CHRISTMAS.

Before another issue of the REFLECTOR appears this joyous occasion will have been realized by our subscribers and patrons. About 1900 years ago the world was gladdened by the coming of a Savior. It is well that the celebration of this happy event is so wide spread and so universally enjoyed. It is true that many customs have crept into its observance that rob it of much of its religious significance, yet there are still many things that remind forcibly the thoughtful of the happy event it is designed to celebrate. Many of its customs should never grow old because they largely augment the happiness of the most innocent of this world. That custom which deserves to live longest we believe is the visit of Santa Claus to that most interesting part of the human family—the dear little children. No one can fail to be made happier and better as he sees the joyous little countenances as they beam forth with unalloyed happiness at the reception of the little gifts of their ideal of givers.

No one, either, should ever discourage the custom of friend giving friend presents. All are made better thereby. All are happier. Remembering the poor, too, is one of the most Christ-like customs that still cling to the observance of the day. This is too little practiced by us all.

The happy reunion of families and friends long separated by time and space cannot fail to point to the grand reunion which is to be had as the result of the advent of Him whose natal day the occasion celebrates. These and other similar customs deserve to live as long as time shall exist and ought to be cherished by all of us.

On the other hand those things which are wicked and tend to destroy the hallowed influences and tender associations of the day ought to be discouraged and condemned until they shall cease to form so large a part of its observance by many.

The REFLECTOR now bespeaks for all of its many readers and patrons a joyous Christmas—one unmarred by sin and debauchery—but one in keeping with the infinite happiness it was designed to commemorate. To one and to all we say, "a merry, merry Christmas."

It appears that Cleveland received four thousand more votes in North Carolina than Governor-elect Carr did. This does not tally with the predictions made by many that the farmers would not vote for Cleveland. Every count that is made shows that he was the strongest man that could have been nominated at Chicago.

Senators Carlisle, Gorman and Brice were appointed on the committee to advise with the Democrats in Wyoming, Kansas, &c., where the Republicans are trying to steal the Legislature, so that they can elect Senators and if possible keep the United States Senate. The Democrats may expect good work from any committee composed of these three men.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to change the time of the meeting of Congress from December to March. If this should pass as it ought there will be no necessity for an extra session to be called immediately after Mr. Cleveland's inauguration. There is no sense in requiring that more than a year should elapse after an election before the men who are elected shall begin to serve their constituents.

AN APPRECIATED LETTER.

Several days ago the editor of the REFLECTOR received a letter from one of the foremost men of North Carolina who he intended to publish sooner, but only until now had opportunity. We appreciate more than can be expressed here that part which refers to us individually, and feel sure that the other members of the State press will appreciate what is said of them collectively. No man is more interested in the welfare of North Carolina than is Col. Burgwyn, and no man is more ready than he to ascribe praise to those who labor in behalf of the State. The letter reads:

HENDERSON, N. C., Nov. 30, '92.
D. J. WHIGHAM, Esq.,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—I have intended for some time to write you and congratulate you on your enterprise in having on your Wednesday's issue of the 9th inst., such a complete account of the election. It was a surprise to me to be able to obtain from your Wednesday's paper about as much information on the subject as I could get from any paper that I received that day. This was certainly quite a feat of journalism, and you should be congratulated. It seems to me when we are ascribing to certain parties credit for our recent success, we ought not to forget that to the Democratic press of the State as much credit is due as to any one source. At a time when few were raising their voices in behalf of the Democratic party, the Democratic press came out in no uncertain sound and rallied the hesitating Democracy around the banner of the pure faith, and I hope in the distribution of the results of the victory they will come in for their share of the reward.

Yours truly,
Wm. H. S. BURGWYN.

A few suggestions to all may not be out of place just now on the eve of the joyous holidays that are now almost upon us.

First, be careful what you think—thoughts may lead to deeds.
Second, be careful what you say—you may regret too late.
Third, be careful what you do—one act may mar many days of after life.

Fourth, be careful what you see—"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien, that to be hated needs but to be seen; But seen to oft, familiar with its face, We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

Fifth, be careful what you hear—hearing of evil may lead you to evil; it may direct you.

Sixth, be careful how you think, speak, do, see and hear, and life will not be filled with regrets.

It is so late now that we do not print our full report of the sixty-second annual meeting of the Baptist State Convention held in Raleigh 8th to 12th. From the point of interest and attendance it was the most successful meeting in the history of the convention.

In every department of work the reports showed there had been large increases during the year, and the amounts expended footed up $76,420.81. A large gain in membership was also reported. Subscriptions were taken to help various objects during the coming year and large amounts raised in cash and pledges. The discussions on different topics, as well as the sermons delivered, were excellent and much enjoyed by the large congregations. Raleigh has heard no better preaching.

Raleigh entertained the Convention handsomely and with characteristic North Carolina hospitality. The home of the writer while there was with the excellent family of Prof. D. H. Hill, one of the faculty of the A. & M. College, whose exceeding courtesy we will long remember.

A visiting editor returned home from a trip to Greenville recently and spoke boastfully in his paper of having obtained twenty-one advertisements for his coming Xmas edition and nineteen annual subscriptions while here. The first impression is that this was a good piece of journalistic enterprise, but when it is known that the sum total received for the twenty-one advertisements (a whole page he says) and the nineteen annual subscriptions is only $19, the question arises, did the said editor throw in a year's subscription to his paper in order to receive a dollar advertisement, or did he throw in the advertisement to get a dollar subscription? Either he must have considered the advertisement worth less or that a year's subscription to his paper is of no value. It is just this kind of shoddy Cheap John transactions that help to bring North Carolina journalism in more or less disrepute, and prevent it reaching the high standard it should maintain. The Press Association of North Carolina has labored hard to bring the profession up to that sphere where it could demand the highest estimation of the people, but as long as there are those who, to say the least, stoop to unprofessional methods in the conduct of their business the profession will suffer.

The Press of the South are pretty unanimous in favoring the extra session of Congress and there is much feeling in favor of it at Washington and in the North and West. The people have asked the Democratic party to take control of the legislation and change the policy of this government and it seems reasonable that they should expect that this be done as early as possible.

FROM THE UNIVERSITY.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Dec. 5 1892.
MR. EDITOR.—Now that the election is over and your readers will have time to think about something else than politics, if you will allow me a little space in your columns I will try and tell the people of Pitt county something about what we are doing here.

Three years ago when I entered college there were less than two hundred students on the roll, since that time our number has been steadily increasing and at the beginning of this year we opened with a Freshman class of over one hundred and we have now on our roll three hundred students. Now this means two things: That we are doing better work as an institution and that the people of North Carolina are finding it out and are seizing the opportunity to educate their sons for the great life work that lies before them. Not only are the people of North Carolina awakening to the advantages of the University, but those of other States as well and we have representatives here from Pennsylvania, Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Texas, and our president says that ere this scholastic year shall close the voices of three hundred students will shout the white and blue.

The boys are now worked up to fever heat excitement over the laurels won by our Foot Ball Team in the recent series of games played in Durham, Nashville and Atlanta. They are playing four games and each time leaving the opposing forces with nothing but a big zero with which to count their score. University of N. C. vs. Auburn of Alabama, sixty to nothing. University of N. C. vs. Vanderbilt of Tennessee, thirty-four to nothing. University of N. C. vs. University of Virginia, twenty-six to nothing. University of N. C. vs. Trinity College of N. C., twenty-four to nothing.

This places the University practically the champion of the South. We have the finest trained team in the South if these results may be taken as a criterion. Among the members of this team is a Pitt county boy, G. Roscoe Little, who stands second to none in his place, and when good playing is desired Roscoe can always be relied upon.

On the base ball team is E. A. Moye, Jr, whose fielding is always certain and in the coming season of base ball we predict that the University will again bear off the honors.

The banquet given Friday night by the faculty and students to the victorious eleven was a success and every one came away feeling that it was good to have been there.

I would like to write more, Mr. Editor, but time will not permit; but hope to let you hear from the University again some time in the future. (31.)

LETTER FROM TEXAS.

CHEAPSIDE, Gonzales, Co., TEXAS, December 3rd 1892.

Editor Reflector.—When a little over three weeks ago, I was the last time in Greenville and called at your office, I had requested you to send the REFLECTOR to this postoffice, stating that I would leave North Carolina, i. e. the pleasant little town Farmville in a few days. Now I am almost three weeks here and the REFLECTOR has not made its appearance yet. I miss the spicy paper, for I should like to hear what is going on in Pitt county, where my family is still residing, and where I have made the acquaintance of a many noble sons of North Carolina during my ten-months stay. Of course when the cold weather set in my heart was longing for the land of flowers and sunshine, Texas, glorious Texas, where jack frost is almost powerless, where even now in December, nature is clothed in beautiful verdure, where lovely flowers greet and charm the eye everywhere, where during the day the temperature rises to 80 degrees, during the night we have mild balmy breezes with dew and our flower gardens show a flora that induces surprise visitors from the land of ice and snow. My wife writes from Farmville that it is so bitter cold there that water freezes out doors after it is exposed only half an hour, and here we take off our coats and do our chores in shirt-sleeves without even wearing undershirts. I brought my overcoat from North Carolina and I do not know what to do with it. I am sleeping out in the piazza with only one blanket over me. And the farmers, what smiling faces do they have. Those that said some two months ago, "Well, if we got thirteen or fourteen bales of cotton we'll have no cause to grumble, we shall be satisfied." They got double that amount, and are still sticking. Their barns are filled with corn to the top. Their cattle in their luxuriant pastures are rolling fat, the grass over knee high. This is no exaggeration, but the truth. The girls in Cuernegro sixty or seventy bales of cotton a day; those in the county twenty-eight or thirty and thirty or forty and still in full operation. Before Christmas I fear no one will house his cotton. This is Texas. The cows give plenty of rich milk from the grass in the pastures, if cattle in North Carolina only had the grass that is out side in the lanes, they would feel like having holidays. Yes, North Carolina has attractions too. It is a lovely State, but the lands are exhausted, negro work makes them worse, people do not get out of their debts, but get deeper in, and dear, poor, old North Carolina, what will become of thee? There are a great many North Carolinians out here and prospering. They love North Carolina, they like to visit it, but never to live there any more. I fear I have worried you too long, but I wish young hopeful men would come out here and better their lot. Here you need not put your barn and smokehouses under lock, you need not lock your doors in the night, there is perfect safety of everything. The picked cotton is lying out in the field until a bale is complete, nothing is touched.

I will tell you hear from me from time to time until next summer, when I shall see you again. Truly yours,
J. A. LORENZO DE VISCONTI.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 19, '92.—Speaker Crisp's mail has been unusually large this week, owing to the unfortunate occurrence at the banquet of the New York Reform Club, but he still maintains the dignified position which he occupies in the House. He has made no complaint and will make none; and neither he nor his friends have ever for a moment entertained the belief that President-elect Cleveland had any other connection with the banquet than that of the chief guest of honor. As usual, the Republicans have tried to make mountains out of mole hills, and to make it appear that the Democratic party was already divided into two great factions, with the President-elect at the head of one and the Speaker of the House at the head of the other. It is the wish to see the Democratic party divided that is father to the false statement.

Almost a sensation was created in the House, when the army appropriation bill, which was passed this week was taken up for consideration, by an amendment proposed by Representative Anthony of Texas, providing that no payment of salary should be made to any person receiving a pension or allowance from the Government. There is a rare possibility that the silver question may be taken up in the House this session, but it is not very probable. The subject was discussed at a meeting of the House coinage committee this week, and in response to a proposition that the House be given an opportunity to vote on the bill proposing the repeal of the Sherman silver law, Mr. Bland said he was perfectly willing, provided that it be offered as an amendment to a free coinage bill, now on the calendar, and that afterwards the House be given an opportunity to vote on that measure. The committee will consider this proposition further at its next meeting.

Senator Vest's resolution providing for a commission to negotiate an agreement with the five civilized tribes of Indians for their to take up land in severalty and sell the remainder to the Government so that it might be opened for settlement has been the basis of some interesting talk in the Senate, showing that while there are differences of opinion as to just how they shall be abolished there is practical unanimity in the belief that the present separate and independent government maintained by those Indians must give way to a Territorial government. The Senators express themselves as wishing that the logic of the situation will so impress itself upon the Indians that they will themselves see the necessity of a change, and there are some who are ready to support a movement towards forcing a change, without regard to the wishes of the Indians.

The anti-option bill is slowly dragging along in the Senate. There are daily speeches on it, but it has been so much discussed that it is hard to say anything new about it.

A bill to increase the tax on whiskey from 90 cents to $1.25 a gallon has been introduced in the House.

THE REFLECTOR.

Local Reflections.

Only four days to Christmas. Christmas goods at Mrs. M. D. Higgs. Eggs are bringing the top of the market. Big stock of shoes just in at Brown Bros. We had some disagreeable weather last week. Christmas Goods and Toys at Shelburn's. The rains last week helped the river just a little. Choice cooking butter at the Old Brick Store. According to the calendar winter begins to-day. Go to Shelburn's for your Christmas goods. Be careful with your fire works during the holidays. The New Home Sewing Machine for $35 at Brown Bros. Falkland will have a Cleveland and Carr ball on the 30th. Toys and novelties for Christmas at Shelburn's. Some pretty picture books for children at Reflector Book Store. For Rent—The Streeter Plantation. Apply to Mrs. V. Atkinson. There will be a concert in the chapel at the Institute to-morrow night. First of the season—Connecticut Chestnuts at the Old Brick Store. Much fresh pork is brought in from the country. It is selling at 6 cents. New Home Sewing Machines and all machine parts at Brown Bros. The children are all getting their stockings ready for Saturday night. Want to eat something good? Boss Biscuits at the Old Brick Store. Good time from now 'til the first of January to lay plans for next year. Cheapest Furniture, Bedsteads and Mattresses at the Old Brick Store. Weiden is rejoicing over the prospect of two cotton factories in the near future. Cash given for Produce, Hides, Eggs and Furs at the Old Brick Store. The Wilmington Review, a cracking good evening paper, is sixteen years old. WANTED—1,000 bushels of corn field peas by F. S. Royster & Co., Tobacco, N. C. The Legislature of North Carolina meets two weeks from to-day, Jan. 4th. 1000 tons cotton seed wanted for cash or exchange for meal at the Old Brick Store. New moon Monday, and if it is not cloudy we will have moonlight for Xmas. The young ladies of Greenville will give a leap year German next Tuesday night. Go to Shelburn's for your Christmas confectioneries. He has the best selection in town. Before you start out to make purchases be sure to read the advertisements in the REFLECTOR. All kinds of Christmas presents in the cheapest to the finest at Mrs. M. D. Higgs. FOR SALE—Two mules, two buggies and one cart, CHEAP FOR CASH. Apply to F. G. JAMES. The young people of Farmville will have a tournament next Wednesday and a ball at night. Attention is called to the notice of creditors by R. L. Davis, administrator of R. J. Lang. It is time preparations for the next truck crop had begun. This is a fine trucking section. Cupid is around during the holidays and sends applicants for licenses to our Register of Dec. 5. The Sping Term of Hamilton Institute will open Monday, January 9th, 1893. Excellent advantages for Music and Elocution. JOHN DUCKETT, Prin. Pender has a beautiful line of lamp goods for the holidays. See what he says about them. To-morrow is the shortest day of the year and gives us only 9 hours and 42 minutes of sunlight. The man who makes his plans for a new year and leaves his county paper out fails to do his duty. A branch of the Keeley Institute has been established at Rocky Mount. See announcement in this issue. A reduction of 2 cents on registered letters or packages will take effect January 1st, so we see stated. Christmas and new year falling on Sunday the Monday following each will be observed as holidays. Several colored people are coming in this week from the turpentine farms of South Carolina and Georgia. If you want to keep your absent friends thinking of you for a whole year send them the REFLECTOR for 1893. Cotton may get to 10 cents yet, but we hope it will not influence any of the farmers to put in a large crop next year. Get a good Fountain Pen for a Xmas present. They are the very thing and can be had at the Reflector Book Store. Toys, doll babies, candies, nuts, raisins, currants, bananas, cocoa nuts, oranges, lemons, apples, fire crackers, cakes, cheap at the Old Brick Store. See Mrs. M. D. Higgs' stock of Christmas goods before buying. She has something that will suit everybody for presents. The subscription of several of our readers expires with this issue. Bring your dollar and get the REFLECTOR for 1893. As I am going to move soon I offer for sale a good pony of heavy weight, also buggy, road cart, single wagon and some furniture, such as wardrobes and bureaus. A. D. HENDER. Happy and content is a home with "The Rochester," a lamp with the light of the morning. Catalogue, write Rochester Lamp Co., New York.

Personal. Mr. J. E. Langly, of Richmond, was here Monday. Mr. H. T. Harris made a visit to Scotland Neck last week. Capt. John Sasser, of Wayne county, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. B. F. Sugg. Mr. H. F. King and ex-Sheriff Tucker are acting as deputies under Sheriff R. W. King. Mrs. W. M. King and daughter, Miss Annie, returned Saturday from a visit to Wilson. Mrs. A. L. Blow returned home Thursday night from a visit to her mother in Richmond. Mrs. J. B. Chery and Mrs. F. G. James returned home Thursday from their visit to Baltimore. Miss Lillie Mayo, of Falkland, spent Friday evening and Saturday here with Miss Jennie Williams. Misses Neva and Addie Latham, of Plymouth, have been spending the past week visiting Miss Louise Latham. Mr. B. F. Sugg and son, Jarvis, returned Monday night from Goldsboro, where they had been attending the N. C. Conference. Mr. D. C. Moore, who served as deputy under ex Register James, is filling the same position under Register of Deeds H. Harding. Rev. A. D. Hunter will hold his closing services here next Sunday. To-morrow night he will be at Antioch. He goes to a new field the first of the year. Girls must make good use of the remaining ten days of leap year. It will be three years before they have another such opportunity. The Reflector Book Store has a few pretty Xmas cards that will be sold at less than half what they cost. We want to close them out. The Greenville tobacco market closes down to-day for the holidays. The warehouses will open and begin sales again on Monday, Jan. 2nd. Every one who has pride or feels interested in his home insurances and the progress of his country to-day, ought to be a regular patron of his home paper. Messrs. Greene and Hooker have put up their steam riding gallery on the vacant lot near the Skinner building and will run it during the holidays. On Monday afternoon the gin house of Mr. D. W. Patrick, of Greene county, was destroyed by fire. The loss was about $1500 which was nearly covered by insurance. Mayor James says the boys can begin touching off their fire works Saturday evening at 6 o'clock and continue until midnight, and may begin again on Monday morning and continue all day. In distributing your gifts during the holidays and bringing happiness to others, do not overlook the poor. Keep the example set by Christ before you and do them all the good you can. "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The REFLECTOR thanks the Pope Mfg. Co., of Boston, for one of their Columbia desk calendars for 1893. It has a separate leaf for every day in the year with room for memorandum under each leaf. It is the most convenient desk calendar we see. Sheriff Knight, of Edgecombe, took a posse and went out to arrest a negro last week. The negro made an assault on the Sheriff and would have done him serious injury but for the timely interference of one of the deputies who shot the negro dead. Every tax payer of Pitt county is interested in the statement of county finances published in the REFLECTOR. From this statement you can see from what source the revenue of the county is received and just how every dollar of it is expended. Jumps off the bridge. Friday afternoon a horse belonging to Mr. P. E. Smith became frightened while on the river bridge and jumped over the railing, falling to the ground 30 feet below. In the fall the animal was badly hurt, and the wonder is that it was not killed outright. The horse was pulling a wagon loaded with sand and fortunately for the driver the harness broke and the wagon did not go over with the horse. Both Returned. It will bring great gratification to their many friends here and to the people of the community to know that the N. C. Conference has returned Rev. R. B. John as Presiding Elder of Washington District, and Rev. G. F. Smith as pastor of Greenville church. These excellent gentlemen are thoroughly consecrated to the Master's service and are held in highest esteem by our people. The Churches Sunday. There was no preaching in either the Methodist, Baptist or Episcopal churches last Sunday. Rev. G. F. Smith, pastor of the Methodist church, was attending the Conference at Goldsboro; Rev. A. D. Hunter, pastor of the Baptist church, was in Virginia, and Rev. Alban Greaves, rector of the Episcopal church, was filling his semi-monthly appointment in Kinston. Rev. J. N. H. Summerrall, of Tarboro, preached in Elliott Hall at night. Resignation Declined. At the last meeting of the Board of Councilmen of Greenville Hon. F. G. James tendered his resignation as Mayor of the town, the time drawing near for him to go to Raleigh and take his seat in the General Assembly as Senator from Pitt county, to which position he was chosen at the late election. The Council unanimously declined to accept his resignation and selected Councilman Charles Skinner to serve as Mayor pro tem during the absence of Mayor James in Raleigh. Rheumatism. TORONTO, N. C., July 6th, 1888. Mrs. JOE PESSON.—Twelve months ago I was afflicted with rheumatism, having had it for the past ten years. After taking four or five bottles of your Remedy, I gradually commenced improving, and am so far recovered as to attend to my business without trouble. I have been taking your Remedy regularly for twelve months, and can recommend it for rheumatism and indigestion, also as a valuable tonic. Respectfully, P. J. TURNBULL.

The Bazaar. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church had their bazaar Wednesday, Thursday and Friday last. It opened Wednesday evening with a Mother Goose opera. This was by several boys and girls under the management of Mrs. Pendleton. There were some tiny little folks in it and it was remarkable how perfectly each part was performed. The opera was so excellent that by request it was repeated in Germania Hall Friday night. The bazaar was very successful throughout. Such articles as remained unsold up to 9 o'clock Friday evening were auctioned off by Alex. Heilbroer, and the way he rattled them off sounded almost like a big tobacco break. The ladies made about $75. Fire at Sparta. News came down Monday that incendiaries tried to burn up the village of Old Sparta, in Edgecombe county, Sunday night. A little past midnight a light shining into the sleeping apartment of a gentleman awoke him. He looked out and saw fire burning in a lot of cotton stored in a shed. He awoke others and they together started to a store to awake the clerks. Reaching the store they found the door open and that building was also burning on the inside. Enough help was brought together to put out the fire at the store, but the building and stock were damaged about $500. The inside of the store had been saturated with oil. In the cotton shed 75 bales were destroyed. No Paper Next Week. In keeping with the custom that the REFLECTOR has observed since its foundation, we will issue no paper next week. Our patrons always cheerfully accord us this holiday week after a year of hard work. While we call it a holiday, it is not realized as such, as it requires all the week to get our work for the past year straightened up, revise our books and put all plans in readiness for the new year. We can be found at the office every day ready to transact any business connected with the paper, and hope to see many of our friends in to renew their subscription for next year. Returning thanks to every one for their patronage during the year, and wishing all a merry Christmas and a happy new year, the REFLECTOR closes its work for 1892, and will greet you again on the 4th of January. Literary Notes. Put the Cosmopolitan on your list of reading matter for 1893 and you will get a magazine of the highest literary class. It also keeps up with the latest and best inventions and gives a fund of information in every issue about practical matters. The subscription price is $3. Address the COSMOPOLITAN, Broadway, Fifth avenue and 26th St., New York. Something every lady ought to have is a fashion magazine issued by the Toilettes Publishing Co., at 126 West 23rd street, New York. We have received a number and while not a perfect judge of fashions ourselves, the fashion side of the household says Toilettes is the correct magazine. Persons wishing good household reading for 1893 can get something excellent in Wide Awake, published by D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, at $2.50 a year. The list for next year contains four splendid serial stories, besides a great variety of complete articles in every issue. Married. Mr. Lunford Fleming, a prosperous young farmer of this county, left Monday for Ocracoke at which place he will to day marry Miss A. M. Howard. He is expected to reach home Friday with his bride. On last Thursday afternoon, at the home of ex-Judge J. A. Thigpen, two miles from Greenville, his daughter, Miss Lena Thigpen, was married to Mr. O. W. Harrington. They are two very popular young people and have the best wishes of a large number of friends. In the Methodist church at 8 o'clock this morning, Miss Annie Brown, a most charming and beautiful young lady of this town, will be married to Mr. J. D. Bullock, a prominent young business man of Oxford. Rev. R. B. John will perform the ceremony. The attendants are Mr. R. M. Hester, of Oxford, with Miss Ella Frizzle, of Washington, and Mr. F. T. Meadows, of Oxford, with Miss Annie Perkins, of Greenville. Miss Hortense Forbes plays the wedding march and Messrs. Alex. Heilbroer, R. L. Hubber, J. A. Ricks and Bronson Jarvis are ushers. The happy couple take the morning train for Oxford followed by the best wishes of all our people. Dwelling Mysteriously Burned. Mr. D. L. Whichard, who lives about 8 miles from Greenville in the Grande Creek section, lost his dwelling house and contents by fire on Tuesday night of last week. The circumstances surrounding the burning are very mysterious. On Monday night an unknown man halted at the home of Mr. Whichard, and when the latter went out told him that his wife's sister, who lived over in Martin county, was very sick, and if they wanted to see her alive they had better go there. The stranger also said that as he was coming from Martin on this way he passed the house and the family asked him to stop and deliver his message at Mr. Whichard's. Mrs. Whichard was attracted by the conversation between her husband and the stranger and started out to where they were talking. As she drew near them the stranger retreated and she did not recognize him. Next day Mr. Whichard took his wife to the home of her sister and found the latter in perfect health, and that no message had been sent as told by the stranger. This led Mr. Whichard to believe that something was wrong and he turned to go back home at once. He stopped at his father's just after night, left his wife there, borrowed a gun and accompanied by one of his brothers went on to his home. When he came in sight of his house about 7:50 o'clock it was on fire. As he drew nearer he thought he saw a man with a torch walk through the house. He stopped to hit his horse and ran up to the house but could not see any one. He only had time to save one bed from the building, everything else being destroyed. There was no insurance. Mr. Whichard believes the house was robbed and then set on fire. Female Weakness Positive Cure. To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the thousand and one ills which arise from deranged female organs. I am glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any lady if they will send their Express and P. O. address. Your respectfully, Dr. C. A. Marchis, Uxio, N. C.

COTTON MARKET. (Reported by Cobb Bros.) NORFOLK, VA., Dec. 16, 1892.—Under the steady reduction in the movement of cotton the opinions of operators are steadily becoming more pronounced as to the material shortness of the crop. That is reflected in the strengthening of the markets and the effect on values would have been more perceptible if it were not for the depressing and injurious influence of the Hatch Anti-Opiation bill which is certainly a dangerous and ill-advised measure for the interests of cotton producers. The depressed condition of trade abroad has been an important factor in the situation but with an adjustment of labor troubles, which will in all likelihood be had after the new year comes in it is fair to look for a revival of trade. With this result and the defeat of the Hatch Anti-Opiation bill we think it only reasonable to look for improvement in the market. WEEKLY PORT MOVEMENT. 1892 1891 Receipts at U. VAUGHAN & BARNES, COMMISSION --:-- MERCHANTS Norfolk, Va. The movement of the cotton crop thus far this season would indicate that there was some foundation for the bad crop accounts readily reaching us from all parts of the cotton territory, if so staple is selling too cheap and parties wishing to hold for higher prices can do so by shipping it to us and drawing for $25.00 per bale on same and having it held for six months is so desired. Faithfully yours, VAUGHAN & BARNES.

"Seeing is Believing." And a good lamp must be simple; when it is not simple it is not good. Simple, Beautiful, Good—these words mean much, but to see "The Rochester" will impress the truth more forcibly. All metal, tough and seamless, and made in three pieces only, it is absolutely safe and unbreakable. Like Aladdin's old, it is indeed a "wonderful lamp," for its marvelous light is purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light and more cheerful than either. Look for this lamp—THE ROCHESTER. If the lamp dealer has not the genuine Rochester, and the style you want, send us for our new illustrated catalogue and we will send you a lamp safely by express—your choice of over 3,000 varieties from the Largest Lamp Store in the World. ROCHESTER LAMP CO., 42 Park Place, New York City. "The Rochester."
