CURRENT EVENTS.

W. L. James in Watch-Tower.

The election of Mr. Cleveland to the Presidency of the United States is producing quite a commotion in certain circles. There is a rattling among the dry bones and a regular political earthquake is anticipated. There are some things that need not be expected, a few of which we will name:

1. The political trickster has said to the negro that if Mr. Cleveland is elected he would be made a slave. This is not true and the one who so informed the colored man knew it was not true. The freedom of the colored man is made sure by the constitution and his right of suffrage will never be denied him. The negro will vote and enjoy the benefits of the 14th amendment until the same is abolished, which is hardly within the range of possibilities.

2. There will be no earthquakes occasioned by the election of Mr. Cleveland. The world will move on. The sun will rise and set and the revolutions of the earth will be the same.

3. You will not be able to find money on the trees nor on the roads. Every dollar you get you labor for it unless you steal it. Don't think that after Mr. Cleveland is inaugurated you will have all the money you want. His election will be no remedy for laziness nor idleness. If you think so it is time you had abandoned it.

4. Don't think you are going to get 20 cents per pound for your cotton, $1 per bushel for your corn and a corresponding price for your wheat, rice, peanuts and potatoes. It is hardly probable that you will get more for what you make than the real worth.

But there are some things that you have a right to expect and things implied in the election of the President-elect to the highest office within the gift of the people:

1. Mr. Cleveland was neither nominated nor elected by the classes. It was an uprising of the people at Chicago and at the ballot box that made him the President-elect. The money power was against him, but the people stood by him until victory settled upon his banner. Wage earners were soon and late in their support and fealty and through them he has won a handsome victory. They have a right to expect that his administration will at least be friendly to them. If he should do that which means the triumph of the classes over the masses then those who elected him will be disappointed.

2. Reforms are demanded. We have noticed in all the utterances of Mr. Cleveland that he has strong leanings to many reform measures. He realizes that not only the tariff but other things need the axe laid at the root of the tree and if the tree don't yield to treatment it must be hewn down. The currency question is a living one. It will not die. From the number of States that have declared for the free coinage of silver, we believe that Congress under the advice of the President must do something to increase the volume of currency or the circulating medium. The idea of gold being the standard is not accepted as either fair or just by those who produce all the wealth of the land. Why not gold and silver be the standard? It is very evident that if gold and silver were the standard then the volume would be larger and "equal rights to all and special privileges to none" would more generally obtain.

3. The abolition of the national banks as banks of issue seems to be demanded by at least seventy-five per cent of those who voted for Mr. Cleveland. This national banking system confers too much power upon a few to the detriment of the many, and arms with the law power to either contract or inflate the currency. The history of the national banks shows that whenever it was to the interest of the banks to contract they never hesitated to exercise their legal prerogative. It has been suggested that the tax on State banks be taken off and each State allowed to organize banks as before the war. We are by no means wedded to this theory. With our diversified business we fail to see how State banks can prove a blessing. If we owe one hundred dollars in New York it would be no easy

ONE CAUSE OF OUR POVERTY.

Warrenton Record.

The depressed condition of agriculture in some localities, cannot be referred to any one cause. Many things have combined to bring about the result. We do not have to search very far, however, to find some of the most important factors in bringing about the depression which has become so serious, and of which we hear so much complaint. We wish to ask a simple question and we wish our readers to answer it honestly. Suppose the money which has been sent out of this county during the past twenty years, for horses, mules, meat, lard, corn, meal, flour, hay and other articles "too numerous to mention," all of which could, and ought to have been raised at home, had been retained in the county, what would be the condition of our county to-day? Figure this matter up and the result will surprise you. In a conversation with a man who has been long engaged in selling horses, he said that there had been an average of two hundred horses and mules sold in the county each year, for twenty years, at an average price of not less than one hundred and twenty-five dollars. This would make half a million sent out of the county for this one item, and if we add the other items mentioned the amount will reach up in the millions. This is no fancy sketch, but a simple matter of fact of which every intelligent man is fully cognizant.

Every dollar of this enormous sum should have been retained at home. We could have produced all these articles and ought to have done it. To say we can buy these things cheaper than we can raise them, is simply nonsense. It is a proposition so self evident as to be adopted as an axiom by the successful, intelligent farmers of the world that "No farmer can buy anything which ought to be raised on a farm, cheaper than he can raise it, no matter what it costs to raise it." The trouble is, we have been raising tobacco and cotton to buy everything else with, and have imposed a burden upon those crops which they have been totally unable to bear. We risk nothing in saying, if the money which has been sent out of the county since the war, to pay for articles which could have been produced at home, had been retained here, the county would to-day be in a prosperous condition.

We have not been self-supporting, and any community or individual that is not self-supporting is bound to become poor in the end. If there were any excuse for this state of affairs it would be different, but there is absolutely none. We cannot sustain life and land, everything to sustain life and render us comfortable. There is no need to send to the North and West for these articles. A good farm horse will cost say one hundred and twenty-five dollars, and every man knows it will not cost the farmer that much to raise him. We have been supporting other sections long enough and it is time for us to stop this suicidal course. We can and ought to be self-supporting in every particular, and we have no right to complain of our poverty when it so largely results from our own mistaken methods. The object of this paper is to benefit the people of the county, and we intend to write plainly and to the point. All we ask is that what we say, be considered without prejudice.

It should be in every home. J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barter, of Cookeport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free Trial Bottles at Woodens Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, thinks that a total suspension of immigration for five years would be a good thing for the United States. Six brothers of the Frost family at Kansas City own the following odd lot of names: Jack Frost, Winter Frost, White Frost, Cold Frost, Early Frost and Snow Frost. It is estimated that the Home-Steak, Pa., strike, which lasted about six months, and was recently declared off, cost at least, to all concerned, $4,500,000, and nobody

A TIME FOR SERIOUS THOUGHT.

Henderson Gold Leaf.

The fall season is the time when we are apt to turn our thoughts in the direction of more active trade and general business improvement. And as the fall of this year comes on and autumn's early frosts begin to "lay their fiery fingers on the leaves," led by considerations more effectual than a melancholy season of the year, we realize the fact that for us, especially, "it is a time for memory and for tears." We remember what we might have done, and then we remember what we should not have done for the betterment of the town and the advancement of the community industrially and commercially.

But while we contemplate the past history and the present outlook of the town, we should know that it is worse than folly to think of it any other light or for any other reason than to impress upon our minds a lesson of valuable experience, bringing its present and future reward. "Regret is a fool's passion," it has been said, and "discontent is an infirmity of will." Hear now a word of truth and encouragement! If the business men of this town would go out and shake themselves; put a little determined thought into their efforts, and resolve to win, Henderson would rise like a young giant, with unshorn locks, and break its fetters as smoking flax.

A man of true grit is like an India rubber ball, which when thrown down rises again, higher from the rebound. If this town is drooping and business dull, it is because the people are either discontented, lazy or very unfruitful in business planning and enterprise. Which is it then? Let us find the cause and apply the remedy. What are we doing to improve the condition of things? Absolutely nothing. Something needs to be done. There is no middle ground. We either stand still or go back ward. Are those whose interests are greatest doing anything to push the town forward? Let their actions be the answer. For the past year you have been silent as the subterranean hush of Roman catacombs. Notify Gabriel that he is needed with his trumpet! It is "a time for memory and tears," but a memory of perpetual sorrow, and tears of our continued inactivity.

We talk about small enterprises, local industries, domestic economy, business expedients, and make a hundred suggestions about traffic and trade, but they hardly elicit the interest and the general welfare seems to fall like "a leaden ball" on a "foe's head."

The purpose of one who is forcibly instructed in the late election in Kansas. In that State there is an equal number of Republicans and their opponents elected, and a tie vote in Coffey county. This tie will be decided by lot, and the legislator who is in luck—who is declared elected—will give the majority in the Legislature to his political associates. If this majority is Republican that party will control the organization of the Legislature and also elect a United States Senator. And in like manner if the majority is Democratic that party will elect a Democratic United States Senator, and he would beyond any doubt give the Democratic party a majority in the Senate. Thus the political complexion of the next Senate may be determined by mere chance, by lot, by deciding the tie vote in Coffey county, Kansas. And that tie might have been prevented by one more vote at the late election.

A case similar to this occurred many years ago in Massachusetts.

Jonesboro, Ga., has a resident who, it is said, has only spent $8 in past six years for clothes. The question that naturally arises is whether he is the editor of a country paper or the man who bet on the nag that won in the election races. Such fellows you know get what they want without having to buy it.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

A NOVEL CASE.

Pittsboro Record.

The Supreme Court of North Carolina has this week decided in favor of the plaintiff the case from this country, which was tried last May, wherein Samson Edwards is the plaintiff and Jennie Culbertson is the defendant, and the court's decision should be a warning to all young women not to flirt with their beaux, and especially an old one. The plaintiff is a widower about 82 years old, who sued the defendant (a young woman about 25 years old) for the recovery of $275.25 which he alleged she had fraudulently obtained from him, pretending that she would marry him and would buy a certain tract of land with the money and this land should be in lieu of her dower; but after getting the money and buying the land she refused to marry him and married another man not 21 years old. At the trial the jury found as a matter of fact that the defendant had fraudulently obtained the money from the plaintiff as he had alleged, and the plaintiff's attorneys insisted on the Judge signing a judgment declaring the land liable for the money loaned and ordering it to be sold. He declined to sign this judgment and gave judgment merely for the recovery of the money, which could not be collected because the defendant had not properly above the homestead exemption. The plaintiff appealed to the Supreme Court and that court has now ordered the land to be sold, and the proceeds of the sale paid to the plaintiff. It is quite a novel case and its trial last May attracted much attention, and afforded considerable amusement to all who heard it.

How to Revise the Pension List. Raleigh Chronicle. The person who merits a pension ought to receive it, and it should be of sufficient amount to enable the pensioner to live comfortably. But there are many undeserving names on the pension list. Justice demands a revision of the list and that these be stricken off. In revising the pension list justice should be the first consideration, and justice can be done by considering policy also. We mean this: Suppose A and B are pensioners, each drawing from the Federal treasury $20 per month, and that A is a pensioner by real merit, while B is not. Then justice will say strike B's name from the list, and here policy might be considered without violating justice by increasing A's pension by $20 or $10, thus saving a fourth or half to the government. In this way much of the $20,000,000 which the government will have to pay to pensioners soon can be saved, and as the Republicans rely upon the vote of pensioners it is probable that their reliance may fall to a great extent, if the line of legislation indicated be followed. The deserving pensioner would hardly regard as unfriendly to him the party that increased his pension and emphasized the honor of his services.

The people who have constituted the rank and file of the Third party are in the main honest men; they have meant nothing wrong; they have been enticed away from the Democratic party by bad men, designing men, who have never meant any good to them. They have been induced to believe that the world was going their way. They were deceived and they know it now, and they should not hesitate to reunite themselves with the party to which they naturally belong. There is no proscription in the Democratic creed. The doors are always open to all honest men, and while it does not want such cattle as Marion Butler and S. Otto Wilson to come back, its great heart yearns after the rank and file of the deluded men who have followed them to inglorious defeat and it bids them return.—Littleton Courier.

In reproducing the above from the very adjective Mirror we omit the young ladies' name, not being willing to approach the semblance of ungraciousness to her. But from the first reading of this effervescent overproduction of puffery one is forced to exclaim in the language of the Kinston Free Press: "Fortunate Baltimore!" One would also think that with a human being embracing such a combination of things ethereal coming to the city that Baltimore would have "shut up shop" for the time being and rushed enmasse to the depot to welcome with outstretched arms such an advent into her borders that the dowers would break out of the greenhouses and after visiting the paint shop to take on a little more coloring would go on a dress parade in honor of the occasion that the birds would all gather in a picnic and open air concert in which the robin—despite the fact that Tom Dixon says it is no song bird—would tune up and sing equal to Baltimore's prized Oriole and that there would go floating over the wires emanating from that city in astounding headlines: "Behold, an angel has descended and taken up her abode with us." But, alas! though we have patiently watched the papers for such tidings we have seen accounts of none of these things, from which represented the First District, in Congress for two terms, his charming Richmond wife adding to his great hospitality by her own social and intellectual charms. Major Latham is considered one of the ablest, most eloquent, and best-equipped lawyers in the State.

Mr. A. L. Blow, a splendid lawyer and most astute political manager, who can have any office, if he were so minded, in the gift of the people of his county, also married a charming Richmond lady.

Mr. Joyner, the reporter remarked, you seem to have given this subject especial attention. Are you a native of Virginia?

My maternal grand father, Dr. Robert Williams, was from Virginia. His son (my grandfather), Robert Williams, Jr., served as physician and surgeon in the war of the Revolution, and was in the North Carolina Senate until his death.

"Oh, well, you must have married a Virginia lady, or wish to, or—"

"As old Judge Clonde, of my State, would say, 'Stop right there!'"

Mr. Reporter. My better half is true-blue North Carolina stock, as good as ever was made."

Julia B. Johnson, Stafford's P. O. 8, C. writer. "I had suffered 15 years with eczema and was at times subdued to my bed. The itching was terrible. My son-in-law got me one-half dozen of Botanic Blood Balm, which entirely cured me, and I ask you to publish this for the benefit of others suffering in like manner."

ly trying to Mr. Harrison who was already nearly broken down with grief for his wife and the long hours he has been putting in at work on his annual message to Congress, which will be sent in next Tuesday. The sympathy for him is universal.

In addition to the many other arguments for holding an extra session of the Fifty-second Congress, it is now urged that an extra session would enable the new committee to be announced and to put in all next summer at work perfecting bills to be introduced at the regular session, and that it could admit Arizona and New Mexico as States, thus making democratic control of the Senate actual, instead of being dependent on the whims of third party Senators.

THE REFLECTOR.

Local Reflections.

It is dusty again.
Not quite three weeks to Christmas.
Big stock of shoes just in at Brown Bros.

The crop of drummers was large last week.
Christmas Goods and Toys at Shelburn's.

The comet talk now gives place to holiday chat.
Choice cooking butter at the Old Brick Store.

All the county officers gave bond Monday and yesterday.
Go to Shelburn's for your Christmas goods.

The new officers look at home in their respective quarters.
The New Home Sewing Machine for $35 at Brown Bros.

Several of the stores are putting on holiday appearances.
Toys and novelties for Christmas at Shelburn's.

Christmas is nearly here, but it seems a long time off to the small boy.
FOR RENT—The Streeter Plantation. Apply to Mrs. V. Atkinson.

The cotton market broke on the 1st and prices took a tumble.
First of the season—Connecticut Chestnuts at the Old Brick Store.

The heavy frosts some mornings last week looked almost like light snow.
New Home Sewing Machines and all machine parts at Brown Bros.

This is the kind of weather that makes people's wood yards suffer after dark.
Want to eat something good? Boss Biscuits at the Old Brick Store.

The dry weather has made several dry wells. This is unusual for the time of year.
Cheapest Furniture, Bedsteads and Mattresses at the Old Brick Store.

Christmas talk is looming up right along and everybody is looking forward to that event.
Cash given for Produce, Hides, Eggs and Furs at the Old Brick Store.

An attractive advertisement or a few locals in the REFLECTOR will help sell Christmas goods.
1000 tons cotton seed wanted for cash or exchange for meal at the Old Brick Store.

The nights the past week have been beautiful, but too good for a body to stay out and enjoy them.
Go to Shelburn's for your Christmas confectioneries. He has the best selection in town.

Five season for traps now. Keep a sharp lookout for them and let your dog be a little hungry.
A dwelling house will be leased to good party for a term of years. Apply to Ragsdale & Whitchard.

The weather moderated considerably on Saturday and Sunday was as perfect a day as could be wished for.
A good fountain pen is one of the nicest Xmas presents you can give. Get one at Reflector Book Store.

Since slipping up so bad on the comet the wise-acres are now predicting snow. Well, it does snow sometime.
Wilson is putting in an electric light plant. Greenville is still depending on the moon and a few smutty old lamps.

The Commissioners' meeting and inauguration of county officers brought a good number of people to town Monday.
There is not much cotton to pick, but all of it has not been sold yet. We do not believe there is a great deal behind, however.

The residence of Mr. J. H. Lawrence, of Scotland Neck, was seriously damaged by fire last week and narrowly escaped destruction.
The REFLECTOR has plenty of receipts which will be exchanged for quarters, halves and dollars and a good lot of reading thrown in.

A splendid play under the management of Mrs. Jarvis will soon be presented by the amateurs of this town. Rehearsals are progressing.
Toys, doll babies, candies, nuts, raisins, currants, bananas, cocoa nuts, oranges, lemons, apples, fire crackers, cakes, cheap at the Old Brick Store.

The children are whetting up their memories on Santa Claus and getting ready for the next annual visit of this friend to the little folks.
Wonder if a 'possum wouldn't think it was Thanksgiving day all the year if he could get among such persimmons as grow at Riverside Nursery.

Any one wanting Christmas magazines of any kind can get them by leaving their orders at the Reflector Book Store. Any book not on hand can be ordered promptly.
If any one is too busy to look up the calendar we stop the press to tell you that Christmas will come this year on the 25th. No kind of weather will cause the date to be changed.

NOTICE—All persons indebted to me for Guano will find their notes and accounts in the hands of J. L. Sugg. They will please call on him and settle the same.
H. HARDING.

Mr. Allen Warren brought us 3 large full ripe Japanese persimmons from Riverside Nursery. Besides being very beautiful they were decidedly toothsome. We have tasted fruit far less palatable.
We long to see Greenville get an epidemic of enterprise on hand—something of a contagious move that everybody will catch and twist their shoulders, energies and pocket books together.

Happy and content is a home with "The Reflector" when with the light of the morning, it comes to the eye and the heart.

Personal.
Mr. C. F. Clayton, of Tarboro, was here yesterday.

Mrs. J. D. Murphy, of Asheville, is visiting Mrs. Alfred Forbes.

Miss Rosa Forbes spent part of last week visiting friends in Kingston.

Mr. E. R. Moore has moved his family into the Yellowley house just below town.

Mr. Sam James, of Asheville, spent last week with his cousin, Mr. Oscar James.

Miss May Langhoush, of Grimesland, is visiting her grandfather, Dr. O'Hagan.

Mr. W. M. Jones, of the firm of Jones, Lee & Co., cotton buyers at Norfolk, was here yesterday.

Mr. Othos Joyner has moved his family into Miss A. M. Perkins' new house near Dickinson avenue.

Mrs. S. A. Ellington has returned from Jersey City, N. J., where she has been on a visit for the past three months.

Mr. J. B. Edwards, of Scotland Neck, was in town Monday. He and Mrs. Edwards are visiting relatives near here.

The family of Mr. J. B. Yellowley left Saturday for Mississippi to join him there. They now make that State their home.

Mr. J. C. Crumpler, of Virginia, who has been several weeks in this county selling books, was in to see us Monday.

Miss Emma Taft is now at Dunkirk, Ind. We are glad to know that she has a very nice position there in the store of a relative.

The family of our Foreman returned home last night from their visit to Mrs. Burch's mother in Baltimore, and Billie is once more lappy.

Miss Lena Davis, of Beaufort, who had been spending sometime with Mrs. G. F. Smith, returned home last week. Mrs. Smith accompanied her home and will spend the holidays in Beaufort.

Mr. Andrew Joyner, of the Ashland, Va., Ke-yley Institute, was shaking hands with his friends here last week and spending a few days with the home folks. "Andy" is a veritable missionary and is doing a good work for his fellow man.

The farmer who does not make his meat and bread at home is a poor farmer. We hope every REFLECTOR reader who is a tiller of the soil will think of this when he lays out his plans for next year's crop.

Thad Manning always gets there. In his paper, the Henderson Gold Leaf, he printed the largest pictures of Cleveland and Stevenson that appeared in any North Carolina journal. They were excellent likenesses, too.

This editor does not get left every day that comes around. Last Friday Mr. W. R. Whitchard sent him over a pair of old hams, and one of these to season up that big Virginia turnip made a dish worth talking about, come or no come.

In the cotton report sent us by Cobb Bros. for last issue of the REFLECTOR the printer made a difference of just half a million bales by dropping one figure.

The largest contracts for any day ever known should have been 556,999 bales instead of 55,999 as printed.

On Friday night 23rd inst., there will be given by the ladies of Grifton an Orange O Tea for the benefit of the Christian Church. Everybody invited to attend, laugh yourselves fat, and have a good time. The entertainment will be held in the Academy building.

The REFLECTOR does not promise an acre of ground nor a mule and cart with every subscription, but will give a year of as good reading for a dollar as can be had anywhere. Try it for next year. Any person subscribing this month can get it till the first of January, 1894, for One Dollar.

This has been an unusual season for fires, and we are glad that Greenville has escaped a visitation. Our people should not cease to be extremely careful, for should a fire break out the town would be at the mercy of the flames. There seems to be no thought for provision of water or appliances to fight fire.

Big Turnip.
Saturday night we received from Mr. W. B. Duke, agent of the Seaboard Air Line at Branchville, Va., a huge turnip weighing 94 pounds. It was grown by Mr. J. C. James, near Branchville. These Virginia people know how to raise fine things, no doubt about that.

The Ball.
The Cleveland and Carr dress ball which occurs to-night will be held in the Eastern Warehouse, that building having an excellent floor and affording plenty of room. An Italian band is here to furnish music, many visitors are expected, and doubtless the occasion will be a memorable one with the young people.

Married.
At the home of the bride's father, Mr. James Galloway, in Chiefton township, on Wednesday, November 23rd, Mr. B. W. Tucker and Miss Hattie M. Galloway were married. Rev. A. D. Hunter officiating. The happy couple took the train next morning for Asheville and spent several days there, returning home last Saturday. The REFLECTOR offers best wishes to them.

Bazaar.
Next Wednesday the ladies of the Baptist Aid Society will open a bazaar in the vacant store next door to REFLECTOR office which will continue three days. They will have on sale a large number of fancy articles suitable for the holidays, and will serve edibles each evening. One evening during the bazaar the little folks will have a "Mother Goose" operetta. The ladies should be liberally patronized.

A Good Starter.
An amusing incident happened out in Beaver Dam the other day. A man had a live hog in a cart and was driving a very lazy mule. The mule seemed hard to urge out of his accustomed gait, and took his own time about moving along. He happened to switch his tail too close to the hog's mouth when that animal clamped down on the caudal appendage and gave that part in reach a good chewing. This had a decided rejuvenating effect on the mule and filled him with more animation than he was known to possess. The driver had no further use for a whip on that trip.

Dead.
Rev. J. G. Nelson, a member of the N. C. Conference of the M. E. church, South, died at Hobgood on Tuesday last week of consumption. Joe Nelson, by that name we always called him, was a special friend of the REFLECTOR, and we were pained to learn of his death. He was with us in the office about two years and resigned his case by the side of this writer for the purpose of entering the gospel ministry. He was a young man of intellect and possessed great firmness of character. He followed his sacred calling with strictest fidelity and gave promise to a life of great usefulness in the Master's cause, until time dread disease fastened itself upon him and robbed him of his health. He married Miss Julia Humber, of this town, who with two small children survives him. She has the sympathy of her many friends here.

Religious Notes.
Rev. J. E. L. Winefoot, Presbyterian minister, will hold services in Elliott Hall next Sabbath.

Rev. R. W. Stancill, of the Disciples church, has accepted a call to Ashland, Va., and moved there.

Rev. R. B. John, Presiding Elder of this district, preached in the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening, to large congregations. The sacrament was administered at the close of the morning sermon.

Rev. Dr. Sampson, of the Presbyterian church, delivered an address on foreign missions in the Methodist church here Monday night, and gave some of the history of his stay in Greece. A large audience heard him and his address was very interesting.

The Western N. C. Conference of the M. E. church met in Winston last week. The Baptist State Convention meets in Raleigh this week and celebrates the centennial of missions, and the N. C. Conference meets in Goldsboro next week. These are the three largest religious gatherings that we have in the State.

Marriage Licenses.
The Register of Deeds issued licenses to twenty-seven couples in Pitt county during the month of November, as follows:

WHITE—John Gardner and Mary Taylor, Abozo Harris and Bettie Wellington, B. B. Latham and Sarah Wiggins, Thomas Robinson and Allie Joyner, James Brooks and Ida Harris, Henry McGowan and Sallie J. Leggett, Jesse Britt and Pauline Allen, Benj. W. Tucker and Hattie M. Galloway.

COLORED—Peter Clark and Ida Peoples, Smith Crandall and Della Ward, Willis Williams and Lucy Wilson, Haywood Tucker and Mary L. Langley, Wm. Smith and Gatsely Williams, George Harrison and Lillie Ann Harris, John Gorham and Nellie Taft, Apt. Carman and Rosie Rountree, McG. Hopkins and Phebe Jenkins, Albert Newbern and Jennie Hemby, Henry Dudley and Flora Perkins, David Lane and Rena Daniel, John Nobles and Bettie Rountree, Caesar Randolph and Lorena Barnhill, Lawrence Ward and Sarah Haskins, James H. Patrick and Chaney Cherry, Redmond Parker and Rosa Forbes, Henry Bennett and Martha Semons, Julius Johnson and Lillie Langley.

The whole number of licenses issued for the fiscal year ending the first Monday in December is 261.

Pitt County's Commissioners.
The newly elected Board of County Commissioners qualified on Monday and re-elected Mr. Council Dawson as Chairman. The Board is the same as heretofore with the exception of Mr. Jesse L. Smith who takes the place of Mr. C. V. Newton. Mr. Newton has been on the Board for four years and it is due him to say that he has discharged every duty faithfully. He is a careful, conscientious, painstaking man, and was watchful of the people's interest in all matters coming before the Board. He filled the office with credit to himself and to his county.

Mr. Smith is a young man of strictest integrity and industry, and is well fitted for the duties upon which he enters. He is a son of Mr. Jesse Smith who was a member of the memorable Board that took charge of the county in 1872, lifted her from a seige of disgrace and debt, and gave her a financial standing equal to any county in the State. May the mantle of his father rest upon him.

The past services of the other members of the Board, Messrs. Dawson, Fleming, Keel and Gainer, show the excellent gentlemen they are—that they are men of ability and in every way capable of filling their important positions. The affairs of the county are safe in their hands and the people are to be congratulated.

A Practical Sermon.
The sermon of Elder R. B. John in the Methodist church last Sunday night on the evil consequences of doing wrong even though it is done to accomplish good, was one of unusual power and squarely and directly to the point, and deserves special commendation. To those who know his life his words had special power. His practice has been in accordance with his doctrine and in consequence this sermon had unusual weight. His thoughts were evidently directed along the right line and it is to be deplored that we do not have these facts emphasized more earnestly and more frequently than they are. He showed that no profession or occupation was free from the temptation to do wrong and then plead the excuse that the end justified the means. We never heard the subject more clearly put or more fully illustrated. His references to some of the many ways in which wrong is done in the name of right and the approval of public sentiment were decidedly forcible and could not fail to bear fruit for right living because it is right and because it is God's way. If such doctrine was preached from every pulpit and practiced by all of our churches as was laid down in this admirable sermon of Mr. John's there is no estimating the power the church would have in advancing morality and in christianizing the world. We are glad that a large number of our people were present and heard what was said.

Mag. Joe Perkins—Dear Madam—

Would say in regard to your Remedy that I was a severe sufferer from Sciatica, used ten bottles of your remedy, and am now a well man. I think it is all your claim for it, and you are at liberty to use this, if you choose, for publication.

COTTON MARKET.

(Reported by Cobb Bros.)

NORFOLK, VA., Dec. 3rd, 1893.—The cotton market has declined rapidly during the past week under the dread of the Anti-Option bill passing the U. S. Senate. The movement has been rather free than probably could have been the case were it not for the threatening influence. Planters appear to be marketing the crop more freely than usual under the favorable statistical showing of the situation which evidently is asserting itself daily. With the defects of bad legislation removed and a curtailment of the movement, we think a higher plane of values would soon be reached. The passage of the Anti-Option bill will give the control of the value of cotton to foreign markets, hence it is, that it is exerting so depressing an influence on values now. Below we give the weekly movement, stock and stock afloat for Liverpool:

School Chart.
Mr. H. A. Blow is agent for the American Book Co.'s complete school chart. He showed us one the other day, and so far as our knowledge of pedagogy goes we think no teacher could be supplied with a better help for instructing pupils than one of these charts. More can be learned from one hour's study of the chart than from a week's reading of books on the same subjects.

VAUGHAN & BARNES,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS
Norfolk, Va.

The movement of the cotton crop thus far this season would indicate that there was some foundation for the bad crop accounts daily reaching us from all parts of the cotton territory, if so the staple is selling too cheap and parties wishing to hold for higher prices can do so by shipping it to us and drawing for $25.00 per bale on same and having it held for six months is so desired.

Faithfully yours,
VAUGHAN & BARNES.
