WANTED—A WIFE.

I want a wife to roast and toast, To boil and bake and brew; To pickle, can and make preserves And every kind of stew.

MAKING AND BREAKING CONTRACTS WITH PREACHERS.

J. A. Lincoln, in Watch-Tower. The REFLECTOR being a secular paper does not make a practice of handling the topics that belong to the brethren of the religious press.

HOW IS THIS DONE? 1. The preacher is called to hold a series of meetings, many times, and is not as successful as was anticipated.

Every honest man knows this is dishonest. The preacher's success and ability ought never to be measured by the number of additions. He may accomplish more without additions than with them.

2. Churches stipulate with preachers, induce them to move, take his time, cut off from all other business, go in debt because the brethren have not the ready cash to pay, and when pay time comes, plead hard times and poverty, as if the preacher was independent of these more than they.

This procedure drives the preacher from "pillar to post" with an injured reputation for debt paying, and even the better-to-do class of brethren will not credit him for necessities of life nor loan him money to pay his honest debts.

I believe that in nine cases out of ten where the preachers become sour, morose and despondent it can be traced to such unchristian conduct as this.

Brethren, the day of judgment will bring many hidden things to light. Of all the vows that can be made, those to our Lord should be the most binding.

At Poland, I. T., a Kiowa chief was shot and instantly killed by a cowboy named Doobier.

The river Barrow, in Ireland, overflowed and carried away many homes and destroyed crops.

It is stated that the bank of Paris has offered to take the Russian loan of 12,000,000 pounds sterling at 4 per cent.

The cotton crop of the United States for the year ending August, 1891, was the largest ever grown by 1,341,275 bales.

The lower house of the Tennessee Legislature voted in favor of continuing the convict lease system.

Reports from Redlands, Cal., announced that the Salton lake is still rising and now covers 288,000 acres.

Between 700 and 800 miners are on a strike at Bracerville, Ill., to secure the benefits of the weekly pay law.

Five thousand acres of hay land, studded with stacks, in Northern Dakota, were swept clean by a prairie fire.

James R. Garfield, second son of the martyred President, was defeated for a Senatorial nomination in Ohio last week.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

Johnnie Greene was the son of a poor widow whose husband went out to feed the hogs one evening and never returned to the bosom of his dear family. It was supposed by some that he was abducted and held for ransom, and by others that he was devoured by a cow, but which ever way it was, his wife was left with a mighty small farm and a mighty big mortgage drawing 10 per cent, and she couldn't waste any time tying back her dresses or frizzing her hair.

Had it not been for little Johnnie she would have given up in despair. He cut all the wood, brought water from the spring, labored in the garden, and when she sometimes broke down under her burden of grief, he stood before her and manfully said: "Don't let her get the start of you, dear mother. Shut your teeth and hang on. It will all come right, and you'll ride around in your own top buggy yet."

And then she was consoled and comforted. And she patted him on the head and said how glad she was that he had been spared to her. One day little Johnnie found his mother weeping as if her heart would break and when he demanded the cause she confessed that $200 interest was due on the mortgage that very day, while she had only 17 cents and a lottery ticket in the house. Old Stoneheart, who held the mortgage, would no doubt be there before night to say: "Gimme them interest or skip! What, no sugar! Then consider yourself skumped!"

"Mother, do not worry," pleaded the boy. "It willadden the end of your nose to cry, and besides old Stoneheart cannot disturb us. There is a hen on."

"My child, you speak queerly. What is it? Do not keep me in suspense!" "There is the mortgage, mother, and here is the discharge of it in due form from the County Clerk."

"Am I awake or dreaming? Child! child! What means this?" she cried. "Only a little surprise, dear mother. Last June Elder Davidson offered me a cent for every ten later bugs I'd kill on his vines, and during my spare hours, when you thought I was felling frogs and playing marbles, I killed 17,000,000,000 bugs and got my cash on the nail. Tomorrow we go over to the Red Clay farm, which I now own, and there will be four loads of new furniture on land before noon. There comes my carriage and driver now, and if you will put on these diamonds and look up about five bushels of gold in the pantry, we'll take a little whirl around the school house to show off."

And wasn't that real nice.

Go Slow, Girls! Scarcely a day passes without its newspaper story of some young woman who met a man so interesting that she thought she couldn't live without him, so she married him in haste and afterward learned that he was an ex-convict or a brute or already had a wife or two from whom he had separated without the formality of a legal divorce.

In such cases the blame is laid upon the man, who generally deserves more abuse than he gets. But girls, look at the matter seriously a few minutes and see if the trouble might not have been avoided if you had not been in too much of a hurry.

Marriage means partnership for life; decrees of divorce are merely exceptions that prove the rule. Would any man enter into a business partnership with as little knowledge of the other party as you seem satisfied with? Well, no—not unless he were a sweet souled lunatic.

Talk is cheap, girls; it can be made to order as fast as the tongue can run, especially when there is a pretty face to inspire it and two ears willing to receive it.

Don't fear that some other girl will get the fellow unless you secure him at once. A fish that any one can catch isn't worth throwing a line for. Play him to find out whether he amounts to anything. If he becomes impatient and dashes away, why follow Dogberry—thank God that you're rid of a knave.

Heavy frosts were reported in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

FRESH FUN.

Freddie—Let us break this cup. Little Johnnie—No; it doesn't belong to a set. She—He talks like a book. He—What a pity he doesn't shut up so easily.

If you don't give me a penny, said a young hopeful to his mamma, I know a boy that got the measles, and I'll go and catch 'em. First Messenger Boy—Come, let us go and deliver our messages. Second Messenger Boy—All right. I'm tired of sittin' down to.

Mrs. Bellows (to daughter Cora)—Why did you throw kisses at Mr. Jimpson across the aisle at church to-day? Cora (complacently)—I wasn't near enough to reach him.

Stranger—Gosh all fish hooks! The deuce you say! Why, I got mad at the editor and stopped that paper morn' five years ago, and supposed, of course, the consarn had busted and quit.

Was your elopement a success? Hardly. What went wrong? Her father telegraphed us not to return and all would be forgiven."

Ever had your life insured, old fellow? No; companies won't take me. Heart action too feeble. Nobody to insure my life for, anyhow. Ain't you married? No; heart action too feeble for that too.

George—Miss Courtney, the girl I used to call on before we were engaged, will sit behind us at the theatre to-night. Ethel—Will she? Just wait a minute; I think my high hat is more becoming than this toque.

Say, have you ever had your store broken into? No; you see everything is so very cheap here that if a thief wants anything he simply comes in and pays for it.

Blinkers—Hello, Winkers, I hear you married a woman with an independent fortune. Winkers (sadly)—No; I married a fortune with an independent woman. Nurse—Tommy, this is your new sister. Tommy—From heaven. Nurse—Tommy (in disgust)—I don't wonder they wanted to get rid of her.

Minister—Well, Bobby, do you think you will be a better little boy this year than you were last? Bobby (hopefully)—I think so, sir; I began taking cod-liver oil last week.

A young woman sent to a newspaper a poem, entitled, "Cannot Make Him Smile," and was much displeased when the editor sent it back with a line saying that she would probably succeed if she showed him the poem.

Mrs. Prentice—How do you always manage to have such delicious beef? Mrs. Binyhre—I select a good, honest butcher and then stand by him.

Mrs. Prentice—You mean that you give him all your trade? Mrs. Binyhre—No, I mean that I stand by him while he is cutting off the meat.

It's about the brothers. Your brother and mine gets his idea of what girls are from his sisters, so I want everyone of you to learn not to answer him quickly or indifferently, but to feel that it is worth your while to be as attractive, as loving, and as sweet to "brother" as possible.

Happy Beaters. Wm. Simmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble."

CHILD AND MOTHER.

O, Mother My Love, if you'll give me your hand, And go where I ask you to wander, I will lead you away to a beautiful land.

The Dreamland that's waiting out yonder. We'll walk in a sweet posie garden out there, Where moonlight and starlight are streaming, And the flowers and the birds are filling the air.

There'll be no little tired out boy to undress, No questions or cares to perplex you; There'll be no little bruises or bumps to cress, Nor patching of stockings to vex you.

For I'll rock you away on a silver dew stream, And sing you to sleep when you're weary. And no one shall know of our beautiful dream But you and your own little dearie.

And when I am tired I'll nestle my head In the bosom that's soothed me so often, And the wide awake stars shall shine in my dream.

A song which our Dreamland shall soften, So, Mother-My-Love, let me take your dear hand, And away through the starlight we'll wander, Away through the mist to the beautiful land, The Dreamland that's waiting out yonder.

Friday is not an unlucky day. Raleigh Chronicle. Lee surrendered on Friday; Moscow was burned on Friday; Washington was born on Friday; Shakespear was born on Friday; America was discovered on Friday; Richmond was destroyed on Friday; the Bastille was landed on Friday; Queen Victoria was married on Friday; King Charles I was beheaded on Friday; Fort Sumpter was bombarded on Friday; Napoleon Bonaparte was born on Friday; Julius Caesar was assassinated on Friday; the battle of Waterloo was fought on Friday; the battle of Bunker Hill was fought on Friday; Joan of Arc was burned at the stake on Friday; the battle of New Orleans was fought on Friday; the Declaration of Independence was signed on Friday. Friday is not an unlucky day, no more so than any other day, although a man sentenced to be hanged on that day may think so.

Some years ago two farmers of Polk county lost their wives by death. They naturally felt lonely, and in due time began to think a second wife in each household would be a most excellent addition thereto. They were neighbors and friends, and each had a family of children, including one or more grown daughters. After careful consideration, each took the other's daughter as his second wife. Through these marriages children were born to each. These children now reside in Polk county. What was the relationship between the men and their wives, and in what relationship did the children stand to each other and to the old folks? The old farmers were father-in-laws to the other and also son-in-laws. Who will carry out the relationship of the mothers and their children?

None of us know the power of temptations which may assail us or the degree of strength we shall have to resist them; we can neither fathom the influence of inherited tendencies nor foresee how future events are to shape our course. But we can all form a fair general idea of what is right to be done; we can all cherish a conception of a pure, virtuous and noble character, of just, generous and noble conduct, and strive to conform our daily life to our highest ideal.

Queer world! Queer people! Here are men and women by thousands suffering from all sorts of diseases, bearing all manner of pain, spending their all on physicians and "getting no better, but rather worse," when right at hand there is a remedy which says it can help them because it's helped thousands like them. "Another patent medicine advertisement," you say. Yes—but not of the ordinary sort. The medicine is Dr. Fiero's Golden Medical Discovery, and it's different from the ordinary nostrums in this:

It does what it claims to do, or it costs you nothing! The way is this: You pay your drug bill $1.00 for a bottle. You read the directions, and you follow them. You get better, or you don't. If you do, you buy another bottle, and perhaps another. If you don't get better, you get your money back. And the queer thing is that so many people are willing to be sick when the remedy's so near at hand.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings Here and There as Gathered From our Exchanges. The Baptist State Mission Board has decided to change the place of meeting of the next State Convention of that church from Raleigh to Goldsboro.

New Bern Journal: Mr. Wm. Gaskins has a long and prolific pumpkin vine in his garden. It has yielded 30 pumpkins, a number of them large ones. He thinks of taking them all to the Fair to show what one vine can produce.

Concord Standard: Senator Vance was at Vienna, Austria, on the 3rd of August, at which time he reports that he is rapidly acquiring the Dutch accent in talking and the Dutch palate for beer. The beer part is all a joke, but about the accent is true.

There is a man in Mount Holly, says the News of that place, aged about 35 years who can write a splendid letter, and cannot read a word of printed matter. He can take a clipping from a newspaper and copy it in a very fair hand but cannot read the printed matter.

Dunn Times: Mrs. C. W. Lee, of Averasboro township, has three children, the first was born September 1st, 1886, next day after earthquake. The second one just three years later and the third one just two years from the second birth. Every one on the same day which is rather a remarkable occurrence.

Raleigh Chronicle: The assessed value of real and personal property in Wayne county this year exceeded that of last year by half a million dollars. This county has had no extraordinary boon, and has lost many of its laborers by the exodus, and yet it shows progress and steadily increasing wealth. Wherever the tax assessors have been faithful, there is evident progress. North Carolina goes forward.

Goldsboro Argus: We regret to chronicle the death of Mr. John Hill, one of Wayne county's energetic farmers, which occurred Tuesday evening after a protracted illness, at his home in Stony Creek township. The funeral took place yesterday from his late home and the interment was made in the old family burying ground of the Hams. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn their loss.

Scotland Neck Democrat: Mr. S. W. Edwards had the misfortune to lose a good horse this week. He died of staggers. The Scotland Neck Mounted Regiment had target practice and their annual dinner at Mr. T. W. Fenner's farm Tuesday. They had a good time, a fine dinner and all went well with them. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shields found disturbance among their chickens a few nights ago, and upon investigation they found a large fat possum among the fowls.

Salisbury Herald: Saturday night, at Greensboro, a young man named Richard Melvin, while walking to his home on Asheboro street, was assailed by an unknown person who knocked him down with a fence post, rifled his pockets of $20, and left him lying apparently dead or dying. Some time later he recovered consciousness and succeeded in attracting the attention of two men who went to his relief and removed him to his home. His injuries, fortunately, were not serious. The police have no clue to the robber.

Kinston Free Press: The engine of Mr. A. McF. Cameron's saw mill about nine miles from here, broke all to pieces while being operated about two weeks ago. There was no apparent cause for the collapse. Mr. Cameron thinks the engine was weakened by the recent fire which burned his mill. Mr. J. E. Miller brought us a curiosity. It is a cluster of about 160 cypress balls as close together as they can be. Cotton in this section has been damaged, we hear it estimated, about fifteen per cent, by the recent heavy rains.

Raleigh News-Observer: We learn through Commissioner Robinson, that a capitalist of Ohio is making arrangements to establish a Pony Ranch in Western North Carolina and will raise nothing in the horse line except Shetland ponies. There is no better country on the globe for such an enterprise. Not only this, but the Angola goat thrives well in our mountain country. The native grass supply being inexhaustible, and the climate mild makes that section of North Carolina an open field for profitable investment in stock raising.

Durham Sun: Mack Best, a negro, was lynched near Garland, on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley railroad, Sunday morning at about 3 o'clock for an attempt of rape on a Mrs. Peterson, who resided near by. The shrieks and cries of the lady for help at once attracted the attention of near-by parties who ran post-haste to her rescue, only in time, however, to see the bottom of the villain's feet for the time being. He succeeded in making his escape but the promptness and vigilance of a posse of 25 men pursued the offender capturing him about ten miles distant, when and where he was speedily made to pay the penalty of his crime at the end of a rope, suspended from a telegraph pole. The people's verdict is that "they served him right. Let others take warning."

THE SAILOR'S HOME-NEST.

Her cheeks are wet and her blue eyes dim, And her baby upon her knee, She drew a long as she sighs for him Who travels upon the sea; The wild sea bird hath its nest on shore Which it seeks at the close of day, But back to his home may come no more My sailor so far away.

Ha, ha! her eldest, a boy, laughs out, As he models his pigmy boat, I'll sail the world o'er in a schooner stout When I am but once an adult!

Hush, hush! she cries, and around him throes Her arms, as if fate to brave, Contentment never the rover knows Who wanders upon the wave.

I'll marry a sailor lad some day, Her little girl softly hums; A sailor lad, so homely comes! If one to my liking comes!

Not you, as I am a sailor's wife! Cries the mother, more fretful still, You little madcaps, you vex my life, I fear you will make me ill!

Then the baby tosses its hands and feet, In a seaward-straining home, Papa tums home! tums home! it crows, In its prattling, imperfect speech, Sweet child! what a sailor's own you are!

She sobs, as she hugs it tight; For there at last by the out bar Is the well-known sail in sight. Then a triple rush to the headland's crest, Whence flutter their signals free, While still the baby, less closely pressed, Outstretches its hand in glee.

The anchor is out, the eager oar Dips, flashing, along the sea, And the coastwise sailor is home once more. With his wife and children three.

Quick Eyes and a Clear Head Needed. When a railroad company, says the Philadelphia Record, handles as many million tons of coal annually as the Reading does, the question of weighing it becomes a matter of some importance. Skill and long experience have solved the problem, however, and the bulk of the vast coal tonnage of the leading coal-carrying road in the country is weighed on four scales, and then they are not crowded.

The weight of the empty car is marked in chalk on the outside. As the car approaches, a clerk takes the number of the car and its weight, the weigher calls out the gross weight and the difference is the weight of the coal. The cars run as fast as ten miles an hour across the scale, and it is very seldom that one has to be stopped and brought back for re-weighing, although that is done when the weigher is at all uncertain about his figures.

The men at the scales can generally tell within a hundred pounds of what a car contains. As soon as they see the class of car coming, they know the number of tons it contains, and have the scale so prepared that only the hundred weights need be adjusted while the car is moving over it. Expert officials of the company can tell at a glance what class of cars should contain, and in looking over the weight sheet, any car appears either too heavy or too light, it is brought back and re-weighed.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," but it is not always wise to say that word to one who is suffering the tortures of a headache. However, always risk it and recommend Brady's crotone.

Special Notice.

In adopting the Cash in Advance tem for this year THE REFLECTOR will be continued to no one for a longer time than it is paid for. If you find stamped just after your name on the margin the paper the words:

"Your subscription expires two weeks from this date"

it is to give you notice that unless renewed in that time THE REFLECTOR will cease going to you at the expiration of the two weeks.

The Republicans have nominated J. Sloan Facetti for Governor, of New York. He was collector of Customs and a Platt man.

Secretary Proctor has been appointed by the Governor of Vermont to fill the unexpired term of Senator Edmunds, resigned. This will cause a vacancy in the Cabinet. It will be no trouble to find some one willing to take the place. Senator Hawley seems at present to be the winning card.

The State Chronicle, Raleigh, N. C. entered on its tenth volume on the 8th inst. The Chronicle is one of the best dailies in the State. The Democratic party owes much to it for the harmony heretofore existing in its ranks. It is always conservative and prudent, and has weight in Democratic councils. May it continue to prosper.

The colored Alliance has ordered a strike of all its members in the cotton section. They have issued a circular requesting that all pickers refuse to pick cotton for any one for less than one dollar per hundred pounds. The strike was ordered to go into operation on last Saturday the 12th. Col. Humphrey is at the head of this Alliance. He has white skin and sometimes passes for a white man. He evidently suggested this to the negroes and is responsible for the whole movement. He has been sneaking around heretofore pretending that he could unite the colored Alliance on all important issues of the white Alliance. What he may say hereafter will have but little weight with this Alliance. Those who will suffer most, if this strike is successful, are the bone and sinew of the white Alliance. The reason given for this strike is that there had been an attempt to reduce wages for cotton picking to starvation prices. This is all bosh. A larger per cent. of the value of cotton will be paid for picking this year than since the war.

We are glad to see that President Butler says that this strike is to be confined to the States of Texas and South Carolina. He says that the colored Alliance is not strong enough in this State to attempt anything of the kind. He furthermore says that should it reach this State the white Alliance would take steps at once to meet it and would be able to handle it successfully. We are glad to see such utterances from the President of the State Alliance. It shows that the Alliance in this State does not propose to countenance any such proceedings under whatever name they may come. Thirty-five thousand colored Alliance members, the number in this State, can never fix the price for picking cotton. We trust that the body of the colored Alliance in the State will not be foolish enough to allow any such demand to be made by their State Alliance.

We see from our exchanges that the University and all of our Colleges have opened with a larger number of students than they have before since 1860.

North Carolina is awakening from her lethargy, educationally. This is a hopeful sign. No State can be greater than its citizens. No citizen can be greater than his opportunities. The solution of many of the causes which retard progress in North Carolina lies in an educated citizenship. Ignorance is easily duped. It never suggests means to accomplish ends. It never aspires to greater things, but plods along with its surroundings. Not only can we see a brighter day for North Carolina in the increased number of students at the University and Colleges but this is demonstrated by the increased interest in public and private schools. More children have attended the public schools in this State during the present year than ever before in its history, and there are to-day more students at school in North Carolina than at any previous time.

Our Academies are flourishing and with experienced and skilled teachers are doing much to fill the higher schools. We do not mean to disparage the work of the higher schools in the State but we do believe that much of the hard work done in molding and directing the minds of the boys and girls in the channels of thought is done in our academies. They deserve to rank higher than they do, and are far more worthy of patronage than their rates show. Whenever we fill our academies with competent and enthusiastic teachers and crowd their walls with students we need have no fears for our University and Colleges, no other result than an increased patronage can be expected.

We deem it apropos to say just here, since our schools here in Greenville have now opened under the supervision of first class teachers, that there are at least a hundred boys and girls in Pitt county who ought to be in these schools that are not here. Can parents afford to let these favorable opportunities for educating their children pass unimproved? Are you treating your children right? Are they not more deserving at your hands? Can you afford for their sake to let them grow up in ignorance? By so doing you circumscribe their fields of labor and bring them to plains in which the labor of an inferior race is in direct competition with theirs. There is more necessity for educated men and women now than when your school days were passing. Conditions are very much changed and demand increased facilities for life's work. The man who recognizes this will find when his children are grown that he was wiser than many of his neighbors. Let the fathers and mothers of Pitt county bestir themselves and see that their sons and daughters are prepared to fight life's battles successfully.

No other legacy will be half so valuable. Increased capacities for happiness and usefulness have a value not counted in dollars and cents and are the best and most prominent gift which parents can leave to their children. If you are able to do nothing else for them make a sacrifice and educate your children.

COMMISSIONER'S MEETING.

J. H. Woodard came before the Board in accordance with order made at last meeting and remitted the amount overcharged for taking tax list and assessing property of Carolina township, the amount being $ which was turned over to the Treasurer and receipt taken for same.

The following order was then made: This Board having at its meeting in July, 1891, passed an order directing the Sheriff to issue to C. T. Savage a license to retail liquor at Ayden and it appearing to the Board that said license has not been issued, and it further appearing that Ayden is within three miles of Antioch Church, and by Chapter 327 of the Laws of 1891 the sale of spirituous liquor is prohibited within three miles of said church, it is now ordered that the order made by this Board at its July meeting in 1891 directing the issuing of the aforesaid license be and the same is hereby revoked, and that notice of this order be given to the Sheriff.

W. M. Lang made petition showing that he stands charged on tax list with an income tax of $500, which should not be charged as he did not give in any income, and asked that he be relieved from said tax on incomes. The Board ordered the necessary correction.

Ordered that the Clerk of this Board notify the Board of Supervisors of Swift Creek township in regard to their duty on a certain public road partly in Swift Creek and partly in Chicof township by giving them the proper notices and orders in the matter.

A petition signed by W. B. Proctor, J. O. Proctor, L. A. Arnold and 26 others asking for a new road from the Evans place on the mill road in a northerly direction via Ballard's bridge to a point on Black Jack and Boyd's Ferry road, a distance of about two miles, was read and the Sheriff was ordered to summon a Jury and lay off said road in accordance with the petition.

The following persons were allowed to list taxes for the year 1891: The Board of Supervisors—G. T. Day on J. A. Thigpen Guardian for Cobb heirs.

Carolina Township—W. L. Johnston, Adm'r of Jno. A. Moore estate.

Onitcod Township—Holvey Pugh, T. E. Cory, Wm Smith.

Farmville Township—J. M. Trotman.

Greenville Township—W. J. Bell, Cherry Ann Ward, Peter Harrington.

Pactolus Township—Z. L. Moore, W. N. Arebelle.

Swift Creek Township—Stewart L. A. Garrison.

License to retail liquor for six months from first of July granted to Johnson, Norcott & Co.

A petition signed by John Eiks, James Galloway, Stanley Arnold and 26 others asking for a new road beginning in the new road running by Grimes' mill at the Evans place to the Beaufort county line, was read and the Board ordered the Sheriff to summon a Jury and lay off said road in accordance with said petition.

A petition signed by G. W. Hardee, J. B. Edwards, J. S. Edwards and 21 others asking for a new road commencing at New Berne road near W. W. Tucker's out to Washington road near Phillips church, was read and the Board ordered the Sheriff to summon a Jury and lay off said road in accordance with said petition.

In the case of Miles Little against Benjamin Belcher and others, which came on to be heard before the Board of Commissioners on appeal from the Board of Supervisors of Pactolus township, which latter had rejected reports of the Jury and Constable of said township upon laying out a cartway over the lands of said defendants as prayed for in the petition of the plaintiffs and which had been ordered to be laid off by said Board of Supervisors; after hearing the pleadings and allegations on both sides it was ordered by the Board of Commissioners that the report of the Constable and Jury in laying off said cartway as reported to the Supervisors be confirmed and that the judgment of the Board of Supervisors be overruled.

The tax books of 1891 were examined and approved and ordered to be turned over to the Sheriff with the proper endorsements for collection.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Regular Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11, 1891.

The administration has through Secretary Tracy and Attorney General Miller, won a diplomatic victory, with which Secretary Blaine would doubtless be very glad that he had nothing to do. They have not only prevented the new Chilian government from demanding damages for the seizure of the steamer Atta, which was chased in the open seas on the strength of their opinions and against Mr. Blaine's advice, but they have prevailed upon the representatives of that government, whom they mercilessly nabbed a few weeks ago, to pay the expenses of the long and foolish trip of the cruiser Charleston, in return for having the case against the Atta of violating our neutrality laws, which able lawyers have said was no case at all, nolle prossed in the courts. This wily pair of diplomats are said to be proud of this victory, but it is one for which they should really be ashamed. They have simply taken advantage of the desire of a young and weak government to obtain the friendship of an older and stronger government to compel the acceptance of their proposition. Mr. Blaine, with all his faults, would hardly have been guilty of such a trick as that.

Representative Mills has gone to Ohio, where he makes his first speech next week. Representatives McMillin and Bynum have gone to Chicago, where they are to meet the rest of the missionary party, which is to leave that city next week on its tour to the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Harrison will have a Republican as well as a Democrat to appoint to the Interstate Commerce Commission, as bad health has compelled Judge Corty to resign.

Representative Catebings, of Mississippi, thinks the circular recently issued calling on the colored laborers of the South to increase their demand for picking this year's cotton crop, is the work of Republican mischief makers whose object is to make trouble between the planters and the laborers. His price proposed is excessive and unreasonable, being equal to about one-sixth of the value of the cotton. "The threat of a strike," said Mr. Catebings, "among the farm hands is not a matter to be lightly considered. Cotton is a perishable crop and when it is ripe for picking, the picking must be done promptly or there is a heavy loss." Secretary Foster loses no opportunity to boast of their being plenty of money in the Treasury to meet all demands, but he doesn't tell us already he has played his card to prevent a deficit. Every accounting officer of the Treasury was some weeks ago given to understand that the more they delayed accounts which involved the payment of money, the better they would stand with the Secretary, and the result is that very little money, aside from pensions and the redemption of the four and a half per cent bonds, is being held up on every possible excuse in order to let a little money accumulate in the Treasury for show purposes. The claim agents are wild over the situation, for they cannot get settlement on claims that have been passed as correct, on account of some quibble which has been raised by some Treasury official acting of course under orders from the Secretary. It ought not to be difficult for Mr. Foster to accumulate a considerable surplus if the policy of paying out nothing is to continue.

There is one Democratic official connected with this administration who has been trying without success ever since the 4th of March, 1889, to retire from office. His name is Moore, and he is Third Assistant Secretary of State, and a remarkably well posted man on international law. He was appointed by Mr. Cleveland, and as soon as Mr. Blaine took charge of the department he handed him his resignation, but it was returned to him with the request that he hold it until it was asked for. It never was asked for, but it was tendered again a short time ago, and this time it must be accepted because Mr. Moore has accepted the Professorship of International Law in Columbia College.

Speaking of the State department, the Acting Secretary, Mr. Wharton is very, very mad at Mr. Harrison, because he has, whenever he has desired to transact any business with the department since Mr. Blaine went away, done so through Secretary Tracy, thus ignoring the acting Secretary entirely.

Gen. John C. Black, ex-Commissioner of Pensions, is in Washington this week, in attendance upon the meetings of the board of managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, which are being held at the War department.

Democrats here regard President as an easy man to defeat for the governorship of New York. It will be sufficient for the people to know that he is Tom Platt's man.

Cooper's Warehouse Is the place to Ship your Tobacco If you want highest prices. New Home Sewing Machine for $35 at Brown Bros.

WANTED FOR CASH—Cora, Bee-wax and Hides, at the Old Brick Store. Brown Bros. have taken the agency for the New Home Sewing Machine.

Reduction—Parties calling for ice can now be furnished at 1 cent per pound. J. J. COVY.

Another new brand of cigars, El Mercado, just in Monday at Reflector Book Store. They are dandies for a nicker.

Mrs. Fannie Joyner is receiving her fall display of fashionable Millinery. A new supply of the C. B. aly Spirite Corset.

Try Cooper's Warehouse, Henderson, N. C., for the sale of Tobacco. He secures good prices for all sales and allows no one to leave his house dissatisfied.

It pays a man to raise good Tobacco; it pays still better to get good prices when it is sold. Send yours to Cooper's Warehouse, Henderson, and the good prices are guaranteed.

At the same place, Henderson, N. C., you will find Cooper's Warehouse selling Tobacco for the farmers and getting the best prices for them that can be obtained.

GRAND OPENING BREAK—The Central Warehouse, Tarboro, N. C., will open Wednesday, Sept. 23rd. Bring on your tobacco, as the management guarantee that every pound of tobacco will bring its value. Don't forget day and date.

ATTENTION TOBACCO PLANTERS—Cooper's Warehouse, Henderson, N. C., is now ready to receive and sell all grades of new Tobacco at FULL MARKET PRICES, and promises the planters of Pitt and adjoining counties that no market or house in or out of the State shall sell tobacco for more net money. Give him a trial.

TOBACCO—After a tobacco crop is housed the next and most important enquiry for the grower to ask himself is, when must I sell my tobacco to realize the best prices? Take warehouse circulars and read them, and you will be struck with the stereotyped expression of best market, biggest prices and all such expressions, but let us give you a pointer. Wilson market offers advantages that you would do well to consider. In the first place their buyers have no old stock on hand, no averages to reduce, and is in the field for the fine tobacco raised by the readers of the REFLECTOR. Wilson Tobacco Warehouse has recently been enlarged, and now claims the largest and best lighted sales floor in Eastern Carolina, being 95 feet wide 100 feet long, 52 solid skylights, and you will find the proprietors, Messrs. Pace and Woodard always at their posts and ready to serve you. They don't allow your tobacco to be galloped over, but they take a steady pace and get there in prices all the same. They write us they can present no stronger claim for your patronage than the very top of the market for tobacco. Give them a trial and be convinced.

Personal Mr. J. S. Smith is sick this week. Mr. J. T. Erwin is at Trinity College. Mr. E. P. Ford has gone to Wilson to reside.

Mr. W. H. Cox has been sick several days. Mr. J. J. Harrington has been quite sick the past week. Mrs. J. R. Walker, of Cary, is visiting her daughter Mrs. A. D. Hunter.

The tremendous new safe being put in the bank yesterday was all the attraction. Mrs. Annie Burch has been sick some days but we are glad to know it is now improving.

Mr. J. C. Lanier and family removed to Wilson on last Friday where they will reside in the future. Mr. C. W. Priddy reached home Monday evening from his Northern trip. Next week you'll hear him say something.

The last Quarterly Conference for the Conference year of the M. E. Church will be held to night and a full attendance is desired. Col. Harry Skinner leaves to-day for Concord where he makes a speech Friday at the Cabarrus County Fair. The Colonel is much in demand for making speeches.

Mrs. M. D. Higgs leaves this morning for Baltimore to purchase new millinery and fancy goods. The interior of her store has just been remodeled and repainted and she will carry a nice stock. Mr. Dean, of Henderson, representing the warehouse of Harris & Co. was here last week talking to our farmers. He had two mighty good things to talk about Pitt county tobacco and his warehouse.

Mr. J. J. Burgess, "Uncle Joe," representing R. A. Dobbie & Co. of Norfolk, is with us again, and will be keeping his jolly presence in and out among the shippers of this section during the cotton season. Our word for it he will get his share. Mr. P. G. Mayo, of Falkland, tells us he will be on the breaks at Greenville, and will come to stay. Peyton has had considerable experience in buying tobacco, and another good thing that he will bring along to this market with him is plenty of backing.

Mr. W. H. Jenkins, manager of the Alliance Warehouse, of Henderson, spent a day or two in this section last week. He is not what you might term a blunderer with wings, but as a hustler from wayback is decidedly in it. He can talk tobacco faster than any man we ever saw. He expressed himself as charmed with this section, and says he is bound to be the garden tobacco spot of the State.

The Goldsboro Fair is in progress. There is a warmer turn in the weather. A few of the firemen had a drill Monday afternoon. Bring a dollar to town with you next week for the REFLECTOR.

Nigger wild or possum. The combination passed by Saturday evening. Thanks to Mr. Walter Whichard for a box of figs brought us Friday. The young folks had a calico party last Thursday night which was voted to be a big success.

A colored man was arrested at Ayden the other day for putting obstructions on the railroad. Pitt county Superior Court convenes next Monday. His Honor, Judge Connor, will preside. Our Gritton letter was unavoidably crowded out this week. Much other matter had to be left out.

Tobacco warehouse drummers loom up thick. The REFLECTOR advertising columns tell you where to sell. See? The first man in Pitt county to pay taxes for 1891 was C. L. Tyson, of Beaver Dam township, who paid on the 5th. The farmers take up fodder when they can, but the days when they could not have been the most numerous of late. This early northern fruits are coming into market. Quite a reflection on the home fruit producers who ought to be shippers. A farmer told us Saturday that he is laying aside some especially fine tobacco to bring to Greenville at the opening break October 1st. A white man was committed to Jail Monday evening for carrying concealed weapons and refusing to pay the fine imposed by a Magistrate. We heard two men inquiring and calculating as to the profits accruing from a plug tobacco factory. That's the kind of talk, gentlemen, keep it up! If you think there are too many tobacco items in the REFLECTOR this week don't fret. We are a little bit warmed up along this line and they just had to get out. Greenville is bound to come. Next week a supplement will be added to the REFLECTOR which will give a considerable increase in reading matter. There never was such a demand before for space in our advertising columns. It is becoming evident that the business man who does not advertise gets left behind. A man who keeps the REFLECTOR among his reading matter said to us the other day: "Your paper has the best and most attractive display of advertisements of any weekly I know. It speaks well for the merchants of Greenville and is creditable to their enterprise." Here's the way the ball gets rolling. A large tobacco manufacturing company of Winston is corresponding here with a view of erecting its own prize house in Greenville and putting a buyer here. Our home people should be uniting and offering inducements for such enterprise to come here.

If the farmers of Pitt county want a good home tobacco market they must help establish it at Greenville. Remember the first sale of the Greenville warehouse will take place October first, and get to work for it.

Monday evening from Deputy Sheriff Evans that eight prisoners are now in jail. Five of these are awaiting trial at Court next week one for murder, one for fighting, one for secret assault and two for larceny.

Property owners have no idea how many applications come to the real estate agency for neat cottages that rent at about $100 a year. If a number of such buildings were erected tenants could be easily secured for them.

The merchants of Greenville should bear in mind that building up a good tobacco market here means largely increased trade for them. The more work for the warehouse the more they help themselves. Money is lost to Greenville every time a farmer carries his tobacco to another town.

Dr. D. S. Harman, the noted oculician who two years ago remained several weeks in Greenville, has opened an office in Hotel Gregory, Goldsboro, where he will remain a few weeks. The doctor writes us that since he was here he has been to Europe and taken another special course in his profession. His work and skill is spoken highly of by Dr. Hyatt.

Some merchants attest that they do not believe in advertising, when we approach them on the subject, but these same merchants hang out signs, put goods on the sidewalks and stick boards on the trees and fences. This is advertising, but not in near so profitable a way as putting it in a paper, and it also shows that the merchant has not enough pride to help sustain a home enterprise when it would pay him to do so.

Now here is a problem that presents itself: How can Greenville become a tobacco market without prize houses? Enough storage room for a few sales may be secured, but if buyers come here to the breaks and after purchasing largely should find that no place could be had to store it they might not want to come to this market again. Business men should look at this matter just as it is and see that prize houses are speedily built.

If the merchants will put their surplus money together and establish a tobacco factory to work off the crop which the warehouse buys, they will make a grand stride toward a successful market here. The more money that is paid out for crops and wages the more the merchants will get in exchange for goods. Gentlemen, we hope you will not let these things the REFLECTOR talks about go into one ear and out the other. They are said for your good and in the interest of your business.

The Difference. Pitt county was the first of any of her neighbors to go to any extent into tobacco culture, and the success with which it met here induced other counties to try it. Still Pitt is behind both Edgecombe and Wilson in establishing home markets. Greenville is just completing one warehouse, while Tarboro and Wilson have several and prize houses to go along with them. It is time our people were looking more to the building up of their county town. Pitt county tobacco has done much toward building up other towns in the last few years.

False Statements Carry no Weight With Them. The REFLECTOR believes in being truthful, square and honest, therefore does not blow that Greenville is the biggest town in the State, or that it is the liveliest tobacco market, or that it is the largest cotton market. Should we say so it would be read by people who know better, and they would laugh at such a display of ignorance. But we do say that Greenville pays as high prices for all kinds of crops brought here, and disposes of goods at as low prices as any town can show, and handles a pretty good share both in coming and out-going. So while Greenville is not the LARGEST market on the globe it is about as good a one as you will stumble over.

The Institute and Public School. The Public School Committee for this white district, accompanied by a few of the business men of the town, visited the Institute last Tuesday. The Committee had combined the Public School with the Institute for the fall session, and expressed themselves as highly gratified with the manner in which the work is progressing. The first room visited was taught by Mrs. McWhorter, in which was a primary class of about thirty-five pupils. In the next grade were some forty pupils taught by Miss Lucy Joyner. In the third grade were about twenty-five taught by Miss Bettie Warren. In the higher grade, Prof. McWhorter's room, were between forty and fifty. The pupils in every department showed that they were rapidly getting into the regular work.

The Principal, Prof. McWhorter, reported to the Committee an enrollment of 86 pupils for the Public School. The pay pupils numbered 68, a few of these also getting a partial benefit of the Public School fund. This made a total enrollment of 154 for the Institute. The boarding pupils numbered 30 at the Institute, with four or five boarding with families in the town. The music department in charge of Miss Minnie Caraway has 24 pupils. Edgecombe, Greene and Craven counties are represented besides Pitt. The Committee have cause for congratulation in the excellence of the school. Placing the Public School in such efficient hands and raising the standard as they have enables more people to get the benefit of it than formerly. It also goes a long way toward removing the prejudices that exist against Public Schools. Since the visit of the Committee several other pupils have entered the Institute, making a corresponding increase in the various departments. The employment of another teacher will be necessary.

New Advertisements. Attention is called to the notice of Creditors in the Tackler, Executor of Nancy C. Tackler. Brown Bros. tell you about their new stock of goods. They have also taken the 100 pay for the New Home Sewing Machine which will be sold at the usual prices. Give them a call for other nice goods or a machine.

J. A. Andrews has a new advertisement to-day. Besides having a large supply of the very best groceries at wholesale, he has a big lot of bugles and tin that were bought before the rise. He can give jobbers prices on goods and save you money. J. B. Cherry & Co. are just so busy receiving and opening their treasuries of new goods that they did not have time to write a new advertisement for this paper and tell all about what they are offering. But keep a watch on their column and be sure you get the very best prices that are going. To read their advertisement will give you an idea of the splendid lines they carry. They have the goods and want you to see them.

The farmers will miss it this week if they fail to read the advertisement of the Farmers' Alliance Co-operative Warehouse Company, of Henderson. This company is conducting one of the best equipped warehouses for the sale of tobacco that can be found. They guarantee to get the very highest prices that can be had and save you hundreds of dollars in warehouse charges. Send them a shipment right away.

Stop a minute! Say you've got tobacco to sell? Ballock & Mitchell, of Oxford, say they want it and will guarantee you the very top market prices on every pound sent to the Banner Warehouse, Pitt county. Farmers know this firm, and know that good prices and prompt returns was always the result of their tobacco being sold by Ballock & Mitchell. Their new advertisement to-day merits your attention.

The REFLECTOR suggests that the business men take cognizance of the first of October, and make it a red letter day for Greenville. To offer several prizes might help the cause along. We will start this by offering the REFLECTOR for one year to the farmer who gets the highest price for tobacco sold that day. Who else will give a prize?

FARMERS' ALLIANCE CO-OPERATIVE Warehouse Com'y HENDERSON, N. C. We guarantee highest prices and charges for selling much lower than those of non-Alliance houses, thereby saving the farmers thousands of dollars. We have no drummers. THE EASTERN REFLECTOR, Greenville, N. C.

THE CONSOLATIONS OF ART.

The play is done, and shadow lies Where late the empire of an hour Waxed great and waned before men's eyes And homeward I, with brooding thought Of art that bravely comes to flower, And soon is nought.

I dream of Art, remembering well The hopes it gave, that still up-soared, But one by one defeated fell— Cast out eternally from Heaven, Like those lost angels that their Lord From grace had driven.

So moved, to royal Westminster Business I come, and gladly find Those stately churches towering there, Whose walls that Milton saw, we see; Ah! were I, I could, like these my mind, Great praise might be.

Were strength like theirs that hold the night With solemn watch, though London sleep, To arm my soul with steadfast might, Then fear might end and hope be sure, Could I like them my vigil keep.

But they were built 'twixt hope and fear By men who took the passing day, And gave its moments heavenly wear; Many who built as if they were gone— Their art remains, and in it they Are greatly known.

So art is frail, but art is strong; And he who keeps the way His soul shall lead and sing his song, Or bids dead stone take life and climb— So yields his service for a day, Or for all time.

—Ernest Rhys in Macmillan's Magazine.

Deaths in Hospitals.

Even an ordinary death in a hotel causes a landlord great distress, while a suicide almost drives him frantic. "Do you know," said a hotel clerk, "what consequences follow a suicide? In the first place, the event is telegraphed all over the land, and every traveling man sees it. Nothing on earth would ever induce one of the traveling fraternity to lodge in that particular room. So the first thing to be done is to get rid of the old number of that guest's number. The number is disposed of, never to return, and a new number is placed on the door.

"The surroundings must be entirely changed. New paper must be put upon the wall, new carpet upon the floor, new furniture, new bedding, and then the domestics are instructed never to mention the circumstance of the death to any guest. A suicide always occasions an expense of several hundred dollars to the hotel proprietor, and many questions are asked of landlord and clerks for months afterward."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Smallest American City.

Many people have been told that Vergennes, Vt., is the oldest city in the Union. But they are misinformed. Vergennes took out her charter in 1788. Hartford and New Haven, took out theirs in 1784. Vergennes, however, can truthfully claim to be the smallest and the most quiet city in the United States, as she has a population, after 103 years of cityhood, of 1,773 souls, and covers a territory of only 1,200 acres.

Her boundaries are a mile and a half one way and a mile and a quarter the other. She has a mayor, a city council, a full board of aldermen and a complete city government. There are offices enough so that nearly every man in the town may have one. In this way the political squabbles and selfish struggles for power common to most cities are entirely overcome. There are offices enough to go around and everybody is happy.—Boston Herald.

The Largest Catch.

Telling fish stories over about the court house has suggested the great catch made by Uppinghouse at Canton many years ago. The time and the amount caught were discussed considerably, but no definite conclusion was reached until a few days ago Mr. Miller wrote to Frank Uppinghouse for information. The catch was made in March, 1868, near Canton. With one large seine—400 feet long—they penned the fish in a chute and caught them out with smaller seines. To one firm, Curtis, of St. Louis, they sold 125 tonnes, netting them over $1,000. This was by far the greatest catch ever made before or since on the Mississippi river.—Monticello (Mo.) Journal.

The Value of an Oculist.

In the early stages of the art spectacles made were rude and crude, the glasses very rough, though they rendered great aid to the afflicted. At the present time an oculist who understands his business can, by successive experiments, discover the exact defects of the eye and furnish a glass that will make the eye almost perfect. The perfection in the means of assistance is due to the experiments and inventions of Dr. Scheffer and Dr. Girard, of Paris. The latter scientist promulgated the idea and the former practically put the theory in operation.—St. Louis Republic.

Grow Two Inches at Thirty Years of Age.

That the period of growth is not limited to the legal age of maturity is true. A gentleman thirty years of age, connected with a literary journal of this city, two years ago was six feet two inches in height and is now six feet four. He is in perfect health and presents a remarkably youthful appearance.—New York Times.

A Large Turtle was Captured on a Farm near Lexington, Lafayette county, having "A. H. N., First Illinois cavalry, 1861," inscribed on its upper shell. The inscription was no doubt made by a member of that company while stationed in Lexington in 1861.

A Rare Air Indicator.

One of the many curiously devised instruments patented during the last few years is an apparatus for measuring the amount of impure air which may gather in a room within a given length of time. This odd machine "evolved" from the fertile brain of Professor Wolpert, of Nuremberg. It is well known that air is very poisonous to the human system when the carbonic acid gas in it exceeds a part in 1,000. In order to test the matter and tell exactly when the one-thousandth part limit has been reached, Dr. Wolpert has provided an instrument or apparatus consisting of a vessel containing a solution of soda and phenolphthalein, which every 100 seconds there emerges a red drop through a syphon, which is so arranged as to travel down along a prepared white thread about a foot and a half in length.

Behind the thread is a scale beginning with "pure air" (up to 0.7 per 1,000) at the bottom, and ending above with "extremely bad" at the top. In pure air the drop continues red down to the bottom, but it loses its color by the action of the carbonic acid gas; sooner the more there is of that gas present.—St. Louis Republic.

We Died Country Ede.

"I take a good deal to kill a man, does it not?" I asked, talking of electrocution and the tremendous force required to make that delicate yet tenacious machinery stop suddenly like a clock held by the hands.

"Sometimes it does," replied my friend the doctor; "and then, again, it seems as if they die abominably easy."

"I remember a case we had in the Harlem hospital. A man had fired three bullets into his abdomen with intent of suicide. Nasty wounds they were too. But Dr. Blank located the bullets and got them out, and then sewed up the intestines in several places, making a splendid job of it.

"For several days the man died freely, and just about the time you would have said he was out of danger he up and died, but from what reason he I do not only know, for in the autopsy we found all his organs healthy, and as for the wounds, they were almost entirely healed. There was no inflammation about the stitches save in one place, and that was so small and slight that it was scarcely worth mentioning.

"And that is the way with man. If you want him to die for his own sake and everybody else's he will hang on and on, tenacious as a turtle. On the other hand, he will often go off as if a breath had blown him into eternity."—New York Herald.

Mr. Weems' Curious Receipt.

An interesting character in American history is the Rev. Mason L. Weems, pastor of Pobjek church and biographer of George Washington. He was something of a romancer, and to his powers of invention we owe some very interesting stories of the childhood of the father of the country. The most celebrated of these anecdotes is that which tells how little George hacked his father's favorite cherry tree, and when taken to task about it nobly replied:

"I can't tell a lie, pa; you know I can't tell a lie. I did it with a hatchet."

At one time Mr. Weems was engaged as a colporteur. An incident which occurred during this time shows that he had a good deal of human nature, and despite his cloth, exhibited occasionally something of the old Adam. It seems that one of his customers, to whom he had sold a Bible, demanded a receipt for the money paid for the copy of holy writ. Mr. Weems construed this demand as an insult. He gave the receipt, but in so doing contrived to avenge his wounded feelings. The event occurred in the season of the summer solstice, and the receipt read as follows:

"Received, on the longest day of the year, from the most particular man in the world, the smallest possible price for the best book ever published."—Washington Post.

Horses in the Time of Homer.

The horses used in Homer's time were war horses. The warriors were drawn in chariots. The art of riding was known, but it is alluded to as something unusual. Ulysses at the time of his shipwreck "bestrode a plank, like a horseman on a big steed." There are reasons for believing that the practice of riding was much later than that of driving, and the myth of the Centaur, where, according to Shakespeare, "man is incorporated and dematerialized with the beast," probably originated at an early period, when the appearance of a man on horseback was a novel sight.—Chicago Herald.

Men with Beards.

What a vast difference there is between one beard and another! There is the long, untrammelled beard, broad and thick, which the owner caresses as if it were an infant. Men with such beards may, I think, as a rule, be trusted rather more than other men. Can you imagine a Venetian doge or a member of the council of ten without a beard? I can not. If you have seen a man of mark fondle his long beard during the process of reflection, you will be led to wonder whether or not his mind would lose its equilibrium if he were in the night to be shaven clean.—All the Year Round.

The Present Owner of Maud S.

Mr. Robert Bonner, the publisher, is the man who owns the fastest trotter. The prize is Maud S, who used to be the star of the late William H. Vanderbilt's circuit at Madison avenue. Mr. Bonner secured Maud S by purchase from Mr. Vanderbilt. Everybody who loves horses knows Maud S, and connoisseurs have never grown tired praising the intelligence, the grace, and the speed of the beautiful mare. She is the professional beauty of the wonderful Bonner stable. Mr. Bonner also owns Sunol, who surpassed Maud S's time for a quarter mile.—New York Sun.

Years ago, where a false tooth had to be inserted, the dentist put in a great clumsy plate, partially covering the roof of the mouth. At present, if there is a support to build on, we make a regular bridge, and cement it in position without any plate at all. In a week the patient forgets that he ever lost a tooth. More than that, teeth are even implanted. Suppose you go to a dentist and say you lost a tooth five or six years ago, but you want a new one implanted. He draws a hole in your jaw and takes a human tooth that has been extracted maybe months or even years previous to correct an irregularity in somebody else's mouth. He scrapes and cleans the other fellow's tooth and plants it in the hole in your jaw, and therein it grows.—Interview in Philadelphia Record.

An English statistician estimates the world's indebtedness at $150,000,000,000.
