A PRAYER.

Heavenly Father, lead me higher, Place my feet on solid ground With thy strength, O make me stronger, Loose the chains by which I'm bound, Pluck the thorns from out my pathway, Lay my weary head to rest; Keep thine arms about me always, Cradled on thy loving breast.

THE AGNOSTIC AND THE CHRISTIAN.

PART I. Exhorting them to continue in the faith.—Acts xiv., 22.

It is hardly possible to doubt the statement that great ideas have a tendency to broaden and deepen the man who ponders them, while small ideas have an opposite influence. Large thinking makes large living. If it be true that a man is known by the companions he keeps, the rule may be applied to his thoughts as well as to his friends.

What is needed to make men complete, to develop human nature until it assumes grand proportions, is a series of lofty motives. If you feel that something is very desirable, and that it is possible for you to attain it, yet, are a flame with enthusiasm, and the hardest work you can do is a constant nearer to the accomplishment of your purposes.

The agnostic is one who would like to believe but cannot. He has reached a pretty definite conclusion that a man is an exquisite piece of machinery, composed of certain chemical elements which ultimately return to the earth and air. The man ends his career at death. The drama is in one act, and when the curtain drops there is nothing more to look forward to. Of immortality and heaven, of a soul which will continue to exist, of a God who is something more than eternal energy, of a providence which overlooks and guides our destiny, tempering the wind to the shorn lamb, he simply says, "Not proven." The Christian—no! but as I linger a moment in order to define terms. We do not refer to the ecclesiastical Christian who has formulated an iron creed and who sends you to the pit unless you accept every proposition in it, for no man on earth so crudely misinterprets the Scripture as he does, or so poorly represents his Master. We have in our mind that other kind of man who is pervaded by the generous, the pitying, the loving spirit of the Nazarene.

This man, who is no more willing to be unscientific or unphilosophical than his brother, the agnostic, believes that God reigns supreme everywhere; that we are all His children, and that the children can communicate with the Father by means of prayer; that life may be a rough journey, filled with hardships and sorrows, but every one of them may be turned to good account if we meet them bravely; that above us are unseen beings a cloud of witness, invisible, but potent who are always ready to extend a helping hand; that beyond us is a home where those who arrive departed are awaiting our arrival.

Be it understood that for our present purpose we do not engage in any controversy as to the truth or falsity of either theory. Neither do we in the slightest degree question the honesty of either contestant. The agnostic is just as loyal a lover of truth as the Christian, and the Christian is as unwilling to be led mentally astray as the agnostic. They are both in search of facts which can be trusted and both desire to be entirely fair and just. We can admire those doughty knights who fight under different banners, for they are without fear and without reproach. It would be folly to denounce the agnostic and pure bigotry to declare that he will not go to heaven for the reason that he has never believed that there is one, because we may be sure that no brave and noble soul will be excluded. When Christ sits as judge He will condemn no man who has done what he could and all he could.

But this we do say, without any hesitation whatever, that the motives which flow from these two theories are wholly unequal for the production of the virtues which make life beautiful and human character symmetrical. The evidence of the world's experience is decidedly in favor of the Christian and pitifully opposed to the agnostic. In the language of Huxley: "No man who has studied history or even attended to the occurrences of everyday life can doubt the enormous practical value of trust and faith."

If one has no faith and no trust he goes into "the good fight" as a forlorn hope. He can look only to himself, can worship only himself, and from the future comes no beckoning hand. The Christian can proudly assert that the world would be better if the spirit of the Nazarene pervaded the councils, and no man dare offer condemnation. The agnostic must needs admit that if all men kind thought as he did, and if that wide range of incentives which are only partly operative in society were eliminated, it would be little short of a moral catastrophe.

There is a subtle something in the religion which braces the soul to meet emergencies, and a subtle something in unbelief which robs us of strength when most we need it. The man with no faith is not the peer of the man who feels the pressure of an almighty and supporting arm when he is high to falling under the sorrows which come to every one of us.

This, then, is all we say for the present—that if we look at life from a purely practical standpoint the Christian can do more than the agnostic to broaden our shoulders for inevitable burdens, and more to lighten the heart when tears are falling, and more to enable us to resist temptation, and more to make us cheerful and happy to the end of our days.

As if the ideas which ennoble us and make us strong to do battle for right and justice, if those ideas are not true, what kind of a world is this in which we live?

Applying the Rule the Other Way.

A Chinaman, says the Christian Advocate, applied for the position of cook in a family in one of our Western cities. The lady of the house and most of the family were members of a fashionable church, and they were determined to look well after the character of the servant. So when John Chinaman appeared at the door he was asked:

"Do you drink whiskey?" "No," said he, "I Christian man."

"Do you play cards?" "No, I Christian man."

He was employed and gave great satisfaction. He did his work well, was honest, upright, correct and respectful. After some weeks the lady gave a "progressive evening" party and had wines at the table. John Chinaman was called upon to serve the party and did so with grace and acceptability. But next morning he waited on the lady and said he wished to quit work.

"Why, what is the matter?" she inquired. John answered: "Christian man; I told you so before; no meathen; no workee for Melican heathen."

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The President Appoints Thursday, the Twenty-Ninth Inst.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 31.—The President to-day issued the following:

"By the President of the United States of America,

"A Proclamation:

"The American people should gratefully render thanksgiving and praise to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, who has watched over them with kindness and fostering care during the year that has passed; they should also with humility and faith supplicate the Father of all mercies for continued blessings according to their needs, and they should by deeds of charity seek the favor of the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

"Therefore, I Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November, inst., as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed by all the people of the land.

"On that day let our ordinary work and business be suspended, and let us meet in our accustomed places of worship and give thanks to Almighty God for our preservation as a nation, for our immunity from disease and pestilence, for the harvests that have rewarded our husbandry, for a renewal of national prosperity, and for every advance in virtue and intelligence that has marked our growth as a people.

"And with our thanksgiving, let us pray that these blessings may be multiplied unto us, that our national conscience may be quickened to a better recognition of the power and goodness of God, and that in our national life we may clearer see and closer follow the path of every right-ness.

"And in our places of worship and praise, as well as in the happy reunions of kindred and friends on that day, let us invoke Divine approval by generously remembering the poor and needy. Surely He who has given us comfort and plenty will look upon our relief of the destitute and our ministrations of charity as the work of hearts truly grateful, and as proofs of the sincerity of our thanksgiving.

"Witness my hand and the seal of the United States, which I have caused to be hereunto annexed.

"Done in the city of Washington on the 1st day of November, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-four, and of the independence of the United States the one hundredth and nineteenth.

"GROVER CLEVELAND, "By the President," "W. Q. GRESHAM, "Secretary of State"

Don't Be Too "Previous."

The Baltimore Sun philosophizes as follows:

"It will not do for the Republicans to stretch the meaning of the election too far. It cannot be made to stretch to 1896. The presidential election of that year will not be affected in the slightest degree by that of this, except in so far as this year's popular rebuke will tend to strengthen and solidify the party in New York. A thrashing does a party good sometimes, and it is likely to help the party in New York. New York's position as a Democratic State on distinctly Democratic issues is not affected."

The Sun is right. Any number of unexpected things may happen between now and 1896, when the Democrats will have a chance to carry the whole county as they did during Harrison's administration. The Sun rules out Hill as a possible nominee for President in 1896, but says nothing as to Cleveland.—Richmond Dispatch.

A Household Treasure. D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is "unquestionably the best cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for light years, and it has never failed to bring that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested? It is sold by J. L. Woodruff's Drug Store, Regular at 50c, and 1.00.

TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed.

When the church is idle the devil can sleep.

Example is more contagious than the small pox.

Truth loves to be looked in the face.

Meditation is the mother of spiritual life.

Every sin becomes a tiger on our track.

The devil never has to go far to find a loafer.

Worry and the grave digger are good friends.

Purity can be happier in prison than sin can in a palace.

A hypocrite fools some, but none so badly as he does himself.

Saying "not to-night," has made many a man lose his soul.

A fact is something that will keep going straight on forever.

When we know God well his word is all we want for anything.

The man who goes out to meet trouble will have a short walk.

Nons but the good can love the truth that looks them in the face.

Every grateful heart is full of music that angels would like to sing.

A civil tongue is a better protection for the head than a steel helmet.

God will not let go of your hand because the world throws mud at you.

The devil can cause us trouble, but he can't keep us from taking it to God.

Love to God is sure to express itself in ways that men can understand.

There is great power for good in a smile, when God puts it on the face.

The cross is never found to be heavy when we take it to please Christ.

A sinner in the church weighs more for the devil than a dozen outside of it.

Good Advice.

The election is now over and political excitement is subsiding, and with it we hope that party passion and prejudice will also subside. Because men disagree politically is no reason why they should get angry with each other and act unneighborly. There are good and honest men in all parties, and there are also bad and dishonest men in all parties. The people as a whole intend to do right, to do that which they honestly believe to be best for their country, but at times many of them are badly deceived and misled. Ignorance usually begets intolerance, and the more ignorant a man is the more narrow minded and intolerant he is. Many men are so narrow-minded that they are not willing to tolerate any man who differs with them either in religion or politics. And there are men, sad to say, who place politics above religion, who actually have become estranged from their brethren in the church, simply because they differ in politics. There are too many "churches" throughout our country, that have had dissensions because of a disagreement in politics among the members. Surely such a sad and shameful state of affairs should not exist in a Christian country!

Therefore, now that the elec is over, the Record urges all its readers, regardless of their politics, to lay aside the passions and prejudices aroused by the recent campaign, and to cultivate a more charitable, a more neighborly and a more Christian like feeling—to warn their fellow men.—Pittsboro Record.

The Department of Agriculture has undertaken to throw some light upon the singular fact that the price of a loaf of bread remains the same with wheat at fifty cents that it was when wheat sold for a dollar. It is estimated that the materials in a pound of bread at prevailing prices will cost not more than two cents. In Washington a crusade against the high price has caused it to be reduced from five cents to four cents.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him. Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catasauqua, Pa., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. L. Woodruff's Drug Store.

It Ought by all Means to be Done.

The Legislature will be memorialized to make an appropriation sufficient to pay for the collection of materials and the publication of a history of the North Carolina troops in the civil war. This ought, by all means, to be done. It should be an impartial, thorough piece of work, and it cannot be begun too soon.—Asheville Citizen.

Here are a couple of guides to person has lately discovered:

"For a fit of passion, take a walk in the open air; you may then speak to the wind without hurting any person, or proclaiming yourself to be a simpleton." "For a fit of idleness, count the ticking of a clock, do this for one hour, and you will be glad to pull off your coat and go to work like a man."

THEIR END IN SIGHT.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

One result of the recent elections is the wiping out of the so-called People's party. This is a sound strange to our readers, because many of them think the populist have won a great victory and that the populist party is to control this country. Our reason for saying that the populist party is doomed, is its disastrous defeat in the West and Northwest, where it originated and acquired its greatest strength. For instance, Kansas, which the populists captured and have controlled for the past two years, has now gone back to the Republican fold. Yes, even in Kansas the Populists failed to elect a single Congressman, Jerry Simpson himself, their mighty champion, being overwhelmingly defeated. And in Colorado their noted Gov. Waite has been ignominiously defeated for re-election. And to cap the climax, their former Presidential candidate, Gen. Weaver, has been defeated for Congress in Iowa. In other words the Republicans have recaptured every State that had been captured from them by the Populists, and in those States the Populists will no longer have a Populist.

So that while our populist neighbors here are rejoicing over their apparent success, over their joining the Republicans against the Democrats, their party in other States has been disastrously defeated by this very same Republican party. They may now rejoice here at helping the Republicans to defeat the Democrats, but elsewhere they are awaiting their annihilation by the Republicans. And we here predict that in 1896 not a single, solitary State will be carried by the Populists. It will then be the same old fight between the Republicans and Democrats, just as it had been for so many years before the Populist party began its brief career.—Pittsboro Record.

Advice To Young Men Who Think of Marrying.

Select the girl, agree with the girl's father in politics and the mother in religion. If you have a rival keep an eye on him, if he is a widower keep two eyes on him. Don't swear to the girl that you have no bad habits. It will be enough for you to say that you never heard yourself snore in your sleep. Don't put much sweet stuff on paper. If you do you will hear it read in after years, when your wife has some special purpose in punishing upon you the severest punishment known to a married man. Go home at a reasonable hour in the evening. Don't wait till the girl has to throw her whole soul into a yawn that she can't cover with both hands. A little thing like that may cause a coolness at the very beginning of the game. If, while wearing your new trousers for the first time, you sit down on some molasses candy that little Willie has left on the chair, smile sweetly and remark that you don't mind sitting on molasses candy at all, and that "boys will be boys." Reserve your true feelings for future reference. If on the occasion of a first call the girl upon whom you have placed your affections looks like an iceberg and acts like a cold wave, take your leave early and stay away. Woman in her hours of freeze is uncertain, coy and hard to please.

Prize Baby of the World

Little Miss Bailey, or rather big Miss Bailey (for she is 50 pounds heavy and only 12 months old) causes as much wonder here on the part of pedestrian beholders as a dime museum freak, to the great annoyance of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, the distinguished parents, of No. 497 M. street, southwest. At birth the child weighed about 11 pounds; at 6 months, 35 pounds; at eight months, 43 1/2 pounds; at 10 months, 45 pounds and at 11 months, 46 1/2 pounds and at 12 months, 50 pounds. She has been nourished wholly from the breast and is not yet weaned. Physicians pronounce her a wonder, and her baby coach is of extra size. The coarction is in marked contrast to the size of the smallest baby yet known, which at birth weighed nine ounces.—Washington Dispatch.

Good Advice.

Prepare now for the coming year a schedule of crops. Put in everything needed to run the farm. Raise your own meat and bread, not only for yourself, but for your help. Why cannot our farmers sell their help all the hay, straw, wheat, corn, bacon, lard, molasses, potatoes and other necessities right on the farm? The home-made provisions are preferred, and the farmer should supply them, and not make it necessary to run to town for a peck of meal or a side of bacon every few days.

The farmer whose foresight enables him thus to anticipate the needs of his family and his help is a position to produce his crops certainly with less loss of time, to say nothing of saving ready cash he must needs supply his help to buy with.—Wilson Mirror.

Rural Wanderer.

It is one of the almost inexplicable mysteries of modern life that, while thousands of men in the great cities of America are either going idle or dragging out a precarious existence on starvation wages, farmers often find it difficult to secure the necessary help on their farms. Why men would rather face physical idleness and starvation in the city or manufacturing centres in preference to steady employment on the farm, and, at least, comfortable existence, is a question that requires serious attention; for if the tendency of the people to abandon farm and rural life and drift into the cities and towns continues at the ratio which it has prevailed for some ten or fifteen years past, it will be a most unfortunate thing for our country.—Centreville Observer.

THE REFLECTOR
Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WHICARD, Editor and Proprietor

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1894

Entered at the postoffice at Greenville, N. C., as second-class mail matter.

Capt. Sam Ashe says that every Senatorial candidate can now have the pleasure of saying: "If the Legislature had gone Democratic, he would have been elected Senator."

"Democracy is immortal." It may be downed for awhile, but there is no such thing as keeping it down. The principles of the party live on and will triumph again.

Now that the Populist-Republicans have carried the day in this State, the fulfillment of their promises will be anxiously looked for, especially the $50 per capita and ten cent cotton.

The figures given in the REFLECTOR extra as the majority of Skinner over Branch in the first Congressional district were not far off of the way. Skinner's majority may reach 3,500. In the third Judicial district Bernard's majority over Woodard for Solicitor is about 2,000.

The fusion ticket carried the State by from 10,000 to 20,000 majority, and they will have a small majority in both branches of the Legislature. The Democrats saved only three of the nine Congressmen in the State—Woodard in the second district, Shaw in third and Lockhart in the sixth.

Judge Jesse F. Graves died at his home in Mt. Airy on last Friday. The Judge was in very feeble health when he was here to hold the September term of Pitt Superior Court and his friends feared then that he had not much longer to live. Gov. Carr has appointed Mr. W. N. Meband to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Graves's death.

The friends of Reed, Harrison and McKinley are very much alarmed at the pronouncement of Morton as a Presidential candidate. They know that Tom Platt intended when he nominated Morton for governor of New York to push him for the Presidential nomination of his party, if he succeeded in getting him elected governor, and they know that Morton's barrel will be on tap at the next Republican national convention, and they fear it.

The returns from the elections were gallant enough to Democrats in Washington, but there was another thing connected therewith that was even more galling to Democrats. That was, that some of the loudest cheers from the crowds which surrounded the newspaper bulletins with all the eagerness of a Presidential election, when the news was favorable to the Republicans, came from the mouths of Republicans who hold office under the Democratic administration.

It is useless to go looking about for causes of the great defeat of the Democratic party met at the polls last Tuesday. The combinations of the opposition outvoted us and the result had as well be accepted gracefully. However, it may be said that the magnitude of the victory for the other side is as much of a surprise to them as the defeat is to the Democrats, in fact their success is embarrassing to them. In their campaign before the people they made so many promises—and some of them so unreasonable—that they realize the dilemma their inability to fulfill these promises places them in, knowing that failure to carry them out will bring upon them the condemnation of all who voted to put them in power.

COMMISSIONERS MEETING.

GREENVILLE N. C. Nov. 5 1894. The Commissioners of Pitt county met this day in regular session present C. Dawson, chairman, Jesse L. Smith, Leonidas Fleming and T. E. Keel. The following orders for paupers were issued: Martha Nelson 2 00, Margaret Bryan 3 00, H. D. Smith 2 00, Lydia Bryan 2 00, Jacob McLawhorn 1 50, Nancy Moore 4 00, Susan Norris 1 50, Susan Briley 2 50, Lucinda Smith 1 50, Patsy Lockamy 2 00, Henry Harris 2 50, Benj. Resigned.

Mr. S. A. Gainer, who has been made postmaster at Bethel, tendered his resignation as a County Commissioner at the last meeting of the Board, and the Justices of the county have been notified to meet on the first Monday in December for the purpose of electing his successor. Mr. Gainer has made a good Commissioner and we trust a good man will succeed him.

Stand by Your town.

Stand by your town. Not a dollar invested there but some good comes of it. There is no family like your family; there is no wife like your wife; there should be no town like one's own town, where we live, educate our children, on whose streets our babies play, and where we may some day sleep. Let the newspaper stand by the town and let the business men stand by the newspaper, and let us make our homes as famous as possible.

On the 2nd inst., a party in this city negotiated a loan of twenty-five hundred dollars on twenty-five hundred acres of land in Granville county, the tax valuation of which is four dollars per acre—actual value not less than ten dollars an acre. On the 8th after the election the party loaning refused to confirm his loan, and said he would not put out a dollar on North Carolina land.—Raleigh News & Observer.

Tax Payers, Take Notice!

My term of office will expire on the first Monday in December, 1894, and as I must close up the business of my office by January 1st, 1895, I shall, after the first Monday in December, 1894, proceed to collect by distress. Those desiring to save cost and trouble will settle their taxes this month. This is my last warning.

LAND SALE.

By virtue of power in me vested as commissioner by a decree, in the case of Wm. L. Elliott, Jos. P. Elliott and John Nicholson against Louis C. Latham and Harry Skinner, made in the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina, Fourth Circuit at Raleigh at the November Term 1893, and duly docketed in the Superior Court of Pitt county in judgment docket No. 11 page 195, I will sell at public sale to the highest bidder at the Court House door in Greenville, N. C. on Wednesday the 5th day of December 1894, the following described tracts of land:

1st. One tract lying on the north side of Tar river adjoining lands of T. H. Langley, Martin Moore, S. A. Dudley and others, containing 563 acres, more or less and known as the Enoch Moore farm.

This farm will be sold subject to a mortgage on an undivided one half interest.

2nd. The tract known as the Adam Corbett farm, lying in Falkland township, adjoining the lands of W. H. Williams, Harman Mathews and others containing 463 acres more or less.

3. The J. J. Walston lands containing about 230 acres and being the same which was devised by the will of his father Jephthah Walston to J. J. Walston adjoining the lands of the heirs of Della Parker and J. A. Walston, lying on the north side of Tar river in Belvoir township.

Terms of sale twenty per cent cash and residue payable in nine months with interest from day of sale at 8 per cent per annum, purchaser to give bond with approved security for balance of purchase money.

Greenville, N. C., Nov. 3, 1894. WM. H. LONG, Commissioner.

Notice to Creditors.

The undersigned having duly qualified before the Superior Court Clerk of Pitt county as Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Martha Brooks deceased, notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to the estate of the said decedent to make immediate payment to the undersigned, and all persons having claims against said estate must present the same for payment on or before the 27th day of October, 1895, or this notice will be plead in bar of recovery. This 27th day of October, 1894. JOHN W. BROOKS, Extr. of Martha Brooks.

Mr. S. W. Andrews and Miss Ada Dudley were married last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. S. A. Dudley, five miles from Greenville.
At noon today Miss May Laughighouse will be married to Mr. J. Bryan Grimes, at Trinity Chapel, Chocowinity. Several friends from Greenville will be in attendance upon the marriage.
Messrs. J. H. Mallard and Joe Jacobi, of Wilmington, spent Saturday and Sunday here. Knowing that we had an old Wilmington boy with us they dropped in for a pleasant chat at the REFLECTOR office.
Dr. B. Cheers, who has located at Pactolus, Pitt county, was here this week and moved his family to that town on Wednesday. We, together with many others, regret to see this family leave Plymouth, but wish for them much happiness and prosperity in their new home.—Plymouth Beacon.
Majorities in Pitt.
The REFLECTOR has the tabulated vote of Pitt county by townships, but not having room for it on inside of this issue we reserve it until next week. The official vote makes very little change from the figures published in the REFLECTOR extra last Thursday. The fusion majority for Chief Justice is 635, for State Treasurer 652, for Solicitor 546, for Congress 576, for Senate 394, for Legislature 884, for Clerk 621, for Sheriff 387, for Register 438, for Treasurer 411, for Coroner 437, for Surveyor 499.
Just Charming.
The Schubert Symphony Club that filled an engagement in the Opera House, on Saturday night under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, had a large audience and gave the most delightful entertainment Greenville has witnessed. The singing of the Lady Quartette was superb and so immensely enjoyed that they had to return to the stage several times in response to encores. Master Thomas was an entertainer within himself. The music by the Symphony Club was splendid and the recitations perfect. There was not a poor piece on the entire programme. The company is composed of refined people and they made many friends here.
Bright Fire at the Mill.
There came near being another serious fire at the plant of the Greenville Lumber Co. on Monday afternoon. In some way sparks got into the shaving and spawdust room and set fire to the huge mass of inflammable matter therein. As soon as the fire was discovered the room was closed up and the steam pipe from the large boilers turned into it. The alarm of the whistle drew many people to the scene and they set to work with buckets soaking the building. After an hour-and-a-half of hard work the fire was smothered out. Had it got beyond control all the plant would have been burned except the new planing mill. As it was the damage was only nominal.
Nobody has ever found happiness who did not first find Christ.
When you can't see in any other direction, try looking straight up.

HOW TO GET THERE.
A Conversation Between a Newly Married Couple.
He.—Well Sallie, I think we are about fixed.
She.—You men are always about fixed but never get there.
He.—I bet I have got there this time.
She.—Please tell me how!
He.—I have engaged the house and bought the Furniture so we can move next week, how do you like that?
She.—How do you expect to pay for the Furniture? I am not going to have any of your common stuff and you can't buy anything else, as you told me we would have to live close as you were getting a small salary.
He.—Stop a little, Sallie dear, and I will try to explain. You know that fine Oak Suit you admired so much at the Furniture & Racket Store.
She.—Yes I know what a beauty it is but you can't buy that, you said you had no money but your salary.
He.—You are right, but I have bought it, come go around to the house and look at it.
She.—All right, I believe I will.
He.—What do you think of it?
She.—Oh, Jimmie, it is just too lovely for anything, how in the world did you manage to get there?
He.—I will show you, here is the contract with the Furniture & Racket Store and it calls for an Oak Suit $25.00, one Washstand set 4.50, one tin set 1.25, one oak extension dining table $5, one set knives 2.00, forks 1.50 one set spoons 1.00, one pair Cuspidors 20cts, one Castor 75, one set dishes plates, cups and saucers 5.50 making a total of $45.00 I paid them ten dollars cash and will have to pay five dollars per month which you see will only take me seven months to pay the whole bill that is the way I got there.
She.—Oh, Jimmie, come here let me kiss you, you sweet thing. I am going to try and help you pay for these beautiful things, but men like you forget to get any towels you men always forget something.
He.—That is so. I will go right down to the Furniture & Racket Store. I saw some there pure linen 21 inches wide and 45 inches long at 48 cents a pair. If there is anything else you want let me know and I will get it there as they keep every thing needed about the house in town, in fact I believe a little cheaper if you look at the quality of their goods, so kiss me honey and I will go after the towels.

Keeping Sweet Potatoes Through the Winter.
The following method I have found to keep sweet potatoes in perfect order until June. Procure a good supply of pine straw from the woods in a dry place, and cover the roots with it.
Dig the potatoes as soon as frost cuts the vines, if not convenient to dig at once, cut the frosty vines off at once, and they will not rot. The straw will damage the potatoes. Dig on a warm sunny day—lay the potatoes along the row as dug, and do not allow them to be exposed by growing into piles. Handle at all times as gently as eggs. Allow them to lie in the sun during the day, and in the evening haul to a convenient place. Place a good layer, a foot thick, of pine or other straw on the ground, and on this, pile the potatoes in deep heaps, not over 2 bushels in a pile, and cover with a thick all over with the dry pine straw—now build a rough board shed over the piles, and let them remain until the weather becomes colder, or until they have gone through a sweat and dried off. Then cover the heaps with either six or eight inches thick of bent smooth. The interior of the shed should be covered with the previous cover of the pine straw before covering with earth, very careful handling, and the board shed more cold than wet earth. If for family use, put in smaller piles and take up an entire heap at once for use, keeping them in dry warm place while using.—W. F.
Massey, Horticulturist, N. C. Experiment Station.

Advanced Monthly Summary of Meteorological Reports for North Carolina, September, 1894.

The North Carolina State Weather Service issues the following advance summary of the weather for September, 1894, compared with the corresponding month of the previous years:

TEMPERATURE.—The mean for the month was 72.2 degrees, which is 2.0 degrees above the normal. The highest monthly mean was 76.3 at Hatteras; lowest monthly mean, 63.2 at Highlands. The highest temperature recorded was on the 9th at Anson, 94 degrees; on the 21st at Bakersville, 92.
The warmest September during past 21 years was in 1881, mean 74.9 degrees; coldest, in 1875, mean 69.2.

PRECIPITATION.—Average for the month, 4.77 inches, which is 0.12 above the normal. The greatest amount was 7.93 inches at Chapel Hill; least amount, .97 at Mt. Airy. The highest September occurred in 1877, average for the state being 10.13 inches; the driest was in 1884, average for the state, 2.94 inches. Prevailing direction, north-east, which is the normal direction for this month. Average hourly velocity, 7.5 miles. Highest velocity, 60 miles per hour from the northeast at Kitty Hawk, on the 27th.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Thunderstorms occurred at one or more places on the 2d, 3d, 24, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 17th, 18th, 24th.

Light frost reported at Blowing Rock on the 21st, and at Flat Rock on the 22d.

On the 27th a general storm—vailed, doing more or less damage, or at least, especially cotton which was open at the field.

The Russian Thistle.
One of the most noxious of recent emigrants from Europe is the so-called Russian thistle, Salsola kali, var. tragi- cola. This weed is a native of Russia and is now spreading rapidly in the southern part of the United States. It is a very hardy and wide-spread plant. In this country it first became troublesome in the wheat-growing section of the Dakotas. It has since spread westward and is now being introduced into many of the western and northwestern states. Such is the magnitude of this pest that the Senate of the United States, in the last session of congress, passed a bill appropriating $5,000,000 for exterminating it, but the appropriation failed to become a law.
It is the nature of this weed when ripe to lose its seed upon the soil and roll up into a ball. In this form the seed will wind up the prairie of the northwest in a few days, and will be found in a few weeks in the hands of the growing crop plant forms a thick close patch killing out the grain, and may in this way ruin an entire field. The seed of this weed are light and to be brought to North Carolina and other southern states will be a great loss.

TO DESTROY SPROUTS AND STUMPS.
"What is the best way and when is the best time to destroy sprouts from an aspen tree which come up in my park?"—H. B. Col-lough, N. C.
(Answered by Gerald McCarthy, Botanist.)
The aspen is botanically Populus tremuloides and is one of the most invasive sprouters. The best time to destroy the tree and so prevent future sprouts is in early August, 15 to 20 at which time the roots are nearly exhausted by the summer growth and
have not yet begun to store reserve material for next year's growth. To destroy the tree the best plan is to cut
it down and dig out the main roots.
Next year keep the sprouts closely cut off and they will soon die. Patent root destroying chemicals are of very little value and cannot be depended upon.

Creamer, or Separator for Southern North Carolina.
"I want to buy a creamer. Will you please recommend the best make. The Cooley subject is the one I require. Without ice is the Cooley as good as any other make."
—R. B. C. Charlotte, N. C.
(Answered by W. F. Massey, Agriculturist,
N. C. Experiment Station.)
The Cooley is as good as any gravity
separator and is the best for the South.
We would recommend you to think of a separator if you have as many as five or six cows, or if not so many to increase the number and use one or two to reduce labor while saving its cost in butter over common methods of cream-
ing. The gravity methods lose enough which the centrifugal saves to pay for
the latter in a reasonable time.
The machines we have tried and can cheerfully recommend are, the Victoria and United States separators. The latter is made by the makers of the Cooley
separator. The Vermont Farm Machine Company, Bellows Falls, Vt., who will be reluctant to sell you a creamer to use in our climate without ice, but who know their separator will give you satisfaction here. The Victoria is sold by the Dairyman's Supply Company, Philadelphia, Pa., and is a nice perfect setting machine.

Bees and Bee Worms.
"What will kill bee worms and what is the best time to move bees?"—M. S. C. Walnut Cove, N. C.
(Answered by Gerald McCarthy, Entomologist, N. C. Experiment Station.)
The "bee worm" is the larva form of a medium sized dark grey moth, Galleria melonella, a native of the old world but now everywhere introduced in this country. The most satisfactory remedy is to keep only strong colonies
of Italian bees. These are so active that they will destroy the worms to remain in their hives if they can get at them. Only movable frame hives should be used. Another plan is to remove the frames and shake the bees and kill
the worms therein, then with a sharp pointed knife cut out the worms tun-neling the comb. Where there are many bees, the bees will eat the worms loosely or hung in a tight box or barrel and two or three tablespoons of carbolic bisulphide in a saucer placed
over the entrance of the box or barrel covered tightly for twenty-four hours.
Then remove the covering and expose
the frames to the air till all odor of the carbolic bisulphide has evaporated. Do not bring this substance near a fire or light as it explodes very easily. Pieces of comb, dry frames, etc., should never be permitted to litter hives yards or honey houses as the worms breed in such.

As to moving bees if you mean to relocate them to a house for the winter it should not be done until several cold weather sets in or better still not at all.
Use chaff hives or cover the hives with
burial sacks or paper sheets in cold weather. In this climate bees do not remain dormant in winter. If you mean to remove bees from one location
to another the best time is in early spring—two or three weeks before the bees begin to fly. The entrance to hives should be contracted until the bees have become accustomed to their new location.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases
put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.
For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable. Science has discovered the cause and the most effectual and permanent constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars
and testimonials. Address,

The Custom of the Country.
"When I was in Kentucky last,"
said the man who had sworn off, "it was very dry down there and they told me I'd have to take whisky or
nothing."
"And what did you say?" inquired
one who was interested in his well-
fare.
"I said nothing," he replied with
the air of a martyr.
"That was right; that was right,
my dear fellow."
"Yes, I found out that it was.
They always give a man whisky
under such circumstances, when he says nothing." Detroit Free Press.

Rebuked for His Levity.
Rev. George Mader, rector of Ballybrood, an old bachelor, lived
with a maiden sister, an elderly lady, solemn and stately, whom he held in great awe. She was very fond of flowers. When arranging some one mourning in the drawing room she found a curious blossom which she had never seen before. Just as she had discovered it, her gardener
pinned the window, which was open.
"Come in, James," she called to him;
"I want to show you one of the most curious things you ever saw."
James accordingly came in. Miss Madder sat down, not perceiving that
the bottom of the chair had been lifted off. Down she went through the frame, nearly sitting on the floor. James went into fits of laughter, and said: "Well, ma'am, sure enough, it is one of the most curious things I ever seen."
"Stop, James," said she; "conduct yourself and lift me out."
"Begorra, ma'am, I can't stop," said
James; "it's so curious, it's bees all
I ever seen." It was some time before she could make him understand that her performance was not what he had been called in to see; and,
when he had helped her up, he was dismissed with a strong rebuke for his levity.—Argonaut.

hausted by the summer growth and
have not yet begun to store reserve material for next year's growth. To destroy the tree the best plan is to cut
it down and dig out the main roots.
Next year keep the sprouts closely cut
off and they will soon die. Patent root destroying chemicals are of very
little value and cannot be depended
upon.

Creamer, or Separator for Southern North Carolina.
"I want to buy a creamer. Will you please recommend the best make. The Cooley subject is the one I require. Without
ice is the Cooley as good as any other make."
—R. B. C. Charlotte, N. C.
(Answered by W. F. Massey, Agriculturist,
N. C. Experiment Station.)
The Cooley is as good as any gravity
separator and is the best for the South.
We would recommend you to think of a separator if you have as many as five or
the number and use one or two to reduce labor while saving its cost in
butter over common methods of cream-
ing. The gravity methods lose enough
which the centrifugal saves to pay for
the latter in a reasonable time.
The machines we have tried and can
cheerfully recommend are, the Victoria
and United States separators. The latter is made by the makers of the Cooley
separator. The Vermont Farm Machine Company, Bellows Falls, Vt., who will
be reluctant to sell you a creamer to
use in our climate without ice, but who
know their separator will give you satisfaction here. The Victoria is sold by
the Dairyman's Supply Company, Philadelphia, Pa., and is a nice perfect setting machine.

Bees and Bee Worms.
"What will kill bee worms and what is the best time to move bees?"—M. S. C. Walnut Cove, N. C.
(Answered by Gerald McCarthy, Entomologist, N. C. Experiment Station.)
The "bee worm" is the larva form of
a medium sized dark grey moth, *Galleria
melonella*, a native of the old
world but now everywhere introduced
in this country. The most satisfactory
remedy is to keep only strong colonies
of Italian bees. These are so active
that they will destroy the worms to
remain in their hives if they can get at
them. Only movable frame hives should be used. Another plan is to remove
the frames and shake the bees and kill
the worms therein, then with a sharp
pointed knife cut out the worms tun-neling the comb. Where there are many bees, the bees will eat the worms
loosely or hung in a tight box or
carbolic bisulphide in a saucer placed
over the entrance of the box or barrel
covered tightly for twenty-four hours.
Then remove the covering and expose
the frames to the air till all odor of the carbolic bisulphide has evaporated. Do
not bring this substance near a fire or
light as it explodes very easily. Pieces
of comb, dry frames, etc., should never
be permitted to litter hives yards or
such.

As to moving bees if you mean to relocate them to a house for the winter it
should not be done until several cold
weather sets in or better still not at all.
Use chaff hives or cover the hives with
burial sacks or paper sheets in cold weather. In this climate bees do not remain dormant in winter. If you mean to remove bees from one location
to another the best time is in early
spring—two or three weeks before the bees begin to fly. The entrance to hives should be contracted until the bees have become accustomed to their
new location.

There is more Catarrh in this section
of the country than all other diseases
put together, and until the last few
years was supposed to be incurable.
For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable. Science has discovered the cause and the most effectual and permanent constitutional
treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure,
manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood
and mucous surfaces of the system.
They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars
and testimonials. Address,

The Custom of the Country.
"When I was in Kentucky last,"
said the man who had sworn off, "it
was very dry down there and they told me I'd have to take whisky or
nothing."
"And what did you say?" inquired
one who was interested in his well-
fare.
"I said nothing," he replied with
the air of a martyr.
"That was right; that was right,
my dear fellow."
"Yes, I found out that it was.
They always give a man whisky
under such circumstances, when he says nothing." Detroit Free Press.

The Letter Was Loaded.
A Huntington (Ind.) post office clerk stamped a letter the other day which contained an explosive. The thing went off and nearly killed him.

Rebuked for His Levity.
Rev. George Mader, rector of Ballybrood, an old bachelor, lived
with a maiden sister, an elderly lady,
solemn and stately, whom he held in
great awe. She was very fond of flowers. When arranging some one mourning in the drawing room she
found a curious blossom which she
had never seen before. Just as she
had discovered it, her gardener
pinned the window, which was open.
"Come in, James," she called to him;
"I want to show you one of the
most curious things you ever saw."
James accordingly came in. Miss Madder sat down, not perceiving that
the bottom of the chair had been lifted off. Down she went through the frame, nearly sitting on
the floor. James went into fits of
laughter, and said: "Well, ma'am,
sure enough, it is one of the most
curious things I ever seen."
"Stop, James," said she; "conduct yourself and lift me out."
"Begorra, ma'am, I can't stop," said
James; "it's so curious, it's bees all
I ever seen." It was some time before she could make him understand
that her performance was not what
he had been called in to see; and,
when he had helped her up, he was
dismissed with a strong rebuke for
his levity.—Argonaut.
