The above Commission Men are no strangers to you. They have been thoroughly tried, not by jury, but by the majority of the Truckers—not only of Eastern Carolina, but of the United States, and have been found guilty of returning as much or more for your products than any men in the business. You can readily see from the date of establishing to the present time that they must have been guilty of square dealing, or they would not still be holding Truckers' products same as they did 10 to 50 years ago. Now, to verify this statement, we say we have been in the market with these concerns for three years or more, and refer you to a few of our shippers at each point. Had we the space of the REFLECTOR we could not name them all.

New as space has about given out and we cannot mention more of our shippers, if you have a friend around Kinston, Johnsons Mills, Elizabeth City, Ayden, New Bern, or any where else who raises truck, we will deem it a personal favor to us if you will write and ask them about our houses. We are not strangers, neither are our houses, and you will have no trouble in finding out all about us both.

Thinking last season that the Truckers would not want to confine themselves closely to eastern markets, we connected ourselves with the following houses further west:

PARKER BROTHERS,
85 SOUTH WATER STREET, CHICAGO, ILL.

W. E. BIGALOW & COMPANY,
CLEVELAND, OHIO.

IRON CITY PRODUCE COMPANY,
PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA.

We sent each of the houses above several cars of potatoes from the following raisers and you would oblige us by writing them: G. A. Phillips, D. T. Tayloe, T. H. Blount, W. H. Stancill, E. S. Simmons, T. W. Latham, J. B. Grimes and J. J. Laughinghouse and ask them who paid the most for their truck last season, and let case rest with them.

Now we want to give our shippers some good advice, as follows: Now if you want to obtain top market prices for your truck, pack it in well filled and sound packages and see that it is closely culled, for you can't fool a Yankee. Well filled and closely culled stock always brings the top of the market. Be careful about specked stock.

Remember W. E. DURYEAS' SONS' shipping mark 35, established 1843, the oldest in America and the best

Stencils, Shippers' Postals, etc., furnished from any of the above houses on application to us. If you are a trucker and wish to be kept posted on the market daily from all the leading cities in America, drop us a postal to that effect, and we will see that you are kept well informed on the markets. Write to us at once for stencils, etc.

PHILOSOPHY FOR TO-DAY.

BY FRANK L. STATION.

The cold has killed the corn off an' blighted all the wheat; The ice is on the peach blossoms an' the apple blossoms sweet; An' the country is in mourning from the mountains to the sea; But the good Lord runs the weather, an' it ain't a-botherin' me!

The bees was out for honey, an' a workin' for their lives; But the blizzard stopped their buzzin', an' they're froze up in their hives; An' there won't be any sweet'nin' for the coffee or the tea; But the good Lord runs the weather, an' it ain't a-botherin' me!

The mookin' birds was singin' jes' the sweetest kind o' notes; But now they're sittin' silent with a flannel round their throats; An' there won't be any music 'till the summer time to be; But the good Lord runs the weather, an' it ain't a-botherin' me!

It don't make any difference what these changin' seasons bring; If it's cold, the fire's a-burnin', an' I if it's hot, the trees is shady, with the breeze a-blowin' free; For the good Lord runs the weather, an' it ain't a-botherin' me!

Cure For Hog Cholera.

I read with interest all the letters I see in your excellent paper in reference to hog cholera. Having suffered dreadfully in property interests, owing to this terrible disease among my hogs, I sought out a simple remedy which has acted like a charm for me, and I send it herein, hoping some of my brother farmers may be benefited thereby. To one pint of kerosene oil put a half pint of spirits of turpentine and two ounces of gum camphor. Shake this up together until the camphor is dissolved, then pour the mixture over your shattered corn, stirring it up so that some will get on all of it, then throw it out to the hogs.

I found that my hogs would eat this in preference to corn without it and I have never had a case since I commenced this remedy.

I had several sick hogs with cholera when I commenced giving them the above, and all but one recovered in less than a week. I had a very fine sow sick at the time and had given her a dose by making it into a ball of dough and shoving it down her throat, she being too sick to eat. The next morning I gave my son a ball of this dough and told him to take one of the hands and go down to where I had left the sow the evening before, and if she was alive to put it down her throat. He soon came back and said: "Pa, if you want me to catch that old sow I'll want more help than you gave me, for she's wild as a buck." In a few moments she came up in a trot and commenced feeding with the other hogs.

I have great faith in this simple remedy, and advise my brother farmers to try it. It costs but a trifle.—R. A. Penick Richmond Dispatch.

An alligator, ten feet and four inches long, was caught in a net in Trent river, a few miles above Newbern last week. He was taken to Newbern alive.

An extra passenger train will be put on the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, as was done last season, to accommodate the summer travel to Morehead.

Raleigh Carolinian.—A miner from Indiana who has been prospecting in this county has found silver at ten different places quite near Raleigh. Gold has also been found. He exhibits specimens.

Charlotte Observer: There is a parrot at the Arlington Hotel which sings incessantly "Johnnie, Get Your Hair Cut." Whenever he strikes his tune he always perches himself on the door of the barber shop.

John Brock, the wife murderer, was sentenced in the Wilmington Criminal Court to thirty years in the State penitentiary, receiving the full penalty, for murder in the second degree, of which he was convicted.

Kinston Free Press: It is almost certain that the Populists in this State will try to win Republican support by antagonizing our excellent county government system. True white men will not support such a movement.

The Globe says two colored men of Durham are building a Ferris wheel and will put it in operation there. It will carry four cars large enough to seat two persons. The wheel will be 25 feet in diameter. The frame work and the four cars have already been completed, and work is now going on upon the wheel.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. R. E. McCracken has an old Bible which is of great value to him and family. It is an English Bible, published in 1752, and has a record of the Carr and Keer families, his ancestors, which to the descendants is of priceless interest and value. He has also a "family tree" sent him by Mr. Robert Kerr, of New Orleans.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FREE TRADE AND PROTECTION.

This country is getting nearer and nearer to free trade. The people are every year getting a clearer understanding of the tariff question. It is not, after all, as much as the protectionists seek to befuddle it, a complicated question. It is merely one of whether it is right to tax one man for the benefit of another. From time immemorial it has been the policy of this government to raise the greater part of its revenues from import duties. In the days when the republic was young it was thought advisable to afford a certain amount of protection to the young and struggling industries, and the idea of revenue and protection was happily blended in our laws; but in late years, and under Republican administration, protection has become the predominant idea, and so we have a class of people who are the special wards of the government, while all the balance are not alone cut adrift from governmental favor but are becoming the bondsmen of the protected classes.

It was resentment of this idea that called the Democratic party to the control of the government in 1892. It is a party which, by its pledges, its history and traditions, is committed to the doctrine of equal government. It regards no one man as better than another no class entitled to privileges that all should not enjoy. Those in the Congress who are true to it are striving to carry its long-time principles into effect, and those who, professing of its faith, are striving to balk it of its purposes, are carrying badges of everlasting infamy. In spite of foes without and traitors within it will execute its designs. The Congress will pass a tariff bill. It will not be wholly responsive to the demands of the people; it will not be all that they have promised them nor all that they promise a right to expect of it; but it will pass a bill which will be in the direction of revenue reform, and the people, seeing its designs, will, we firmly believe, re-commission it for another four or six years, to carry on the work which it has just begun. We are told that the pending bill will reduce the taxes of the people 25 per cent., or one-fourth. That is not near as much as it should be, but it is a good deal of itself and a deal more in what it promises. The people, getting this much, will demand more, and learning from the argument how hollow and one-sided the protectionist argument is, will eventually, as we said in the beginning, swing to the side of free trade, which is undoubtedly the coming policy of the American government.—Statesville Landmark.

PRESIDENTS who were FARMERS.

In those halcyon times for agriculture ten Presidents of the United States were called from farms:

1. Washington, the land surveyor and farmer, from Mount Vernon.
2. John Adams, of Quincy, who, during the last year of his presidency, said: "I am weary, worn and disgusted to death. I had rather chop wood, dig ditches, make fences upon my poor little farm. Alas! poor farm, and poorer family, what have you lost that your country might be free!"
3. Jefferson, farmer, philosopher and statesman, from Monticello.
4. Madison, farmer and lawyer, of Montpelier, Va.
5. Monroe, farmer, from Oak Hill, Va.
6. John Quincy Adams, from the Quincy farm of 100 acres, near Boston. ("It is said that most of the trees were raised by John Quincy Adams, from the seeds which he was in the habit of picking up in his wanderings. The most peculiar interest attaches to a shellbark hickory which he planted more than fifty years previous to his death. In this tree he took a peculiar satisfaction, but he was an enthusiast in regard to all the trees of the forest, differing in this respect from his father, who was an agriculturalist of the Cat stamp—was more inclined to lay the axe to them than to propagate them.")
7. Andrew Jackson, of the "Hermitage" in Tennessee, who, as farmer, soldier and lawyer, was a most excellent type of the best Americanism. 8. Van Buren, of Kinderhook, N. Y., was called to the presidency from his sheep and wool farm, although he was a lawyer of far above average acquirements and ability.
9. William Henry Harrison, from his farm at North Bend, Ohio.
10. Tyler, of Sherwood Forest Farm, Virginia, where he subsequently died.
11. James K. Polk, of Duck River, Tennessee, also came from the farm to the presidency.

This selection of Presidents from rural homes—from among the farms of the country—illustrates the fact that in those days there was no profession or calling which held a more exalted position in public estimation than that of agriculture.—Secretary J. Sterling Morton, in the June Forum.

The Colonel has Been Badly Treated by the Democratic Party.

There are some unfair people who are disposed to criticize Col. Kitchin for his desertion of the Democratic party. I want to enter my feeble protest against this injustice, and I think I can show to any fair-minded Democrat that he had a perfect right to divorce himself from that ungrateful organization. It seems to have marked him and his for punishment, for their devotion to and self-sacrifice for its principles.

In the first place, just to spite and humiliate the colonel, that party nominated Cleveland, the Honest for the Presidency, when the Colonel distinctly told them that he wanted Hill, the Bandit. In the second place, the party having been successful solely through the agency of the Colonel, its administration gave him only a six-dollar-a-day place when he was far more than worth his pay. And again, the administration only gave place to two of his sons, when there were three of them—sorter of a best two out of three fave, as it were. What free-born, place-loving American citizen could stand such base ingratitude to himself? Then, too, as a Coxeyite solemnly assured me the other day, Col. Kitchin cannot tolerate the wicked frauds on the ballot that are being perpetrated by the corrupt Democracy. Col. Kitchin is a purist in politics and has no sympathy at all with the Ingalls "iridescent dream" theory.—Bohemian, in Charlotte Observer.

Toot Your Horn!

Here are two incidents with a moral: A boy was sent to town to sell some potatoes. He returned at night, and threw down the bag and said sullenly, "Nobody that I met asked me for potatoes. Business must be awful dull!" In the same town there was a boy who went about, bawling at the top of his voice: "Fish, fish—fresh fish!" "What a dreadful noise!" said an angry woman. "Do you hear me?" asked the boy, politely. "Hear you! You can be heard a mile away!" "Well," said the boy, placidly, "that's what I'm hollerin' for. Fish, fish—fresh fish!" If you want people to appreciate your worth, you must let them know what you can do.

THE SECTIONAL PARTY.

There seems to be no limit to the malignant spirit of the Republicans of the North, as witness the following resolution, adopted recently by the Republican State Convention in Pennsylvania:

"We denounce the selection of a Southern Democrat for the Secretaryship of the Interior as a deliberate betrayal of the welfare of our soldiers and sailors, and deplore the needless persecutions and privations to which they have been subjected under that hostile administration."

To appoint a Southern man to be secretary of the department of which the Pension Bureau forms a part is in the opinion of these Pennsylvania malignants a betrayal of the welfare of the Union soldiers and sailors. No, this is not their real opinion, but is a form of words employed to mislead the ignorant voters of Pennsylvania. Instead of being a betrayal of the welfare of the real Union soldiers and sailors, it will be more likely to result to their benefit.

It is a crying shame that twenty-nine years after the end of the war between the States there should still survive in the hearts of Northern soldiers feelings so discreditable to them. The Southern people are just as loyal to the government as the northern people. They would be first to march to the front if volunteers were called on to vindicate the honor of the nation. The leading Republicans of Pennsylvania know as well as we of the South that such is the fact, yet in order to gain a victory over the Democrats they are willing to countenance an unjustifiable and totally false statement. When will the war end?—Richmond Dispatch.

Pension Curiousities.

Baltimore Sun: It is stated as a curious fact that there are now, nearly thirty years after the civil war, 300,000 more persons getting pensions than there were troops in the field on the Union side at any single time during the war. Yet there are 700,000 applications for pensions yet to be acted upon! In June, 1893, the pension roll had 966,012 names and 711,150 claims were pending. The outgo for pensions was $158,155,342, a figure which exceeds all pensions paid by all the nations in the world for all their wars. We pay twice as much as all put together. In fact, if we capitalize our pension payments we find that we are in effect paying interest on a loaded debt equal to the true valuation of all the property in the seceded states in 1861, which was some $5,000,000,000. The war cost some $3,000,000,000; pensions have cost $1,500,000,000. It would have been economical to have settled the differences in 1861 on a cash basis.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Between Father and Son.

We have a great deal to say in our literature about the confidence that should exist between a mother and her daughter, but we ignore altogether too much the frankness that should exist between a father and his son, writes Edward W. Bok, in "At Home with the Editor," in the June Ladies' Home Journal. It is not right to expect that our girls shall bear the whole burden of moral responsibility. Our boys must be taught that the world expects uprightness in a man just as much as it looks for it in a woman. If the men of to-day are protected by an unfair moral discrimination, that is no reason why the men of to-morrow should be so sheltered. If it is for women to elevate their conception of the moral standard for men, it is for the young men of to-day to adjust themselves to that higher measurement. A healthy frankness between the boys of to-day and their fathers is the first step. This is man's part in the aim for social purity. Women must cease their blinking at actions in men which they will not tolerate in women; men, to whom experience has come, must unfold to the younger men. It is a favor to a boy that his feelings shall be analyzed for him by his father; that he be taught that his self-control, or his loss of it, means an ascent or a descent in the social scale. There is no harm in a father pointing out these things to his son; the harm comes when the father neglects to do so. A young man should never be expected in any point of morality to experience what his father can explain and warn him against.

His honor Judge Bynum took a novel, but considerable plan to adjourn court last Monday evening. He asked the jury that was in favor of adjourning, to stand up, whereupon nine of the gentlemen quickly rose to their feet, his honor then declared under the rules of a Democratic government that the majority ruled and that the court stood adjourned until Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.—Statesville Mascot.

The steamer Myers came off the ways last week and made her first trip up the river on Friday, going through to Tarboro. She looks almost like a new boat.

Mr. J. A. Whichard, of Carolina township, dropped in to shake hands, Monday, and leave a bucket of nice country butter that his excellent wife made and told him to bring along.

"Mr. Whichard's brother-in-law" and his brother are perhaps the two best feeling men we can point out this morning. 38 to 13 accounts for it with the former, and a telegram from Salisbury yesterday stating that "it's a girl" is the cause with the latter.

Mr. J. S. C. Benjamin requests us to return his thanks to the good people in the vicinity of Hassel for the many acts of kindness and courteous attention shown him on his recent pleasant visit over there. Mr. J. A. Purvis was especially kind in furnishing conveyance for the party.

Henry Sheppard, tax list taker for Greenville township, is now ready and anxious to take the list of all persons which by law are required to list their poll and property for taxation for the year 1894. All failing to list as required will be returned as delinquents.

The lawn party postponed from last Friday night by Mrs. Lucy Bernard for her school will take place next Friday night and the girls are all on the qui vive for the expected treat. Mrs. Bernard has conducted a very successful school for the past two sessions.

It was a compliment indeed that the Magistrates on Monday re-elected the entire old Board of County Commissioners by such handsome majorities. The Reflector has made use of the expression before, that no county in North Carolina has better Commissioners than Pitt.

Mr. W. C. Haddock told us Monday that he was riding along the road on last Wednesday when six grown minks came out of the woods and ran whining after his horse. The horse was so badly frightened that he had to get down and tie the animal and get a stick after the minks to drive them off. He killed one of them.

The piano recital by Miss Coghill's music class will take place in the Opera House next Tuesday evening, beginning promptly at 8:30. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged to defray expenses. If the admissions amount to more than enough to meet the expenses of the concert the surplus will be given to the benevolent work in the town.

We had hoped that the good rains of last Wednesday and Thursday were general, but farmers in town Monday told us that very little fell in that section of the county lying north of Grindole Creek. In some portions of Bethel and Carolina townships the farms are still too dry and crops are suffering badly for want of rain.

Presbyterian Services.

Rev. Mr. Hines preached in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and Rev. Mr. Summerall at night. Services will be held there next Sunday morning and evening which will be the beginning of a series of meetings to be conducted by Rev. Dr. Morton of Henderson, Dr. Morton is well remembered in Greenville, having conducted a meeting here a few years ago.

Fire in Bethel Township.

Mr. John Whichard informs us of the very narrow escape from fire on last Sunday of Mr. Elisha Turner. The fire is supposed to have started in the woods near the railroad. (Mr. Turner lives about five or six hundred yards from the railroad) and rapidly spread its way to E. S. field fence, destroying about 40 or 50 panels. By hard work, assisted by the neighbors, he succeeded in saving a large portion of it by throwing it down.

Marriage Licenses.

During May Register of Deeds Harding issued licenses to the following couples, three white and eight colored:

White—J. S. Porter and Susan Walker, Thos. M. Flynn and Josephine Moyer, J. R. Cory and Priscilla E. Allen.

Colored—Wm. Pitt and Laura Randall, Fred Hardison and Anna Quinerly, Daniel Blount and Maria Blount, Robert Outley and Ida Albritton, Alex. Selby and Lizzie Rudes, Geo. Bostick and Willie, Solomon Edwards and Dilsey Knight, Henry Nobles and Milla Turnage.

A Splendid Residence.

One of handsomest dwelling houses that has been erected in Greenville is the one built by Mr. H. G. Jones for Prof. W. H. Ragdale and now nearing completion. During the progress of the work the building has been inspected by numbers of our citizens and it has been much admired by all, both as to design and workmanship. It is a two story building with octagonal ends, three rooms below and three above, with a single story annex making in all seven rooms besides kitchen and pantry. No dwelling in town is better planned for convenience and comfort, and Mr. Jones has displayed much skill in the work upon it. His work is so much admired that others of our citizens who contemplate building are having him submit plans and estimates.

Three Weigh 584.

Capt. Bill Parvin, master of the steamer Myers, was whiling away some leisure time around the depot the other evening waiting for the train to come in. He had two of his little (?) boys along with him, and just for the fun of the thing they tried their weight on the automatic scales standing on the platform. The youngest, Dave, only reaches up in the neighborhood of 6 feet 2 and had just sufficiently recovered from a spell of sickness to return to work, but all the same he pushed the pointer down to 179 pounds. Young Bill is not so much for height, being hardly more than 6 feet 10, but when he stepped on the scales the pointer wheeled around to 240 pounds and stayed there until he got off. The captain himself might not be called more than an average man in either height or weight, but he pulled down 165 pounds, which isn't any sorry summer figure. It's not an every day occurrence that you just happen to run up with three members of one family whose combined summer weight is 584 pounds. The Captain says some of his girls are almost as good at weighing as these boys.

Nuptial.

A beautiful marriage took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Briley, near Hassel, Martin county, N. C., on Wednesday, May 30th, 1894. Miss Winnie Briley was happily married to Mr. J. S. C. Benjamin, of Greenville, by Rev. Thos. Lawrence. The attendants were: Miss Fannie Basemore with Mr. W. R. Smith, Miss Maud Moore with Mr. Mayo Rives, Miss Vivvie Rives with Mr. Augustus Salisbury, Miss Mittie Coffield with Mr. Andrew W. Outerbridge.

The bridal presents were numerous and valuable as follows:

Set of China—Mrs. W. M. King and daughters.

Parlor Lamp—Mr. W. R. Smith.

Toilet Set—Messrs. R. Hyman and J. L. Sugg.

Washstand Set—Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Burch.

Silver Sugar Bowl—Miss Vivvie Rives.

Silver Cream Pitcher—Miss Fannie Basemore.

Rocking Chair—Mr. J. D. Williamson.

Silver Spoon-holder—Mrs. D. A. Outerbridge.

One Dozen Table Napkins—Miss Maud Moore.

Two Decorated Cake Plates and Pepper Shake—Mr. Augustus Salisbury.

One Pair Linen Table Cloths—Mr. Andrew W. Outerbridge.

One Pair Damask Towels—Master Wiley J. Brown.

Rocking Chair—Mr. J. A. Andrews.

Parlor Lamp—Mr. Mayo Rives.

Water Set—Miss Minnie Coffield.

A very handsome and substantial present was given by Mr. W. H. Rives consisting of 350 pounds of hams.

The marriage took place about 2:30 o'clock in the evening and after an hour of hand-shaking and congratulations the clever Mr. John A. Purvis with his handsome appearance announced the hour for departure and they all left for the depot at Hassel, and took the train for Greenville, arriving here at 6:30 o'clock. The party proceeded to the hospitable home of Mr. W. H. Rives, about six miles from town, where an elegant supper was spread and a delightful reception held. On last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin took up their residence here and are welcomed by their many friends who wish them a pleasant and happy journey through life. Mr. Benjamin is one of Greenville's best citizens and the bride is one of Martin county's fairest daughters. The Reflector extends happy congratulations.

Died.

Miss Maria Anderson, and aged lady of this town, died last Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. A. Bernard, in which her home had been for a great many years. She was in her 79th year. For some years she had been in poor health, and was confined two months in her last sickness. She knew that she could not get well, and bore her sufferings with Christian patience, waiting bravely the summons from above to lay down the cross and take up the crown. In early life, when living in Newbern, she professed faith in Jesus and united with the Baptist church. She served her Saviour faithfully through life, and fell asleep on Him as peacefully as rests a little child in its mother's arms. The burial took place in the Baptist church yard Friday afternoon, services conducted at the grave by Rev. J. C. McCall. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. J. Cherry, C. D. Rountree, J. White, W. L. Brown, J. S. Smith and H. C. Hooker.

Truly Death is no respecter of persons, the old and the young alike fall before him. One day we mourn the going out of a life that had more than reached the allotted three score years and ten, and the next day we mourn the taking of a tender infant just budding into life. Early Sunday morning, for the second time in less than two years, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. James was visited and one of their children taken. On that morning little Pattie, their infant daughter aged 5 months, died after a few weeks illness. Permitted to live upon the earth long enough to outlive herself around the hearts of fond parents, they are called upon to pass under the rod of affliction, the chorist of love are broken, and the Saviour takes their precious one into his own loving arms. The Father hath need of such jewels in the regions above, and taketh them to make the Heavenly mansions more resplendent with praise. 'Twas Jesus Himself who said of little children "forbid them not to come unto me, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." The bereaved parents have the sympathy of our entire people. May they have the Divine Comforter to sustain them in their sorrow.

The funeral of little Pattie took place at half past five o'clock Monday afternoon in Cherry Hill cemetery, services conducted by Rev. J. C. McCall. Messrs. W. S. Rawls, R. W. King, D. D. Haskett, W. L. Brown, R. J. Cobb, Chas. Laughinghouse, J. R. Moyer and D. J. Whichard were pall bearers.

Meeting of Magistrates.

The Justices of the Peace of the county held a joint meeting with the Board of County Commissioners on Monday for the purpose of making the tax levy for 1894, and to elect a County Superintendent of Public Instruction. The roll call showed 46 Magistrates and 5 Commissioners present.

County Attorney A. L. Blow made a statement for the Commissioners showing that the total receipts for the last fiscal year were nearly $800 more than the expenses for running the county government, and if the Magistrates had no improvements in contemplation the same levy as last year would raise sufficient revenue to meet all expenses for the coming year.

The question of building a vault in the Court House for the protection of the county records was discussed and G. T. Tyson offered the motion that the levy be raised from 20 to 25 cents on the $100 valuation, the surplus to be used in constructing a vault. This motion did not meet with a second.

J. J. Laughinghouse stated that under the present hard times and financial stringency he did not think it wise to make a higher levy or to launch out into any improvements just now, and moved that the levy be made the same as for last year. This met with a second.

D. C. Moore offered an amendment, which was accepted, that the motion state that the tax levy shall be 20 cents on each $100 valuation, 60 cents on each poll, and on all schedule B, and C, taxes the same as levied by the State except the section relating to marriage licenses.

J. B. Little offered a further amendment that the county levy one dollar on marriage licenses. G. T. Tyson said he was a married man and was in favor of giving all the unmarried brethren a chance, therefore was opposed to this amendment. The amendment was lost, and the county places no tax on marriage licenses.

The vote was then taken on the original motion as amended which was unanimously adopted.

Nominations for Superintendent of Public Instruction were next declared in order. E. F. Williams presented the name of Andrew Joyner, J. D. Cox arose and in a well chosen speech nominated the present incumbent, W. H. Ragdale. His remarks and the presentation of Prof. Ragdale's name were greeted with applause. G. T. Tyson in his inimitable style seconded the nomination of Joyner, Dr. J. N. Hyman spoke strongly in advocacy of Ragdale. A ballot was taken on which Ragdale received 89 votes and Joyner 12. The result was announced amid another outburst of applause.

The Board of County Commissioners then withdrew for the Magistrates to elect a new Board for two years. The Magistrates organized by selecting J. D. Cox as chairman.

The entire old Board of Commissioners, Council Dawson, Lequandis Fleming, Jesse L. Smith, S. A. Gainer and T. E. Keel, were placed in nomination. Jesse Cannon, A. G. Cox, W. R. Horne, S. M. Jones and E. A. Barrett were also placed in nomination.

Cox requested that his name be withdrawn.

A ballot was taken resulting as follows: Dawson 34, Fleming 40, Smith 42, Gainer 36, Keel 37, Cannon 15, Barrett 8, Horne 7, Jones 5, J. A. Lang 2. The entire old Board having received a large majority were declared elected amid enthusiasm.

The meeting then adjourned, the proceedings having passed off in utmost harmony.

After seeing them in session Monday we think we can safely say that no county in North Carolina has a more intelligent looking set of men than our Board of Magistrates. In fact there are a number of them that would honor any position in the State. The interests of Pitt county is safe in their hands.

A Hustler.

To accommodate our large advertising patronage and give subscribers a full supply of reading matter, the REFLECTOR publishes a six page edition to-day. Of course every reader will observe that one whole page of the extra leaf is occupied by an advertisement of the Eastern Warehouse. Such a giant stroke of enterprise need occasion no surprise, as it just shows the hustle and determination that is in the proprietor of that first class warehouse. He wants to give notice in advance that the Eastern is the place to sell your tobacco crop. He will be better prepared to handle it this season than any former one, and no house will be allowed to get higher prices for the farmer than the Eastern. Read this advertisement and keep it in a convenient place where you can refer to it often.

Over in Martin.

A REFLECTOR representative was over in Martin county, near Hassel, last week and was much pleased with the hospitality of the good people there. We were highly entertained by Mr. P. R. Rives and his excellent wife. The crops in that section are fine and one thing is sure, the grass can't get ahead of those thrifty people. Mr. Dee Purvis is a gentleman that is calculated to give any one a pleasant time and a drive behind his fleet-footed horses is a luxury. We were highly favored by him and enjoyed our visit with him immensely. His crop is in splendid condition and will yield to the acre as much as any man. We had the pleasure to be shown over the large farm of Mr. John A. Purvis and were certainly astonished. A clean, well-regulated and systematic farm with its broad acres spread out before you. We saw some cotton at this farm that was at least twelve inches high and with several well-formed squares to the stalk. By the way, Pitt county had better look to her laurels for Mr. Purvis has fine trotting stock. He has a bay colt that can make it in 2:10.

Yard-Ward Homespun, good and heavy, only 5 cts per yard. Standard brands of Calico, all kinds, only 5 cents per yard. Shoes from 25 cents up, we can suit everybody.
