

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR

Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WHEATLAND, Editor and Proprietor.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT GREENVILLE, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MAIL MATTER.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27th, '91.

Publisher's Announcement.

THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE OF THE REFLECTOR is $1.00 per year.

ADVERTISING RATES.—One column one year, $75; one-half column one year, $40; one-quarter column one year, $25.

Transient Advertisements.—One inch one week, $1; two weeks, $1.50; one month, $2; two months, $3; three months, $4; four months, $5; five months, $6; six months, $7; seven months, $8; eight months, $9; nine months, $10; one year, $11.

Advertisements inserted in Local Columns at reading rates, 7 cents per line for each insertion.

Legal Advertisements, such as Advertisements of Executors' Notices, Commissioners' and Trustees' Sales, Summons to Non-Residents, etc., will be charged for at legal rates and MUST BE PAID FOR IN ADVANCE. The REFLECTOR has suffered some loss and much annoyance because of having no fixed rule as to the payment of this class of advertisements, and in order to avoid future trouble payment in ADVANCE will be demanded.

Contracts for any space not mentioned above, for any length of time, can be made by application to the office either in person or by letter.

Copy for News Advertisements and all changes of advertisements should be handed in by 10 o'clock on Tuesday mornings in order to receive prompt insertion the day following.

The REFLECTOR having a large circulation will be found a profitable medium through which to reach the public.

The Wilmington Star has entered upon its 25th year. Bright, new, progressive, able and reliable, it goes without contradiction that it is the best daily in North Carolina. It deserves to live to celebrate its centennial, and on through the ages as long as the democratic party exists.

The Herald of Salisbury is now publishing a daily evening edition, beginning with the first of last week. It is a five column sheet, exceedingly neat in appearance, and contains as much news as many of the large papers. J. R. Wheeler and T. B. Eldridge are editors. They have both had enough newspaper experience to know what they are doing and will make the daily Herald a success.

A very handsome invitation received by the REFLECTOR last week announced that the trustees and faculty of the University of North Carolina request its presence at the inauguration of George Taylor Winston as President of the institution, which event occurs on the 14th inst. It will be an important event in the history of the University and State. The honors could not fall upon a man more eminently worthy to wear them than President Winston.

Lieut. Governor Jones, of New York, announces that he will do what he can to defeat the Democratic ticket in that State. He has not come out as an independent candidate. In fact it is said that he has refused to allow his name to be used by the Alliance as its candidate. This opposition from a man who has been Lieut. Governor under such a sterling Democrat as David B. Hill looks rather ugly. We will doubtless soon find him among the Republicans.

THE SOUTHERN INTER STATE EXPOSITION.

Baltimore, Md.

The Southern Exposition, which will be formally opened at Raleigh, N. C., tomorrow, is a notable event in the history of that section, and will attract general attention as much for the moral and political lesson that it teaches as for the industrial progress that it illustrates. Some thirty years ago the ten Southern States which are now represented in exhibiting the victories of peace at Raleigh were united in the effort to vindicate independence. They had at that time, or supposed they had, but one important commercial resource. Cotton was believed to be king, and it was confidently hoped that it would prove a potent factor in securing a speedy and satisfactory termination of hostilities. This hope was not realized, and in view of the varied and wonderful resources that have since been brought to light and developed by the conditions that followed the war, what seemed at the time to be the calamity of defeat must be regarded as the crowning blessing of its history. To appreciate properly the difference between the South of that period and the South of the present, it is only necessary to contrast the showing it would have made thirty years ago had it cared to make an exhibit of its products, with that which it is making to-day. Cotton, tobacco and fine stock would then have constituted its chief exhibits, and had not the travail of a great revolution come upon it, would have still continued to represent its highest commercial and industrial capacity. Now it can make a display that not only interests, but instructs and amazes the sections which were once thought to have the monopoly of the elements that are the basis of business wealth and prosperity. The one talent still remains, but a score of other talents, long hid in a napkin, to supply a scriptural parallel, have been discovered and pressed into active service. The boom and the boomer, with their exaggerated promises and overdrawn pictures, have of late hindered progress to some extent in certain of the Southern States, but they have not been able to do it permanent harm or to lessen the greatness and certainty of the wonderful reality. The truth is that, remarkable as Southern development has been in the last few years, the South is as yet simply on the threshold of its career. Striking as is the contrast between what it is now industrially and what it was before the war, it is as nothing to that which will be revealed by the future. Its possibilities, indeed, seem almost limitless, its promise beyond the power of exaggeration. With a vast domain that embraces every variety of soil and climate, and which is capable of producing nearly every plant and fruit known either to temperate or tropical latitudes; with splendid natural waterways in interior sections and seaports that compare favorably with any in the country, and with immense forests of timber of every kind, it has in addition a dowry of mineral wealth that in variety, quality and quantity is unequalled, and is certainly unsurpassed, anywhere in the civilized world. In fact, the South of to-day seems to present the realized El Dorado of romantic fiction, and if it is permitted to work out its own destiny without interference, the star of industrial empire must inevitably change its course to Southern skies. Competing interests in other sections already perceive this, and with singular blindness and folly have sought by political devices to retard results which they ought to see will ultimately redound to their advantage and to that of the whole country, not less than to the prosperity of the South. Happily these efforts have so far been foiled by the manliness and good sense of the American people, and the South is now able in the Exposition at Raleigh to show well its merits, the confidence of other sections, and to make an unanswerable reply to the schemers who have been seeking to arrest her progress by appeals to political prejudice and by such agencies as the Force bill. The logic of the argument that she makes at Raleigh is irrefutable. To words she opposes achievements, to charges and idle assertions, absolute and splendid results. Is she benighted or behind the age? The products of her mills and factories, of her mines and furnaces are a sufficient reply, a reply that makes the manufacturer and the monopolist of other sections feel, to say the least, exceedingly uncomfortable. Is the colored race oppressed and terrorized? The colored race answers for itself in the exhibits which it makes at its Southern Exposition and in the property and wealth which it is accumulating in all parts of the South. Tyrants and oppressors should be made of sterner stuff than the men who are thus helping the freedmen up to a higher level and teaching them how to reach the full stature of manhood. There is not much solace or encouragement in the Raleigh exposition for disturbers of the national tranquility. The evidence that it furnishes strikes a death blow to their malice. It proves that the heart and soul of the South are wholly enlisted in the pursuits of peace, and that her population, white and black, are working shoulder to shoulder for the general advancement. All they ask is to be permitted to carry out their own fortunes in peace.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Regular Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2, 1891.

When Mr. Harrison determined upon doing the "finger" act, in the hope of a favorable effect upon republican prospects in the State elections to be held this fall, he should have selected a country that was stronger than prostrate Chili, which has just passed through six months of devastating civil war. The threats that have been made against the temporary government of that country by the administration this week must result in making the United States appear to the nations of the world in the role of the overgrown school boy "bully" among a lot of little boys. It will take a great deal more than the reports of Minister Egan, who has made himself obnoxious to the Chileans by meddling in their local affairs to convince sensible and unprejudiced people that the present government of Chili, which certainly has enough trouble at home, would deliberately and intentionally slight the United States in any way, notwithstanding its knowledge that Minister Egan should have so far forgotten his position as to openly take sides in the civil war which recently ended there, and it is believed by those who are familiar with Chilean affairs that it will be fully shown upon an impartial investigation that Minister Egan has purposely exceeded his legal authority, with the intention of goading the Chilean authorities into taking some step that could be considered by the United States as an affront, and it is further believed that this Minister Egan has been acting in accordance with the wishes and instructions of the present administration. This is not a pleasant thing for a patriotic American to have to say, but appearances certainly indicate its truthfulness.

Senator Daniels, of Virginia, who has been making speeches in different sections of that State, was in Washington this week. He says there is no opposition so far as he knows to his return to the Senate. His present term does not expire until March 4, 1893, but his successor will be named by the legislature which will be elected this fall. It will not be the fault of the administration if the political machines known as "State associations" do not make the departments run out well in "voluntary" contributions for use in the important States this fall, and lest there might be some misunderstanding on the part of the people, it is to be hoped the administration views the efforts of these associations to compel them to come down with their cash, officials just a grade below cabinet officers have been put in charge of the various State associations. Sixth Auditor Coulter is the grand marshal of the Ohio association; he prides himself on being known as a "politician." The New York association has elected Gen. Cyrus B. Sey, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, president, and on its campaign executive committee are A. J. Davidson, Deputy Commissioner of Pensions; A. X. Parker, Deputy Attorney General, and a number of minor departmental officials, care being taken that not more than one from the same department. Thus every department is covered and no "voluntary" contributor escapes.

Nepotism and republicanism have long been synonymous terms in Washington, but a sensation was nevertheless created this week when it came out that three employees of the Pension Office had made affidavits and submitted them to Secretary Noble charging that they had been approached by the same son of Commissioner Ramm, who was some months ago allowed to resign his position as appointment clerk in the Pension Office when he should have been put in prison for having engaged in the selling of appointments and promotions under his father's name. It was further charged that they were promoted by his father if they would pay him a certain amount of cash. After these affidavits had been made and Commissioner Ramm had been called upon for an explanation that official had the cheek to ask Secretary Noble to dismiss the clerks who made them on the ground that they were engaged in a conspiracy to injure him (Ramm) and the Pension Office. It reminds one of the old law, "Did ever criminal think well of the law?"

WINTERVILLE NOTES.

Miss Mary McGloboon spent last week with Miss Penie Ellis, of Redalia. Several of our neighbors went to the association last Sunday at Great Swamp. Rev. R. D. Carroll left last week to enter the Baptist Seminary, at Louisville, Ky., to prepare himself for the ministry. Mr. Carroll is a very intelligent young man and we hope him much success. Death entered our peaceful circles last Sunday and removed from us Mrs. Lou Stocks, wife of Mr. W. H. Stocks, after a few days sickness. Mrs. Stocks was a good woman. She leaves a husband and five small children and one brother to mourn their loss. We extend the bereaved ones our heartfelt sympathy. Her funeral was preached by Rev. Fred McGloboon and she was laid to rest in the family grave yard Monday evening.

ARTILLERY SHOTS.

FORTRESS MONROE, Aug. 3, '91. Your excellent paper has been for some time a regular visitor at this Post, and those of us whose former homes was in your section of the State appreciate it and feel that we could not get along without it.

As you ask for correspondence from other points I give you a few of the happenings at this place. The duties of a soldier here are easily performed. It is true that much of their time is occupied with the different schools and drills at this season of the year, yet the boys have ample time to participate in the pleasures afforded them here. Out of the four hundred stationed here, at least one hundred are from North Carolina. And one who is in authority has been heard to say they make the best soldiers that come here and enlist.

Battery H of the 4th U. S. Artillery is almost entirely composed of Tar Heels. Two from Tarboro have been recently placed on the muster rolls, Privates W. M. Pippin and B. Whitehurst. Last week's hop was one most enjoyed for some time, the boys praising it very much, especially the two youngest, Privates F. L. Daney and W. M. Pippin. Fishing in Hampton Roads at present is excellent, and many of the soldiers participate daily in that pleasure.

It is thought there will be a change of Battery next spring. Some of those here will be ordered to other Posts and make room for those that have not had the advantages offered by the Artillery school. U. S. A.

There! the merry-go-round with its Annie Rooney hand organ has pulled up stakes and left. Let's all take a long breath.

The Register of Deeds issued 25 marriage licenses for September, 9 of which were for white and 16 for colored couples.

The advertising columns of the REFLECTOR always tell you which merchants have the nicest goods and which ones can give you the best bargains.

Rev. Sam Jones will commence his meeting in Wilmington on October 9th, day after tomorrow, and we suppose reduced rates will be made on all railroads.

We were shown on last Thursday a very large leaf of tobacco by Mr. F. G. Dupree, of Falkland. It measured 18x27 inches and was a beautiful mahogany.

The train comes in late about every other day now. This is a great inconvenience. The schedule time is none too soon to get your mail and answer it the same night.

The REFLECTOR costs only two cents a week to subscribers. Now don't every borrower and every non-subscriber in the county feel ashamed for not having his name on our books?

On our supplement to-day you will find five columns of reading matter and five columns of mighty interesting advertisements. You always get your money's worth in the REFLECTOR.

Our Jewish merchants closed their stores on Friday Oct. 2, at 6 P. M., and opened Saturday at 6 in the evening. On next Monday they will close again, it being Yom Kipper a day of atonement.

One of the REFLECTOR job office patrons received a letter from Baltimore last week complimenting the neat and attractive appearance of his letter headings. The REFLECTOR always does that kind of work.

The crowd at Great Swamp last Sunday was immense. Greenville was very much depopulated, everything available in the shape of horse flesh and a vehicle being brought into requisition, and even then there were many who had to count the crosses in order to get out to the Association.

No civil actions were heard at the term of court just past, the two weeks being consumed in trials from the original docket. It is not remembered when a court here did such effective work in clearing up this docket, nor is it remembered when a Solicitor had such success in prosecuting offenders and meteing out to them their just deserts. In the list of cases tried there were fifty-eight verdicts of guilty, only three of not guilty and one mistrial. It speaks well for Solicitor Woodard.

Can't the property owners see the demand for houses in Greenville? At least twenty-five could be rented out between now and January if they could be had. The real estate agency is being constantly applied to for them. Tobacco buyers and others cannot be expected to locate here unless they can get houses to live in.

Mr. Elliot, Greenville needs a hotel.

Col. Skinner, Greenville needs a hotel.

Capt. White, Greenville needs a hotel.

All please speak at once, gentlemen.

It was the editor who got sold this time. The other night he and the foreman were walking along when the former, happening to glance in the direction of the depot, remarked: "Just look what a red star!" A passer who had the remark said it was a balloon just sent up by Fisher's 10 cent show, and we felt cheaper than the price of admission.

We Have Them.

Just the things for the boys and girls. The Reflector Book Store has nice school slates for 3 cents, larger sizes 5 cents, a great big slate for 10 cents, a large tablet for 5 cents, good lead pencils for 1 cent, assorted colored crayons six in a box for 10 cents, hollow ball and sponge slate washers for 5 cents, slate pencils 5 cents a dozen, best ink 5 cents a bottle, rubber bands, blue and red pencils and many other things at low down prices.

Railroad Notes.

The REFLECTOR reporter picked up this batch of news around the depot the other evening. There are now two freight trains on the run between Weldon, Greenville and Kinston, one going each way daily.

The Coast Line office here will sell round trip tickets from Greenville to Raleigh, including one admission to the Southern Exposition, for $4.65, good to return any time before Dec. 3rd. Special round trip tickets, including one admission to the Exposition, limited to return in seven days will be sold for $3.20.

Be tickets for 1,000 or 2,000 miles will be sold respectively at $25 and $50. These tickets are good over any of the following lines of the Coast Line system: W. & W. branches, A. & R. N. & C. Mid. N. C. W. C. & A., N. E. C. & D. C. & S., Central, Florence, M. & A.

The Show.

Fisher's Carnival of Novelties opened up a week's stand here on last Friday night to a large crowd. The company is composed of capable people, and each performer is a star in his line. There is an abundance of humor and no part of the performance was dull. The juggling was of a high order and repeated applause was evidence of the fact. The contortion act by "Wango," was good and above the average. The jokes were fresh and kept things in an uproar. It is truly a bliss-extinguishing show. Mr. T. J. Larkins, an old mail, is first-class, and makes the girls think much of the horrors of single wretchedness every time he appears in his specialty. Johnny Mac, the comedian or char-coal blossom, is a dandy. He is called back every time he leaves the stage, and always has something new and laughable. "What 'tis" makes him so funny!

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued during the month of September:

Benjamin Ayers and Mandie Morris, William May and Florence Dunn, Henry C. Turnage and Alice C. Jefferson, B. L. Cooper and Fannie Newton, John Brand and Hattie Farmer, W. H. Evans and Eliza Dunn, Wm. T. Joyner and Salie Wall, W. H. Heath and Alice Campbell, A. B. Griffin and Jennie McGowan.

Colored.—Frank Dildy and Fannie Davis, Isaac Evans and Martha Stanell, James Barker and Lula Fleming, Isaac B. Davis and Susan D. Boston, William Barrett and Marina Johnson, Charles Daniel and Susan Edwards, Redmond Thigpen and Della Thigpen, Noah Cox and Rosie King, Thomas Little and Mandie Perkins, Henry Reese and Mary Jane Boyd, Abraham Little and Sophia Staton, Gabe Bizzell and Sarah C. Ewell, Edward Foreman and Francis Williams, George Sheppard and Matilda Barrett, Michael Phillips and Cherry Rice, Wm. B. Carr and Addie Randolph.

The Kibukoo Association.

This Association met at Great Swamp church about 4 miles from Greenville on Saturday and continuing through till Monday evening. A large number of ministers and laymen were present. The crowd on Saturday was large and on Sunday has been estimated that from three to four thousand people were present.

On Saturday the Association assembled at 11 o'clock A. M. The introductory sermon was preached by Elder S. Hassell, who was chosen moderator, and S. W. Outerbridge clerk. In the afternoon two fine sermons by Elders Andrew Moore and J. J. H. Mewborn were preached and pronounced by all as able efforts.

On Sunday the day broke in all its beauty, the genial warmth of the sun sending gladness to all hearts. Services commenced promptly at 10 o'clock. Elders Gold, of Wilson, F. A. Chick, of Baltimore, and L. H. Hardy, of Pamlico, preached eloquent sermons to an attentive congregation.

On Monday the Association met at 9 o'clock A. M. Sermons were delivered by Elders Adams, Gordon and Wooten. After transacting all necessary business the Association adjourned to meet on Saturday before the first Sunday in October, 1892, with the church at Conetoe, Edgecombe county.

THE NEW GOLDEN BELT.

Greenville Enters the Race as a Tobacco Market and at Once Takes the Lead.

Last Thursday was a great day for Greenville. It witnessed something entirely new for our people—the opening of a tobacco market. Interest in it was at its highest and all through the day throngs of people gathered around the handsome new warehouse. All seemed to realize what it meant for Greenville, and were bent on making the opening break a grand success. The evening before the break farmers began bringing in their tobacco and long before the hour of sale Thursday morning all the available space in the large warehouse was packed full of the golden weed and scores of loaded carts and wagons stood outside awaiting their turn to drive in. Enough tobacco came in the first day to continue the breaks three days. Pitt county already being famous for her fine tobacco it was expected a large number of buyers would be here to get a chance at some of it. And verily they came, Danville, Richmond, Winston, Durham, Henderson, Oxford, Wilson, Rocky Mount and Tarboro, all being represented by bidders.

Good prices were obtained and everybody was satisfied.

The REFLECTOR gives three cheers for Greenville, Pitt county and the "New Golden Belt."

Tobacco crowded in so fast that it was necessary to run double breaks on Friday.

Little like Sugg sold one pound for a birth day present and it brought ten dollars.

The first load of tobacco for the opening break was sent in Wednesday evening by S. H. Spain.

Frank Meadows, of Oxford, ran the sales the second day and kept up his end of the racket in good order.

Mr. Bullock, of the firm of Bullock and Mitchell, was on the floor buying extensively at the opening break.

C. W. Priddy put up five pounds Friday to be sold for the church; it was bid off by Col. Sugg for $1.05 per pound.

The books showed that fifty-seven different farmers sold tobacco the first day. They were not half who had tobacco here.

Ed Barnes, of Henderson, bought the first pile that was sold. He and George Elm were the largest buyers on the floor and invested largely in Pitt county weed.

The ladies took much interest in the breaks, numbers of them going out every day. The second day the auctioneer knocked off one lot of tobacco to Miss King.

We made many inquiries among the farmers during and after the sales and all with one exception declared themselves pleased with the prices their tobacco brought.

Andrew Joyner told the REFLECTOR that he had just been to several other markets and the prices tobacco brought here showed that Greenville was up to any of them and was just as good a market to sell on.

W. H. Jenkins, manager of the Alliance Warehouse at Henderson, ran the sales the first day and backed up the auctioneer in fine style. The second day he was a buyer. Jenkins don't get left every time, either, when it comes down to talking.

After all the sales of the first day were over several parties lifted Col. Sugg up on a tobacco hoghead and demanded that he give them a speech. We did not hear this but learned that he hurried for Pitt and "the new golden belt" from a lizzard.

Talk about talkers, J. Collin Neal, of Henderson, is the talkingest talker we ever heard talk. He was the auctioneer at the opening and ground up words and spit them out at such a lightning speed that it would keep kinks in your ears to try to keep up with him. Neal is a clever fellow, and everybody he met froze right to him.

After the floor had been gone over the first day the REFLECTOR put on sale two packages of one pound each picked from sample in its office and a one pound package of samples presented by Henry Sheppard, the proceeds of the three lots to be for the benefit of the church. Auctioneer Neal mounted a truck and put in some of his prettiest chinning in response to which bid came in at fancy figures. The first pound knocked off at $5.50 to W. D. Cothran representative of John B. Hutchinson & Co's Reams Warehouse, Durham. The second lot was bid off by W. H. Jenkins of Henderson at $3.50. Col. Sugg bought the third pound at $2.50. Later W. D. Cothran gave back his pound with instructions that it be sold again for the church with his compliments. The warehouse he canvases for is one of the oldest and most reliable in the State.

We are furnished the following by Mr. O. L. Joyner, the book-keeper, who wishes us to say that he will gladly make any corrections that are necessary. Below we give the names of parties who are entitled to the prizes given at the opening break of the Greenville Tobacco Warehouse and figures.

Mr. H. J. Hester is entitled to the store given by D. D. Haskett and the Richmond Store Co., for making the highest average on three grades with not less than ten pounds in each grade averaging over 38 1/2 cents per pound.

The prize offered by the Riverside Nursery to the one making the highest average on any two grades with not less than five pounds in each grade belongs to H. J. Hester, averaging 41 1/2 c. F. M. Smith sold 16 pounds that was brought in on the second for $16.50 which would have entitled him to this prize had it been brought in the first day.

H. J. Hester, is entitled to the REFLECTOR one year for getting the highest price for any tobacco, receiving $10 for one pound. Sold in the name of I. A. Sugg, Jr.

S. Quinerly is entitled to the Castings offered by A. B. Ellington for the one having the most tobacco on two floors—1,000 pounds.

The plov offered by Dr. J. Marquis, goes to O. L. Briley for making the lowest average $1.50 per hundred it being untied.
