TIANITY ABOLISHED SLAVERY

A Prelude on Licensing Laws Peuding in the New York Legislature-The Old Pagan Civilization Based on Slavery, Christianity on Freedom. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.-Before the sermon on "The Mistakes of Colonel Ingersoll" in Association hall this morning, the Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., devoted his review of current events to the discussion of the bill now pending at Albany to license prostitution in New York state He said:

A bill is now being pressed before the legislature at Albany providing that the state go into partnership with prostitution and set up state houses of ill fame. It is exceedingly difficult to discuss such a measure before decent people. MORAL VERMIN.

But if our civilization is rotten enough to breed vermin capable of concocting such a measure, it is time we looked the awful fact squarely in the face. If our lawmaking power has fallen so low that a man can be found among the representatives of the people traitor enough to introduce such a measure into a legis lature in America, it is high time respectable men and women faced such villains When the model or drawing is sent we advise as to patentability free of charge. with the righteous indignation of com-mon decency. The measure was born in the heart of a set of lecherous scoundrels, who wish to affix the high seal of the state to their vices and prosecute their careers of crime with immunity from disease at the expense of honest taxpayers. They want to sow the wind and let the state and their helpless victims, stamped with the brand of infamy, reap the whirlwind. SLAVES IN STATE HAREMS.

The design of the measure is to make a life of vice easy and safe for male brutes by confining the victims of their brutality as slaves in state harems under forced medical inspection. Are we ready for such a villainy? If so, let us have a thoroughgoing measure. Let it apply to males as well as females. Let there be two books of registration and equal license fees levied without regard to sex, and let there be a reward of $500 offered every woman who reports a violation of the male registration laws.

the core. It is all of the same piece. It is a device of the devil to deceive the elect, and he has done it with consum mate skill. The debauching of the public conscience through the license system has brought us face to face with such a bill.

How long will good people deceive themselves with the lies and sophistries of politicians? The time is come when you must face this license principle in all its hideous outlines-a compact with the devil, a partnership in crime! When the neonle God are ico aroused and do see this principle in its true light. they will rise and rise in their might and sweep face whole system into hell, whence it came and where it belongs. May God speed the day!

His little sister replied, "Why, it's to give the singers a rest, of course If you should enter such a church as this -and there are such churches-would this be a fair test of the work of the sermon in Protestantism? Could we judge of Protestant Christianity by such a church? A true sermon is worship, for it is the proclamation and reception of truth. What may be considered worship by one man may be perverted by another into the very antithesis. For nstance, a teacher asked a class of children the other day the question, "What does the word 'worship' mean?" Nobody answered. She asked one boy in particular if he did not know. He said, "I dunno." "Why," said the teacher, "why are you so dumb? Do you not know what your father does every night before he retires?" "Oh, yes," said the youngster. 'I know now. He goes into the pantry n takes a drink out'n his bottle." If you fessed Christian home, would it be fair to say that Christianity causes men to go into a pantry and take a drink before retiring? Such a process of reasoning is the height of absurdity. A man believes what he practices, not what he professes.

SLAVERY AND RELIGION.

Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.-John viii, 32. Jesus Christ was born into a world of slaves. The angels who sang their good news to the shepherds watching in the hills looked down upon the human race, herded in one vast slave pen. Jesus came to free the world; but how could it be accomplished? The world at that time labored beneath the triple tyranny of Rome, her brutal officers, and the paid tyrants that ruled under them, besides the traditions of a priestcraft which dated back hundreds of years. If Jesus had chosen force he might have freed the chosen people, and established for them a national freedom which would have been merely an episode in the history of a single nation. If he had enacted a system of laws, such an effort would have been a failure so far as freeing a race of slaves is concerned. Slaves are not made free by law? Man only attains freedom as he attains it within. Therefore Jesus chose the only plan possible by which a world could be free. He lived and taught the truth in life. He knew that man is free only as he knows the truth. He knew that when man knows the truth he cannot be bound either by institutions, kings or priests.

THE ONLY FREEMAN. The Christian is the only man who is really free. He has liberty to do what he pleases. He always pleases to do what is right when he works within the circle of his Christian life. He is higher than law and partakes of God's own nature, becoming a law unto himself, the law of love having swallowed all the technicalities within this universal domain. He is free from superstition, free from fear, free from the oppression of passions of life and the mysteries of death, free to shake off the mortal and perishable and rise to the eternal and the spiritual.

And yet Colonel Ingersoll has the credulity to say that "religion is slavery. Our fathers were slaves and nearly all their children are mental serfs. America is the only nation with which the gods have had nothing to do. We all know that the Bible upholds slavery in its worst and most cruel form." The man who makes such wild assertions as these and believes such stuff must involve himself in at least three irreconcilable absurdities. He must believe that truth is responsible for error and error's crimes, that the known facts of human history are false, that slavery is higher and holier and nobler than liberty.

IS TRUTH RESPONSIBLE FOR ERROR? First-Can we believe that truth is responsible for error? A man who prolesses a truth really holds that truth only as he embodies it in life. Deeds that contradict the principles professed are not of the principles, because of their contradiction. Deeds that contradict Christianity cannot be attributed to Christ. The bloody history of the traditional church is not of Christ. All this is a perversion of the truth taught by Christ. Jesus taught the world first that there is salvation for us taught the lost, hope for the hopeless, mercy for the self ruined, relief for the wretched, light for those in darkness, freedom for the oppressed, regeneration for the unregenerate. Without this principle array signification is for the civilization than their religion. Roman civilperished, perished of its own weight. It had nowhere within it a principle of reization was founded likewise upon slavgenerating life. Since Jesus taught the world, this process of salvation for the ery. The Roman world was a slave world. The highest prophets that Rome ever knew did not question the fact of slavery. The slaves of Rome were the weak and helpless has been growing in resistless power. The time was when history only dealt with the so called great and powerful. Jesus declared poets and scholars of the Grecian world. Roman civilization never went higher that weakness shall rule strength. than Roman religion. When the time came in the history of Rome that her my kingdom the meek shall inherit the earth;" and as that kingdom grows in history, we see the eye of the world cenon failed and one haruspex smiled at the sight of another, then Roman ion was rotten to its very core tered on the under masses. Life on the Stage for Women. A dashing, smart, unscrupulous wom an will outstrip twenty cleverer, handsomer, better women in getting a position, getting a salary, getting a success of notoriety. It is done every day, and no wonder the enthusiastic girl in front thinks it pays. Does it? Ask the dashing, unscrupulous woman in ten years, in five, in three. No need to ask her: look at her and answer vourself. I said to a woman once, an actress,

"Stage life is pretty hard on a good woman?" "Hard!" she replied, "it is impossible." I said to a man once, an actor: "Ella

R-(a mutual friend) is going to leave the stage because she says she can't keep respectable on it! What do you think of it?" "I think she is right, but it wouldn't do to say so." Why won't it do? If it is desperately hard for a woman to keep on her feet why not say so and let the butterflies, which after all are butterflies, and not earthworms, find some other brightness less poisonous to feed on! Many-I dare say most-pretty, weak girls would rather be good than vicious if circum-stances would help them. Well, let us tell them circumstances are not helpful behind the footlights. Let the amateurs at virtue, who shipwreck themselves and our profession, go elsewhere, where life is easier, and leave room to the peo ple who can endure as well as act. I know it is a widely accepted theory that one can't do both, but theories have their judgment day as well as men, and it is time for some kind of a judgment day here.

Let us say an honest life on the stage is a giant's task, and perhaps the giants will come and help us. At any rate, let us say it loud and frighten the butterflies .- Maud Banks in Ladies' Home Journal.

Extravagance in College Life. There is too much jingle of the dollar in the music at Yale promenade week. Everywhere one reads of the cost, and the large cost, of the various forms of entertainment. In the opinion of a good many of Yale's best friends, it's about time to shut down on the extravagance. It does nobody any good, and it does the university some harm. The splendid strength of Yale is in the democratic spirit that prevails there, which gives any boy on the campus the same chance and sees in a dollar only the value that is given to it by the character of its owner. As a general rule the boy there who had his fortune to make has stood better than the boy whose father had made it for him. Íf there ever comes a time when the fel-lows are sized up by what's in their pocketbooks instead of by what's in their neads, Yale will be a different institution from the Yale of old, and a poorer one, however much more money it may give her.

There should be a limit put on the expenditures and a discountenancing of the Ward McAllister notions before they spread through the institution. Time was when the boy there who could spend money without limit was ashamed to do it, and it was a very good time too.-Hartford Courant
