imported Scotch Zephyrs are marvellous of beauty. Those combination Zephyrs have been pronounced beautiful by all who have seen them. A word about white goods. The goods offered by us are especially selected for fine trade and are the choice from one of the leading importing houses of the country and we do not hesitate to say that they surpass any being offered in our market. The styles were selected both as to display and durability and make a most handsome exhibit. Embroideries. This is our hobby. For years we have led in this line of goods and this season our reputation will be sustained. The embroidery exhibit which we make comprises a full line of Skirting, Flouncings, Allover, Edgings, and Insertings in several different materials. We would like to call the attention of the ladies to a handsome line of Blouses now being shown on our counters. We have them in the light shades, also in the more subdued colors. In Shoes for Ladies, Misses, Gentlemen, Boys and Children we have the usual line of none but first class makes, which guarantee to our customers a reliable shoe, and which guarantee to be the means of increasing our shoe trade many fold in the years. Clothing we lead the town as we show the most varied assortment of Spring Clothing for gentlemen, youths, boys and children ever shown in our market. The prices are correct, the fit is guaranteed, the styles are the newest, the material honest. We would say right here in connection with the above that we do not carry any second hand clothing, and every article sold over our counters will be found just as represented. We have a stock of Gents' Furnishing Goods that will satisfy even the most fastidious. Our line of full dress and evening wear shirts are the latest productions of fashion in their line. We have every conceivable shape in Linen Collars, including the latest styles. In Neckties and Outing Shirts we show some fashionable designs. We have a line of Neckwear that includes the most stylish shapes, both as to shapes and colorings. The latest blocks and colors are shown by us in Gents' Silk Hats. In Mens and Boys' Fur Hats we have a very desirable line. Our line of Straw Hats comprises the new styles just shown by the leading manufacturers. Your attention is particularly called to our line of Carpetings, Floor Oil Cloths, Rugs and Mattings, which show in our window a very attractive display of curtains, serfins, and drapery nets.

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR, Greenville, N. C.

Local Sparks

NOTICE! NOTICE!!

The subscribers to the Greenville Tobacco Warehouse are requested to meet at the Court House on Friday, at 11 o'clock A. M., June 5, 1891, for the purpose of organizing. Everybody invited.

June.
Fine California Peaches at C. D. Rountree's.

Sixth month of '91.
The New Home Sewing Machine for sale by J. C. Lanier, Ag't.

It is time to list taxes.
Fresh Boss Biscuits for the well and sick at the Old Brick Store.

More hail Saturday night.
Christman's Ointment will cure any skin disease on man or beast.

It continues too wet for the farmers.
Point Lace Flour is always uniform in quality at the Old Brick Store.

Tobacco warehouse! Let it hum.
Oh, my! those pretty ties for Gents and Ladies at Higgs Bros.

Commencements are now in full blast.
250 bushels of Jersey Yellow Potatoes. Slips, for sale, applying to H. HARRING.

General crop prospects are not very promising.
WANTED FOR CASH—Corn, Beans, Wax and Hides, at the Old Brick Store.

The price of the spring chicken is almost as large as the fowl.
They are beauties—E. P. Reed & Co's fine Shoes for Ladies at Higgs Bros.

Tobacco is going to be the money crop in Pitt county again this year.
DRINK COCOA—It is nourishing and strengthening, at the Old Brick Store.

R. L. Hummer has an Engine for sale in this issue, read his advertisement.
FOR SEED—Small Spanish Peanuts and Cow Peas at the Old Brick Store.

Ripe whortleberries have been in market. We hear the crop will be abundant.
If your horse has weak eyes or scratches, try Christman's ointment.

No services, except Sunday School were held in any of the white churches of the town last Sunday.
At C. D. Rountree's you will find Thursber's 34 and King's Ground Coffees.

Pitt county Superior Court will commence next Monday, his Honor, Judge Whitaker, presiding.
Cheapest Bedsteads, Bureaus, Cradles and Mattresses at the Old Brick Store.

A handsome line of Sample Notions at almost one-half value at Higgs Bros.
Master Louis Ryan presented the Reflector with three large magnolia blossoms last Wednesday.

Just received New Spring Butter and finest Cream Cheese at the Old Brick Store.
For sale 50 tons of cotton seed meal. Apply to Tarboro Oil Mills, Tarboro, N. C.

Go to Congleton & Tyson's if you want a good smoke and get a Golden Seal Cigar.
Be sure and read C. T. Munford's advertisement on this page. It tells you something that will interest you.

Congleton & Tyson keep a fine line of California fruits and other fine canned goods.
Thurber, Whyland & Co's fine grade Celebrated Momaja Coffee kept by Congleton & Tyson. Give it a trial.

If you want something nice go to Congleton & Tyson's and get some of their New Spring Butter just arrived to-day.
A base ball club will go down from here to Grifton to-morrow and play a game with the boys of that town on Friday.

Wishing to dispose of our cheaper brands of Flour we will sell them at cost for the next thirty days.
J. S. Smith & Bro.

MOVING MACHINES.—We have just received a car load of the celebrated Walter A. Wood Moving Machines and Horse Rakes which we will sell cheap. Write us for circular and price. F. S. ROYSTER & Co., Tarboro, N. C.

Forty thousand pounds of sheet iron is what we are going to make into Tobacco Pipes. We already have nearly enough orders booked to consume all this. Other farmers expecting to get their orders from us will please send in their orders at once, and we will prepare to supply them. Latham & Pender.

Mr. L. A. Mayo, of Mt. Pleasant, brought up a tobacco leaf, Monday, that measured 9x16 inches. He has five acres that is fine.

Parties coming in on the train Monday morning brought report of a tremendous rise in Moccasin river, or Big Contentment as it is sometimes known by. They said in one hour's time, Sunday, the water rose over 40 inches, and the bridges at both Snow Hill and Hookerton were washed away.

PERSONAL

Mrs. J. B. Cherry, is sick this week.

Mrs. M. M. Nelson is sick this week.

Mrs. Duckett is quite sick at the Institute.

Mr. T. T. Munford has been sick a few days.

Miss Hattie Sillivant, of Hookerton, is visiting Miss Apple Smith.

Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Maget, of Penny Hill, are visiting Mrs. S. B. Wilson.

Mr. Ben Selby, of Wilson, is visiting friends in town and made us a call yesterday.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Nana Fleming to Mr. W. M. Brown on the 10th inst.

Mrs. A. N. Ryan has been quite sick for several days. We are glad to know she is improving.

Mr. J. D. Williamson left Monday for Asheville and will spend a month at the Winyah Sanitarium in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Russ arrived Saturday to spend a few days with Dr. and Mrs. R. Williams, parents of Mrs. Russ.

Mr. John A. Ricks, for several months past a clerk in the large establishment of J. B. Cherry & Co., left yesterday for Baltimore to take a thorough course at one of the business colleges of that city.

Col. L. A. Sugg, returned last week from Louisville, Ky., where he had been to the meeting of the Edwards heirs. He talks hopefully about the matter and thinks the property in New York will be recovered.

Mr. J. J. Smith, railroad agent at Ayden and ex-Mayor of that town, dropped in to see the Reflector Monday and left his name on our subscription list. He says "there is nothing like a good county paper."

Misses Hortense and Rosa Forbes, two of Greenville's most charming young ladies, will return home this evening from college at Staunton, Va. Their friend, Miss Lillian Lynn, one of their schoolmates, will come with them to make a visit here.

Rev. A. D. Hunter, attended the Baptist Union Meeting at Tarboro, from Friday to Sunday. He says Tarboro is very blue over the death of Mr. O. C. Farrar, which occurred on Thursday morning. Mr. Farrar was the leading man of that town and had done more for it than any other citizen.

Mr. J. R. Congleton, of Keelsville, a member of the County Board of Education, was in town Monday, for the first time in several months. He had an attack of the grip early in the spring which was followed by a severe spell of pneumonia, and for a while was so sick that his recovery was almost despaired of. We are glad indeed that he has recovered and is regaining his accustomed health.

There will be a large attendance from Greenville at the close of the James School, at Grifton, to-morrow night and Friday.

Whatever may be the prospects of the cotton crop, tobacco planters are jubilant over the outlook for that crop. Some of them say it will be their dependence this year.

The closing exercises of Prof. Matthews' Male School take place at the Opera House promptly at 7:30 o'clock to-morrow evening.

The May apple, though small, affords a good hiding place for both the worm and the colic, and the youth who eats it is apt to swallow both.

The List Takers for this township request us to say they are now ready for business at the Court House and waiting for the people to come give in their taxes.

The festival which the ladies of the Presbyterian Church were preparing to have next Tuesday night will not be given until Friday, 12th, at which time your presence is requested.

Gov. Holt has offered a reward of $200 for the arrest of John R. Moore, who is charged with the shooting of his brother at Pactolus in March. The proclamation will be found elsewhere in this paper.

A colored man by the name of Joe Baker living in Beaver Dam township, after removing three barrels of corn from a barn destroyed 61 rats on last Saturday and it wasn't a fair day for rats either.

The Tar is way up yonder again and people north of the river can only reach town by ferris. Such freshets occasionally happen and serve as reminders of the necessity of a dam out from the bridge.

On Monday Mr. H. F. Keel brought us the measurement of a tobacco plant from his patch that was 22 inches high and 33 inches across. He has several acres that will come nearly up to this plant on an average.

All ex-Confederate soldiers and widows of Pitt county, who are entitled to pensions under the act passed by the General Assembly, are notified that they must file their claims with the Superior Court Clerk on or before the first Monday in July.

No Appropriation.
On Monday the Board of Magistrates by a large majority voted down a motion to appropriate $500 for the purpose of making a county exhibit at the Inter-States Exposition in Raleigh next fall. The Board of County Commissioners could appropriate any less sum than this, but the sentiment was so largely against it that they will make no appropriation. This means that if Pitt county has any exhibit at the exposition it must be made by private subscriptions. It is left for the citizens to say what they will do, and whether there shall be an exhibit. The Reflector would regret to see a county like this have no exhibit at such an exposition.

MAGISTRATES IN SESSION.

They Meet to Levy Taxes and Elect a Board of Education—The County in Good Financial Condition.

About 35 of the Justices of the Peace of the county were present at the meeting with the Board of County Commissioners on Monday. Before proceeding to the tax levy Chairman Dawson made a statement that during the past fiscal year the amount in the County Treasury had been increased $2,000, which added to the $5,000 on hand the first of last June makes the total general fund $7,000, which was ample to defray the ordinary county expenses for the next six months, and that the present levy would be sufficient for the usual county purposes.

G. T. Tyson, of Beaver Dam, favored increasing the taxes so that the dam from the north end of the bridge might be built, that fire proof vaults might be placed in the Court House for the safe keeping of records and that the county might have an exhibit at the Inter-States Exposition.

L. A. Mayo, of Greenville, favored increasing the tax for these same purposes and also for removing the County Home for the aged and infirm from its present location. He spoke specially upon this and the needs of having a creditable display at the exposition.

J. J. Laughinghouse opposed making any increase in the levy. He commended the Board of County Commissioners under whose excellent administration $2,000 had been added to the treasury under the low tax of last year. He had confidence in the Board and believed if they thought the County Home ought to be removed they would remove it.

W. B. Moore said he had to pass by the County Home every time he came to town. He noticed that the Board had changed the management there and that several improvements had been made. He now hears none of the bad reports that used to be going around about the place.

Upon a vote the levy was made same as last year, 20 cents on each $100 valuation.

Schedule B taxes was levied same as State levy.

No county tax was placed upon marriage licenses.

The question of the public schools not being kept open the time required by law was discussed, and County Attorney Blow was asked to hunt up the law on the matter. He said the schools should be kept open four months. It was found that the State and county tax together amounted to 63 cents on each $100 which included 33 cents of being up to the constitutional limit.

A motion was offered that a tax of 33 cents be levied for the public schools. Commissioner Moore suggested that the year and a half be called on the vote, as there might be some presentments before the Grand Jury and it should go record voted for and against the tax.

The years and a half were called and the levy was defeated—years 14, days 26.

An election of a Board of Education was gone into resulting in the selection of J. R. Congleton, R. C. Cannon and Fernando Ward.

A motion was offered to appropriate $500 for the purpose of making an exhibit of the resources of Pitt county at the Inter-States Exposition to be held in Raleigh October and November. The motion was lost by a large vote.

In the afternoon there was a meeting of the appraisers.

Narrow Escape.
An accidental shooting occurred five miles north of Greenville Tuesday morning of last week. Mr. Samuel Daulton, son of Mr. S. A. Daulton, wanted to clean a pistol and sent a young colored man in the house for it. He took the pistol and ejected all the balls, so he thought, but while snapping it a moment later there was a report and a ball struck the colored man, passing through his arm under the shoulder blade and lodging in the back. Dr. O'Hagan traced the ball and cut it out. It was a narrow escape for the colored man.

Soon to be Built.
One of the County Commissioners told us Monday that at every meeting of the Board lately the subject of building the dam out to high land from the North end of the bridge is considered. Some time ago the Board ordered that the Secretary of State be written for a certified copy of the act passed by the late General Assembly providing for the building the dam. The copy from some cause, has not yet come to hand, but as soon as it does the Board will order the work commenced. The people on the other side of the river may congratulate themselves that at an early day the dam will be completed and they can ride into town at any time.

Commencement of Greenville Female Institute.
The commencement exercises of the Female Institute will take place next Wednesday, June 10th, at 11 o'clock. A. M. Henry Bonn, the finest language painter in North Carolina, will deliver the address in the Opera House. Go to hear him if you want to be amused and entertained. At 8 o'clock, in the Chapel at the Institute, there will be exercises consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc. Seven young ladies will compete for the medal to be given to the one who recites the best on that occasion. After these exercises, which will last about an hour, there will be an art exhibit, promenade, etc.

Tobacco Warehouse.
Prospects grow still brighter for a tobacco warehouse in Greenville. That is the first one, for of course others will follow as soon as that is built. A few weeks ago the Reflector said that our enterprising townsman, Mr. R. J. Cobb, was interesting himself in the matter and was taking subscriptions for that purpose. On Monday he showed us his list which represented a little more than $4,000 subscribed. He also handed in the notice published elsewhere for the meeting and organization of the subscribers on next Friday morning at 11 o'clock. As soon as the organization is perfected work on the building will soon follow. You may look out for tobacco card in Greenville next fall. Hurray for the first warehouse!

AMONG THE FARMERS.

They Talk About Crops, but do not Give Favorable Reports—Good Weather Will Bring a Change for Better.

Encouraging news from the crops was hard to run up with from any of the farmers who were in town Monday.

Mr. W. R. Whichard, living on the line of Pactolus and Carolina, was the first we asked and said that along the road from his house to Greenville he had not in years seen worse prospects. Beyond him out to Keelsville, Mr. J. R. Congleton told him, the crops are little better but nothing to brag on.

Mr. Fernando Ward said that with him, seven miles below Greenville, crops were very poor. They have had too much rain and there was another heavy fall Sunday afternoon which washed the crops badly.

Mr. S. L. Fleming gave about the same report for Pactolus section. Crops small with too much rain and too much grass.

Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, of Chicod, said the prospects, if anything, were even poorer than in 1889.

Mr. W. S. Wooten, Swift Creek, said that while the crops were small down there they had not suffered very much. There was plenty of grass to kill.

Mr. J. T. Worthington, near Grifton, also said the crops had not suffered a great deal from rain, but the weather for some days had been rather cool for them. He thought that with favorable weather there would be remarkable improvements.

Mr. R. L. Joyner, of Farmville, said that way tobacco was about all that could be bragged on. That crop is fine but cotton is mighty small.

Mr. R. R. Cotten, of Cottontale, (Falkland township) who is one of the largest farmers in the county and makes the weather a close study, said there had been by far too much rain, and gave some figures to show it: In March the rain fell was 9 inches, in April 12 inches and in May 8 1/2 inches. He takes daily observations at his farm and promised us some interesting points in future. He said that while tobacco was the best crop now, that also would be late because of so much bad weather.

Mr. G. T. Tyson, of Beaver Dam, is always in a good humor and fine spirits, it matters not which way the wind blows. He thinks the crops will work around all right and wanted to talk fine mules and tobacco warehouses. He says, "I tell you, we are going to have tobacco warehouses and the first one won't be long coming."

There were other sections of the county we wanted to inquire after but Monday was a busy day with us and we could not talk to all we wished. From time to time the Reflector hopes to give these interviews so as to keep its readers informed as to the general condition of the crops, and we will be glad for any of our friends to drop in the office when they come to town and tell us anything of interest.

Married.
On Thursday night, May 28th, 1891, near Greenville, Miss Ella, the accomplished daughter of Mr. W. H. Harrington, was married to Mr. John B. Edwards, of Scotland Neck, Rev. A. D. Hunter officiating.

The assemblage began to gather about 8 o'clock and soon the parlour was filled with the invited guests. Promptly at the hour designated the couples in attendance entered in the following order: Tannhauser, was exquisitely rendered by Mrs. A. D. Hunter.

Miss Bessie Jarvis with Mr. A. McDowell, of Scotland Neck.

Miss Sallie Edwards, of Scotland Neck, sister of the groom, with Mr. H. H. Wilson.

Miss Estelle Williams with Mr. E. T. Whitehead, of Scotland Neck.

Miss Lizzie Edwards, of Scotland Neck, sister of the groom, with Mr. O. W. Harrington.

Miss Annie Brown with Mr. H. E. Biggs of Scotland Neck.

Miss Susie Mayo, of Falkland, with Mr. J. L. Fleming, of Hamilton.

Miss Jennie Williams with Mr. W. H. Josey, of Scotland Neck.

Miss Madeline Higgs with Mr. W. B. Greene.

Then the bride, exquisitely attired in a faultless suit of China silk, with the groom came in and they were made man and wife.

After receiving the congratulations of their many friends the party repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous repast was in waiting. The presents were valuable and numerous. We were not able to get those in Scotland Neck but those in Greenville were:

Card Receiver—Miss Estelle Williams.

Rugs—Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Lang.

Lantern—Miss Susie Mullins.

Silver Pickle Stand—Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rountree.

Butter Dish—Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Ryan.

Gold Mustard Spoon—Miss Jennie Williams.

Hand Painted Plaque—Miss Mollie House.

Large Centre Table Lamp—Miss Mateline Higgs.

Perfume Stand—Miss Annie Brown.

A Large Silver Knife—Miss Bessie Jarvis.

Set of Perfume Bottles—Dr. D. L. James.

Fine Walnut Centre table with Mrs. E. A. Sheppard and Mrs. Fannie Joyner.

Large Silver Pitcher—O. W. Harrington.

Set of Silver Knives—W. B. Greene.

The bridal party took the North bound train next morning for an extended tour through the Northern cities, visiting Washington, City, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. On their return to Scotland Neck, where they will reside, a grand reception will be tendered them.

The Reflector extends its hearty congratulations and wishes them a long and happy life.

Honor Roll
Of Miss Joyner's school for the month ending May 22, 1891:

Mary Blow, Irma McGowan, Leta McGowan, Mary McGowan, Mary Alice Mayo, Annie Randolph, Myra Skinner, Fannie Skinner, Hattie Skilling, Elmer Barrett, Willie Evans, Jimmie Gladson, Charlie James, Lee Rawls, John Ivey Smith, Bruce Sugg, Harold Sugg, Deck Tolewsky.

Highest average 93, made by Elmer Barrett.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A Whole Village Thrown Into Excitement—The Postmaster Shot From Ambush.

On Monday night of last week about 8 o'clock the village of Grimesland was thrown into the greatest excitement it ever experienced. Mr. W. G. Stokes, postmaster of this place, while returning from his supply, was shot by some one who was concealed in the bushes near where he came into the road. He was struck by one glancing shot which did not cause any serious wound. Three shot passed through his shirt and five through his vest. There were traces of four shot on a small oak on the opposite side of the road. After the gun fired he asked who it was that had shot him and the villain ran off. Mr. Stokes had a gun in his hand which he was carrying to the store and tried to return the shot but was prevented by the bushes. Thursday morning there were steps taken to find out who it was. The place was examined and a track was found which was made by a run-down shoe. Ed. Telfer, a colored boy, was suspicious and a warrant was taken out before J. J. Laughinghouse, Esq., and Constable W. P. Buck with help made the arrest. A shoe was found under the boy's father's house which fitted the track. He was brought to trial and evidence was such that he was bound over to court. The bond was one thousand dollars which he could not give and was sent to jail.

H. D. M.

GRIMESLAND, N. C.

MRS. FANNIE JOYNER.

Is now receiving her summer stock of fine Millinery and Notions!

Also a nice line of Gilt and Silver Braids, Guites and Satin Fans.

We are prepared to sell goods cheaper and give better bargains than any other place in town.

We tried to suit the most fastidious, even if their taste be as fickle as the wind.

This season I have secured as Milliners Mrs. E. A. Sheppard and Mrs. M. T. Cowell, both ladies of large experience and well-known to the people of Pitt county.

Your patronage is solicited and satisfaction promised on every purchase made of me.

MRS. FANNIE JOYNER, Greenville, N. C.

JAMES L. LITTLE & CO.,

CASH HOUSE!

"In the spring a fuller crimson comes upon the robin's breast."

In the spring a lady woman must have a "brand new" dress.

Owing to the unseasonable weather in the early spring, we have reduced prices on some of our Woolen Dress Goods. Call.

We have the Cheapest

Line of China and Surah

Silks in the Market.

We have a handsome line of Ladies Slippers in both

Patent Leather and Dongola Oxfords.

SHOES.

We call special attention to styles, quality and price.

OUR LEADING LADIES' SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING GENTS' SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING BOYS' SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING INFANTS' SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING CHILDREN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING YOUTH'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING ADULT'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD MAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD WOMAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD CHILD'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD MAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD WOMAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD CHILD'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD MAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD WOMAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD CHILD'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD MAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

OUR LEADING OLD WOMAN'S SHOE IS A FAIR

