HOW TO KEEP SWEET POT-TOES.

Editor Richmond Dispatch:

In a recent issue of the Dispatch the agricultural editor tells an inquiring correspondent "how to keep sweet potatoes through the winter."

The method so well and learnedly described doubtless meets all the requirements of those who make sweet potato culture one of leading crops of the farm, but to the small farmer not provided with the potato bins described, with neither the means to maintain the indicated temperature nor the soil conditions necessary for the construction of dry cellars, the mode given does not commend itself.

But to the average farmer, who raises from fifty to one hundred bushels for consumption upon the farm, the following directions, if faithfully observed, will enable him to keep his crop through the winter, be the weather ever so cold (that is, not abnormal for this climate) without the constant vigilance and expense required by the housing process.

After the second frost when the potatoes shall have been thoroughly matured, harvest the crop, preferably on a warm, sunny day, dig early in the day, giving the tubers the advantage of the day's sun; prepare the foundation for the hills upon high, well drained land by making a round bed about eight feet in diameter and six inches above the surface level, and place upon this old crop pine straw, well trampled, twelve inches in depth. Handle the tubers carefully in baskets, discarding all cut potatoes, and place them upon the bed in a conical shape by hand, putting not more than twenty bushels in any one hill.
When the hills are all completed, cover carefully with pine straw commencing around the base, to the thickness of two feet. Let them remain in this condition about ten or fifteen days for the moisture to evaporate; then cover with earth to the depth of four inches, packing and smoothing with a shovel, insert a 4 inch tile on the south side of the hill, inclined downward, to keep out the rain, and secure ventilation.

Keep a load or two of surplus straw by the hills, and if the temperature falls more than 8 or 10 degrees below freezing point, cover them with straw as a further protection against the intense cold. Treated this way, eating potatoes and slips, or seed potatoes, will keep perfect through the winter.

He Prayed, Arose and Walked.

After lying in bed for two years utterly helpless, a victim of seemingly incurable spinal trouble, Eliza R. Pyle, of West Barnard street, in this borough, has just left his couch, and professes to have been cured entirely through the instrumentality of prayer; the doctors having considered his case hopeless.

The cure took effect certainly without the aid of medicine or surgery, two days ago, and it greatly astonished Mr. Pyle's family and his physician. The confirmed invalid had been fearfully injured by being thrown over an embankment in a run-a-way accident near Bethlehem, seven years ago. After a long siege of illness he recovered and resumed his business as a miller; but was again prostrated twenty-two months ago—this time with a spinal disease so serious as to throw him into convulsions every time he was moved in his bed.

Two days ago, pursuant to his announcement that the Lord was about to answer his prayers and cure him, Mr. Pyle arose from his bed, dressed himself and walked about the room. Since then he has been rapidly mending.—West

A Hard Winter Predicted.

It is customary as this time of the year for weather prophets to announce what the future season will be. The well-known Hicks, who has proved to be well posted on more than one occasion, says the winter will begin about the middle of November with storms, some of them very severe. He adds this advice: "We candidly think that the man who begins early and prepares for a disagreeable winter will have no regrets, but causes for rejoicing."

How the Farmer is Swindled.

The rapid growth of the cotton oil industries has developed a business in the purchase of cotton seed by "seed agents" from the farmer and the sale of them to oil mills, in which there is about the usual proportion of "tricks of the trade" found as in other occupations.

In North and South Carolina the legal bushel of cotton seed is 30 pounds. When seed are selling at say 12 cents per bushel this amount ought to be paid for each 30 pounds. Many agents, however, when they find themselves hard pushed by competitors simply raise the price a cent or two per bushel and deliberately reckon the weight of a bushel at 32, 35 or even as high as 37 pounds per bushel. One buyer who had no scales told a mill man that he wanted no scales because he could make more money guessing at weights.

A common trick of local buyers is to offer seed to several mills and to claim to each mill that some other mill has offered more than has been offered at all. All farmers should know that 30 pounds of seed is the legal bushel and when more are taken it simply means that the price is less.

The oil mills all pay the local buyers for seed at the rate of 30 pounds per bushel. Therefore all the seed the buyer can get from the farmer at a rate exceeding 30 pounds the excess is all profit to the local buyer. It is to the interest of both the oil men and the farmer to insist upon the standard bushel of 30 pounds being adhered to in all cases and this can be easily done because it is a crime in all States to falsify weights and measures.—Raleigh News.

The Tennessee Methodist conference was in session at Knoxville last week. On the last day a resolution was introduced pledging the ministers and delegates to support any political party which endorses the cause of temperance and has a temperance plank in its platform. There was vigorous opposition to the adoption of a resolution that pledged the members to any party, and it was defeated. The preachers are all temperance men, but they are not yet ready to join themselves to the woman's rights party, which has a temperance plank as a tail to the kite.—Con-

The cry of "hard times" is a Godsend to the man who does not pay his debts, says the Parsons Sun. It serves as an excellent excuse and at this time it is his stock in trade. There is a class that catch on to all subterfuges that will assist them in any way to ward off creditors, and the principal cry of hard times comes from that class of people. If each and every person would do his duty toward his neighbor and creditors by paying past and running debts this cry of hard times would vanish as the dew before the morning sun and at such time it is the duty of every man to make it a point that his small debts, particularly, are squared, it is the obligation of every citizen to pay as quickly as possible.
One dollar put into circulation can pay a great many debts and the cry of hard times will be greatly lessened.

The Senate adjourned last Friday without having acted upon the nomination of Mr. Kope Elias for collector in the Western District and Hon. F. M. Simmons of the Eastern District of North Carolina. Their nominations had been kept from being reported to the Senate by the Finance Committee through the influence and at the suggestion of Senator Vance, who has openly opposed these men, at least Mr. Elias, and had Mr. Simmons held back until he could see what he could do with Mr. Elias. When the Senate adjourned without having acted upon these nominations it made them of no effect and the offices were vacant. On the same afternoon, however, the body adjourned. Mr. Cleveland had commissions issued to both of these gentlemen for the respective places for which they had been nominated and this continues Mr. Elias in the office he is already filling and puts Mr. Simmons in the place to which he had been appointed long ago, and from which he has been kept through one of our Democratic Senators who has been quoted largely as saying "the horse that pulls the plow ought to eat the fodder." The people of North Carolina know whether Mr. Simmons has been pulling the plow. They know what noble service he has done for the party. No single act of Mr. Cleveland's since he has been President will give more general satisfaction to the Democrats of North Carolina than his reappointment of these two excellent gentlemen to these places. Their nominations will now come before the regular session of the Senate in December and it is evident that they will be confirmed.

Col. Hoge, of Virginia, who was early in this administration appointed as United States Consul to Amoy, China, was last week recalled by President Cleveland. Col. Hoge had gone as far as San Francisco and was to have sailed from that city for China on the afternoon of the day the President's telegram reached him. The dispatches about the matter said several charges had been lodged against Col. Hoge, one of them affecting his sobriety. Later reports say the charges are more serious than anticipated, and are defined to be failure to pay his bills. It is also said that he failed to account for money collected by him for clients and given him in trust. President Cleveland evidently believes in sobriety and honesty in his officials, and if these charges against Col. Hoge are true no one will object to his recall.

What think those who have been harping that the administration was trying to demonize silver of the fact that there is to be a beginning of the coinage of silver after it has been stopped for two or three years? This, too, remember, immediately after the repeal of the Sherman law which it was said would do away with silver. It is said there is to be about four millions of dollars coined per month and this is to be continued until silver circulation is increased one hundred and fifty millions of dollars. Wonder what the "Reflector" papers will say about this. Gentlemen, be easy, the country is safe when the Democrats rule. Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Carlisle may make what seems to us mistakes, but they are informed and know what they are about, and we are a little more than ever inclined to give them a chance without complaint. They have never been found wanting yet.

When the Southern farmers produce their own food crops and meat, and make cotton a surplus crop they will be largely independent of currency contractionists.—Salisbury Herald.

The Judgeship made vacant by the recent death of Judge Bond has been tendered to Senator Ransom by President Cleveland. Mr. Ransom declines to accept it for at least two reasons: one that he prefers remaining in the United States Senate, and again that he believes a younger man ought to have the position. Senate Ransom would have adorned the place that has been tendered him, but can do better service to the people of his State in the position he has so honorably, successfully and nobly filled for the past twenty-two years. He is especially being felt in the present administration being one of the oldest and best informed men in the Senate.

Elections were held in several States yesterday but we go to press too early to get any information as to results. We feel safe in saying however, that our sister State, Virginia, has gone largely Democratic and that the Populists were not even in it. Ohio has had an interesting campaign but has in all probability gone Republican, though many have thought Neal would give McKinley a close race for Governor. Should the Democrats make gains in the States voting yesterday it will add much strength to the present administration.

Mrs. Muggie S. Caldwell, wife of Mr. J. P. Caldwell, editor of the Charlotte Observer, died at her home in Statesville at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, of typhoid fever. She was 35 years old and leaves a husband and four children. Not only every editor in North Carolina, but all who know him throughout the State and elsewhere, sympathize deeply with Mr. Caldwell in this loss of the companion of his life. The news of her death carried sorrow to many hearts.

The steamship, City of Alexandria, belonging to the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship Company, was destroyed by fire near Havana on last Thursday morning. Thirty-four lives were lost. The vessel was a very valuable one.

With Congress adjourned until the first Monday in December, not so much interest will centre upon Washington as during the last few months. The tariff bill will be one of the first to come up for consideration at the regular session.

DEMOCRATIC PRESS.

Politicians very often pander and cringe and make themselves ridiculous trying to find out which side the largest number of voters are going to take on public questions; but not so with the Press. If the politicians would cease their temporizing and stand at all times, off years as well as election years, as honestly and boldly for Democratic platforms and Democratic principles as the Democratic papers always do, there would not be half the work necessary to carry the year.

It keeps the Press busy the first half of every campaign year clearing away the rubbish and mending the blunders the politicians have made in the interval between elections. The people of North Carolina have new cause to be proud of the course the Press of the State has taken during the last few months. Regardless of what the effect might be on their business and individual interests, the Democratic papers, with a very few exceptions, have stood by the Chicago platform in demanding the repeal of the Sherman law—conditionally or unconditionally—and by President Cleveland in his efforts to make good the promises of that platform. Again in the assault that has been made against two of the leading appointees of Mr. Cleveland, nineteen out of every twenty Democratic papers have stood squarely by the President and his appointees. And we are glad to find that the people are standing by the Press this year on these positions better than we have ever known them before.—Newton Enterprise.

This is the Right Sort of Talk.

If all the churches in the land were to turn out members who refuse to pay their debts there would be fewer members, but the world would have confidence in those who were left in Zion. Then membership in the church would be a badge of distinction worth more than gold and rubies. It is a good sign to see the religious press agitating the subject. It is a theme for the pulpit and for the prayer meeting. Dishonest men should have their place with scandal mongers and blasphemers and should wear a collar or badge of a criminal. A healthy sentiment is growing against dishonesty. One of the chief causes of dishonesty is extravagance and an attempt to fly high, when your wings are too short.—Asheboro Courier.

Mr. Julius S. Carr, at the State Fair, hit the nail on the head when he put up a placard on his exhibit of the products of his Oconeechee farm bearing these words: "How the Oconeechee farm solves the silver question: take care of the farm and the ratio will take care of itself."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4, 1893.

President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are both firm in the belief that the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law, now an accomplished fact, will soon bring about a state of affairs that will make the much-talked about issue of bonds unnecessary, and neither of them wishes to issue bonds until circumstances shall make such an issue absolutely necessary. The Democrats in Congress, or at least a majority of them, would like to escape authorizing an issue of bonds, if it can possibly be done. It will be much easier for President Cleveland to speak positively and definitely on the bond question a month or two from now, and it is probable that his message to the regular session of Congress will take a decided stand one way or the other on the subject, and I venture the prediction that the state of business, public and private, for the next month will decide which, if the expected increase in business shall result in largely increasing the revenues of the government, as Secretary Carlisle believes it will, the administration can get through without bonds.

The movement for a change in the rules of the Senate is growing quite rapidly, and it is among the probabilities that a change will be made early in the regular session. Formal amendments to the rules have this week been proposed by Senators Hill and Blackburn, and other Senators speak of offering others. All of these will be referred to the committee on Rules, which will, it is believed, in due time report an amendment that will accomplish the end aimed at—give the majority of the Senate the authority to order a vote whenever it may think that the debate has been sufficiently prolonged, an authority possessed by the House and by nearly every legislative body in the world. Unless the Republicans shall oppose the change, it is expected that it will be easily accomplished.

Representative Bailey, of Texas, thinks Uncle Sam pays out lots of money without receiving anything approaching an equivalent in return therefor. He has introduced two bills, each of which he thinks will stop a big leak of that kind. One of them provides for the repeal of the laws providing for the payment of retired army and navy officers, and that the pay of such officers heretofore paid shall cease when the bill becomes a law. The other repeals the laws providing for the payment of retired judges from the U. S. courts and stops the pay of all those now on the retired list. Whether there is any probability of either of these bills becoming laws it is too early to say; but Mr. Bailey is thoroughly in earnest and will do his best to push them through.

Mr. J. S. Harrison, of Kansas City, ex-President of the Kansas Democratic brother, is in Washington seeking an office. He wants to be Surveyor at Kansas City.

While all of the Senators and Representatives are doubtless glad of the opportunity to go home for a few days before the beginning of the regular session, there are quite a number of prominent Democrats who expressed the opinion that it would have been better to have left the extra session run right along until the time for beginning the regular session. The majority, however, thought that no time would be saved by remaining in session, and the majority rules, usually.

One real reform was adopted by Congress this week when it decided that bills which pass either House or Senate shall be printed instead of being enrolled by hand. It is believed that this change will prevent many and costly errors which have occurred during the closing hours of every session of Congress, in the enrollment of bills.

In reply to a question as to what action the President had taken on the report that emissaries of several European nations were secretly aiding the Brazilian revolution and that their purpose was to overthrow the republic and re-establish the monarchy, a prominent official, not a member of the cabinet, said: "I am not at liberty to enter into details, but you can rest assured that this administration will assert the Monroe doctrine and protect the commercial interests of American citizens in Brazil and elsewhere at all hazards, and it will do it without the bluster and jingoism which characterized President Harrison's dealings with Chili." All of the facts concerning the Brazilian revolution in the possession of the State department were laid before the cabinet this week and a unanimous agreement was reached, the nature of which was not, for obvious reasons, made public.

In preparing the land for small grain and also for covering the seed it cannot be surpassed. Several sizes made, from 8 ft. to 14 ft. Call and see how the Harrow works.

THE REFLECTOR. Local Reflections.

Rocky Mount Fair this week.
Already Christmas goods are being talked.
The man with nothing else to do goes hunting.
Some work on the streets commenced last week.
Newborn has just been shipping a lot of green peas.
Corn shuckings are numerous throughout the country.
An elegant assortment of large pearl buttoned Lang's.
The Thanksgiving turkey is being cooped and fed high.
The President has named Thursday, 31st as Thanksgiving Day.
The walls to Tyson & Rawls' new bank building started up Friday.
The Town Council held its regular monthly meeting Monday night.
Every one who reads Public Opinion, Washington, is delighted with it.
You cannot be too careful about fire and burglar. Look out and lock up.
The Page Hotel at Sanford was destroyed by fire last Wednesday night.
A colored juvenile society had a celebration and parade Saturday afternoon.
The first Monday crowd in town was a little larger on last Monday than usual.
Shiff King advertised several tracts of land to satisfy executions in his hands.
Several of our people were talking of going up to the Rocky Mount fair which begins today.
Tobacco breaks not so heavy last week as for some weeks previous. The price was lower.
Two more oyster boats came up Monday, and the live ones went off like—well, just like fat oysters.
Larry Heilbroner is now ready to furnish weather to order. Consult him when you want a change.
A little four year old son of Mr. J. H.
Manning of Beaver Dam township, died on Tuesday last week.
From the number of people in the stores during the past week we judge that trade is picking up considerably.
Do you want to rent or lease a fine tobacco, corn, cotton or peanut farm?
See Andrew Joyner's ad in this issue.
The New Home Sewing Machine took the premium over all others at the World's Fair. Wiley Brown sells them.
Don't forget Rob Smith will be back this week with the finest lot of Horses and Mules ever offered for sale on this market.
Some one has said that "a man's moon is made to tick and eat," yet he often hurts himself dreadfully by talking and kill himself eating.
The County Medical Society held their monthly meeting Monday night at the office of the Superintendent of Health, Dr. W. H. Bagwell.
All who possibly can should attend the meeting in the Baptist church this week and next. It pays people to make sacrifices in matters of religion. Services begin each night at 7 o'clock.
Messrs. Cobb, Bros. & Co., of Norfolk, have sent the REFLECTOR a very handsome book on Norfolk and its environs.
The book contains 200 pages and is splendidly illustrated.
The Reflector Book Store receives subscriptions for any newspaper or magazine wanted. You can save yourself the trouble and expense of writing the orders by leaving your subscriptions here.
Here is something that don't happen every day—Mr. W. H. White is Treasurer of Greenville, and we see from the Salisbury Herald the same man—or rather one with exactly the same name—is Treasurer of Salisbury.
There's an old song that says "spring would be but gloomy weather if we had nothing else but spring", but if a body could not be satisfied with a continuation of just the weather we had last week, that body was not built to be satisfied.
The price of the New Peterson Magazine, Philadelphia, has been reduced to 80¢ per year. While this reduction is made in price the standard of the magazine is by no means reduced. Every number is especially interesting and attractive.
Last week the Pitt County Riders received their new uniforms. The boys will come out in them for the first time at the drill next Friday afternoon.
Those who have seen to the armory and tried on their suits say the fit is perfect.
An exchange says "the man who does not take his house paper should be assumed to borrow it from his neighbor to read." Lots of them do this, and it is usually the borrower who does the most kicking about what the paper has or does not have in it.
The attractive array of advertising in the REFLECTOR betokens the business enterprise of our merchants. There are some elegant stocks in Greenville and prices are as low as can be found anywhere. It will pay the trading public to consult our advertising columns often.
The Salisbury Herald recently told of a little nine-year-old girl in Rowan county, who picked 101 pounds of cotton in a day, and wanted to know who could beat it. Albert Brown, a little eight-year-old girl of Carolina township, this county, picked 116 pounds in a day.
HORSES AT AUCTION.—On Tuesday, Nov. 14th, McLeary and McClellan, proprietors Norfolk Horse Exchange, Norfolk, Va., will resume their weekly auction sales of horses and mules. They invite all interested to attend the resulting sale, as they will offer about 200 head of very attractive stock, among them two car loads from Mr. C. L. Re-con, of Kansas, Ill., who last year supplied some of the best stock ever offered on the market. The auction sales will take place every Tuesday. Remember the place for good stock. McLeary & McClellan, Norfolk, Va.

Personal.
Mr. S. T. White spent part of last week in Richmond.

byterian Synod in Tarboro last week.

ville and Richmond tobacco markets last

Blount, of Washington, will be married wood.

sorry that his health was not much improved by the trip.
Mr. O. H. Oker returned Monday from a trip to St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Cincinnati where he had been purchasing stock for this market.
Rev. J. H. Lamberth commenced the series of meetings in the Baptist church Sunday night, and is preaching excellent sermons. Dr. Huffman telegraphed Monday that he was too well to come.
Mr. Claude Monticor, of Richmond, has been spending the past week with his sister, Mrs. A. L. Blow. Claude has a great many friends here, where he spent much of his boyhood, and they were all glad to see him.
Mr. Allen Warren, senior proprietor of Riverside Nursery, has been selected Vice President for the first Congressional district of the State Horticultural Society. It would be hard to make a better selection than this.
Accident.
Mr. Ferd Williams, living near Whiteland's station, came near being killed on Tuesday evening of last week.
He was thrown from a mule and fell upon his head. For several hours after the fall it was thought he would die.
Worthy Case.
A woman with three little children was before the Board of County Commissioners Monday, seeking aid.
After giving her what they deemed consistent from the county fund, some of the members and a few gentlemen present added to the amount from their pockets. There are few better men than our Board of County Commissioners.
Mrs. Hozier Dead.
Mrs. Richard Hozier, whose critical illness from a stroke of paralysis was mentioned two weeks ago died on Tuesday evening of last week at 4 o'clock at the home of her son, Mr. J. D. Williams.
The remains were taken to the depot Wednesday morning and carried to Suffolk, Va., her former home, for interment. The pall bearers were Mr.
Messers, C. C. Pearce, D. C. Rountree, C. T. Munford, J. E. Stuckey, J. S. C.
Benjamin and D. J. Shickard. Several members of the family and Mr. Benjamin accompanied the remains to Suffolk.
Thanksgiving Closing.
The business men of Greenville have for a few years past been in the habit of closing up their places on Thanksgiving Day, and suspend business for the day. It is right and proper that this should be done, and we feel justified in saying that the practice will not be reversed on the approaching Thanksgiving Day. Within the next week a REFLECTOR representative will go among the business men and get for publication in the next issue the names of all who will close that day, so that the people throughout the country may be informed all business will be suspended here that day. If all close no one will lose anything.

Burglars and Thieves.
The house of Mr. Bently Harris at Farmville, was entered by a burglar last Thursday night while the inmates were out visiting, and all Mrs. Harris' jewelry, consisting of watch and chain, rings, bracelets, &c., and also what money was in the house was stolen.
The thief seemed to have examined everything in the trunks and bureau drawers but he was searched and many of their contents scattered over the floor. One of Mrs. Harris' rings was found on the piazza next morning. No clue to the thief, who evidently was acquainted with the house and was only intent on the money and jewelry, as nothing else was.
On Friday a smart thief went into Capt. Richard Williams' house near Falkland and helped himself to a watch and pistol. Capt. Williams was about the premises and soon discovered his loss as well as seeing the thief, who was a negro man and an old penitentary convict. He gave chase but thinking discretion the better part of valor and not caring to be shot with his own pistol, he went to Capt. John King's got a gun and started in pursuit, not however before the thief had gone beyond observation.

Weather Signals.
A pole has been erected on top of the building over the REFLECTOR office from which weather signals will hereafter be displayed. A telegram is received every afternoon between 12 and 4 o'clock giving the indication for the next 24 to 36 hours, and the flags will be but up promptly giving the information to the public. Cards giving the meaning of signals have been tacked up in front of the REFLECTOR office and M. R. Lang's store and were also distributed as far as the supply would admit. By a little study of the signals one can soon become familiar with them. The white flag in its clear or fair weather; the blue flag, local rains; the white and blue flag, local rains; the black triangular flag, temp. rare signal, which if placed above another flag means that the temperature will rise or fall below another flag means falling temperature or colder; white flag with black square in center, cold wave. When more than one flag is displayed their meaning may be read together beginning with the top flag. Mr. Larry Heilbroner is Observer for this station.

TOBACCO DEPARTMENT

Conducted by O. L. JOYNER, Proprietor Eastern Tobacco Warehouse.

A BUSINESS VIEW OF GREENVILLE'S FUTURE.

There is no town within the borders of North Carolina that has a brighter prospect of future progress than Greenville. Situated as it is in the western part of the eastern or tide water belt renders its climate delightful and healthy. Its soft and genial atmosphere is often compared to the climate of Northern Italy and Southern France, whose balmy and sunny shores are annual resorts of numbers of our rich American tourists.

The rich alluvial lands by which it is surrounded makes it one of the finest agricultural and trucking sections in the world. The variety of soils with which nature has so abundantly blessed this section of our State presents a striking advantage in the diversification of crops. Almost any product that is grown throughout the United States, tobacco, cotton, corn, wheat, oats, peas, sweet and Irish potatoes and all kinds of garden vegetables and fruit can be successfully grown anywhere and in any direction in a radius of ten miles of Greenville.

For a number of years the only means of transportation available to the people of Greenville and surrounding country was a line of steamers that connected with Norfolk, Va., but within the last four years the Scotland Neck branch of the W. & W. R. R. has been built and now it connects with all points north and south and is within twenty-four hours ride of Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

The North Carolina Experiment Station is doing much for this section of the State in the way of distributing grasses and encouraging stock farming. Until a very few years ago the farmers of this section depended only on cotton as their source of revenue, while now they are becoming more independent in the cultivation of tobacco, truck, etc., and in the production of most of their articles of home consumption such as meat, flour, corn, etc. Another, and one of the most important features in connection with the future progress of Greenville is the fact that the tobacco market that is being rapidly established here is bringing the farmers and their trade from a number of counties that formerly Greenville has not been reaching. For an instance there are a number of farmers who will this year plant heavily of tobacco from near Vanceboro, in Craven county. They all have been selling their tobacco in Greenville. They commenced here and being impressed with the market will of course continue and this year will sell largely on this market. Now if the merchants here are business men and care as they should about the success and trade of their town they will establish a trade with these farmers and hence do that much more business that has usually been going to Newbern and Vanceboro. And so it is with the farmers of Greene and Lenoir and other places who will under proper business management do most of the trading here.

All of those things tend to build up a town and of course the more business that is done here the larger number of people are going to be benefited.

That a brighter day is dawning for the people of Greenville no intelligent observer of the times will dispute. That under ordinary circumstances Greenville with the best natural advantages and largest back ground of any town in the State will eventually be the leading city of Eastern North Carolina we believe time will reveal before many years. And now let all rally to the front and help build up one another's interest and not wait for one man to do all the work. This writer is directly interested in the tobacco industry here, yet he wants to see every other interest prosper from a sense of pride in domestic enterprises, believing at the same time that the success of others will tend to his prosperity and to that end what talent and energy he has will be directed.

Cooper's arelation, at Henderson, N. C., has been making the past week fine sales of new bright tobacco. All bright tobacco free from green is selling at Cooper's fully as well as at this date last year. Try him with a shipment of bright tobacco.

Party Lines on The Repeal Vote.

The party divisions on the repeal bill are as follows:

For repeal: Democrats, 20; Republicans, 23.
Against repeal: Democrats, 19; Republicans, 10; Populists, 3.

Democrats voting for repeal: Bruce, Caffery, Camden, Fauquier, Gibson, Gorham, Gray, Hill, Hanton, Lindsay, McPherson, Mills, Mitchell of Wisconsin, Murphy, Ransom, Smith, Turpie, Vila, Voornees and White of Louisiana.

Republicans voting for repeal: Aldrich, Carey, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Fry, Gallinger, Hale, Hawley, Higgins, Hoar, Lodge, McMillan, Manderson, Morrill, Platt, Proctor, Quay, Sherman, Squire, Stockbridge and Washburn.

Democrats voting against repeal: Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Butler, Call, Cockrell, Coke, Daniel, George, Harris, Irby, Jones of Arkansas, Martin, Pasco, Pugh, Roach, Vance, Vest and Walthall.

Populists voting against repeal: Allen, Kyle and Peffer.—Charlotte Observer.

Try Cooper, at Henderson, with some fine white tobacco and he will please you. Send your tobacco where you can get the cash for it. Cooper is always "well healed."

Do Not Be Critical.

Whatever you do, never set up for a critic. I do not mean a newspaper one, but in private life, in the domestic circle. If you don't like any one else's nose or object to any one's manners, don't put your feelings into words. If any one's manners don't please you, remember your own. People are not all made to suit one taste—recollect that. Take things as you find them unless you can alter them for the better. Continual fault finding, continual criticism of the conduct of this one, and the speech of that one, and the dress of the other will make home the unhappiest place under the sun. Always tugging and working at the chain that galls only makes it dig deeper.—Exchange.

Cooper, at Henderson, pays you for your tobacco in currency or his check as you may desire.

Senator Sherman admits the courage and ability of President Cleveland in a way few other Republicans do however much they may be impressed. He says:

Cleveland is, perhaps, the broadest minded man that ever sat in the President's chair. Beyond any of his predecessors he has the courage and the faculty of pushing all cabal aside and of addressing himself directly to the people. Friends, personal following, party, are nothing to him as compared to the welfare of the people. With my natural distrust of all Democrats I might be tempted to look upon this phase of Cleveland's conduct merely as a bit of the ablest of politics, but in honesty I must admit that I have watched this man in all the crises of the national life in which he has had part, and I cannot shake off the conviction of his superb abilities, and his magnificent patriotism.

Every new exposition tries to do something that will be more astonishing than was done by its predecessors. In this straining after novelties, Antwerp, in Belgium where an exposition is to be held next year, is entertaining a startling project that shall surpass any of the monstrous contrivances in Chicago.

Antwerp proposes the construction of what is called an aerial palace. It is to be a structure 98 feet long, supported in the air by captive balloons, and cable of containing 150 persons. It will be kept at heights varying from 920 to 1,600 feet, and access to it will be had by means of smaller balloons to be run up and down at frequent intervals. When the wind reaches too great velocity for safety, the whole structure will be hauled down.

Building castles in the air has heretofore been purely imaginative, but Antwerp means to make it practical.

The old saying "easy come, easy go" is illustrated in the case of Richard Peniston, of New York, who drew the grand $500,000 prize in the Havana Lottery in 1873, ran through it inside of six years and died the other day inmate of a charitable institution.
