The members of the several Township Democratic Committees, to be elected at the primaries on the 23rd inst., are requested to meet at the Court House on the 28th inst., immediately after the adjournment of the County Convention, for the purpose of electing an Executive Committee for the county.

ALEX. L. BLOW,
Chm. Dem. Com.

GREENVILLE, N. C., July 13th 1892.

OUR HARMONIOUS PRIMARIES AND THEIR GOOD RESULTS.

The REFLECTOR has urged our Democratic people to attend the primaries and we are delighted to hear from all sections of the county that our Democratic friends were out on Saturday in full force and that, with the exception of one or two townships, the utmost harmony prevailed. As good men as we have in the county were sent as delegates to the county convention, which meets on to-morrow, 28th, and we predict one of the most harmonious, enthusiastic conventions ever held in the county. We have no doubt a strong, acceptable ticket will be chosen and in the selection of that ticket we urge that all personal considerations and preference shall be laid aside and that the delegates shall look alone to the good of the public service, and with us this means the success of the Democratic party. In the few localities in which some of our friends were disposed to separate themselves from us we hope and believe they will think better of it, and as the campaign opens up to them a better insight into the purposes of Weaver and the dire results of his success in dividing and defeating the Democratic party they will, as heretofore, be found working and voting for the party that rescued our State and county government from the hands of the party that had well nigh ruined us. It must be apparent to them at an early day, if not now, that it is a fight between the Democratic party and the Republican party and that every vote given to Weaver or any of his Third party followers is simply assisting in perpetuating the rule of the Republican party, from whose vicious legislation we are struggling to be freed.

We see notices posted up for a People's party meeting to be held in Greenville on the 28th to appoint delegates to a Third party convention to be held in Raleigh on August 16th and to nominate county officers &c., &c. These notices are signed by Mc G. Bryan, secretary of the executive committee, and to understand the true incincerity of this movement it is necessary to refer to the organization of this party in Pitt county. This executive committee of which Mr. Bryan is secretary was appointed by a meeting of fourteen men of which Allen Johnson was chairman and chief actor. So the People's party, or the Third party, or whatever it is called, is led by Allen Johnson and Mc G. Bryan, and it is to this convention that those calling themselves Democrats are invited. Can any man claiming to be a Democrat and who has not forgotten the dark days of the past be seen in such a meeting. In 1874 when the Democratic party was making a life and death struggle to keep off the horrors of Civil Rights from the Southern people Johnson and Bryan were against us. In 1876 when we were fighting for the salvation of our State and homes and for good government generally these men who have set themselves up as leaders of the People's party were against us. Under one name and another we have had to fight these men until we utterly crushed and scattered the Republican organization in this county, and now they are masquerading as the leaders of the People's party. Is it possible that any considerable number of our people can follow these old Republican bosses into this wild scheme which can only have the effect to divide and defeat the party under whose banners they have heretofore fought this common enemy? We trust not! We believe not! We shall therefore watch with no little interest the assembling of this Johnson-Bryan-Kirkman combination on Saturday, and the REFLECTOR promises to have a reporter present, if allowed to do so, and make a faithful report of the men present and their doings on that memorable occasion.

HOW COL. POLK STOOD.

The advocates of the Third party think they are following exactly in the line as marked out by its late leader, Col. L. L. Polk, and that they are advocating the measures of which he was in favor. But perhaps many of them are not aware that he was strongly opposed to what is now one of the chief planks in their platform—Government ownership of railroads. Mr. W. R. Henry, of Henderson, writes a letter to the Raleigh Chronicle enclosing a letter from an intimate friend of Col. Polk which expresses his exact views on this question. The closing paragraph of Mr. Henry's letter is as follows:

"Some days ago I saw it stated that Col. Polk told Dr. J. M. Hayes of Washington, D. C., that he opposed the government ownership of railroads. I wrote to Dr. Hayes. Below you will find his reply. I send you a copy of his letter. I hope to carry the original around the campaign. The third party people will have to repudiate Col. Polk's opinion, or they will have to do as he did, turn their backs upon that plank in their platform, which is the Heart of the movement. Without the 'Heart' it must die."

WASHINGTON, D. C.,
July 6, 1892
Walter R. Henry, Esq., Henderson, N. C.

MY DEAR SIR AND FRIEND:—In reply to your inquiry as to what the late Col. L. L. Polk said to me in regard to his views on the government ownership of railroads, I have to say that in the early part of Col. Polk's last sickness, at least ten days before his severe illness, he was discussing the political situation with a prominent North Carolina gentleman (Hon. A. H. A. Williams) and myself, and in the course of conversation he made use of this language, or language to this effect: "I have given the subject of the government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines a great deal of thought, and I have determined to use every bit of the influence which I have against the adoption of any such plank in the Omaha platform. I am pretty sure that I will be able to succeed in the attempt."

He spoke very earnestly and seemed convinced that his conclusions were well founded in the matter. On another occasion he said to me: "The country is not ready for such a radical change as the one contemplated in connection with the railroads. The telegraph lines is perhaps more feasible than that of railroads, but the people are not ready for even that now, and perhaps will not be for a long time."

Col. Polk talked very freely with me before his fatal illness about this matter, and spoke with great deliberation and earnestness, and I know that his mind was fully made up concerning it, and that, had he gone to Omaha, he would have thrown his whole energy in convincing others of his party of the correctness of his views.

Thanking you for your very kind expressions of regard for me personally and professionally, all of which are more than reciprocated, I have the honor to be,
Yours very truly,
J. M. HAYES.

It is reported that a People's party man in making a speech in Gaston county several days ago, said, in referring to Wall street, that if he was in New York City and should meet the fellow he would strike him with his stick—Salisbury Herald.

This is hardly less sensible than what a Third party enthusiast in Pitt county said the other day—that Cleveland at one time loaned $500,000,000 to Wall street. Don't that pile of figures just stagger you to look at?

By night on Sunday, May 29th, we had passed over the line into the State of Oregon. Sunday night and all day Monday the journey was northward through this State. Like California the country is mountainous and abounds in minerals and timber. It was expected that the editorial train would reach Portland by noon, and the city had arranged an extensive program for the entertainment of the excursionists, but the train was so heavy as to make the travel slower than had been anticipated, and several hours delay was the consequence. Members of the Portland reception committee met the train several hundred miles out and accompanied it to the city. These were in frequent telegraphic communication with the committee of arrangement and such changes in the program were made as the late hour of arrival necessitated. At Albany the entire party was dined at the expense of the city of Portland, all the arrangements for this being perfected by wire. Many citizens of Albany met the editors at the depot and made their sojourn in every way pleasant.

About 4 o'clock Sunday the capital of Oregon was reached, and the State house and grounds lying near the railroad cars were stopped in front of them a few minutes to give the excursionists a view. It was 6 o'clock when the train reached Oregon City, a town located at the falls of Willamette river. Here the travel changed from the cars to the beautiful steamer Harvest Queen which was in waiting, gaily decorated and festooned, to take us down the river to Portland, a distance of 12 miles. This falls of the Willamette is one of the greatest driving water powers in the land. Besides there it furnishes all electric power for the city of Portland.

The trip down the river was as full of interest as could be, and such a delightful change after being confined several days in the close quarters of the train. In little more than an hour the city was reached, but before landing the boat steamed down by the entire water front and back, giving the excursionists a good idea of the beauty and extent of the city. In the harbor were anchored the U. S. cruisers "Charleston" and "Baltimore," both having on board their full complement of soldiers and naval equipments. The soldiers were on deck when the Harvest Queen passed and cheers were exchanged with the editors. It was a credit to the harbor facilities of Portland that vessels of such burden, drawing 22 feet of water, could come to the city, 100 miles inland from the ocean.

The editors spent Monday night in Portland, and next day was given to sight seeing around the city. All could not remain to participate in this, and five of us Northern Pacificists were on the Northern Pacific that pulled out from Portland at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, occupying a Pullman which was to take us through to Chicago, four days travel without change. We left Mr. and Mrs. Manning in Portland, and parting with them was almost sad, they had added so much to the life and interest of our party, which had now been together for so many days as to seem like one family. I have no doubt that every one of that party will always have the pleasantest recollections of the 15 days we were together between Raleigh and Portland.

Leaving Portland we still traveled northward to Tacoma, in the State of Washington, arriving at that city about the middle of the afternoon. It is a thriving, pushing place and is growing rapidly. Leaving Tacoma we had a first-rate view of Puget Sound, upon which the city is located. Leaving Tacoma the journey changed to a north-easterly direction through Washington. Just before sunset we crossed the summit of the Cascade mountains, passing through a tunnel 8,000 feet long. The train was 11 minutes going through. At frequent intervals electric lights were burning in the tunnel. Coming out of this tunnel the scene is indescribable. Over the mountain side dashes the grandest cascade I ever looked upon, and all around there are rugged peaks capped with snow.

Retiring early after dark I awoke next morning at Spokane, but it was a rainy morning and so misty as to obstruct a view of the city. A few miles further and we were over into Idaho, where the railroad has to make a long curve to the northward in order to go around lake Pend Oreille. To one unacquainted it is a surprise to see such an immense lake right in the heart of the mountains. It covers miles and miles, someone at there telling me that to follow its shore line entirely around would require traveling a distance of 400 miles. I know that for some hours the cars run along the shores of the lake. I will not forget how the little town of Hope impressed me. A map of the Northern Pacific shows it to be the extreme point of this curve around lake Pend Oreille, and it is the furthest north of any place touched on the entire journey, being only about 50 miles from the boundary line of Canada. The mountain rises to a great height above the lake and nestled in its side on a plateau an hundred feet above the railroad track is the pretty town. Steps lead from the depot up to the street and the beautiful view of the lake, the busy steamers plying its waters, the whole seeming to be shut in by a gigantic wall of mountains, amply repaid any one for taking the climb. All this country through here is exceedingly rich in minerals and mines are numerous.

The Progressive Farmer refers to the Democratic papers which are opposed to Weaver as "the moneyocratic organs." Maybe that journal and those conducting it do not have any use for money. There is no way for one "out of the secret" to ascertain the fact, but it would be interesting to know just how much Republican campaign boodles the Progressive Farmer is drawing for its efforts to break down the Democratic party in North Carolina. If the old saying "the fat dog always hollers" comes true every time, Ramsey will be heard squealing at this.

The National Democratic Executive Committee last week elected Hon. W. F. Harris, of Pennsylvania, Chairman. The committee also adopted resolutions providing for an executive committee of twenty-five members and a campaign committee from the same of nine members.

The Orange Observer says the nomination of Whitelaw Reid was merely a "typographical error." There is also something about his name that makes the printers yell "rats" whenever it is mentioned.

LOOKING HOMEWARD.

Turning His Back on the Pacific Region the Editor Journeys Through the Great North-West.

All this country through here is exceedingly rich in minerals and mines are numerous.

From Hope the travel is eastward. Not many miles after leaving there we were over into Montana and something occurred that considerably amused the passengers on the Pullman. At a station a well dressed Chinaman lugging a heavy valise got on at the rear platform and took his seat on a camp stool just between the side folding doors. Seeing that he was on the lookout for something, a passenger near him began looking out along and familiarly asked "John" what was the number of his pass and how far he was going. The Chinaman answered promptly and from that we all knew that he was in some way connected with the railroad. By questioning him some and watching him more we soon found out all about it. He was in charge and paymaster of all the section squads west of Missoula in Montana, the section hands are all Chinese. On the first day of each month (this was June 1st) he goes over the road just as he was going to-day and pays off the hands. The section hands know when to expect him and are on the lookout for the train he is on. He has a small canvas sack for every section in which is placed the money, always in coin, to pay the hands at work on it. Each sack is labeled in Chinese hieroglyphics so that no mistakes can be made and with the money inside is a statement showing how much is due each hand. The paymaster knows the sections as they come, has the sack in readiness, and as the train dashes by the squad wherever they are at work he yells out something to them and dashes the sack overboard. The chief of the section takes charge of the sack and distributes to each man his wages. This paymaster gets $100 a month for his services and the section hands are paid $1.50 per day.

Just at dark Wednesday evening we were crossing the main range of the famous Rocky Mountains. At the summit of this is another tunnel more than a mile long. Before the train reached this tunnel I walked to the rear platform of the car and was surprised to see the ground covered with freshly fallen snow. I made a note of this to compare with the State of the temperature in Greenville, and getting home found that the first of June was one of the warmest days of the year up to that time. Quite a contrast in climate.

Portions of Montana east of the Rockies was about the poorest looking country I saw anywhere, and was almost as bad as the alkali wastes in the Mojave desert of California. In fact that same barren desert which I spoke of in a former letter as extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the British possessions is crossed by the Northern Pacific up here in Montana and North Dakota. A portion of this section here is what the Indians called the Bad Lands. Traveling eastward through North Dakota the country shows marked improvement which soon develops into a magnificent wheat region. From here on through Minnesota it is a fine wheat and grain growing country.

At Minneapolis we had a glimpse of the excitement that preceded the Republican national convention. A stop of an hour at St. Paul permitted us taking a short run up town and viewing the city. This was the end of our journey on the Northern Pacific, but our party did not have to change cars as our Pullman was transferred to the Wisconsin Central to be taken on to Chicago. This is another excellent road and runs through a beautiful country. The many lakes that abound in Minnesota and Wisconsin add greatly to the charm of the country. It was 10 o'clock Saturday morning when we reached Chicago, and the three days spent in that city will give topics for another letter.

Each of the townships in the county held its primary meeting on Saturday to send delegates to the Democratic county convention which meets in Greenville to-morrow. There was the largest attendance at these meetings ever known in the county and shows that the Democracy of Pitt county is awake to the issues that confront them, and will be found doing their duty in this campaign. Below are the reports from the several townships as furnished the REFLECTOR:

THE REFLECTOR.

Local Reflections.

Mason's Porcelain Fruit Jars at Young & Priddy's.

Cotton Seed Meal for sale at the Old Brick Store.

The weather continues in a decidedly unsettled state.

Greenville sent delegates to two picnics last Wednesday.

Telegraph offices have been opened at House and Ayden.

The New Home Sewing Machine for $35 at Brown Bros.

The latest lanterns in town can be found at Young & Priddy's.

County committee to-morrow--large crowd expected in town.

The New Home Sewing Machine and all parts at Brown Bros.

Farmers are busy curing their tobacco. Some are making fine cures.

The papers up country are reporting many cases of typhoid fever.

New Cream Cheese and X. Y. State Butter at the Old Brick Store.

Work has progressed well on the dam at the north end of the bridge.

There will be a colored excursion from Kinston to Norfolk Aug. 10th.

Want to eat something good? Boss Biscuits at the Old Brick Store.

Cash given for Produce, Hides, Eggs and Furs at the Old Brick Store.

Cheapest Furniture, Bedsteads and Mattresses at the Old Brick Store.

There will be service at the Catholic church Sunday evening at 5:30 o'clock.

Nice watermelons were in market last week and nice prices demanded for them.

For tobacco knives, lanterns, thermometers and fruit jars go to Young & Priddy's.

The People's party (Republican annex) are advertised to hold a convention here on the 30th.

We have the latest and best kind of Tobacco Knives and Lanterns.

YOUNG & PRIDDY.

Tarboro and Washington played ball last Wednesday. Result: Tarboro 15, Washington 5.

There were some early peaches, but we have not seen any in market since the middle of June.

The residence of Dr. O'Hagan was recently given a new dress of paint, adding to its appearance.

To-day the Democratic Congressional Convention for the Second District will be held at Scotland Neck.

A citizen of Martin county tells us that there is not a Third party man in the whole of Hamilton township.

The Cleveland and Carr Club meets every Thursday night. Remember this and be at the meeting to-morrow night.

The REFLECTOR returns thanks to Mess Allen Warren & Son, of Riverside Nursery, for a nice lot of tomatoes sent yesterday.

It is time the merchants were engaging their space in the REFLECTOR for fall advertising. It is the hustler who catches the trade.

Something has been said about re-organizing the military company here, and all interested are requested to meet Saturday, 30th.

An educational mass meeting will be held at Hollogood Aug. 6th. Prof. McWhorter, of this town, is on the program for an address.

Someone sent us a communication from away out in Ohio with only "E." signed to it. Of course the writer expected it (not) to be published.

Bring along some extra change to-morrow and subscribe to the REFLECTOR. Every Democrat should have it, especially during the campaign.

Hooker Bros & Greene have their new merry-go-round in full blast and it is a drawing card. It is the handsomest machine of the kind that has yet been here.

WANTED--An energetic honest man to represent the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York. Address T. H. Dick, Jr. District Manager Tarboro, N. C.

Mr. B. F. Sugg, and family left Monday for Goldsboro to attend the funeral of a brother of Mrs. Sugg, who died of injuries received in a difficulty with a neighbor.

Pender is having such heavy orders for tobacco fines that he keeps a force at work till a late hour every night. Numerous loads of them go out daily into the country.

Every now and then there is an ice famine in Greenville, which argues that the town should have an ice factory and not be compelled to depend upon other towns for its supplies.

The Greenville Warehouse, under the management of Mr. G. F. Evans, who gave such entire satisfaction last season will begin its next season September 1st. With two good warehouses Greenville will be up with any market.

We heard it--that a school teacher called on Mr. S. M. Schultz, Friday morning to know if he wished to send his son to school. The pedagogical did not know that it would be 21 years before the young man would be old enough to vote.

There is something all tobacco farmers should look into. Young & Priddy have the very best lanterns, thermometers and knives, just the things you need about cutting and curing your tobacco. Housekeepers should also note the fact that they have all sizes of fruit jars.

SOMETHING NEW--I will sell hats, flowers, gauze ribbons, pictures, casels and fancy ware right down at cost. Also a beautiful line of hamburger hoes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere and be convinced of the great reduction in prices. -- Mrs. FANNIE JOYNER.

The Central Tobacco Warehouse, at Tarboro, will be under the same management the coming season as last. Many Pitt county farmers sold tobacco there last year and remember the satisfactory results they met. The opening break this season is set for Aug. 10th. See what is said about it in our advertising columns and get some fine tobacco ready.

Personal.

Miss Ora Whichard is visiting in Pictolus.

Mr. Henry Sheppard spent a few days in Kinston last week.

Miss Rosalind Rountree has been visiting in Wilson the past week.

Rev. A. D. Hunter, is taking a vacation at his old home in Wake county.

Mr. J. B. Cherry and J. B. Jr. went over to Seven Springs last week.

Mr. J. B. Langston returned last week from a northern trip of several weeks.

Miss Bessie Jarvis has been spending several days with friends in Washington.

Mrs. Rountree, of Kinston, has been visiting Mrs. Florence Dancy the past week.

Mrs. J. S. Congleton, Mrs. Allie Higgs and Miss Horace Forbes left Monday for Asheville.

Little Misses Bessie James and Daisy Tucker went to Pictolus Thursday to visit friends.

Miss Ella Frizzle, of Washington, has been spending the past week with Miss Annie Brown.

Mr. G. L. Heilbroner, of Wilson, came down Friday and spent a few days with his many friends here.

Mr. Robt. Moore returned Saturday from Kinston where he had been a few weeks for treatment under Dr. Hyatt.

Miss Gertrude Chesson, of Plymouth, who was visiting Mrs. W. B. Wilson, returned home last Wednesday.

Mrs. Ollen Warren, of Penny Hill, has been spending the past week with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Wilson.

Rev. G. F. Smith, Prof. Z. D. McWhorter, Mr. A. B. Ellington, and ex-Gov. Jarvis attended the Washington District Conference at Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cherry, went to Ocracoke Thursday. The REFLECTOR sets on "Uncle John" catching more fish than any one there.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, returned home last week and is putting in some of his liveliest talk among the boys for the next session of the Male Academy.

Dr. H. A. Joyner, of Laurinburg, has been spending the past ten days among his friends here at his old home in Pitt. The REFLECTOR was glad to have a call from him.

Mr. R. C. Flanagan left Saturday morning for Washington City, where he goes to accept a position as cashier with Hotel Johnson. Roy's half-a-million friends hereabout wish him unbounded success in the capital city.

Mr. J. H. Moore, of Burgaw accompanied by his daughter, Miss Annie, is visiting the family of his brother, Mr. J. R. Moore. We regret to know he has recently passed through a severe affliction, losing his wife and a child within a day of each other.

In view of the number of cases of typhoid fever that are reported in many sections of the State, people everywhere should give more heed to sanitation. After so much wet weather Greenville is particularly needing in this respect.

Mr. J. W. Page, of Carolina township, owns the smartest mule in the county. Whenever the animal wants water it pushes back the slide door to the stall, goes to the well and drinks, returns to the stable and shuts the door again just as it was before.

The tendency of the female style is toward masculinity. The latest fad of those who want to be "boyish" is to come out with regular suspenders over their shoulders. Now, girls, just don the breeches and you will be "in it," or rather "in 'em."

Young & Priddy want to know if you are going to plant a winter crop of potatoes. If so they have just the fertilizers to suit you. Their goods gave general satisfaction on the spring crop and will do just as much next time. Take this into consideration and see them.

The Tobacco Journal.

The Eastern Tobacco Journal and Planter's Guide will make its appearance in about two weeks. The men backing up this journal have the grit about them to make it a success, and the editor, Mr. Chas. A. Gough, is well qualified to perform the duties they have placed in his hands. As its name implies it will be a tobacco journal, giving all the information obtainable about planting, cultivating, selling handling and manufacturing the weed. It will devote itself to the tobacco trade of Eastern Carolina and sets out with the determination that this section shall rank as the great tobacco centre of the world.

Greenville and Cottendale.

The Cottendale boys paid the Greenville club a visit last Thursday and played ball with them in the afternoon. The score wound up 42 to 9 in favor of Greenville. The Cottendale boys had a good battery but all their fielding and base work was very poor, except that done by Jack Peebles in centre field. The Greenville boys knocked balls right into their hands but they could not hold them and they were too slow picking them out. Outside of this the game was a right good one. The Greenville boys did some fine playing. Ole Forbes made the best hit of the game scoring a home run on his ball.

School Advertisements.

The fall term of the Greenville Institute will open Monday, Aug. 22nd and close December 23rd, 17 weeks to the term. For announcement and terms see advertisement.

The advertisement of Horner's Military School, Oxford, N. C., invites your attention. The buildings are modern, fitted with bath, gymnasium and all conveniences for the comfort of the boys.

Davis School at Winston, one of the finest military schools in the South is advertised in this issue. Those having boys to educate should write for catalogue. See advertisement.

In to-day's paper appears the announcement for the fall term of Greenville Male Academy. Prof. Ragsdale says he is determined to make the coming session the best of any he has yet conducted, and his work will speak for itself. He is acknowledged the best educator that Greenville ever had for boys and gives entire satisfaction to all patrons. His school is the place for your boy.

Doings at Morehead.

A private letter to the editor from the Atlantic Hotel, at Morehead City, tells us they are having the merriest of merry seasons down there. The fishing was never known to be better than at present. Parties go out every day and bring in from 100 to 150 pounds of spanish mackerel and other game fish.

Thursday evening, 21st, Mrs. M. C. Daniel of Tarboro gave a private German to her daughter, Miss Jackie, with favor and bouquet. This was followed by another favor German on Friday night. To-morrow night 28th, the grandest German of the season will be given.

There are about 200 regular guests at the hotel, of the very nicest class of people, and they are enjoying the season immensely. An excursion is run there every week over 200 went down from Greensboro and Winston last Tuesday. Mr. Plank is giving the best of satisfaction to the guests and they are pleased with his management.

The sharpies are in their finest trim this season, and the accommodations for bathers are better than ever before. Messrs Royal & Chadwick, owners of the beach, have erected new bath houses after the very best arrangement with shower baths in all the rooms.

Take a few days off and go to More head.

C. C. Club.

The Cleveland and Carr Club met in the Court House last Thursday night with a good attendance, and the membership was raised to 149.

The committee on constitution and by-laws through its chairman, A. L. Blow, made its report which was adopted. One article in this report provided that the club should meet every Thursday night.

Committee on organization, through its chairman, G. B. King, made the following report which was adopted:

President--F. G. James.

1st V. P.--W. L. Dudley.

2nd V. P.--J. J. Cherry.

3rd V. P.--W. S. Fleming.

Secretary--D. J. Whichard.

Asst. Secretary--Rudolph Hyman.

Cor. Secretary--W. L. Brown.

Treasurer--John Flanagan.

The officers are to be elected on the third Thursday night of each month.

President James was escorted to the chair by Sheriff Tucker and made a neat speech.

On motion the flag committee was requested to report at next meeting the cost of raising the pole and flag.

Prof. Andrew Joyner was called for and made a fine speech which was frequently applauded.

The President appointed the following standing committees as provided for in the constitution:

Finance--J. A. K. Tucker, chairman, J. G. Moye, John Flanagan, C. W. Priddy, W. S. Fleming.

Campaign Literature and Printing--D. J. Whichard, chairman, J. L. Fleming, Zeno Moore, Dr. J. Marquis, Henry Harding.

Public Speaking and Entertainment--G. B. King, chairman, J. L. Sugg, Chas. Skinner, Dr. Zeno Brown, Leonidas Fleming.

Registration--A. L. Blow, chairman, Noah Forbes, W. H. Smith, O. W. Harrington, Joe Tripp.

See This--Indigestion.

Mr. J. C. Henderson, General Manager of Chattanooga, Marsden and Birmingham Railroad, says he does not believe there is a case of Rheumatism which Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy will not cure, and it is the finest Remedy for Indigestion he has ever used.

Gov. Jarvis will address the people Thursday, July 28, at Greenville if time and opportunity offers so as not to interfere with the work of the Convention.

GREENVILLE MALE ACADEMY

The next session of this School will begin on Monday, August 20th, 1892. The advantages offered will be superior to those of any previous session. Entire satisfaction guaranteed every patron. Board can be had at lower rates than at any similar school in Eastern Carolina. We propose to do the best work for boys that has ever been done in the town, and challenge proof to the contrary.

Terms are as follows, payable quarterly:

Primary English per month, $1.50

Intermediate English per month, 2.00

Higher English per month, 2.50

Languages each, extra, .60

When you are in town call to see me or write me from your homes. Information will be cheerfully given. If necessary a competent assistant will be employed.

YOUNG & PRIDDY,
ONE PRICE STORE.

Lost Money.

Excursions to Norfolk this season seem to "stick" the managers. Two have been run from Kinston and both were financial failures. The first cost $15.00 and the second about $40.00. Only about 25 people from Kinston were on the excursion last Tuesday, 31 were added at Greenville, and on the whole trip the crowd was not swelled to exceed 100. Kinston don't stand by her folks in such investments.

Ceremony to take place at 5 o'clock P. M. Ceremony will be performed by any minister the couple may choose. The only requirements for the couple is to make known their intentions to Mr. Alex. Heilbroner one week before September 1st, 1892, who will keep the matter a profound secret until that day. Call early and avoid the rush.

SHOES, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS.

OTHERS MAY FOLLOW.

There is a great deal of satisfaction in leading and we are still in that position. Rivals attempt to follow our methods but find that we lead them a merry chase and they finally give it up or come to grief.

Elegance and durability, coupled with low prices, is what has placed our Shoes, Dry Goods and Notions in the lead.

BROWN BROTHERS.
