ALFRED FORBES, President
Tar River Transportation Co.

A New Enterprise.
Wishing to thank our patrons for the liberal patronage they have given us in the different lines of our manufacturing, we also wish to let them know that we are building Truck Barrels for Potatoes and would be glad to furnish those in need of barrels. We think we have as good and well ventilated barrels as will be found on the market or it has been so pronounced by those acquainted with truck barrels. We sell them for 25 cents apiece.
In lots of 1000 barrels 25 cents. As we have no idea of the demand we would thank those wishing to buy barrels to place their orders with us as early as possible so we may have prepared timber to build the barrels when needed. Those who do not give any notice of their order may not get barrels on hand when they need them. We are also prepared to manufacture cotton planters or to do any repair work on them or furnish any repairs. Also we can furnish on short notice any trimmings for dwellings, or anything in our line of manufacturing.
We would also call attention to our new style circular seat for churches.
Please address C. G. GARRETT, Winterville, N. C.

HOLD UP YOUR HEAD LIKE A MAN.

Well, what if you are in trouble, my friend.
Or have debts which you cannot repay
As soon as you wish? All's revens have an end.

AN APPEAL

To the Women of North Carolina.
Great needs prepare the way for great deeds, and the women of North Carolina have now an opportunity to prove this true by coming to the support of the lady managers, who are trying to raise a fund for the erection of a State building at the World's Fair in Chicago next year.

JOHNNY'S COMPOSITION—CATS.

Harpur's Young People.
The cat is a very interesting animal.
He is a small fur dog that meows, and has whiskers and several other things. He has four paws—two fore paws and two hind ones—and a tail. He has been known for many years, two of him having been said to be in the Ark, where he must have been tied up, or what would have become of the rats? Cats don't get to be cats until they are a year old, when they stop being kittens, which they are born as. It takes a kitten several weeks to get his eyes open,
if he doesn't get drowned before that time, and he scratches when he is mad. My father says animals used to be cats, but got their backs up one day and couldn't get them down again, and so they became camels. I never heard a camel meow, but I suppose they can, because they can do most anything, having seven stomachs and going
many days without water.

MOTHER.

When gruff old Dr. Johnson was fifty years old he wrote his aged mother as if he were still her wayward but loving boy:
"You have been the best mother,
and I believe the best woman in the world. I thank you for all your indulgence to me, and beg forgiveness of all that I have done ill, and of all that I have omitted to do well."

HOW TO DRINK A FARM.

Western Christian Advocate.
Bob Burdette gives this simple recipe: "My homeless friend with a chromatic nose, while you are stirring up the sugar in a ten cent glass of gin, let me give you a fact to wash down with it. You may say you have longed for years for the free, independent life of the farmer, but have never been able to get money enough together to buy a farm. But that is just where you are mistaken. For some years you have been drinking a good improved farm at the rate of hundred square feet a gulp.
If you doubt this statement figure it out yourself. An acre of land contains 43,560 square feet. Estimated for convenience the land at $43.56 an acre, you will see that it brings the land to just one mill per square foot, one cent for ten square feet. Now pour down the fiery dose and imagine you are swallowing a straw-very-patch.
Call in five of your friends and have them help you gulp down that five-hundred-foot garden.
Get on a prolonged spree some day, and see how long it requires to swallow pasture-land enough to feed a cow. Put down that glass of gin there in dirt in it—
one hundred feet of good, rich dirt, worth 24.94 per cent.

STANDING UP FOR HIS PRINCIPLES.

The Sunlight.
You have done me many a good turn, and now when I have a little spare change I want to treat you handsomely. Here is a restaurant with plenty of tempting things in the window, so come along." And the speaker, Cyrus Brent, laid a dainty hand on the arm of the boy, who like himself had just stepped from the morning train.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings Here and There as Gathered
From our Exchanges.
Union county is to have a new jail costing $12,000.
Col. John D. Cameron is preparing a handbook of North Carolina for the World's Fair.
New Bern Journal: V. R.
Wood shot an angle Monday near DeBruhl that measured five feet and three and one-quarter inches from tip to tip of wings.

THE DAUGHTER.

My little daughter grows apace;
Her dolls are now quite out of date;
It seems that I must take their place.
We have become such friends of late
We might be Ministers of State,
Discussing projects of great peril,
Such strange new questionings dilate
The beauty of my little girl.

DANCING.

1. It is nowhere commended in the Bible.
2. Although engaged in my men and women of God at times under the old dispensation, it was never sought as a pleasure as now, but was one of the ways that they praised God in the time of victory.
3. The sexes did not dance together as now.
4. The New Testament tells of but one case of dancing, and that in purpose is more like the dancing nowadays than any dancing in the whole Bible. This dancing, which was engaged in by the daughter of one of the wicked women of the Roman empire, resulted in the death of John the Baptist.

A Case or Compromise.

"Charles, dear," she remarked as she poured out his second cup of tea, "tell me about the dodo, won't you please?"
"The dodo."
"Dodo? Dodo? Well, really,
I don't know much about it. The dodo, I believe, was a species of waterfowl, now extinct, or nearly so."
"Is that why they are so expensive?"
"Ah! Um—I don't know about that my dear."
"But they are quite costly, aren't they?"
"Well, really, I can't say. I don't suppose they can be obtained at all, or at least not readily."

LEARN TO TALK PLAIN.

Here are some sentences which rival the celebrated. "Peter Piper's Peck of Pickled Peppers" in testing the agility of the tongue:
Gaze on the gay gray brigade.
The sea seeth and it suffices
us.
Say, should such a shapely each simbly stiches show?
Strange strategic statistics.
Give Grimes Jim's gilt gig- whip.
Sarah is a shaw sheveled soft snow softly.
Sic sella sea shells.
Smith's spirit-shank spit Philip's sixth sister's squirrel's shell.

WILMINGTON MESSANGER.

Wilmington Messenger: Capt.
W. H. Sholar, superintendent of streets, had fifty men out with brooms last night and was giving Front Water and Nut streets a thorough sweeping. The street sprinkler was also on duty and thirty-five carts were engaged in hauling off the dirt and trash as fast as it could be raked up.

KERNERSVILLE NEWS.

Kernersville News: The following suits, not heretofore reported, growing out of the Postoffice bridge wreck, with the amount of damages asked for, have been entered against the railroad company in Iredell Superior Court:
W. P. Coone, administrator of A.
Davis, $10,000; J. S. Ramsey, administrator of Rev. J. M. Sykes, Naomi H. Moore, injuries, $25,000;
R. B. McLaughlin, administrator of Ophelia P. Moore, $50,000; O. W.
Lawson, injuries, $20,000.
The suit of Geo. W. Bowley, $10,000 for injuries, was decided in his favor by the Supreme Court last week. He has another case of $500 for loss of baggage, which will probably be compromised.

CONCORD VOTED.

Concord voted a subscription of $75,000 to the building of the Concord Southern Railroad—390 votes for to only 19 against, out of a registered vote of 551.

THE REFLECTOR. Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WILSON, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27th, 1892.

Entered at the postoffice at Greenville, N. C., as second-class mail matter.

Publisher's Announcement.

THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE OF THE REFLECTOR IS $1.00 PER YEAR.

Advertisements—One column one year, $7.50; one-half column one year, $4.50; one-quarter column one year, $2.50.

Legal Advertisements, such as Ad. Administrators' and Executors' Notices, Commissioners' and Trustees' Sales, etc., will be charged for at legal rates and must be paid for in advance.

Contracts for any space not mentioned above, for any length of time, can be made by application to the office either in person or by letter.

Copy for Notices and Advertisements and all changes of advertisements should be handed in by 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning in order to receive prompt insertion the day following.

The REFLECTOR having a large circulation will be found a profitable medium through which to reach the public.

The last issue of the Burlington News came out enlarged from four to eight pages and wearing a handsome dress of new type.

The Wilson Mirror entered another volume two weeks ago. It goes without saying that there is but one Henry Blount, and his Mirror is indispensable.

The REFLECTOR is authorized to state that Senator Willis R. Williams, of Falkland, will be a candidate before the convention in Raleigh, on the 18th of May, for State Auditor, it being understood that Hon. G. W. Sanderlin is a candidate for Governor.

California had two or three earthquake shocks last week. If such happenings were to go on just at this time it might serve to frighten some of the newspaper folks away from the National Editorial Association which meets in San Francisco next month, if it wasn't that they are a set who are right hard to scare, even with an earthquake.

We see from the Washington Progress that there are two calls for the County Convention of Beaufort from different chairmen of Executive Committees.

Col. Harry Skinner spoke in Washington Monday and we hear that his speech just captured everybody, both Alliance men and non-Alliance men.

The primaries are to be held in this county on next Saturday. It behooves every white man who is a Democrat to attend these meetings.

The trial of John C. Davis, about whom so much has lately been said in connection with Fifth street Methodist church, at Wilmington, began in the Superior Court in that city on last Friday, Judge Winston presiding at the Court. The plea of insanity was made, and Judge Winston ordered the trial on the question: "Is the prisoner now insane?"

We are glad to see the following which we clip from the Chronicle of the 25th inst. The REFLECTOR trusts that by the time the convention meets in Raleigh in May there will not be found a man who desires to have anything inserted in the platform that will give any true Democrat offense, be he a member of the Alliance or not.

It is understood that Col. Polk is opposed to injecting into a Democratic convention of his State, political principles which he learns are opposed by large numbers of that party. This is a far more policy than to attempt to enforce them upon such a convention by a course which in no sense can meet the approval of those who would ordinarily be fair.

Mr. J. M. Mewborn, of Lenoir county, Alliance Lecturer for the second district, spoke in the Court House here on Monday. Only a day or two's notice was given of his coming hence a large crowd was present to hear him.

Virginia has a big delegation here working for the appropriation for the international Naval Review next year. An investigation has been made by an official of the department of Justice of the charges made by Assistant Secretary Nettleton against Superintendent Owen, but Secretary Foster is out of town and it is not known whether it is the usual white-wash or not.

WASHINGTON LETTER. From our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 25, 92. Mr. Harrison appears to have been brought to a realizing sense of his situation by the speech of Senator Teller, of Colorado, charging him with using his official influence to control the votes of the Representatives and Senators on the silver question.

Mr. Harrison appears to have been brought to a realizing sense of his situation by the speech of Senator Teller, of Colorado, charging him with using his official influence to control the votes of the Representatives and Senators on the silver question.

The trial of John C. Davis, about whom so much has lately been said in connection with Fifth street Methodist church, at Wilmington, began in the Superior Court in that city on last Friday, Judge Winston presiding at the Court. The plea of insanity was made, and Judge Winston ordered the trial on the question: "Is the prisoner now insane?"

We are glad to see the following which we clip from the Chronicle of the 25th inst. The REFLECTOR trusts that by the time the convention meets in Raleigh in May there will not be found a man who desires to have anything inserted in the platform that will give any true Democrat offense, be he a member of the Alliance or not.

It is understood that Col. Polk is opposed to injecting into a Democratic convention of his State, political principles which he learns are opposed by large numbers of that party. This is a far more policy than to attempt to enforce them upon such a convention by a course which in no sense can meet the approval of those who would ordinarily be fair.

Mr. J. M. Mewborn, of Lenoir county, Alliance Lecturer for the second district, spoke in the Court House here on Monday. Only a day or two's notice was given of his coming hence a large crowd was present to hear him.

Virginia has a big delegation here working for the appropriation for the international Naval Review next year. An investigation has been made by an official of the department of Justice of the charges made by Assistant Secretary Nettleton against Superintendent Owen, but Secretary Foster is out of town and it is not known whether it is the usual white-wash or not.

SUPPLEMENT.

GREENVILLE, N. C., APRIL 27th, 1892.

NO. 15

Coeeducation Demanded.

William Lloyd Garrison has great faith in the refining power of woman, it would seem from his address on coeducation before the Woman's Suffrage association. According to his idea, the separation of the sexes in college is socially unwise. The criticism that he would make applies to Wellesley, Vassar and Smith, as well as to Harvard, Yale and Princeton. The monastic system there obtaining helps to perpetuate injurious and artificial social distinctions beyond the college walls. The remedy which he recommends for undergraduate excesses among men is coeducation. To quote his words:

Throw open the doors of Harvard to women on equal terms, absorb the annex into the college proper, and as the night follows day scholarship will rise and dissipation fall by the law of gravitation. The moral atmosphere will find immediate purification and the daily association of brothers and sisters in intellectual pursuits impart a breadth of view which is an education in itself. Then the double and false standards of judgment will be abandoned. What is morality for Harvard will no longer be deemed destructive for Wellesley. The current philosophy of Cambridge holds that a man may commit acts and indulge in sights that would damage for life the reputation and prospects of a woman student.

Among Harvard's benefactors, how many generous and disinterested women are enrolled. Their gifts are ever welcome, but its degrees are not for female hands. In Massachusetts, where for forty years the struggle for equality has found its ablest champions, the prizes of learning most coveted are disdainfully withheld from women. I hope my children will live to see a woman president of Harvard college, and the thought of sex relegated to the monasteries and nunneries of the Dark Ages.

Egyptian and Irish Crosses.

The lord bishop of Limerick, Dr. Graves, who has examined the Christian antiquities remaining amidst the ruins of several of the great Egyptian temples, states that many of these monuments bear Christian inscriptions and are inscribed with Christian crosses. Thus the great temple called the Kameuseum, at Thebes, which has been used in part as a Christian place of worship, bears a Coptic inscription on one of the columns, with the figure of a cross, and on walls and columns of this temple a great many crosses have been rudely inscribed.

In the magnificent court of the temple of Medinet Haboo the traveler will see a score of columns, several of them bearing Greek inscriptions, and in the chambers on the northwest side of the temple he will see crosses designed to consecrate parts of the building which had previously been devoted to pagan uses. These crosses vary greatly in form, and the bishop calls attention to the close resemblance that exists between them and those on many of the most ancient Irish monuments. There are many examples of oriental crosses, he says, "with or without circles, on Ogam monuments in Ireland and elsewhere."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not a Bigger Man.

Eustis Russell, the heir apparent of Massachusetts, is a strict constructionist.

He took a very lively interest in the last state campaign, and, although he is not yet old enough to read the political news in the daily papers, he asked questions enough of his father and other members of the family to form a comforting, if somewhat biased, opinion of the situation.

His interest and excitement culminated on election day, and it was only after a good deal of persuasion and by whispering some mysterious sentence into his ear that his nurse could induce him to go to bed at all.

The morning after election Eustis was up very early. He came down into the dining room and sat there very quietly all alone. By and by his gubernatorial dad appeared.

He said, "Good morning, Eustis," but the heir apparent made no answer. Instead he got gravely up and circled about his astonished father, surveying him from head to foot.

"What is the matter, Eustis?" asked the governor uneasily. "Is there anything wrong with my coat? Is my tie coming up behind? Do you see any snout on my nose?"

"No, pop," said the son, in a disappointed tone. "But you ain't any bigger today than you were yesterday. Nurse said last night if I went to bed early I'd wake up this morning and find you the biggest man in Massachusetts. I think she fooled me."—Boston Herald.

Double Decker Cars for Philadelphia.

A traction official who has recently been to Boston, brought back with him a model of a double decker street car, a sample of the kind made in that city. The upper deck is intended for the use of smokers and that portion of the female community who do not object to the use of tobacco. The official who brought the model said that it would not be many months before Philadelphia would have a few double decker cars running on one or two of the principal lines.—Philadelphia Press.

Pity the Morphine Victims.

The victims of the liquor habit, or disease, are royal compared with the sufferers from morphine. They look down from an admitted height on the slave of drugs. They do not want to be classed with them. They are above them. The morphine victims, by the way, are the greatest sufferers. There is not a chamber of horrors in all the world so terrible as that dim hall at Dwight when the morphine patients are waiting for their injection. Splendid men, strong physiques, fair faces, but such hollow, hungry eyes; such roving, restless eyes; such fearful, mindless eyes. The face is wan and pinched, the fingers are twitching, the feet are constantly moving, the thought is distracted. You cannot talk with them. They will not follow you two minutes. They will move away and walk with frightened haste up and down the hall. They will hurry and prepare for the injection. They will crowd and quarrel for first place in the line. They are unstrung and shattered.—Cor. Chicago Herald.

Indian Tradition of the Flood.

There was not, if early historians, missionaries and theologians are to be believed, a single tribe of American Indians who had at the time of the white man's advent in the western hemisphere the least smattering of tradition concerning the life, ministry and sufferings of Jesus. But this does not hold good in regard to the story of creation, the Tower of Babel and the flood, many of them having traditionary history which almost exactly corresponds with the stories of these great events as related in the Bible.

One day Major Davenport, the government agent for the Musquakies, was telling some chiefs about Noah, the flood and the ark, when one of them interrupted him with "Hump! We know that long time. We was in canoes all tied together. We float on heap water. We send muskrat down one, two—many times. He dive, come up. Last he go down and come up with mud in his claw. We know water going down." This was all the information Mr. Davenport could elicit from the dusky seer.—St. Louis Republic.

Beauty Before Health.

Dr. Louise Fiske Bryson reverses the theory of health as a means of beauty and advocates beauty as a means of health. She affirms that systematic efforts to be beautiful will insure a fair degree of health, and that happiness is the best safeguard against vice. Dr. Bryson says that the prayer of the New York child, "Lord, make us very stylish," is an aspiration based upon sound scientific principles and is worthy of commendation.

"What is it?" said the little doctor, in speaking on this subject a few days since. "What is it that makes such a difference between one woman and another—an intangible, indefinable something which will make a girl of indefinite traits and indifferent features infinitely more attractive than many others of faultless features and innumerable strong points? It is the quality popularly known as style.

"It is the outward and visible sign of an inward and reserve force. Care of the body, the feet, the complexion are all necessary to secure this outward attractiveness, and the expression of the face must also be cultivated by a constant preference of higher thoughts over lower ones, for this is the essence of intellectual living and can be secured by all.

"I would sum up the great secrets of beauty and therefore of health," said Dr. Bryson, "as follows:

"Moderation in eating and drinking; short hours of labor and study; regularity in exercise and rest; cleanliness and, above all, equanimity of temper and equality of temperature. To be good looking and to be physically well one must in general be happy. To be happy is a duty, just as style is a duty, and both are in a great measure an affair of intellect and management. The ardent pursuit of good looks sums up the best there is in hygiene, and is a legitimate means of health."

"Here is something to think about. Is it not the duty of every woman to make a study of herself, discover her strong points and make the very most of them?

Education and Ethics.

From the side of religion many protests have been made against the present system of popular education. The clergy of the different churches cannot help thinking that at least the more important doctrines of the Christian faith should be officially taught; and they draw most discouraging pictures of what the moral future of the youth of this country will be if their counsels are not heeded. All sound and successful moral teaching, they contend, must repose upon a basis of theology, and to confine ethical teaching to the region of the natural is to deprive it of all warrant, of all authority, of all coercive power.

If these views were correct, it would be difficult to see how the weakness of our schools on the moral side could ever be remedied, for nothing is more certain than that any attempt to teach theology in them would be predestined failure. The people (or some people) will pay for theology in the pulpit, but they are not willing to pay for it in the schools, and have shown in most unmistakable ways that they do not want it there. The question, then, is: Shall all attempts at moral teaching in the public school be abandoned, seeing that it cannot be administered as an adjunct of theology, or shall a brave effort be made to give it an independent status of its own, a fair chance to show what it can accomplish when conducted on purely natural lines?—Popular Science Monthly.

Getting Rid of an Office Seeker.

Alexander H. H. Stuart, who lately died at Stanton, Va., secretary of the interior under President Fillmore, used to tell the following good story of how he got rid of an office seeker shortly after assuming the office. Said he: "I was very much annoyed by a persistent applicant for the post of messenger. The man came in regularly every day for several weeks, until he became an unbearable bore. Finally one day after the man had gone out I asked the messenger then in office if he knew what that man was after. He said 'No, sir.' 'Well,' said I, 'he wants your place, and if I ever see him again he shall have it. I never saw the man again.'"—Washington Post.

One Merchant's Bold Stroke.

This story is told of one of the leading dry goods men of New York: He was carrying a heavy stock of fine millinery goods when the round topped derby hat for women became suddenly fashionable. The market was flooded with them, and they were regarded as the only thing to be worn on the head. This merchant foresaw a great loss on his stock of millinery, and decided to prevent it. He first bought up all the derby hats he could and then advertised them extensively, offering them for sale at ridiculously low prices.

The result was that the derby fell into disfavor among fashionable women at once, and he saved his market for his more expensive goods. It is by strokes such as this and the careful watching of the market and feeling of the popular pulse that fortunes are made by the few extremely successful merchants.—Brooklyn Life.

Presbyterian Meeting. Rev. J. M. Rose, Presbyterian Evangelist, arrived on Monday evening's train and last night preached in Elliott Hall. Considering the lateness of the train and inclemency of the weather the congregation was good in number. Mr. Rose preached an excellent sermon that left its impress upon his hearers. During the week he will hold services twice each day, at 10 A. M. and 8 P. M. All Christians of the community should interest themselves in the success of the meeting and labor together for the conversion of souls.

Keep Out of Frauds. Those persons here interested in the Oxford Land and Improvement Company held a meeting Monday night to take steps to send a representative to the meeting of the directors of the company in Oxford to-day. Mr. C. M. Bernard was selected as the representative and left yesterday for Oxford. The REFLECTOR discovered eighteen months ago that the Oxford Land and Improvement Company was composed largely of humbuggers and swindlers. It learned some of our people to keep their money at home next week.

Mad Dog. A mad dog caused much excitement in town last Wednesday morning. The dog came from some where up the Farmville road and passed through Pitt street to the bridge, going across the latter and disappearing. Near the office of Drs. O'Hagan & Brown the dog severely bit a colored woman, and was also known to bite two other dogs before getting out of town. The bitten dogs were promptly killed. Next day subscriptions were taken to carry the woman off for treatment. Since the occurrence everybody is on the alert to give all dogs a safe distance.

Third Ward. Registrar, B. F. Tyson. Poll Holders, W. B. James and Moses King.

Tell Us About It. It is sometimes called to the attention of the editor when too late to make a note of, that people were visiting in town at a certain time whose names did not appear in the REFLECTOR personal column. In a town the size of Greenville such things are apt to occur unless those of our citizens who have company will in some way let the editor know it. It is impossible for us to know every person who comes and goes, and can only print the names of those which come to our knowledge. How easy it would be for every person, knowing of a personal item or any matter of news to tell it to the editor when he is passing or to call by the office and tell it. We always appreciate such items given us by any one. In fact this is the way the home paper could be made what it ought to be—a paper with all the news. Now don't be too modest to tell us if you have guests, or any other item you may know of.

Ward Meetings. The second and third wards, the only two in which the Democrats take any interest, held meetings last Friday night to nominate candidates for Councilmen, and everything passed off in the best of order.

The second ward met in the Court House and organized by electing G. B. King chairman, and Zeno Moore and D. J. Whitted secretaries. On the first ballot S. T. Hooker received a majority of the votes cast, and Charles Skinner received a majority on the second ballot, whereupon they were duly declared the nominees of the convention. G. B. King was elected member of the Executive Committee for the second ward.

The meeting for the third ward was held in the Mayor's office, and organized by electing E. A. Moye chairman, and W. F. Burch secretary. Only one ballot was taken in this meeting, M. R. Lang and S. H. Shelburn receiving a majority of the votes cast and were duly declared the nominees of the convention. A. L. Blow was elected member of the Executive Committee for this ward.

Pactolus Points. EDITOR REFLECTOR:—It has been such a long time since an article from this section appeared in your newsy paper, I will send you a few items that the outside world may know that our little village is neither dead nor sleeping.

We are now connected in a transportation line by railroad. Those building and superintending its construction say it is one of the best road beds in the State. Track laying and surfacing has been completed within two miles of Pactolus. Did you ever visit one of the penitentiary camps? If you never did it would be a treat, and show you what a perfect system of camping they have. Camp Hamlet, situated close by the writer, is a splendid site and nicely fitted up, and is presided over by J. N. Hamlet, a man eminently fitted for the place, with a well selected corps of assistants.

The farms are right much which hurt, owing to the recent frosts which burnt the corn and potatoes that were up very badly. But still they have to stick and with pluck fight the battle with hard times, poor crops and small prices.

There was a fish fry at Yankee Hall on Easter Monday, 18th, presided over by Misses Nannie Bagwell and Rena R. Fleming and Mes. J. R. Satterthwaite, G. H. Little and J. R. Overton. A good time was had by those who participated.

Very little cotton will be planted in this section, potatoes and rice taking its place, and more corn than has been usually planted. Store more. Now.

Tax Levy.

At their last meeting the Board of Town Councilmen made the following tax levy for the coming year:

Opera house or hall $25 per year. Riding gallery $5 per year. Banks $100 per year.

Married. On last Wednesday evening, 20th, at the residence of Mrs. M. V. Forbes, three miles above Greenville, Mr. D. S. Spain, a prosperous young farmer of Belvoir township, was married to Miss Fannie R. Johnston, Rev. J. L. Winfield officiating. They were attended by the following couples: Mr. J. S. Spain and Miss Belle Johnston, Mr. John Riels and Miss Anna E. Spain, Mr. John Johnston and Miss Lizzie Spain, Mr. L. F. Evans and Miss Claud Spain, Mr. L. H. Rountree and Miss Lillian Nobles, Mr. S. A. Spain and Miss Lavina Ward, Mr. Rip Ward and Miss Mattie Spain, Mr. H. A. Latham and Miss Nannie King, Mr. O. W. Harrington and Miss Josie Moye, Mr. Frank Stanell and Miss Mary Forbes, Mr. Louis Briley and Miss Ella Stanell, Mr. W. S. Wooten and Miss Alice Hardee, Mr. T. J. Stanell and Miss Nora Briley.

The wedding march was played by little Miss Martha Forbes as the bridal party entered the parlor.

After the ceremony an elegant supper was served.

The REFLECTOR extends its heartiest wishes to the happy couple.

D., minister of the Episcopal Church, Petersburg, Va., says: I have used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy in my own family, and it gives me pleasure to say it has proved a valuable Tonic and Purifier of the Blood, and if thoroughly tested, I think will remove many cutaneous disorders.
