reconstruction days in which he figured so prominently. His is the only record in this State of imprisonment. He died never having been pardoned. He never, so far as we know, confessed his faults and in consequence was never enfranchised. After his retirement from public life he made a profession of religion and it is said lived a consistent Christian life. In his private life his acts were said to have been generous, kind and even noble. He was probably a better man in his latter days and though he may never have atoned for the errors of his manhood's prime, it is but charitable that we should magnify his virtues and touch as lightly as the facts will allow, those acts that brought sorrow and disgrace upon a life that might have been noble and imperishable. His life furnishes an example that may be studied with profit by the public men of this and succeeding ages.

The State Democratic Executive Committee met last Wednesday in Raleigh. Nearly every member of the committee was present and those who were absent were represented by proxy. The meeting was an exceedingly harmonious one and the best of feeling prevailed. Raleigh was selected as the place for the meeting of the State Convention, and the date was fixed for the 18th of May. The State officers will be nominated at this meeting and also delegates will be appointed to the Democratic Convention which meets in Chicago on the 21st of June to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President. The committee adopted a resolution requesting each county in the State to take a vote for the various candidates and appoint their delegates in proportion as the vote showed the strength of each candidate. This will give every candidate his full strength in the State convention. The resolution was only in the form of a request and is not binding upon the county conventions. This plan was suggested two years ago and is a fair way to get the strength of each candidate in the State.

It is said that Vice-President Morton will not under any circumstances be a candidate for the office. Whitcomb Hall may be coming home to accept the second place on the ticket with Harrison. Senator Hill is to make a Southern tour beginning on the 11th of this month at which time he will speak at Jacksonville, Fla. He is also to be in Georgia and will stop at and speak at many Southern cities as possible. This is all in getting up a boom for him may be. Senator Palmer of Illinois says his first choice for President is Cleveland, his second choice is Palmer. This is a little more generous than any other of the various candidates have been reported. It is hardly probable that Hill would be willing to reverse the above order substituting his own for Palmer's name.

Senator Allison has volunteered to give the information that Governor Bole will not be able to carry his own State, Nebraska. If the Democrats nominate him for President, the same gentleman will do the same thing as he did in Nebraska. In spite of the people out there say "Gov. Bole" should be nominated, all of us will expect it to be the President. The Baltimore Messenger's account has been purchased by Walter H. Page, formerly of this State, and now manager of The Evening Star, and Messrs E. M. Scarborough and T. P. Gray. It is said the price paid was $250,000. It has been devoted especially to the development of the South and has done much to bring the advantages of this section before the world. Its present owners will not allow it to fall below its past excellence in this regard.

Mr. Walls the contractor who built Dr. Talmer's big church obtained a mechanic's lien upon the same and then took action to have it foreclosed. He received judgment for $52,216. This will force the sale of the church by public auction. Russell Sage has the first mortgage on the church. The labor in building it cost about $400,000. The trustees of the church failed to raise the money which they expected to raise, and it has been a struggle to pay the incidental expense, hence the judgment and the necessity for the sale. Ex-Governor Holden died at his home in Raleigh last week. Until a few years ago he had been prominent in public affairs in North Carolina for the past twenty-five or thirty years. He had gifts—no one doubted this. As an editor few men have had more influence. Until he sought office no man in the State exerted more power in the party to which he belonged. He had been content to serve his country without the reward of office. He might have left a record far different from what he has. His was a checkered life. He figured in transactions there. His relations were probably created so much so that he had not the power to resist them. He had an opportunity which has never fallen to any North Carolinian to have made himself felt for good and to have gained the love and esteem of his country to an extent which has never fallen to the lot of any one. No man ever had such opportunities—no man ever so completely threw them away. It is not pleasant even now to think of short time ago, upon a bare newspaper print that the sewage of the Capitol was in a bad condition. And yet, year after year it leaves three thousand men and women—the employees of the Government Printing Office—in a building that has been described by sanitary experts as a dead-trap, and by architects and builders as a "fire-trap." Now this isn't consistent. One class of Government employes are not entitled to a safe and healthy place to work in, any more than any other class. There's good sense in these remarks, even in this year of retrenchment and reform in public expenditures, and it would be "good politics" for the Democrats to provide (what Republicans have neglected to do) for a new Government Printing Office building; it would emphasize the claim always made by the Democratic party, that it is the friend of the wage-worker.

The Democratic leaders of the House have been unfortunate in having important legislative plans upset by illness during the present session. It had been all arranged that immediately after the reports upon the three tariff bills—free wool, free binding-twine and free cotton ties and bagging—were presented to the House, the free wool bill should be called up and the tariff debate opened with a set speech by Chairman Springer. The reports were made on Tuesday, but owing to the serious illness of Mr. Springer the opening of the debate had to be postponed until next Tuesday, when Mr. McMillen will lead off for the Democrats.

Representative Mills is confined to his bed with a painful attack of erysipelas in his ankles, and his physician says he will not be able to resume his duties for a week or two. It is now estimated that the total amount of the regular appropriations that will be passed by the present House will be about $65,000,000 less than what was appropriated at the last session of the last Congress. That means one dollar less for each man, woman and child in the United States. Speaker Crisp says he proposes to allow the members of the House to do their own voting, notwithstanding the decision of the Supreme Court in favor of Reed's "counted quorum." A thing may be legal and yet not be right. "One year from to-day," said Senator Hill this morning, "I shall attend the inauguration of a Democratic President."

After an unusual amount of oratory had been poured out on the subject, the Senate voted on the Idaho Senatorial contest just as it was known from the first that it would vote—in favor of Dubois. Representative Sayers has had printed in the Congressional Record a table showing the unexpected appropriations for public buildings now in course of erection and the amounts required to complete them. A glance at this table will show why it is necessary to curtail appropriations of new buildings at this session.

ARTILLERY SHOTS. FORTRESS MONROE, VA. March 5th, 1892. Owing to the terrible weather but little work has been done at this Post for the past two weeks. Although the weather is disagreeable many of the soldiers are out in the evening attending the various places of entertainment. Soldiers dread not the wind and rain, nor would they hesitate to face the storm of the enemy's bullets, for braver men cannot be found than those composing the Artillery school. Especially would we mention those composing Battery H, 4th Artillery. A good number of them represent the best families in this country as one can readily perceive by their gentlemanly deportment. Doubtless this is surprising to some of the shallow-minded aristocrats of our country who believe (or pretend to believe) that the word "gentlemen" does not apply to soldiers, and no one will enlist in the service but a convict. How absurd! How disgusting! This truth, that there are brave men in the army. Where will you find a true or village where this bad element does not exist? In every instance where they are found they are cast aside by inexorable law. But men composing the army are looked upon by that set we have mentioned in a different light. They see the misdeeds of that bad element in the army and are ever ready to condemn the whole army. I repeat how absurd feeling exist? Were we declared how quickly these people would pray for protection at the hand of the men they now so readily condemn and despise. May nothing ever occur to cause such a terrible humiliation on their part.

Private Whitehurst of Battery H, who has been on furlough, visiting relatives and friends in Tarboro, N. C., has returned to his Battery. We are glad to see him looking much better. He was on the sick list when he left the Post. Private Ryan of Battery H has recently returned to his Battery. This soldier has been to Europe on six months furlough. The stormy weather has prevented a great many vessels leaving here and caused many to seek safety in Hampton Roads. They can be seen in great numbers from the parapet.

I am sorry to learn that so little interest is taken in the Greenville Guards. Having once been a member myself of Company B, I feel a deep interest in its welfare. Soon they will go into camp. I would be glad to hear that company B had won the laurels this year. As I leave this Post and the Army on March 8th, this is my last from this place. With best wishes for Greenville and your excellent paper, I am, Very Truly, SIBB T. J. DANCY, Bat'y, H, 4th Arty.

GRIMESLAND SPRAKS.

EDITOR REFLECTOR: As Grimesland has not been represented in your paper for quite a good while, I will try to represent it.

The rainy weather has cut off the roads to be in quite a bad condition.

The farmers are hauling fertilizers for their crops.

The goat in grandpap's teeth has quit glittering so bright, and the tone of Peck's bad boy's harp has quit sounding so loud, which makes Grimesland quieter than ever.

To Planters & Shippers of Cotton.

THE COTTON MARKET is lower now than at any former period in about forty years; this has been brought about by the unprecedented movement of the crop since September last, and the large accumulation of cotton all over the world. Many believe we will see an improvement in prices later on in the season, when the movement must be necessarily light; and if any of our friends, who have cotton, would like to raise money on same and hold it longer, we are prepared to advance them $20.00 to $25.00 per bale and hold it until May or June if so desired.

To Planters & Shippers of Cotton.

THE COTTON MARKET is lower now than at any former period in about forty years; this has been brought about by the unprecedented movement of the crop since September last, and the large accumulation of cotton all over the world. Many believe we will see an improvement in prices later on in the season, when the movement must be necessarily light; and if any of our friends, who have cotton, would like to raise money on same and hold it longer, we are prepared to advance them $20.00 to $25.00 per bale and hold it until May or June if so desired.

Personal. Mrs. L. C. Rountree is quite sick. Miss Maggie Langley has been visiting her sister in Washington. Mrs. E. H. Herne left yesterday for Rocky Mount on a business trip. Miss Gertrude Pittman, of Center-ville, is visiting Mrs. W. M. Moore. Miss Luer Cox returned home yesterday from her visit to Golds-boro. Miss Emma Potter, of Snow Hill, is visiting the family of Mr. B. F. Sugg. Mrs. Dr. Frank Brown returned a few days ago from a visit to Plymouth. Mrs. J. C. Tyson spent a few days in town with Mrs. J. T. Williams last week. Col. Harry Skinner is booked to speak at Charlotte, Shelby and Lin-colnton at an early day. Mr. Powell, who conducts the ex-press office under agent Moore, was on the sick list last week. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rawls went to Wilson last Friday to attend the funeral of Mr. J. R. Rawls. Rt. Rev. A. A. Watson, D. D., will hold services in the Episcopal church on Wednesday, the 16th of March. Jolly Ed. Barnes, representing Cooper's mammoth warehouse at Henderson, has been in town the last few days. Capt. L. F. Everett, of the firm of Norman & Everett, Norfolk, arrived Monday night. Many Reflector readers know of this excellent firm. Mr. W. H. White is opening a stock of general merchandise in the store two doors from the one occu-pied by his father. Mr. James Star-key is clerking for him. Mr. Benjamin Crawford, of Beaver Dam township, is ninety years old. He is the oldest man in the township and is still vigorous for an old man and able to do some work. Mrs. Barden, who was visiting her sister Mrs. W. B. Wilson, returned to her home in Plymouth last Fri-day. Mrs. Wilson accompanied her home and will remain some days in Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Julian Timberlake, of Raleigh, are spending a few days at Cottendale with the parents of Mrs. Timberlake. Accompanied by Mrs. Cotten they spent Monday night in Greenville, the guests of Hotel Macon. Rev. Redding Moore died Sunday near Farmville, at an advanced age. He was for many years a local preacher of the Methodist church, but owing to age and declining health had not been able to follow the ministry the last few years. He was a few months over 81 years old. That good and instructive preacher, the Rev. Mr. Stancill, of the Dis-ciples church, is making a fine im-pression in Wilson. He is a good preacher and a most excellent pastor and we predict that wholesome re-ligion will follow his excellent preach-ing, and a bountiful harvest be gathered from his pure and good and effective ministry.—Wilson M-r-zor. That charming young lady of Greenville, who is now visiting relatives in Birmingham, Ala., is at-tracting no little attention in the social circles of that city, as the fol-lowing clippings from Birmingham papers will show: A very charming correspondent writes me regarding a fair visitor to Birmingham: "I see my old friend, Miss Ella Monterio, is a success in your city. She comes of a brilliant race of women, being a niece of Mrs. Gov. Jarvis, of North Carolina, whose husband was Cleveland's min-ister to Brazil, and a sister of ex-Congressman Latham's wife. As the guest of Mrs. Latham, during the Cleveland administration, she was always a belle at the White House receptions, and all the New York and Washington papers were full of her beauty. Her sister was the most brilliant conversationalist I ever knew, in style very much like Ella, all in the amber Anglo-Spanish combination." Miss Monterio is in deed a success in our city, and I be-lieve is very appreciative, even after a series of Washington triumphs. An admirer said to the Spanish beauty at Woodson reception: "Colum-bus discovered America, you have enquired it." Miss Monterio, of North Carolina, has a wonderful mass of wavy brown hair, g eat flashing eyes and a form whose every movement is as rapid as electricity. The blue blood of a Castilian grandee courses through her veins, and she seems shot through with the fire of the Spanish sun. Over a ton of paper unloaded at the Reflector office Monday. The wife of Mr. Joe Henry Langley, of Pactolus township, died not many days ago. Attention is called to the notice of dissolution of the firm of Congleton & Tyson. Moses King, administrator of Peggy Cherry, has a notice to creditors in this paper. Mr. B. F. Manning died at his home, four miles from town, on last Wednesday. The mocking birds are making these beautiful days rich with their sweet melody. There was not a clear, pretty sun-shiny Sunday in February. Had you noticed it? A drive through the country will show many farms all in readiness for planting to begin. County Commissioners in session Monday. Proceedings will be pub-lished next week. Do you think a canning factory would pay here? Somebody might be looking into this. Whenever you know anything that is news drop in and tell the editor or write him a postal card. There was a general mixture of weather last Wednesday, with a few flakes of snow thrown in. Quite a number of extra trains are run on the road here. They come in nearly every day or night.

It looks almost like fall time to see the large lot of cotton in rear of J. B. Cherry & Co's store. The merry-go round has taken its departure, and now some people are waiting somewhere to go. Overlooking the first two days of March has been exceedingly lamb like since coming to see us. Evangelist Fife will soon conduct a meeting in Wilson. His date for Greenville has been cancelled. The electric lights went out last night and but for the moon shine Greenville would have been in total darkness. The College and Academy boys played some football last Wednesday evening, in which the former came out victors. The law that prevents the killing of birds does not go into effect until March 15th, and not March 1st, as many supposed. The residence of Mr. J. S. Smith in Forbessville is receiving a new dress of paint. Mr. Carlos Harris is doing the work. A little child of Mr. J. A. Whickard, of Carolina township, was pain-tfully burned from its clothing catch-ing fire on Saturday. The Teachers' Institute for Pitt county begins next Monday. Every public school teacher of the county is required to attend. The Sheriff says he means what he says this time and is going to have the taxes due for last year or will proceed to advertise land and sell as the law directs. As pretty a top buggy as we ever saw was run out of J. D. William-son's shops last Friday. It is one he had put up for his own use. Everybody admires it. She's my honey, I'm her bee, Give us a hive, And pay parson's fee. —Orange Observer. The skimmers caught quite a num-ber of shad the past week, some of them very fine. The price has de-clined somewhat and may get to poor man's prices yet. Sheriff Tucker is putting on his war paint. He is now making his last call for taxes due for 1891. After this call he is going to adver-tise the land of all delinquents. It is evident that enough empty flour barrels to ship all the truck raised this year cannot be had. Why would not a factory to make standard size truck barrels prove profitable? It cannot be disputed that Shel-burn has the neatest looking grocery store in town. He shows taste and care in the arrangement of his goods and keeps everything about him attrac-tive. Track laying commenced sure enough on the railroad from the Junction to Washington last week. It is expected to have the road com-pleted in time to move this season's truck crop. Our farmers should turn their at-tention more to the cultivation of rice. We have seen it stated that the straw alone is worth the cultiva-tion, to say nothing of what may be derived from the grain. If the farmer goes into his next crop resolved that another season will not find him spending money for sterna meat, corn, hay and oats, he will find himself with a much larger cash account a year hence. Rev. A. D. Hunter announces his purpose to preach on next Sunday night from Prov. 20:2, "When the wicked rule the people mourn." He lectures specially that the men of these parts hear what he expects to say. Owing to sickness the union prayer meeting for men was not organized last Thursday night. It may be ex-pected next Thursday night; and all men, young and old, who are inter-ested in the religious good of Green-ville and community, are invited to be present. The editor tenders his thanks to Messrs. Warner & Son, proprietors of Riverside Nursery, for a fine young pecan tree which they sent last week to be placed in his garden. These gentlemen are advocates of pecan culture, something in which every owner of a piece of land should be interested. Mrs. Fannie Joyner now occupies both rooms of the old Forbes store for her millinery and other business. Both rooms have been newly painted up and repaired. The large room to be used for millinery and notions and the smaller one for mantua-making. Mrs. Joyner will increase her business this spring. Last week the Reflector had some-thing to say about the hen being lazy. Sunday the editor spent the day in the country and going out to get his horse on starting home found that at least one hen was smarter than he had calculated on. This particular hen had climbed up in the buggy and left an egg. The Reflector heard it mentioned one day last week that during the coming summer two more tobacco warehouses with a corresponding number of prizes, would be built in Greenville. That is what the town needs. There is no reason why this town could not be made one of the best tobacco markets in the State. In their spare to-day J. B. Chery & Co. have something to say that is to the interest of every Reflector reader. Their buyer goes north in a few days after spring and summer goods and will buy at such figures as no one can undersell them. Be sure that you read over three times the teaching at the bottom of their advertisement. Take a Guess. Young & Priddy received quite a curiosity yesterday which is now being exhibited in their store. It is a candle eight inches in circumfer-ence, four and a half feet high. Gaudies will be made at the length of time it will take for the candle to burn up, and the person guessing nearest to the correct time will re-ceive a handsome present. Be sure to put in above all the names of those that will plant tobacco in your neighborhood and mail it at once.

Printed Stock of Shoes. NEW DRESS GOODS. In all imaginable shades, styles, qualities and price to suit all. Examine them and be convinced. I have now on hand and am receiving by every steamer large quantities of Ober's Special Tobacco Com-pound, Patapso Guano and Pine Island Guano. You all know what these goods are. No guanos ever sold in this country have made a better showing, and but few, if any, so good. I buy these goods very cheap. My expenses in handling them are very small. I am satisfied with a small profit, and it stands to reason that I can sell you the same grade of goods as cheap or cheaper than any other man. Come and see me before you buy. It costs you nothing to get my prices and find out what I can do and if I can't save you money you can buy elsewhere just as easily as if you had never been to see me. G. E. HARRIS. "They're After Me." Sheriff Tucker tells us the people have been very backward in paying their taxes for 1891. He has already settled with the State for the amount due from the county, but there is now due the county by the tax payers over $10,000. This amount is divided among the several townships in about the following proportion: Beaver Dam $400, Belvoir $300, Bethel $600, Carolina $100, Chicod $600, Contentnea $800, Falkland $1200, Farmville $1200, Greenville $3600, Pactolus $1,000, Swift Creek $600. This is too large a sum to be still due at this time of another year and the Sheriff says he shall proceed to collect by distress out of all who do not pay by the 15th inst., as advertised in the appointments published elsewhere in this paper. It is time the delinquents were paying. Everybody knows that taxes must be paid. At His Old Tricks. In a late issue of the Graham Gleaner we find the following about a gentleman who for several years lived in Greenville, and who appeared here in the same roll as spoken of in the reference: Next came the sensational temperance drama, "The Social Glass." Tragedy and comedy were conspicuous features. While all played their parts well, Bob Brittle (Mr. J. H. Shelburn) and Nettie Nettley (Miss Lillie Stroud) were the life and attractions of the play, and won many compliments. In truth they were irrepressibly funny. Mr. Shelburn made several happy hits that were greatly enjoyed. But so well was the play executed in its entirety that the audience manifested not the least symptom of unrest. Teachers' Institute. The Institute for the white teachers of Pitt county will be held at Greenville by Prof. E. A. Alderman for one week, commencing on Monday, the 14th day of March next, and all white public school teachers are positively required by law to attend continuously upon said Institute, and upon failure so to do they will be denied a certificate for the ensu-ing year, unless their absence be caused by sickness or absence from the county. The absentees need not apply for a certificate to teach. We hope to make ample arrangements for the accommodation of all teach-ers who report the first day of the Institute, and we will do our best to make it pleasant for them. Inter-esting exercises will be held every night. Several distinguished gentle-men will deliver addresses, among whom are ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, Hon Geo. T. Winston, President University of North Carolina, Col. Harry Skinner, Hon. C. B. King and Jas. L. Fleming. The public are cordi-ally invited to attend all the exer-cises. H. HARDING, Co. Supt. Pub.
