Some of the best cures of tobacco are those made by men recommended by Har-ris, Gooch & Co., of Henderson, N. C. Their prices are always up with the market and their market up with any.*

Old man Guss looks dry ordinarily, but if you want to see a live man just watch him on the breaks. As a sale runner he can't be beat anywhere.

Greenville is your market and the Eastern Warehouse is the place to get high prices. Bring us a load of fine to-tacco and be convinced.

Did you ever try Berger's Warehouse, Rocky Mount? Make them a trial on something fine and if they don't give you the best prices going the old man will eat the pile.

Everything about Harris, Gooch & Co's. business is conducted strictly on business, principles, they do what they say and will be surpassed by none. They do not run by gas or wind. Their motto is "money makes the mare go."

Had you ever noticed how many people the tobacco warehouses give employment to? Think of it, business men. and see if you cannot agree that such enterprises help the town. What would factories do?

Come on with your tobacco to Green-ville and sell it at the Eastern Ware-house. Plenty of room, plenty of buy-ers, free stables, free storage, free in-surance and high prices, Do you want more than this? If so come on and we will estisfy you will satisfy you.

A gentleman from Danville told us on the breaks Thursday that tobacco was bringing just as high prices on the Greenville market as it sells for anywhere. He watched the sales closely and said the tobacco and prices were both fine.

Berger's Warehouse, Rocky Mount, is large, well lighted, has every accommo-dation for the farmer and every con-venience for handling tobacco. Try them and you will be satisfied with the Harris, Gooch & Co., of Henderson, N.

C., are making a specialty of eastern tobaccos, and they have for several years past paid the best prices for eastern tobacco, as many will testify, though they pay for all alike. They do not consider it honest to pay a big talker two prices for his tobacco and get his poorer neighbors for nthing.

There can be no question but that tobacco production in the South is following in the wake of king cotton. The signs are apparent to every shrewd observer Prices have been dropping from year to year and if the same decline goes on the day is not far distant when the King cotton has seen his day, and brilliant one it was, but is now disposed -and all on account of reckless overplanting and the neglect of rotation on Southern farms. King tobacco still holds Ship your tohacco to Cooper's Ware house, Henderson, and he will work honestly and faithfully for your best best belt heed the lesson of declining prices belt heed the lesson of declining prices they will awaken to find that the cost of making the golden weed but equals its

This is the plain truth about the mat-ter—now must of the remedy.

Tobacco and cotton are widely different crops. With cotton there is little difference in quality-while with tobacco quality is everything. Entra care in cotton growing and gathering adds but little to the price of the crop, while carefulness means everything to the tobacco grower So the simple remedy is to bacco market last week, but the mer- strike out for fine quality in growing to chants say but little of it found its way bacco. The markets of the world are over-stocked with poor tobacco. The Have you heard the news? What! m rket value of nondescript leaf is altered for tobacco last week. Try them and you will be happy. supply very much limited.

Now the wide awake planter can see for himself what course to follow. Strive for quality and not quantity. Suppose you grow 20 acres and only get 10 cents per pound. Then again suppose you plant only 10 acres and get 25 cents per pound for your crop. Some planters grow large quantities of leaf and sell it for less than 6 cents while others often average over 26 cents for all they grow. It is the man who plants the earth in best wishes, tobacco and sells it for 6 cents per pound that is wresting the sceptre from king

What we want is for more planters to curtail their avereage and raise the average on quality. This is the simple remedy for the danger ahead. If it is heeded all will be well—if it is not then all will be wrong.-Winston Tobacco Journal.

"Step up, gentlemen, and bid lively; this is Pitt tobacco, the best that's going. Give him 15, 20, oh, make it 25!" That is the kind of music you hear at Berger's Waschouse, Rocky Monnt. Try them with a shipment of your best tobacco. I Last Tuesday the Greenville Warchouse sold 12,296 pounds at an average of $11.50. If that is not a good average for a break of that size, taking everything on 'he floor, we would like somebody to show a better one. The next day 9,000 pounds brought $1,200.

By E. M. Pace, Reporter.

We have had the heaviest receipts this week in the history of this market, and prices well sustained. Pitt county takes the lead in prices. We sold this week from two counties in Virginia, one in South Carolina, eleven c'untles which surround us. The skating rink on Greene street was recently bought by M. H. Pinnix, Esq., which is now undergoing repairs, and will be converted into a leaf factory. There is a pressing demand for more room to handle tobacco. We had several visitors on the treaks this week drawn here by the report of our good tobacco.
